Section 1 Section 1509 of Article XV of the Act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to stablish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1509 No person having tuberculosis of the lungs shall be a pupil teacher janitor or other employe in any public school unless it be a special school carried on under the regulations made for such schools by the Commissioner of Health The board of directors of any school district may appropriate such funds as may be necessary to pay for X-ray or other medical examinations to determine the presence or absence of tuberculosis in such pupil teacher janitor or other employe

Sction 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 601, entitled:

An Act to amend clause six of section one thousand two hundred and ten of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended changing the minimum salaries of certain teachers in junior high schools of third class districts

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Cl. six), page 2, line 19, by striking out the word: "principles" and inserting in lieu thereof: "principals"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to as follows

An Act to amend clause six of section one thousand two hundred and ten of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended changing the minimum salaries of certain teachers in junior high schools of third class districts

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 99, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 1055) entitled "An act authorizing the release on probation of certain convicts instead of imposing sentences the appointment of probation and parole officers and the payment of their salaries and e-penses regulating the manner of sentencing convicts in certain cases and providing for their release on parole their conviction of crime during parole and their rearrest and reconviction for breach of parole and extending the powers and duties of boards of prison inspectors of penitentiaries" as amended by permitting the court to suspend sentence and place defendants on probation in cases of conviction of any crime under certain conditions

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 1055) entitled "An act authorizing the release on probation of certain convicts instead of imposing sentence the appointment of probation and parole officers and the payment of their salaries and expenses regulating the manner of sentencing convicts in certain cases and providing for their release on parole their conviction of crime during parole and their rearrest and reconviction for breach of parole and extending the powers and duties of boards of prison inspectors of penitentiaries" as amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws 554) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever any person shall be convicted in any court of this Commonwealth of any crime [except murder administering poison kidnapping incest sodomy buggery rape assault and battery with intent to ravish arson robbery or burglary] and it does not appear to the said court that the defendant has ever before been imprisoned for crime either in this State or elsewhere (but detention in an institution for juvenile delinquents shall not be considered imprisonment) and where the said court believes that the character of the defendant and the circumstances of the case such that he or she is not likely again to engage in an offensive course of conduct and that the public good does not demand or require that the defendant should suffer the penalty imposed by law the said court shall have the power to suspend the imposing of the sentence and place the defendant on probation for a definite period on such terms and conditions including the payment of money for the use of the county not exceeding however the fine fixed by law for conviction of such offense as it may deem right and proper said terms and conditions to be duly entered of record as a part of the judgment of the court in such case No such condition for the payment of money shall be considered as the imposition of a fine or a sentence nor prevent the court from thereafter sentencing any defendant under the act under which he or she was convicted upon violation of his or her parole

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1371, as follows:

An Act to amend the title and further amend and reenact the act approved the twenty-second day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two (Pamphlet Laws 164) entitled "An act to provide for the destruction and to prevent the spread of Canada Thistles" by extending the provisions of the act to include other weeds

Section 1 The title of the act approved the twenty-second day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two (Pamphlet Laws 164) entitled "An act to provide for the destruction and to prevent the spread of Canada Thistles" is hereby amended to read as follows

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 293, as follows:

An Act providing for the exclusions from the court room and the segregation of certain witnesses in criminal cases imposing restrictions on such witnesses providing for their maintenance at the expense of the county and prescribing penalties

Section 1 Upon the trial of any person accused of the commission of any crime in any court of record of this Commonwealth either the prosecuting attorney or the defendant or his attorney may either before any testimony is taken or at any time during the course of the trial apply to the court for an order that any or all of the witnesses on either or both sides be sworn and placed in the custody of an officer and removed out of the court room to some place where they cannot hear the testimony given by any other witness in the cause Such proceeding shall be known and is hereinafter referred to as placing witnesses under rule

Section 2 The party making application to have witnesses placed under rule may designate such of the witnesses as he desires placed under rule It shall be within the sole discretion of the court whether or not any witnesses and if any what witnesses shall be placed under rule except in cases of trial for homicide in which all applications shall be granted as made Provided however That in no case shall any witness called to give expert or opinion testimony only be placed under rule

Section 3 Witnesses when placed under rule shall be instructed by the court that they shall not while under rule converse with each other or with any person about the case except by permission of the court and except that defendant's witnesses may at any time and without leave of court converse about the case with the defendant and his attorney and Commonwealth witnesses may at any time and without leave of court converse about the case with the prosecuting attorney and that they shall not read any report of or comment upon the testimony in the case The officer who attends the witnesses under rule shall report to the court at once any violation of its instructions Any person violating any such instructions and any officer attending any witnesses under rule who converses with such witness about the case or who knowingly permits or fails to report any violation of such instructions shall be in contempt of court and punishable as such

Section 4 All witnesses under rule shall at all times be attended by an officer and all their reasonable wants shall be provided for at the expense of the county unless the court in its discretion directs that they be allowed to go at large but in no case shall any witness under rule be allowed to hear any testimony in the case

Section 5 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Orddered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1402, (Senate Bill No. 259), entitled:

An Act to amend section thirty-eight of the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty (Pamphlet Laws 382) entitled "An act to consolidate revise and amend the penal laws of this Commonwealth" by permitting the trial for the offense of fornication and bastardy to be held either where the child was begotten or where it was born

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 702, (Senate Bill No. 134), entitled:

An Act requiring aliens to register with the Department of Labor and Industry and to carry and upon proper demand to exhibit identification cards prohibiting the issuing of certain registrations and licenses to or the employment of aliens under certain circumstances and prescribing penalties

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 For each original registration and for each annual registration thereafter the person registered shall pay to the department a registration fee of One Dollar ($1.00), and shall receive an alien identification card which he or she shall carry at all times and shall exhibit upon demand by any police officer or agent of the Department of Labor and Industry displaying evidence of his authority

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

The SPEAKER. When this bill was before the House, the House had agreed to section 1, as amended. We are now proceeding on section 2.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, was this bill not referred to the Judiciary General Committee?

The SPEAKER. It was.

Mr. ANDREWS. Which bill are we considering, Mr. Speaker? Has the Judiciary General Committee reported the bill?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, the Judiciary General Committee re-reported the bill as committed yesterday, April 26th, 1939.

Mr. ANDREWS. As committed, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. As committed.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, why then must we not consider a bill which bears the imprint of having been reported from the Judiciary General Committee? We are considering a bill which on the face of the record and on the print does not show it has ever been before the Judiciary General Committee.

The SPEAKER. The official record shows that it has been before the Judiciary General Committitee.

Mr. ANDREWS. But, Mr. Speaker, the bill that the House is considering does not so show.

The SPEAKER. It is not necessary for the bill to show it.

The Chair would inquire of the gentleman whether the question in his mind is whether the print of the bill that is on the desks of the members should show that information?

Mr. ANDREWS. That is exactly the question, whether the print of the bill must not show that it has been in the custody of the Judiciary General Committee.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria, the bill having been re-reported from the Committee on Judiciary General as committed, the bill has not been reprinted and there is therefore no reason to place upon the bill the notation that the bill has been re-reported from the committee. Such a notation is only for the convenience of the members, but is not a requirement, either under the law or the rules of the House. The official bill itself and the journal, which is the official record of the House, shows the course of the bill.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the bill now being considered by the House was amended as to section one?

The SPEAKER. Yes, by the House, on the floor of the House.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that after the insertion of those amendments by the House that the bill was then committed to the Committee on Judiciary General?

The SPEAKER. Before the second section of the bill was agreed to and before the bill was agreed to.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I inquire of the Chair whether or not the bill as presently before the House represents a completed printed copy of the bill as committed to the Committee on Judiciary General and re-reported by this committee?

The SPEAKER. This bill was recommitted to the Committee while we were in the process of reading it for the second time. The bill having been re-reported by the committee as it was committed, we are therefore at this time at the place where we left off with the bill in its course through second reading.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I inquire of the Chair whether the Constitution does not provide that bills before the House shall be printed for the benefit of the members of the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will, for the information of the gentleman, read Article III, Section 4 of the Constitution, which is as follows:

> "Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in each House. All amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the members before the final vote is taken on the bill, and no bill shall become a law unless upon its final passage the vote be taken by yeas and nays."

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the first section of the bill had been read and then it was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General—where were the amendments, inserted by the House, at the time they were considering the bill?

The SPEAKER. They were fastened to the bill. They were returned by the Committee attached to the official copy of the bill. In addition to that it seems to the Chair, in view of the fact that it was amended and the record shows it was amended, the Chair would have to take official notice that the amendments were before the Committee. The Chair would further call the attention of the gentleman from York to the fact that in the Legislative Journal on page 1347 and following, the procedure and the amendments are printed.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will please state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the Chair to rule that this bill having been referred to the Committee and reported back without change, now has the same status as though the bill had been laid upon the table?

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not rule it would have the same status, but it would be analogous in that we are taking it up at the place where we left off. If it were laid upon the table after the first section had been agreed to as amended, and we were on the second section, we would then take up the second section after it was taken from the table. Having been recommitted to the Committee it has returned to the same status.

Mr. ANDREWS. Then I understand it is in order to reoffer or to present to this House amendments that have been formerly presented before the bill was referred to the committee?

The SPEAKER. Amendments to Section 2 and the following sections and to the title would be permissible at the present time. The Chair would call to the attention of the gentleman, of course, that rejected amendments could not be reoffered, but as we are only on Section 2, unless amendments were offered to Section 2 and rejected before the bill was recommitted, then amendments can be offered. The Chair again calls to the attention of the House that the question is, Where shall we start? We start at the place where we left off when it was recommitted, and all that happened before that is finished business.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering whether this bill has been called up and whether the remarks heretofore made are in order?

The SPEAKER. It is a Senate bill and it does not have to be called up.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Labor for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to object to this motion and ask the members of the House to vote it down.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I also object to this motion but I would point out to the membership of the House that the members of this House interested in amending other sections of this bill are unfortunately not present in the House. The procedure has been a bit unusual, even though parliamentary, but as a matter of sportsmanship, if for nothing else, the House should pass this bill over in order and give to those members of the House, who had they known this bill was coming up, would have been on hand with a number of amendments.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House this bill was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General on April 26. It has been in the Committee for two weeks, and the gentlemen who wished to introduce amendments had plenty of opportunity to put them into the hands of the Chairman of that Committee. No such amendments have been introduced, and the bill was reported out as committed. I see no further need for delay.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the House, I will state to the gentleman from Venango, that the bill was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General on April 11, 1939.

Mr. McKINNEY. I would further say that no demand, Mr. Speaker, was made on the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee for a public hearing on this bill.

Mr. LLOYD H. WOOD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to the statement or the charge or the request of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, I have personal knowledge as to the actual number of men who opposed this measure when it was up for consideration the last time, when it was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General. I know that one member who was very much opposed to this bill has gone home because we agreed to amend this bill to comply with his wishes. I also know as a matter of personal knowledge that several other members who are present have amendments that we have agreed to put in this bill. For that reason I ask the members of the House to vote down this motion.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT WITHDRAWN

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to withdraw my motion at this time, with the privilege of renewing it later on in the proceedings.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests that all amendments to Section 2 be sent to the desk.

Amendments were offered by Mr. TAYLOR to Section 1 and by Mr. LONG to Section 2.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the bill will be passed over for the present. The Chair hears none and the bill is passed over.

HOUSE BILL No. 867 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 867, Printer's No. 476, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2051), entitled "An act relating to public assistance; providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children, aged persons, blind persons and other persons requiring relief; providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose; authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with, and to accept and disburse moneys received from, the United States Government for assistance to such persons; providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board, Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind; and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance, pensions for the blind, old age assistance, and the State Emergency Relief Board;" defining responsibility for burial providing for separate administration, by county boards of assistance, of certain types of public assistance, designated "general assisitance and pensions"; regulating the employment and dismissal of employes therefor; authorizing the employment and dismissal of an executive director of general assistance and pensions; changing the system of allocation of funds by the Department of Public Assistance; changing the powers and duties of county boards; authorizing appointment of sub-committees for certain purposes; providing for immediate return to assistance rolls of persons accepting temporary employment; authorizing appointment of labor review boards to pass on eligibility for assistance of persons refusing offered employment; regulating the granting of assistance to aliens, and the use of credit agencies; changing the definition of dependent children the maximum property allowances for pensions to blind persons, and the general qualifications for assistance; and changing and adding to penal provisions.

on page 28 of today's calendar, bill on second reading, be made a special order of business on Monday, May 1, 1939, at 8:45 p. m.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker I move that House Bill No. 702, Senate Bill No. 134, Printer's No. 55 be recommitted to the Committee on Military Affairs for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor, why this bill should be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, because we have reason to believe it will never come out of J. G.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the answer of the gentleman from Dauphin was not what he intended it to be in the way it sounded. It is not a proper answer to the interrogation.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I will withdraw my answer.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman's purpose in re-committing this bill is to avoid a lot of entanglements on the floor and consuming the time of the members, a great many of whom are remaining here at a personal sacrifice this afternoon. The opportunity of these members to put their amendments in the bill will be greater in committee where they will receive at least favorable and considerate attention.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is the Chair answering the interrogation for the gentleman from Dauphin?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is merely trying to advise the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I see no objection to the bill going back to committee, but I cannot for the life of me see why the bill ought to go back to the Committee on Military Affairs, and I think it is a reflection on the members of the Committee on Judiciary General who had this bill, who brought this bill out in a week's time. For the gentleman from Dauphin to be able to pick the committees to which bills should be referred, seems to me to be reaching a new low in this House. I say this without any reflection upon the gentleman from Dauphin.

The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, made the motion that this bill be re-referred to the Committee on Judiciary General because of the constitutional question involved. I am sure that the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee and the members of the sub-committee that were appointed by him must feel some reflection when they hear of the bill being referred to a committee that has nothing in the world to do with it. If it is a reflection upon the Committee on Judiciary General or any other committee of the House, I feel we ought defeat the motion and send the bill back either to the Committee on Labor from which it first came or to the Committee on Judiciary General. Therefore, I am opposed to the motion to recommit this bill back to the Committee on Military Affairs.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if this bill is to go back to any Committee it ought to go back to the original Committee that brought it out. Therefore I oppose the motion made by Mr. Homer S. Brown.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like the Chair to advise me, please, why this bill could not remain on the calendar?

The SPEAKER. That is a question for the House to decide.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to be informed as to whether or not the bill could not be held over until Monday?

The SPEAKER. The Chair asks the indulgence of the House just for a moment on the position of the presiding officer, to say to the members of the House, as he tried to say to the Gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Homer S. Brown, that there are, as the Chair understands, a number of amendments that have been offered to this bill, some of which have been agreed upon. Amendments were offered to section 1 which had considerable discussion by the gentleman from Cambria, and which would necessitate a reconsideration of the vote on section 1 in order to offer amendments to that section.

In order to conserve the time of the members of the House the Chair felt that the best thing to do was to let the bill go to Committee where the amendments that were agreed upon could be placed in the bill, and the bill returned to the floor of the House. The matter, however, is entirely one for the House to decide. The Chair is not trying to force its will upon the House, but merely making a suggestion.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it, this bill was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General about a week ago?

The SPEAKER. Two weeks ago. April 11th.

MOTION TO PASS BILL OVER

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the meantime it seems to me that the members of the House had plenty of opportunity to have prepared any amendments that they intended to offer at this time. Furthermore, I might say if this bill is again re-referred to another Committee and if the proposed amendments cannot be agreed upon in Committee we will be confronted with the same thing when the bill again comes on the floor. Let us make up our minds and get rid of the bill, once and for all even if we have to stay here for a week.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker if it is in order at this time, I move that this bill be passed over.

The SPEAKER. The motion is not in order. The motion before the House is to recommit the bill to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am very sorry to be forced to disagree with the gentleman from Allegheny. This bill was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of curing if possible obvious constitutional defects. The bill came back from the Judiciary General committee, the head and seat and front of Judicial learning in this House, without those constitutional defects being cured. Consequently there is no other course left for the House, I believe, except to tackle this job itself, and therefore I must oppose the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, and again move that the bill go over in its order, to permit those who have amendments to get them in shape and come before the House next Monday evening prepared to argue here on the floor of the House the constitutionality of the questions which the Judiciary General committee has failed to solve.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to advise the gentleman from Cambria that his motion cannot be entertained until the question on the motion before the House to recommit the bill to the Judiciary General Committee is determined.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is not strictly a legal argument. The hour is getting late. I know that there are people who have given this bill consideration, and there are people who have had no chance to give it any consideration because they have been engaged in important affairs. The Judiciary General Committee, however. I must say, as one of those who is on that Committee, gave the matter quite earnest consideration. I might say to the gentleman from Cambria and to the members of the House that one of the greatest difficulties in this thing is that while the bill might be within the letter of the Constitution, it is, in the opinion of a great many members of the House, contrary to the spirit of the Constituntion. Now, it is a rather difficult thing to amend a bill in such a way as to correct the constitutionality, when the constitutional question is whether or not the bill is in the spirit of the Constitution rather than the letter.

I think it would be a good idea, Mr. Speaker, to vote down this motion to recommit and entertain a motion to carry the bill over until Monday night and let the members who have amendments that they have worked out and for which they think they can get the vote, present them at that time when we have a full membership here.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, having been Chairman of the sub-committee of the Judiciary General Committee and having held this bill for several days in an effort to try to get the contending factions to agree upon amendments, and not having received one suggestion in writing from anyone in favor of the bill or against the bill, I feel that this matter could be now handled in the Judiciary General Committee probably better than any other place, provided those people who have really at heart an interest in the bill will cooperate with the committee and submit a proposition insteading of standing on the plan that the bill must stand as it is now introduced. The Judiciary General Committee has been in sympathy with the motives behind this bill. They realize that there are constitutional objections to it. I want to say to this House and to the Speaker that I would not now make any kind of a talk on this bill because I have refrained from making talks to the House but this rather involves work in which I was concerned. I exerted every effort to get even the gentleman from Allegheny to prepare a suggested amendment. I could see that he was opposed to the bill in its entirety. His suggestions were very helpful and I think they will still be helpful. On account of the time that has been taken up this afternoon I am rather inclined to give the gentleman a second chance at it and others who have proposed amendments that will be helpful and who in good faith wish to amend the bill. If that is the proposition now, I am in favor of its going back to the Judiciary General Committee, but if, on the other hand, there is no intention to offer amendments or propositions for amendments that would help the passage of this bill and put it in better shape to meet the objections, then I am perfectly willing that it shall go to any other committee that the members who are sponsoring this bill might suggest. So, it is a question of good faith. If they wish to get results and desire the assistance of the Judiciary General Committee, and the assistance of the gentlemen who have already talked on the matter, who are members of the committee, alright, we are perfectly willing to receive it. We want suggestions but we want them to be given to us in good faith. I resent the idea that the bill was not given attention. We gave it special attention but nobody helped us from the outside, nobody had a written suggestion, we had to take it as it was.

I have some suggestions myself but I do not want to take the responsibility. If the bill goes back to the Committee on Judiciary General I will be glad to render assistance to those who are in favor of the bill. I want to say right here and now that I am in favor of the motivating sentiments behind this bill but I am not sure that the present bill is quite fair.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think we are becoming a little bit "iffy" an expression frequently used by a certain gentleman from Washington. As Mr. McKinney, chairman of the Judiciary General Committee has stated, this bill was before the Committee for two whole weeks, and during that time not a single person came to him with any amendments and no one requested a public hearing on the matter. I think the best way to dispose of this matter is to oppose the motion to re-commit; let the bill remain on the floor of the House and let the House decide what they wish to do with it, rather than twiddle and fool with motions to re-commit the bill to this committee or that committee or any other committee. I think we ought to defeat this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Whereupon, a division was called for, eighty-seven members having voted in the affirmative and forty-nine in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 722, as follows:

An Act to amend section four sections nine ten and fifteen as amended and sections seventeen twenty-one twenty-eight of an act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An Act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior Acts of Assembly" making additional provisions for the filing and consolidation of tax claims in counties of the first class providing futher procedure for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims

Section 1 That section four of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand and nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred seven) entitled "An act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements for the removal of nuisances and for water rents or rates sewer rates and lighting rates for the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened the distribution of the proceeds of such sales and the redemption of the property therefrom for the lien and collection of certain taxes heretofore assessed and of claims for municipal improvements made and nuisances removed within six months before the passage of this act and for the procedure on tax and municipal claims filed under other and prior Acts of Assembly" as amended is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 The lien for taxes shall exist in favor of and the claim therefor may be filed against the property taxed by any municipality to which the tax is payable In counties of the first class any municipality filing its claim may on behalf of any other municipality which has previous thereto given its consent to such action include the claim of such other municipality and the aggregate of all such claims shall be prosecuted and recovered by the municipality filing the claim

The lien for the removal of nuisances shall exist in favor of and the claim therefor may be filed against the property from which it is removed or by which it is caused by any municipality by or for which the nuisance is removed

The lien for grading guttering paving macadamizing or otherwise improving the cartways of any highways for grading curbing recurbing paving repaving constructing or repairing the footways thereof or for laying water pipes gas pipes culverts sewers branch sewers or sewer connections in any highway for assessments for benefits in the opening widening or vacation thereof or in the changing of water courses or construction of sewers through private lands or in highways of townships of the first class or in the acquisition of sewers and drains constructed and owned by individuals or corporations and of rights in and to use the same or for water rates lighting rates or sewer rates or rates for any other service furnished by a municipality shall exist in favor of and the claim therefor may be filed against the property thereby benefitted by the municipality extending the benefit

When the contractor performing the work is to be paid by assessment bills the lien shall exist for and the claim shall be filed to his use and he shall under no circumstances have recourse to the municipality authorizing the work

Section 2 That section nine of said act as amended by the acts of May 4 1927 (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred twenty-nine) May 4 1927 (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-three) and July 1 1937 (Pamphlet Laws two thousand six hundred nine) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 9 Claims for taxes water rents or rates lighting rates power rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the property after the completion of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to anyone injured by any false statement therein In case the real estate benefitted by the improvement is sold before the municipal claim is filed the date of completion in said certificate shall determine the liability for the payment of the claim as between buyer and seller unless otherwise agreed upon or as above set forth The legal rate of interest shall be collectable on all municipal claims from the date of the completion of the work after it is filed as a lien

[Claims for taxes may be in the form of written or typewritten lists showing the names of the taxable and descriptions of the properties against which said claims are filed together with the amount of the taxes due such municipality Such lists may be filed on behalf of a single municipality or they may cover the unpaid taxes due any two or more municipalities whose taxes are collected by the same tax collector providing the amounts due each municipality are separately shown All tax claims heretofore filed in such form are hereby ratified confirmed and made valid subsisting liens as of the date of their original filing]

In counties of the first class any municipality may file its claim for taxes and on behalf of any other municipality which has previous thereto given its consent to such action the claim filed may include in addition to the first municipality's own claim the claim of the other municipality A number of years taxes if payable to the claimant or to any other municipality whose claim is included may be set forth in the same claim and recovered in the same proceeding A number of years of the rates of different kinds if payable to the same claimant may be included in one claim When a claim is filed on behalf of two or more municipalities the amount due each municipality shall be separately stated but the aggregate shall be stated in one amount and indexed in the name of the municipality filing the claim Upon recovery of such amount or any part thereof by the municipality filing the claim it shall be distributed by such municipalities in accordance with the amounts due the various municipalities as set forth in the claim as filed

[A number of years taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim] Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where any appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount If final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of non-payment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim shall be as in other cases

Where on final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Section 3 That section ten of said act as amended by the acts of April 16 1929 (Pamphlet Laws five hundred twenty-six) and July 2 1937 (Pamphlet Laws two thousand eight hundred eight) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 10 Said claim shall set fourth

1 The name of the municipality by which filed

2 The name of the owner of the property against which it is filed

3 A description of the property against which it is filed

4 The authority under or by virtue of which the tax which was levied or the work was done

5 The time for which the tax was levied or the date on which the work was completed in front of the particular property against which the claim is filed or the date of the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made after completion or the date of confirmation by the court where confirmation is required done

6 If filed to the use of a contractor the date of and parties to the contract for doing said work [and]

7 In other than tax claims the kind and character of the work done for which the claim is filed and if the work be such as to require previous notice to the owner to do it when and how much notice was given [.]

8 If it includes the claim of more than one municipality the name of each municipality together with the amount due shall be set forth separately but the aggregate amounts shall be claimed as one sum by the municipality filing the claims

Said claim shall be signed by or have stamped thereon a fac-simile signature of the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claiment and of all other municipalities whose claims are included therein except where the claim is for county taxes or rates of the different kinds and also is filed in [counties] and by a county having a controller in which case it shall be signed by or have stamped thereon a fac-simile signature of the controller and in the case of a use plaintiff must be accompanied by an affidavit that the facts therein set forth are true to the best of his knowledge information and belief

Section 4 That section fifteen of said act as amended by the acts of May 28 1937 (Pamphlet Laws one thousand one) and July 2 1937 (Pamphlet Laws two thousand eight hundred eight) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 15 Such tax municipal or other claim if filed within the period aforesaid shall remain a lien upon said properties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default in the form hereinafter provided be filed [in cases of tax Claims] either before or after judgment on the scire facias [and in cases of other than tax claims after judgment on the scire facias] or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of five years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ or scire facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered thereon (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of nonpayment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment of revival was obtained thereon

The suggestion and averment shall be in the following form under the caption of the claim

And now ..... the claimant by ..... its solicitor or controller suggests of record that the above claim is still due and owing to the claimant and avers that the owner is still in default for non-payment thereof The prothonotary is hereby directed to enter this suggestion and averment on the municipal lien or the proper docket of the claim and also to index it upon the judgment index and on the locality index of the court for the purpose of continuing the lien of the claim

Such suggestion and averment shall be signed by or have stamped thereon a fac-simile signature of the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claimant and of all other municipalities whose claims are included therein except where the claim is for county taxes or rates of the different kinds and also is filed in [counties] and by a county having a controller in which case it shall be signed by or have stamped thereon a fac-simile signature of the controller

The prothonotary shall docket and index the suggestion and averment directed therein and for such services shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be taxed and collected as other costs in the claim The filing and indexing of such suggestion and averment within five years of filing the claim or the issuing of any writ of scire facias thereon or of any judgment thereon or of the filing of any prior suggestion and averment of default shall have the same force and effect for the purposes of continuing and preserving the lien of the claim as though a writ of scire facias had been issued or a judgment or judgment of revival had been obtained within such period Provided That no writ of levari facias shall be issued upon a claim for the purpose of exposing the property liened to sheriff's sale except after a judgment shall have been duly obtained upon the claim as provided in this section and such judgment must have been obtained within five years of the issuance of the levari facias Whenever the lien of a claim has been revived and continued by the filing and indexing of a suggestion and averment of default the claimant may at any time within five years therefrom issue a writ of scire facias thereon reciting all suggestion and averment of default filed since the filing of the claim and shall proceed thereon in the manner herein provided subject to the right of the owner to raise any defense arising since the last judgment

If a claim be not filed within the time aforesaid or if it be not prosecuted in the manner and at the time aforesaid its lien on real estate shall be wholly lost

Section 5 That section seventeen of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 17 The claim shall be sued by writ of scire facias and the form thereof shall be substantially as follows

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to (names of the parties defendant) Greeting

Whereas The (city borough or other municipality as the case may be) for itself and on behalf of (if claim of any other municipality is included add name or names) on the ..... day of ..... A D 1..... filed its claim in our court of common pleas of ..... County at No. ..... Term 1.... M L D for the sum of $..... with interest from the ..... day of ..... 1..... for (give the improvement or that for which the claim is filed) against the following property situate in (give location and brief description of the property) owned or reputed to be owned by you

And whereas We have been given to understand that said claim is still due and unpaid and remains a lien against the said property

Now you are hereby notified to file your affidavit of defense to said claim if defense you have thereto in the office of the prothonotary of our said court within fifteen days after the service of this writ upon you If no affidavit of defense be filed within said time judgment may be entered against you for the whole claim and the property described in the claim be sold to recover the amount thereof

Witness the Honorable ..... President Judge of our said court this ..... day of ..... A D 1.... .....Prothonotary

(Seal)

The claimant when he files his praecipe for the writ of scire facias may direct the prothonotary to add and insert the names of any persons whom the claimant may know to have an interest in the premises and the scire facias shall be issued containing such additional names But the parties to the claim may agree upon an amicable scire facias upon such terms as may be agreed upon with the same effect as if a scire facias in the form aforesaid had been duly issued served and returned or the defendants or any of them may waive the issue of a scire facias and appear with like effect as if the scire facias had been issued and served

Section 6 That section twenty-one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 21 The judgment upon said claim may be revived by writ of scire facias in the following form

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to C D and E F Greeting

Whereas A B claimant for itself and on behalf of (if claim of any other municipality is included add name or names) on the ..... day of ..... A D 1.... recovered judgment in the sum of ..... dollars against you that the following described property be sold to satisfy the same

(Here describe property in full)

And whereas We have been given to understand that though judgment as aforesaid was rendered yet the amount thereof is still due and unpaid and remains as a lien against said property Now you are hereby notified to file your affidavit of defense to A B 's claim upon said judgment if any defense you have in the office of the prothonotary of our said court within fifteen days after service of this writ upon you If no affidavit of defense be filed within that time said judgment may be revived against you for the amount set forth with interest from the time of its recovery and said property to be sold to recover the whole thereof

Witness the Hon. ..... President Judge of our said court this ..... day of ..... A D 1..... ..... Prothonotary

(Seal)

But the parties to the judgment may agree upon an amicable scire facias to revive or to an amicable judgment of revival upon such terms as may be agreed upon with the same effect as if a scire facias in the form aforesaid and been duly issued served and returned

Section 7 That section twenty-eight of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 28 Execution upon any judgment recovered upon any such claim except where the property named is essential to the business of a quasi public corporation shall be by writ of levari facias in the following form

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

To the sheriff of ..... County Greeting

Whereas A B claimant for itself and on behalf of (if claim of any other municipality is included add name or names) on the ..... day of..... per centum of the protein fat or fiber guaranteed the manufacturer shall be considered as having complied with the requirements of this act except when the percentage of either protein or fiber shall exceed twenty per centum and shall not be present in excess of thirty per centum in which case the variation allowed shall not exceed seven per centum of the guaranteed amount and also except when the percentage of either protein or fiber shall exceed thirty per centum in which case the variation allowed shall not exceed five per centum of the guaranteed amount

Section 2 Section six of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 6 In addition to the above penalty [every person corporation or firm and every officer agent servant or employe of such person corporation or firm violating any of the provisions of this act shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for the first offense and a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for every subsequent offense] whoever shall violate any of the provisions of this act or any rule regulation or standard adopted and promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture pursuant to this act shall upon conviction thereof for the first or second offense in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars and costs of prosecution and in default of such fine and costs shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment for not more than thirty days and for the third or subsequent offense shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than three hundred dollars nor more than six hundred dollars or to undergo imprisonment for a term not to exceed one year or both in the discretion of the court Provided That all penalties fines and costs including the cost of analysis imposed and recovered under the provisions of this act shall be paid to the Secretary of Agriculture or his agents and by him immediately covered into the State Treasury And provided also That all necessary expenses under the provisions of this act shall after approval in writing by the Governor and the Secretary of Agriculture be paid by the State Treasurer upon the warrant of the Auditor General in the manner now provided by law

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 518, as follows:

An Act making it unlawful to trespass on railroads and declaring the trespasser guilty of contributory negligence in actions against the railroad company for damages because of injuries sustained while so trespassing

Section 1 It is unlawful for any person other than employes or their representatives to walk along or across the tracks of any railroad except when the same shall be laid upon a public highway If any person except employes or their representatives is injured in any manner while walking standing or playing on any railroad right of way or while riding upon boarding or alighting from a car as a trespasser while the car is in motion such person shall be deemed to have contributed to the injury sustained and shall not recover therefor any damages from the company owning or operating said railroad This act shall not apply to the crossing of a railroad by any person at any place which is a part of a public street or highway or to any person performing his occupational duties which demands his presence on such railroad property or to any person on that portion of a railroad's property which is provided for or dedicated to the use of the traveling public by such railroad in the performance of the usual and customary functions of a railroad

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLALIO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin be kind enough to explain to the members of the House what this bill provides?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill, as I understand it, prohibits the trespassing on railroad property by transients or others having no business on the railroad, and if injuries are sustained by those who do trespass they have no action against the company.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether this would vitiate the time worn legal doctrine of "attractive nuisance."

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 804, as follows:

A Supplement to the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 1216) entitled "An act to define real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and providing for the licensing regulation and supervision of resident and nonresident real estate brokers and real estate salesmen and their business" by excluding certain persons from certain provisions of said act

Section 1 All justices of the peace who are engaged in the real estate business on the effective date of this supplement may continue in such business after the expiration of their term of office provided they shall meet all of the prerequisites of applicants for such licenses except that they shall not be required to have served in the employ of a duly licensed real estate broker or brokers as a duly licensed real estate salesman for a period of two years All justices of the peace shall continue to be exempt during their term of office from the provision of the act to which this is a supplement

Section 2 Persons who are aldermen upon the effective date of this supplement shall be exempt from the provisions of the act to which this is a supplement and such persons if engaged in the real estate business during their term of office may continue in such business upon the expiration of their term of office providing they shall meet all of the prerequisites of applicants for such licenses except they shall not be required to have served in the employ of a duly licensed real estate broker or brokers as a duly licensed real estate salesman for a period of two years

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1131, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 728) entitled "An act providing for the creation of a Board of Arbitration of Claims arising from contracts with the Commonwealth providing for and regulating the procedure in prosecuting claims before such board defining the powers of the board and fixing the compensation of members and employes thereof providing that the awards of such board shall be final providing for the payment of awards and authorizing an appropriation" by constituting said board a departmental administrative board in the Department of the Auditor General by increasing the compensation of the members of said board by making further provision with regard to the procedure of said board and the disposition by it and payment of costs of proceedings before it

Section 1 Section 1 of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 728) entitled "An act providing for the creation of a Board of Arbitration of Claims arising from contracts with the Commonwealth providing for and regulating the procedure in prosecuting claims before such board defining the powers of the board and fixing the compensation of members and employes thereof providing that the awards of such board shall be final providing for the payment of awards and authorizing an appropriation" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That there is hereby created a departmental administrative board in the Department of the Auditor General known as the Board of Arbitration of Claims the duty of which shall be to arbitrate claims against the Commonwealth arising from contracts entered into by the Commonwealth Such board shall consist of three members appointed by the Governor one of whom shall be learned in the law and shall be chairman of the board another of whom shall be a registered civil engineer The third member of the board shall be a citizen and resident of the Commonwealth not learned in the law or an engineer Two members of the board shall constitute a quorum The members shall be appointed for terms of two four and six years and shall serve until their respective successors shall be duly appointed and qualified Their successors shall each be appointed for a term of six years In the event any member shall die or resign during his term of office the Governor shall appoint a successor who shall hold office for such unexpired term Each member of the board shall receive [twenty] thirty-five dollars per diem for each day actually employed in his duty as a member of the board and shall also be entitled to expenses while engaged in the performance of his official duties which compensation and expenses shall be deemed costs of the proceedings hereunder

Section 2 Section 6 of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 6 No claim shall be entertained by the Board unless the claimant shall within three months after [the completion of the contract] notice to the claimant of determination by the Commonwealth of the amount of final payment due said claimant under the contract and before final payment is received on said contract except as provided by section 4 (b) hereof advise the department involved in writing of such claims specifying the details thereof and shall within the same period file with the secretary of the board a concise and specific written statement of this claim signed and verified by the claimant before an officer authorized to administer oaths

The claimant at the time of filing such statement shall file therewith two copies of said statement and the secretary of the board shall forthwith deliver one copy to the secretary of the department involved and the other to the Attorney General

At the time of filing his statement of claim the claimant shall pay to the State Treasury through the secretary of the board the sum of [$25.00] $50.00 as a filing fee All fees so received shall be credited to the General Fund

Within thirty days after such statement shall be filed with the secretary of the board and served upon the secretary of the department involved and the Attorney General the Commonwealth shall file with the secretary of the board an answer in writing to the averments of the claimant's statement which shall be signed and verified by the secretary of the department involved and shall at the same time file two copies of the same one of which shall be served by the secretary on the Attorney General and the other forwarded to the claimant

When the answer of the Commonwealth is filed the pleadings shall be complete and the case shall be deemed to be at issue and the secretary of the board shall list such case for hearing before the board at the earliest available date but not earlier than thirty (30) days after the filing of such answer

All cases shall as far as practicable be listed for hearing in the order of the date of the filing of the respective claims and the secretary shall cause to be served upon all claimants by registered mail thirty(30) days' written notice which notice shall set forth the time and place of such hearing

Section 3 Section 8 of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 8 All hearings before the board shall be public and shall be governed by such rules not inconsistent with this act as shall be adopted and prescribed by the board After consideration of the pleadings filed with it and the testimony given at the hearing before it the board shall either dismiss the claim of the claimant or make an award in favor of the claimant of such sum as it shall determine the claimant is legally and rightfully entitled to receive and shall enter [such award] its said action in a book to be kept by it for that purpose It shall file a written opinion setting forth the reasons for its action The action of the board dismissing said claim or making an award shall be final and no appeal shall lie therefrom The board in dismissing any claim or in making [such] any award shall [have full power to] dispose of all costs of the proceedings by providing for the payment thereof by the Commonwealth or by the claimant or by providing that such costs shall be shared by the said parties in such proportions as the board in its descretion shall direct

Section 9 Within thirty (30) days after any final [award made] action is taken by the board the secretary of the board shall certify to the secretary of the department involved under the seal of the board a statement of such [award or in the event it shall dismiss the said claim a settlement of such costs that it may assess against the claimant] action including the amount of costs assessed against the Commonwealth or the claimant or both and the persons entitled thereto The amount of [such] any award shall be paid by said [secretary] department out of any funds appropriated against the contract out of which the claim upon which the award is based was originally charged [said award shall thereafter be paid] to the claimant [from the said fund or appropriation] and any costs assessed against the Commonwealth shall be paid by said department out of said fund or appropriation to such persons as may be entitled thereto as evidenced by said certificate of the secretary of the borad in the manner now provided by law In the event that costs are assessed against the claimant the amount of such costs shall be deducted from whatever balance may be due the claimant upon the contract out of which the claim arose and shall be paid by the department to the persons entitled thereto as evidenced by the said certificate

Section 5 The Board of Arbitration of Claims shall hear and arbitrate any claim against the Commonwealth arising out of any contract heretofore entered into by the Commonwealth where final payment of the amount determined to be due by the Commonwealth has not been accepted Provided that such claim is filed with the Board within three months of the effective date of this act notwithstanding that said claim was not theretofore filed with said Board within three months after the completion of the said contract

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TROUT. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lancaster state to the members of this House the purpose of this bill and the amount per day that the members of the Board of Arbitration and Claims will receive under this act?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, in 1937 there was an act passed creating a Board of Arbitration to hear and dispose of disputes arising between the State and contractors in the various departments and this is an extension of that bill. The per diem is thirty-five dollars per day.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, is that the amount to be paid per day under the present act?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, under the present act it is twenty dollars.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker is this not an increase under the present law, and if so, how much.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I think there is a difference there of fifteen dollars.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, is this not an increase of seventy-five per cent over the present act.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, that probably is true.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, is there any increase in the filing fee for claimants who come before this board, and how much is that increase? You ought to know, Mr. Trout.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, that is correct. I do know. That increases it to fifty dollars.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, is that not an increase of one hundred per cent over the present act?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I guess that is correct.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, doesn't it appear that the persons who are to come before the board by the increased cost of filing their claims are to be penalized to the extent of twenty-five dollars or a one hundred per cent increase in order that the members of the board may secure a seventy-five per cent increase in their daily pay, the increase being from twenty dollars to thirty-five dollars.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, the reason for the increase in the filing fee is to avoid small claims. If the filing fee were less or no charge is made at all, all little disputes or disputes for small amounts would be brought before this Arbitration Board, and would be very annoying and not worth the time it would take the Board to determine them.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, if that is true and these small claims are not going to come before the Board, would that not reduce the amount of work that would come before the Board?

Mr. TROUT. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, then why increase the pay when there is less work to do.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, it has been the experience, during these two years that if we bring in from different parts of the State men who are compentent to serve on this Board, they deserve an increase in pay over the twenty dollars.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that you can get capable men at the present rate?

Mr. TROUT. Well I don't know, probably yes; in the newspaper game, yes.

Mr. DIX Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that when most of the members of the House were elected on an economy program, to come here an increase the fees for the members of this Board at least seventy-five percent, and then add to it the cost to claimants coming before this Board, we are absolutely inconsistent with the economy program. Most of the members of this House come here at a great sacrifice to themselves. I doubt if there are half of the members who come here who make any profit from their work. I also doubt if there is any member here who would not be glad to serve on this Board for twenty dollars a day. I think there are many intelligent members of this House who could be secured to serve on a Board of that kind. It would appear to me that we are violating not only the platform of the Republican party, and the statement in Governor James' Inaugural Address, but we are violating a trust that has been imposed upon us to keep the expense of government as low as possible. I cannot conceive under these circumstances any member of this House permitting an increase of seventy-five per cent, in one respect, and an increase of one hundred per cent in the cost to the small claimant who comes before this Board. The payment of this double assessment by claimants and the increase in the salaries I believe are intended to go together and to act unfavorably towards claimants, and in the interest of economy I ask that this bill be voted down.

Mr. KILROY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not believe this bill will cost the Commonwealth anything, and as the co-sponsor of this bill, I believe we should get the highest type of men possible. We should not ask attorneys to come once or twice a month and spend eight or ten hours a day for twenty dollars. I would like to inform the gentleman that it is not really costing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania anything.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I understand that this bill also provides that all expenses of the attorneys will be paid, namely hotels and traveling expenses and for that reason the pay is not only twenty dollars a day or thirty-five dollars as provided under this bill, but more. I cannot see for my part why any member of this House who is satisfied with his own salary, which amounts approximately to fifteen dollars a day, if we serve one hundred days, and only five dollars a day, if you figure the whole time we serve, should vote to give any person thirty-five dollars a day when their own salary amounts to five dollars, as I said before, on the basis of a yearly salary. I hope the members will look at it this way and vote it down.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think the gentleman has an incorrect attitude toward this bill. Of course if we are paying higher salaries undoubtedly we expect to get more capable and able individuals to serve on this commission than the membership of the House. I might only be worth five dollars a day, or my constituents might think I am worth fifty cents a day, but we won't go into that. However, this bill seeks to remedy a situation that has existed in the Commonwealth that requires some affirmative action. If any individual has a claim against the Department of Highways, a contractor, a material man or an individual who has supplied some ingredients, or a laborer, and that claim is a justifiable claim there is no adequate or competent machinery set up whereby that individual might receive an adjustment or an adjudication of his claim. This act seeks to remedy that situation. The United States government has a regularly instituted court, namely the Court of Claims handling situations such as this. The State of New York has also established a regular judicial tribunal whereby claims against the State may be judicially determined. This bill seeks in a simple way to set up machinery whereby justifiable claims against the Commonwealth might be adjudicated and I think that the entire House should be interested in seeing that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its various departments afford people with whom they are doing business the machinery whereby claims that arise in the work may be judicially determined.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kilroy left the cat out of the bag. This is another one of those bills for the relief of lawyers. You will note, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from York, with his usual legal acumen, did not talk about the lawyers under this bill, but the gentleman from Philadelphia, being less skilled along legal lines, just came right out and said, "We have to have more competent men. The lawyers who come here to sit on this board cannot afford to work for twenty dollars a day, we have got to give the poor lawyers thirty-five dollars per day." As usual the leader of the legal profession in the House on the minority side rallied to the support of the legal profession. In this particular I stand with half of the newspaper profession and I say that lawyers at twenty dollars a day are probably paid enough.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this appears to be "Editors vs. Lawyers," and while I would not like to have the vote taken on that basis, at the same time I think that the average editor feels that twenty dollars a day is ample pay for any ability that you can secure in Pennsylvania, if they have the spirit of public service back of them.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, so that we won't be misinformed let us read who shall comprise the board. I read from the act.

> "Such a board shall consist of three members appointed by the Governor, one of whom shall be learned in the law and shall be chairman of the board, another of whom shall be a registered civil engineer. The third member of the board shall be a citizen and resident of the Commonwealth, not learned in the law, or an engineer."

This is not a lawyers' bill and we ought to be correct upon what we are debating.

Mr. DIX Mr. Speaker and members of the House, inasmuch as the bill provides for the same pay for an ordinary laymen as it does for a legal light I think it is entirely inconsistent. The attorneys come in here and they say it is necessary in order to obtain competent legal ability to pay them thirty-five dollars a day. On the other hand, they also in this bill provide for a layman to be paid thirty-five dollars a day. The bill is inconsistent and I hereby make application for the layman's job.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I quite realize that the inadequate compensation that the gentleman refers to for a lawyer of thirty-five dollars a day has certain merit. However, we who are in the service of the Commonwealth feel that we should devote our legal talent to the service of the Commonwealth at a moderate stipend.

As I look over this House I see men with far reaching legal attainments who are serving here at a very small salary. That same ability applied in the prosecution of legal matters would bring them untold wealth and fortune.

Nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, I feel that we will be able to find in the Commonwealth one, two, or possibly three men, three lawyers, who will be willing to serve on this board at the small salary of thirty-five dollars per day, even though they would then be in competition with the gentleman who has so nobly offered his services to this commission at that small stipend. Without being the least bit facetious, if the members of this House were really concerned with the problem of trying to get for an agreed individual justifiable consideration of his claim against the Commonwealth there would be no difficulty in the passage of this bill. Various states have set up, as I said before, their courts of claims. We are prohibited from coming into court and suing the Commonwealth, the sovereign or king. The old heritage that the king can do no wrong restricts individuals from bringing a suit against the Commonwealth. This act sets up the machinery for justifiable consideration and I do not think the mere fact that somebody is getting thirty-five dollars a day while the members of the House are only getting five dollars a day should react against the passage of this bill.

Amend Sec. 2, page 5, lines 7 and 8, by striking out the words: "or from the husband of such persons"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

ADDRESS BY MR. BRUNNER

Mr. BRUNNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, today this House unanimously passed House Bill 389 otherwise known as the Criminal Code. In view of the number of important measures on today's calendar and the length of today's session it was thought best to allow this measure to be voted upon without any accompanying statement prior to its consideration. However, it is felt that some information be placed on the record of this House which will further enlighten the membership as to the history of prior efforts and the necessity for the enactment of this Code at this session of the legislature.

For the past twenty-five years attempts have been made to compile a Criminal Code in Pennsylvania. Sincere attempts have been made during this period to enact this much needed legislation, but all such attempts fell short of their objection. Numerous commissions were empowered by past Legislatures to investigate the criminal law and procedure in Pennsylvania and subsequent reports were submitted. Despite the sincere, able, and scholarly efforts of these groups no legislation resulted to remedy the situation. Finally the Pennsylvania Bar Association agreed upon the present code as the means of accomplishing the much desired end, and John H. Fertig, Esquire, drafted House Bill 389 and this measure was introduced March 1st of this year.

The pink copies of this bill were dispatched by the subcommittee to members of the judiciary, the district attorneys and the presidents of the various bar associations. Over two hundred fifty letters were sent along with copies of the code. Said letters requested these respective groups to study this code and where possible to appoint committees to inspect this measure and report back to the sub-committee any suggestions or presently needed changes. The response to this request was very gratifying and of great assistance to the committee The number of detailed reports submitted were mute evidence of the widespread approval of the objectives of the measure and the necessity for its enactment.

To further state that there is a present need for this code would seem surplussage. The last codification of the Criminal Law of Pennsylvania was accomplished in 1860, seventy-nine years ago. Much of this was or has become obsolete and inconsistent and some portions of that code were badly drafted. It is interesting to note that House Bill No. 389 repeals legislation enacted as far back as 1715, two hundred and twenty-four years ago.

The sub-committee of the Judiciary Special Committee worked for eight weeks amending this measure and did so with no consideration of time or effort. Considerable work was done at home in conjunction with committee meetings and when all suggestions of the various county bar associations, district attorney's offices and members of the judiciary had been given careful consideration and the bill in its present form except for some typographical errors and several minor amendments represents what the committee believes is a good piece of legislation and a firm and substantial foundation for future study and further amendment.

In conclusion, as chairman of the sub-committee in charge of this code, I wish to thank for their pains-taking, unselfish and non-partisan efforts upon this bill the following members of this House who served with me during the past eight weeks: Messrs. Curran, Leydic, McVay, Cortese, Frank S. Moser, Hess, Jirolanio and Reuben E. Cohen.

SENATE

MONDAY, May 1, 1939.

The Senate met at 8:00 o'clock, p. m. E. S. T.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

O Heavenly Father of us all, as we feel the tension of international relationships and understand something of the feeling of uncertainty among the nations of the earth, may we as a nation firmly grasp the safe anchorage we already possess in Thy eternal purpose for the universe, the authenticity of thy Holy Word, the gracious gift of Thy Son and the ultimate victory of the right.

Amidst the tempestuousness of life's unresting sea, do Thou be the helmsman of our frail little bark plying its waters bearing a cargo more precious in Thy sight than the value of the whole cosmic sphere—our own souls.

And when the storms of life which lash the waves into a vertitable fury as we live and labor together even when we wrestle with the problems of proposed legislation here in the Senate, may we always be secure in our personal life and living that whatever may be the disturbing and distracting element it is not and cannot be equal to or greater than Thou art.

Thou dost still live and rule the world.
"Our little systems have their day,
They have their day and cease to be;
They are but broken lights of Thee,
But Thou, O Lord, art greater than they."

We pray for courage to fight for the right, for strength to endure throughout that fight and leave the results with Thee for "man's extremity is God's opportunity."

Let us "never be weary in well-doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not." We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. OWLETT and Mr. JAMES the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I rise to speak in defense of a principle which has become as sacred as our love for God and as cherished as our democratic form of Government. It is a principle for which the founders of our country have desperately fought and for the preservation of which their successors have consecrated their lives. It is, in truth, the arch-stone of our national existence and clearly distinguishes the American institutions from those which predominate in Europe. The right of every American to freely express his opinion is inherent in each of us, and when that right is alienated, we sink into the maelstrom which is now engulfing a large part of our civilized world.

I am not concerned about myself when I am deprived of the right to express my views concerning certain deplorable conditions in Pennsylvania, nor do I despair of my own political future. But when an element of the Republican Party in this State seeks to gag a chosen representative of the people, because he is attempting to fulfill the trust that thousands of them have placed in him, it has chosen a path which is deeply regrettable. Such a path leads directly away from the lesson and example of history. It is well to give thought to the words of the great English Statesman, Disraeli:

> "It is not where we stand today which determines our future, but the direction in which we are moving."

A number of members in the Republican Party of this State, however, have apparently become inebriated with their newly acquired power, after the four years in which the Party had been held in political bondage. These members are beginning to act not unlike some European dictators who, after they had attained the helms of their separate governments with the aid of the oppressed people, immediately subjected their compatriots to greater oppression than that against which they originally rebelled.

It was Henry Ward Beecher who stated:

> "There is a tonic in the things men do not love to hear; and there is damnation in the things that wicked men love to hear. Free speech is to a great people what winds are to oceans and malarial regions, which waft away the elements of disease, and bring new elements of health, and where free speech is stopped miasma is bred, and death comes fast."

And the famous East-Indian poet and educator, Sir Rabindranath Tagore, said:

"Political freedom will not give us freedom when our mind is not free."

And the illustrious French writer and statesman, Voltaire, about two hundred years ago, declared:

"I do not agree with a word that you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

I trust that my distinguished colleague, the majority floor leader will allow himself sufficient time to reflect and survey the course he is pursuing.

I have definitely in mind his attempt to suppress speech on March 20, 1939, his attempt two weeks ago to expunge from the records remarks made by our distinguished Senator from Fayette and on many occasions having resorted to technicalities to avoid discussions of matters, after he, himself, had already made his remarks, and last but not least, his meeting with Republican Senators and Representatives during our recess and interviewing department heads and commission members without minority representation. Am I to believe, that in his attempt to enact legislation, he would destroy every vestige of representative form of government.

Fortunately for us, our Lt. Governor has been fair and reasonable with our group in our exercise of freedom of speech. I can safely say that if he were to do the bidding of the Senator from Tioga, there would be little or no freedom of speech in our halls. However, the Senator from Tioga was successful in suppressing free speech on March 20, 1939. Not knowing what to say or answer he resorted to every Parliamentary trick to curtail speech, and succeeded.

As for myself, I am comforted by the thought of Charles Sumner, that eminent American statesman who succeeded Daniel Webster in the United States Senate:

"I honor any man who, in the conscious discharge of his duty, dares to stand alone. The world, with ignorant, intolerant judgment, may condemn, the countenance of relatives may be averted, and the hearts of friends grow cold, but the sense of duty done shall be sweeter than the applause of the world, the countenances of relatives, or the hearts of friends."

I shall now cite a portion of Scripture because I believe it to be apropos of what took place in the Senate on March 20, 1939.

"And it came to pass that Isaac was old and his eyes were dim so that he could not see, he called Esau, his eldest son, and said unto him, "My son-behold, here am I —go out to the field and get me some venison—and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my soul may bless thee before I die." And Rebecca—took goodly raiment of her eldest son, Esau, which were with he in the house, and put them upon Jacob, her younger son, and she put the skins of the kids of goats upon his hands, and upon the smooth of his neck, and she gave the savory meat and bread which she had prepared, unto the hand of her son Jacob, and he came unto his father and, 'I am Esau, thy first born—.' And Isaac said unto his son, 'How is it that thou has found it so quickly, my son?' And Isaac said unto Jacob, 'Come near, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my son, whether thou be my very son Esau or not.' And Jacob went near Isaac, his father, and he felt him and said, 'The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau.' And it came to pass—that Esau, his brother, came in from his hunting—and he said, 'Hast thou not reserved a blessing for me?' And Isaac answered and said unto Esau, 'Behold, I have made him thy Lord and all his brethren have I given to him for servant, and with corn and wine have sustained him. What shall I do now unto thee, my son?"

And indeed, what shall be done now to all of you, who but a short while back in unstoppable haste, rushed through this body House Bill No. 338 that sold the birthright of the gas users of Philadelphia and other utility service users of Pennsylvania, to the voice that was Esau but whose hand was of Jacob for a mess of Pottage.

On March 20, 1939, in discussing that bill, I rose in this Senate, after being called out of order, at the instance of the Senator of Tioga County, to explain my vote, having been denied the right to discuss it at the proper time.

"According to this legislation the Gas Company will be allowed to fix any rates it chooses without supervision or regulation by any agency in the state except the Gas Commission of Phila., a body made up of five members, two of whom shall be elected by City Council from amongst its members, one shall be appointed by the Mayor of the city, one by the Gas Company and one shall be the City Controller. In other words, the City of Phila. in its desperate exigency is called upon not only to sell the future of its most valuable piece of property, but is asked to join in a scheme to remove from the citizens of Philadelphia their last safe-guard against increased gas rates already burdensome, in order to guarantee Dougherty's company the unrestricted right to collect heavy fees from the users of gas while at the same time giving the U. G. I. and its subsidiaries access to a gold mine of its own.

"Mr. Dougherty has struck a hard bargain, not conceding a single point to the City or its gas-users for he even dictated in his proposal that he reserved the right to change its terms until all his demands were first satisfied and even after the City accepted his offer and the Supreme Court declared that plan legal he could still refuse to fulfill his end of the bargain without any penalty."

"This bill, of enacted, will perpetuate a gross fraud on an unsuspecting public and municipalities as well."

Now what has been the result of all this. My fears have been justified, my predictions verified. While I am not a seventh son of a seventh son, nor was I born in a caul, I make this prediction at this hour on this very day that A. Webster Dougherty will never pay a cent of that money, and I don't believe ever intended to. It is my honest belief based on all the evidence on hand that the purpose of all these machinations of which this bill is a part and to which some of you lent to ready a credulous ear, was not to effect a sale of the gas rentals as could easily have been stated in a bill drafted for the purpose, but to free the U. G. I. and certain other utilities in the State of Pennsylvania from P. U. C. control.

I declare that the proposition offered by Dougherty was a subterfuge. He started his corporation with a paid-in capital of $500.00. I asked in that speech to which I have already made mention, are Webster Dougherty and the U. G. I. arms of the same pesons. By that I meant that I suspected that Dougherty was not making a bona fide offer because he had no money to back the grand show and he hasn't until this day. Where could he possibly have gotten the $50,000,000.00 to purchase the gas rentals.

And so we and the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania joined in this solemn farce to grant free movement to the U. G. I and its allies to perfect a scheme which I then declared to be nefarious.

This bill which is now an act relieved the P. U. C. of continuing jurisdiction over the gas rates in Phila. and other counties, as well, where the city or municipality owns the property, but it is operated by a private utility. It also removes the municipality owned utilities in the State from the protection and benefits of the Public Utility Law of 1937. Several hundred municipal corporations—usually water works, and lighting plants, etc. affecting hundreds and thousands of consumers are thereby adversely affected. Very few if any municipal corporations can afford to maintain engineers, accountants, and other experts which the Public Utilities Commission now provides for the supervision of the utility services, and without such expert supervision the health and safety of hundreds of thousands of our citizens are seriously jeopardized.

Under the Public Service Company Law of July 26, 1913, effective January 1, 1914 (predecessor of the present Public Utility Law) in Article 2, Section 1 (i), and Article 5, Section 15, municipally owned utilities under the protection and supervision of our State regulatory body. So you can see that under the laws of 1913 and 1937, municipalities owning utilities and municipality-owned utilities operated by private utilities and utilities generally had the protection and supervision of the State Regulatory body, and House Bill No. 338 removes the protection of the P. U. C. over municipally-owned plants and municipally-owned but privately operated plants setting the clock back more than 25 years and forcing hundreds of communities in our State to be governed by primitive utility standards.

Notwithstanding this bill was passed in order to help Phila. obtain money from Mr. Dougherty of the Philadelphia Corporation who had agreed to purchase the gas rentals for $50,000,000.00.

Yes, this was termed an emergency bill, when I asked whether or not it was an emergency this is the answer from our majority floor-leader:

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President apparently it is. It has passed the House and it is now in the Senate. It was considered by the Committee on Public Utilities and reported out last Tuesday. It has had two readings and is now on final passage. Last Wednesday when this bill passed second reading the statement was made by some of our Democratic colleagues that they wanted a hearing on this bill, that it vitally affected Philadelphia, and they wished to be heard on it. We wanted to give them the hearing requested, but we do not propose that through a motion to recommit, the opportunity of the Senate to finally pass this bill, if it is determined it should be passed, should be prevented by this motion to recommit.

I consider this a very weak and feeble answer and absolutely meaningless, and was merely an attempt by our friend to evade the issue and to avoid frank discussion of the provisions of the bill. The U. G. I., holding company of the Phila. Gas Works wanted it so that they could be free to do as they pleased with the Gas Works Company, and fix whatever rates they saw fit.

Yes, we have a Gas Commission, whose duty it is to fix rates, but who are they? Examine the personnel closely and ask yourself whether or not they will do the bidding of the U. G. I, or its rate-payer. Further, have they the experts, engineers, and accounts to make the proper survey of the activities of the Gas Works with a view to determining the best rates for the rate-payer. Of course, not.

And if I should be charitable enough to suppose that the Councilmen of Philadelphia County have been acting in good faith, how are we to characterize their blundering mishandling of this whole deal? Are they businessmen or puppets dancing to the pull of a string whose other end is in a masters hands and who calls the tune? Whatever you may chose to decide on this point, the simple fact remains that after months of muddling through, after broken promises to the body that the deal would be closed in a matter of days after we pass this bill, the deal was not consummated. In fact, I was told by city councilmen who were present when this bill passed that the city would get the fifty million dollars from Dougherty's corporation on March 22, 1939, but they haven't received a ten cent piece from anybody in that deal. I am safe in saying that neither Mr. Dougherty's company nor any banker will purchase the rentals for fifty million dollars. However, the law still remains on our books, passed under the pretext that would help Philadelphia, but actually designed to assist the utilities.

I attempted to give you the facts relating to this legislation but was denied the opportunity until after the bill had passed. It was then too late. I personally believe that if all the facts had been presented to this honorable body, House Bill No. 338 would not have been law today.

Tonight I intend to introduce a bill repealing this particular act. I wonder whether this bill will be reported out and acted on with the haste that House Bill 335 was enacted. I am inclined to believe that the utilities through their lobbyists will move heaven and earth to check it. Today is May Day for the utilities. Examine the calendar and see for yourselves. One bill in particular on the calendar, Senate Bill No. 670, contains jokers which destroys the very purpose of rural electrification. When I recognized this joker, I immediately contacted John Carmody, chief of the rural electrification administration in Washington and he has since publicly stated that Senate Bills 669 and 670 take the heart out of the rural electrification. These bills bear the hand writing of the public utilities—Roosevelt's article. Are we here to do the bidding of the Utilities or the ratepayers? Time will tell.

In closing may I say:

"Are we proud of our share in that deal? Are you Senators, who voted for the bill, who even voted against fair public hearings, satisfied with what you have done? Or will you rise in defense of your prestige and undo this wretched deal to which you have been unwilling accomplices?"

I hardly blame you for the reason that you were cajoled into the belief that this bill was intended to serve one purpose when in fact it was designed primarily to serve the utilities.

"And oftentimes excusing of a fault Doth make the fault worse by the excuse."

Let us say with Lincoln,

"Let us have faith that right makes might;
And in that faith, let us to the end,
Dare to do our duty as we understand it."

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

DIRECTING BUREAU OF STANDARDS TO FORBID THE USE OF GLASS OTHER THAN LAMINATED SAFETY GLASS IN MOTOR VEHICLES

Mr. MALLERY, from the Committee on Highways, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Dent, on March 28, 1939, reported the same with amendment as follows:

In the Senate, March 28, 1939.

Whereas, The use of ordinary glass in passenger vehicles has from past experience proven to be unsafe and responsible for many deaths and serious injuries in motor accidents, and

Whereas, Glass manufacturers have developed a type of glass made by laminating two or more pieces of glass into one transparent sheet and

Whereas, This type of glass has been commonly designated as safety glass and is used exclusively in the windshields of passenger vehicles because of its safety features and

Whereas, There has been put on the market a new type of glass variously called tempered or hardened glass and

Whereas, This type of glass is being used to some extent in passenger vehicles as a safety glass and

Whereas, After exhaustive tests has proven to be unsafe for such use and

Whereas, The use of this type of glass will cause the recurrence of the hazards to the traveling public so common before the introduction of the laminated safety glass, be it hereby resolved and

It is Resolved, That the Bureau of Standards and Safety in this Commonwealth be instructed to forbid the use of any glass other than laminated safety glass in the construction of motor vehicles used in the intra-state traffic of this Commonwealth and

Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Department of Highways, the Bureau of Standards and that the manufacturers of motor vehicles sold in this Commonwealth be notified of its contents.

A motion was made by Mr. DENT and Mr. HALUSKA,

That Rule 39, which requires resolutions reported from committee to lie over for one day be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

Which was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

CONSIDERATION OF TAX BILLS

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the tax bills, beginning with Senate Bill No. 345, (House Bill No. 312), on page 7 of today's calendar.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Motion agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 345, (House Bill No. 312), entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-six (Special Session of one thousand nine hundred thirty-six Pamphlet Laws thirteen) entitled "An act imposing an emergency State tax for a limited period of time on liquor as herein defined sold by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the collection and payment of such tax and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board" as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions thereof for a further limited period of time.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand this is the first bill of the tax program which is being considered, and I think this is the proper time to make a statement of the position of the Democratic Party with respect to these bills.

I think many of us still remember the statements of the gentleman from Tioga in connection with these bills, and how he still persists that they are punitive taxes, nor have taken the position that these taxes should not have been passed because the Democratic Administration is committed to the repeal of taxes which have driven Pennsylvania out of business. Which particular taxes are responsible for the migration of business from Pennsylvania, I do not know. Since the Governor has not specifically directed his attention to any one of those taxes, very few of us can tell, and I think it is therefore fair to assume that the Governor has made up his mind that all these taxes have driven Pennsylvania industry out of Pennsylvania.

The problem or the program is the administration's problem—not ours. The administration is committed to present a budget and to present a program which will bring into the State Treasury the amount of money necessary to warrant the proposed expenditures.

The Republican Party, therefore, has the responsibility; but since they have—shall I say, nominally, twenty-five votes—we feel that this program must be their program and not ours; and at the same time we feel we do not have a right to wreck the program. And since I have participated in the making of two programs—on each side of the House—I have experience in both sides now as to how it is done.

I recall, during the Republican regime, when Governor Earle was attempting to make his program, the Republicans told the Democrats that the responsibility for the taxes was the Democratic Administration's responsibility and not the Republican's.

I personally do not believe—and I repeat what I said last week—I do not believe that these taxes should be passed—some of them. I have said, last week, that I think several of them can be avoided; but I am now speaking not for myself but for the Democratic Caucus, and on behalf of the Democratic Caucus I will present the one necessary vote for the program as these tax billse come up, but I want the record to show however, that I am not voting on the matter as an individual, but that I am voting on the program which has been adopted, and am expressing the position of the Democratic Minority in the Senate.

There are twenty-five Republicans—it requires twenty-six votes to pass these tax bills—the twenty-five Republicans will have the pleasure of voting with me on this tax program. I will vote "Aye' on all of the tax bills, although some of them I oppose; and I am quite sure others can be substituted for them.

I want it distinctly understood, however, that one of the things that have urged and prompted us to take this position is the statement of the gentleman from Tioga, who is the spokesman for the Republican Party, persisting in reiterating that these taxes are punitive taxes. Since that is the case, we do not feel that we should assume the responsibility of re-enacting them.

I want to repeat, also, that I believe that after four years of these taxes, adopted in an emergency situation, and after four months of continued complaint by the Governor against these taxes, and after the Governor's statement that these taxes are punitive and political, he knows his position, and it was his duty, as the leader of this Administration, to offer substitute taxes.

However, this is his program. We will not interfere with it. I will give it the necessary vote, and only the necessary vote, to carry it through.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 352, (House Bill No. 319), entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred forty-one) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax upon sales of cigarettes by dealers as herein defined requiring persons engaged in the sale of cigarettes at wholesale and retail to secure permits prescribing the method and manner of collecting such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Revenue and persons as herein defined engaged in the sale of cigarettes at retail or wholesale and providing penalties" as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I wish to take about one minute to call attention to a bad habit we have in drafting these bills. This particular cigarette tax bill, in Section 8, provides "the Department is hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this Act and is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe, adopt, promulgate and enforce rules and regulations relating to and then follow (a), (b), and (c) down to where it says "(c) Any other matter or thing pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this Act."

Now, in the Goodrich Plan we have had an example of this bad habit, because in the administration of public assistance the Administrator has made rules and regulations that were not strictly authorized in that Act; and I want to call attention to the bad drafting, in my opinion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I am opposed to this bill in its present form. I believe it is not necessary to pass this bill in the form on the calendar. This bill provides an additional four mills personal property tax. This bill is supposed to be an emergency tax bill.

Now, there is no tax problem in Pennsylvania that is more general in its burdensome features than is this general tax on personal property. For instance, we have throughout Pennsylvania today hundreds of people who have perhaps a few securities, many of them not producing any income; and in addition to paying the four mills county personal property tax they are saddled with this additional four mills State personal property tax.

I had in my office last week a widow who had saved, during the course of years, around $2,000. Some time ago she said she loaned that $2,000 on a first mortgage to a neighbor, a friend, to buy a home. Recently that friend lost his job. That widow is looking upon the income from that mortgage to keep her off the relief rolls, and yet, under this bill, she will be compelled not only to pay the four mill county personal property tax but also this State four mill personal property tax.

Now, I use that Mr. President, as a very common, concrete illustration of the application of this burdensome tax bill.

Now, if it could be cut down so that it would not carry four mills it would be less burdensome; and, while I condemn this bill in its present form, I do not do so, Mr. President, without offering a substitute.

I realize, Mr. President, that the State needs revenue—that is a fundamental principle of economics, but we should gather that tax from those that are best able to pay it.

I say, Mr. President, I do not condemn this tax in its present form without offering a substitute. Last week I mentioned on this floor an industry that is well able to pay a reasonable tax, and that is the amusement industry.

I want to read, Mr. President, some figuers from the motion picture industry field to show that here is a field from which we can collect a reasonable tax and no one will be burdened thereby.

Listen to these figures and decide for yourselve whether this field is able to pay a reasonable tax. Recently the United States Government, through the Department of Ways and Means, published figures of the salaries of those executives who received more than $10,000 a year.

I am going to read from that report the names of three people in Loew's, Incorporated, who, together for one year, received in salaries, not taking in their expense accounts, in salaries alone, $2,592,359. First, Louis B. Mayer, Loew's, Incorporated, executive, he is called, he received last year, as salary alone, Mr. President, $1,296,503; J. Robert Rubin, Executive, Loew's Incorporated, salary, $754,254; M. Schwenk, President, Loew's Incorporated, $541,602. You can go on down the line, dozens of other Executives in that field receiving exhorbitant salaries.

Now, Mr. President, I offer those figures to show how fertile that field is for taxation. Some may say this is saddled on to the little man who goes to the theatre. In principle that is true of every tax; but I want to draw this comparison in that connection: Here is a man, here is a woman, who is earning her daily livelihood from a little income from securities. She is compelled to pay a tax on those securities. But take a person who wants to go to a certain amusement. If they feel they are unable to go to that amusement they do not—they are not compelled to go; and, if they do not go, they do not have to pay a tax. In other words, it is optional with the theatre-goers, or with a person who goes to a football or baseball game as to whether they shall be subject to this tax. But that is not true in the case of a person who is saddled with an additional personal property tax, or the farmer, or the steel worker who drives his automobile to his place of employment and pays this extra cent on gasoline.

This tax, Mr. President, if placed on amusements, is a tax which the person who pays it would not have to pay unless he wanted to; and I cannot understand why that fertile field has not been taxed to a reasonable degree.

Since I spoke on the floor of this Senate last week on this vital problem, several people came to me and said, I can tell you why that field has not been taxed. That is partly, or chiefly, due to certain newspapers which carry heavy advertisements from these various amusement companies.

I say, Mr. President, diverging a little from the main issue, if we have such a situation in Pennsylvania where the press is controlled by a certain industry, then I say this vaunted theory of "free press" has gone in Pennsylvania, because if the advertiser controlls the press throuugh the advertising he gives, then we have "free press" no more; but I am glad to say that we have many, many newspaper companies—publications—in this State and this nation that will not be thus controlled.

Mr. Presdent, I am going to oppose this additional tax for those reasons, because I believe that a field is within our reach where we can receive a part of this tax without injuring anyone who pays it; and I sincerly hope that this bill may be held up until an amusement tax bill is introduced and passed by which a part of this burdensome tax can be taken off of those who are not able to pay.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, in 1935 I was a member of Governor Earle's Committee on Taxation.

We devised these taxes. We called in the best brains of Pennsylvania, and I am flattered tonight that the Republicans have accepted this tax program, and, of all the taxes that are in this program, this is the best. The only trouble with it is, it does not go far enough. I cannot see any difference between the man who invests $5,000 in a little home and the man who invests $5,000 in a mortgage. The man who invests $5,000 in a little home is taxed anywhere from 30 to 35 mills real estate property tax in Pennsylvania, whereas there is only 8 mills on the man who invests his money in a mortgage. It ought to be 15 mills to be equalized; because I grant you that the man who invests in a mortgage or corporation stocks may pay indirectly a corporation tax and some of these other taxes, so he should not pay to the degree the home owner pays, but in order to equalize the tax on real estate and the tax on personal property, the tax on personal property ought to be 15 mills instead of 8. So I say to the gentlemen of this Senate, this is the best tax and the best place to put a tax. If we must raise a tax—nobody wants to raise taxes—this is the best place for it.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am sure I voice the sentiment of a large majority of my colleagues when I say none of us like this personal property tax; and all of us realize that in many instances it works a hardship on those who pay it. I was one of those who, two years ago and four years ago, opposed this tax, although I think four years ago I voted for it, in order to furnish enough voices to the Democrats to enact this tax as part of their program, much as I disliked to do it, because I realized then, as I do now, that we had to have revenue to run this State.

Now, Mr. President, in reference to this argument of my colleague, the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, I wish merely to point out to him that this personal property tax is estimated to raise for the next biennium $24,000,000. We have already enacted the Corporate Loans Tax increase, which is really a bill accompanying this personal property tax, which raises $6,000,000.

We have already passed tonight the Corporate Loans increase on foreign corporations, which raises $400,000, and which is a companion bill to this. We have already passed tonight a tax on banks and trust companies, which raises approximately $5,000,000, and which is also a companion bill to this bill. In other words, there is directly involved in revenue, in these bills some $36,000,000.

Now, Mr. President, I am not going to again repeat the statement I made at the time these tax bills were brought out of committee; but I do want at this time merely to point to the facts that led the Republican majority and the Administration to conclude that the re-enactment of these present taxes was, for the present, the best procedure.

We were faced, as I pointed out the other evening, with a great many uncertainties, some of them due to court contests now pending, which render the exact necessities of the present biennium uncertain and impossible of ascertainment until those decisions are finally handed down by the Supreme Court.

In addition to that, we propose to report out in this Senate tomorrow a bill introduced by Senator Edmonds, which will set up a Tax Commission which proposes to make a thorough, comprehensive study of the whole State tax program with the idea of submitting, at the next special or regular session, a comprehensive program which will take care of all of the State's needs, and which will enable us to repeal this and the other—and there are many others—inequitable and unfair taxes.

It has been considered best at this time, for that reason, to reenact these present taxes on the understanding that they are to be supplanted at the next regular or special session with a comprehensive, sensible, sound tax program. It is for that reason that we are enacting and asking that these taxes be enacted at this time; and I again call attention to the fact that they have all been re-enacted save this one bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it does appear to me that common prudence dictates that all of the tax measures we have passed tonight, including this bill now before us that we have in passage, will not suffice to meet the needs of this Commonwealth for the next biennium.

I would like the gentleman from Tioga to state, in his opinion, if this bill is passed, whether all of the bills then passed will provide sufficient revenue for relief for the next two years, or this biennium we are in now.

Mr. OWLETT. In answer to the question of the Senator from Fayette, it is my understanding that no one can tell, and, it is my belief no one can tell what the needs for relief will be for the next biennium. The present budget provides $129,000,000 for social security and relief.

Two years ago the Earle administration enacted tax measures which, I believe provided some $139,000,000 for relief and social security services.

President Roosevelt, just the other day, announced a drastic cut in W.P.A. appropriations, in the expectation business will improve during the next year.

Specifically, to answer the Senator's question, if we do not have to pay back some $30,000,000 on account of the unconstituional Foreign Franchise Tax, and if none of the other Acts are held unconstiutional, and if business should pick up, and relief get under control sufficiently, then I say that the mony we have levied will probably be enough to take care of relief.

However, if relief continues at the rate of $10,000,000 a month it does not take very much of a mathemetician to arrive at the conclusion that $10,000,000 a month for two years will require more than $129,000,000. I submit, Mr. President, that no one can answer the question of the Senator, nor can he answer his question, when we have these uncertain elements facing us today.

I say, further, that should these tax bills be held unconstitutional, so that we have a large obligation to meet there, we will, by that time, have had the report of the Tax Commission, and have before us a comprehensive tax program which will permit us to eliminate all these unfair and burdensome taxes and approach this whole problem in a sensible, sane way.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I appreciate the fact that the gentleman from Tioga is trying to read my mind on this subject; but I think that I have had sufficient experience around this Capitol to be able to speak my own mind.

Using the common prudence that the average man is equipped with—I can answer very definitely that, in my opinion, you do not have sufficient revenue to meet the obligations of this biennium, and that you are going to be forced, because of necessity, to call a Special Session to devise revenue measures to meet your obligations. And I say at this time—and I am firmly convinced of this also—that we can very easily defeat this bill at this time and you will still have sufficient revenue bills passed to provide finances to meet your relief obligations until the time that the Special Session will be called; and it is my humble, and probably not pleasant opinion to the other side, that the Special Session will be called within nine months—not over twelve months—after we adjourn this session and by that time the Administration ought to be able to tell us by that time what bills are punitive bills—I mean revenue measures—and what revenue measures are political, and that we can do without this personal property tax bill until that time.

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. EROE.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lawrence, Mr. EROE, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, if the best brains in this Senate, in 1935, devised this present program or these revenue bills, will the gentleman from Lawrence state to us why this present Administration and the gentleman from Tioga persist in branding that program and those recommendations "political" and "punitive" and of such character as to drive big business out of the Commonwealth.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I assure the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, that there was nothing political in this tax program. It had to be done, or the people of Pennsylvania—a portion of the people of Pennsylvania, would have starved; and, so, without any political interest or any politics whatever, we called in the best brains we knew in Pennsylvania to devise the most equitable tax program, and this is it.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Lawrance then give his colleagues some information as to why he is remaining with his tongue in his cheek while the gentleman from Tioga has repeatedly, on the floor of this Senate, branded those taxes as "political" and "punitive."

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I wish to inform the gentleman from Fayette that every time I have gotten up on the floor of this Senate—not being trained as an attorney or a speaker—I got my ears pinned back, so I refrain from speaking.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Lawrence, Mr. Eroe.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lawrence permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Lawrence if he knows why a tax on amusements has not been enacted or presented during this session?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I will inform the gentleman from Washington that I am not in the confidence of the Democratic Caucus or the Republican Caucus, and I do not know why. Personally, I will vote for an amusement tax.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the tax bill from an entirely different view point from that expressed by the previous speakers.

In the tax report, made after intensive study, of the tax situation in Pennsylvania by the Commission which I headed, amongst the recommendations of this Commission I find recommendation No. 4 which states:

"The Commission further recommends the reduction of personal property tax from 8 to 4 mills with all returns submitted to the County because the Counties must depend upon this source of revenue and real estate taxation to operate county government. Like reductions must be made in the tax on bank shares and corporate loans.

The Commission recommends the reduction of Capital stock tax from 5 mills to 2 mills.

The Commission also favors the tax upon all stocks and bonds without any exeptions, it being the belief of this Commission that any income producing stocks or bonds should be subject to personal property tax without exemption."

Mr. President, the last recommendation is the one I am particularly interested in. This is a tax on personal property. The counties do not have, as the State has, various methods of raising revenue. One of the county's main sources of revenue is the personal property tax. That, coupled with the real estate tax, gives us the necessary funds to run our county government. As long as the State collects the personal property tax there will be no relief on real estate taxation in the county. I believe that all personal property should be taxed. I believe in that principle of taxation. I believe, at present, that quite a number of bonds called tax exempt bonds should be included in the tax field. By so doing we could probably reduce the millage on the personal property tax.

If we give to the counties the only and absolute right to tax personal property, we will give the real estate tax payer the relief he is so much in need of.

I, therefore, will vote "no" on this measure. I want to state here that I did vote for this bill in its original passage. I did so then because my party was in power and faced with a responsibility, such as the Republican party is faced with now, faced with the necessity of raising necessary funds to carry on expenses of government.

I believe that, if the Democratic party would have been elected, the tax structure in Pennsylvania would have been changed. I do know, from conversations with the leaders of my party, that we had plans whereby a different tax program would have been presented to the people of Pennsylvania. However, the people of this State would not believe that we would change the tax program and believed that Governor James would change it.

I remember of him distinctly telling the people of Pennsylvania that if he were elected he would change the tax structure of this State. If I am not mistaken, the Republican platform specifically states that this is one of the taxes that would be either reduced or removed. Now, of course, if they did not know what they were talking about, that is no fault of mine.

I believe a good many members of the Republican party on the other side of the Senate are of the same opinion as I am, because I have talked to a few of them. I do not believe defeating this bill will cripple the Governor's program. Senator Reed has offered you an alternative tax. We passed a tax here on gasoline. I remember the arguments used for its passage at one time. I believe, in the Special Session of 1936—the argument we used was that it was a sort of semi-luxury tax. We passed an additional ten per cent. tax on retail liquor—and, of course, that is a luxury tax. There is no reason, no good reason, for not passing some sort of an amusement tax.

This one tax bill deserves the consideration of every member of this Senate who is sincere in his interest in the local taxpayer back home.

If personal property is to be taxed, then let us tax it from the county standpoint, in order that the farm owner and home owner will receive the benefit of a reduction in real estate taxation.

I intend to vote "No."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I neglected to mention anything with reference to amusement taxes because it seemed unnecessary; but it has been dwelt on so much. I will make a brief statement. Of course, the very obvious answer is that the personal property tax produces $24,000,000 for the biennium, and the amusement tax, in the form in which it was enacted, at least, by the Earle administration and then repealed two years ago, produced $7,500,000. Now personally, I know of no way to get $24,000,000 out of an amusement tax, and I do not believe anybody else does in the Senate.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, It was not my thought to raise the whole sum by the imposition of an amusement tax. I realize too well that $24,000,000 could not be raised by a reasonable tax on amusements, but I do believe that a great part of it, a sizable part of it, could be raised by a reasonable tax on amusements.

Some time ago this Legislature gave the motion picture industry the right to be open on Sunday. I say that, if they have that permission—and when that bill was in the Senate, Mr. President, a strong argument raised in its favor was that it was not for the purpose of raising revenue, but that it was for the purpose of giving the people some place to go on the Sabbath.

Now, if that argument was true then, let us consider it today and let us put a reasonably heavy tax on the gross receipts from the industry obtained on the Sabbath; and, with the imposition of a reasonably heavy tax on the gross receipts of the Sabbath and a tax also imposed on the receipts from the other six days of the week, I estimate that we can raise around $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 from the amusement industry. That will not hurt anybody, and you can then take that amount and displace a like amount realized from the personal property tax.

That is my program.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I always hesitate to agree with my good friends on the left, but I agree with the Senator from Lawrence, tonight, that this is the fairest tax on this calendar.

In this State, for forty years the system has been to tax real estate. I know that any system of taxation or any bill will hurt some people.

There are widows who own stocks and bonds that bring no income—that is rather tough on her—and I know widows in Pittsburgh who own real estate, every penny invested in real estate, and they have not received a dollar of income in the lats six or eight years. Yet they have to pay almost forty mills taxes.

Here is a source of wealth in this State—over half the wealth of this state is tied up in stocks, bonds and mortgages, and it has escaped, practically escaped, taxation all these years.

Now, poor people do not own stocks and bonds—very few widows own stocks and bonds and mortgages—that is, poor widows. The people that will be affected by this bill, at least ninety per cent. of them, are people who have and they can afford to pay and ought to pay. A lot of the stocks and bonds of this state pay handsome dividends. They ought to help support this government, and I agree with the Senator from Lawrence that instead of four mills it ought to be increased.

Let us tap this source of wealth in Pennsylvania that has escaped taxation so long, the class of people that can afford to pay, who have money tied up, or investments tied up in mortgages, stocks, and bonds. In fact, I feel it should be raised to fifteen mills, as the Senator from Lawrence has indicated.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, would the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, be in favor of a tax on amusements?

Mr. McGINNIS. Yes, Mr. President, I would.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, is that a fertile field of taxation?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I would say it is.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, know why that field has not been touched?

Mr. McGINNIS. I do not, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Now, Mr. President, I just want to say, in answer to the Senator from Allegheny's argument with relation to real estate taxation, Mr. Boyd Hamilton is here in the Senate and he will tell you that there has been no one in this Senate, during my time, that has fought harder for a reduction of the tax on real estate than the Senator from Washington, but that is not the argument I am putting up.

The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, and the Senator from Lawrence, Mr. Eroe, both have tried to lead the minds of the Senators away from the issue. The issue is to tap a new field, the amusement field, where there is plenty of money, as demonstrated by those high salaries they are receiving. Tap a new field, a field that will not injure anyone. I do not argue to put this tax on real estate, I argue to take it off real estate by this method of indirect taxation and put it on a field where no tax today is collected.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, will the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. REED. Gladly, Mr. President.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Washington if he knows why the last Administration repealed the tax on amusements?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I do not. But for the benefit of the Senator from Tioga, I believe it would not be at this time divulging any secret to say that when that was up in the Democratic caucus my good friend, Harvey Huffman, a man whom I always considered a statesman of very high standing, who is now deceased, and myself fought bitterly to prevent the removal of the amusement tax from the Democratic tax program.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, preliminary to stating my position on this tax.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I shall be very glad to be interrogated.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Tioga state to which other taxes he refers, the constitutionality of which is being questioned? I only know of one tax the constitutionality of which is being questioned.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I cannot say in detail the constitutional questions raised, but I can give the Senator this information, that the Attorney General has advised us that he finds some five thousand appeals from taxes, and I think they involve practically every one of the taxes in this program. I know that they involve the tax on title insurance and trust companies. I don't know whether they involve a tax on banks. I know that they involve the tax on corporate net incomes, at least the application or formula, and we have tried, by a slight amendment, to take care of some of the objections to that. And, of course, we all know they involve foreign franchise tax, which is not in this program, but which has already been declared unconstitutional by the lower courts. Now, if there are any other questions involved in the five thousand appeals, I cannot say.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, seems to be anxious to answer my question.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I think a very large part of the appeals relate to the assessment of the bank stock tax. In the decision of the Schuylkill Vally Trust case certain assets of the bank could not be used in making the basis of the state tax. That is under a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States and a number of banks have raised questions as to whether or not that applies to assessments in years past. I am not able to say how many of those five thousand appeals are back cases, nor the amount involved, but I would say a very substantial amount is involved, probably some two or three millions of dollars in taxes.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand what the gentleman is talking about is the objection to the amount of assessments of the tax?

Mr. EDMONDS. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in other words, there is no question of constitutionality in the courts. That question is whether or not a certain basis of taxation shall stand or whether it shall be eliminated and thus reduce some of those taxes which the taxpayers claim are not due.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, to a certain extent the constitutionality question is involved, as to whether or not, for institutions, we can include Federal bonds owned by the banks as a basis of taxation.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it is not the contention of the gentleman from Montgomery that the constitutionality of the Act as a whole is attacked?

Mr. EDMONDS. Oh, Mr. President, no.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it is only the constitutionality of one of the bases of the tax, which in result will only reduce the tax but not invalidate the Act.

Mr. EDMONDS. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have heared a great deal from the gentleman from Tioga about so many of the Acts being unconstitutional, or, the constitutionality of which is being attacked. I am glad we have reduced it to one Act.

Anyone who has had any experience with the Department of Revenue knows that tax assessments always carry a number of appeals. As a matter of fact, there would be more now than before because we have set up a self-assessment basis so that people send in returns accompanied with the payment and then make their objection.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I would also say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that the formula we used for the corporate net income tax is the same that has already been ruled out.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have already called attention to that myself and now, if that ruling is applied to that, it may reduce the income.

Mr. President. I should say it looks to me like an open field on this bill. I do not think we ought to vote for or against this bill with the information—I might call it misinformation—given to us by the gentleman from Tioga. I wonder how the gentleman from Tioga can consistently say in the one breath that nobody can tell how much money is needed for relief and in the next breath say that we, the Democratic party left this administration with a deficit of $50,000,000.

In other words, the so-called defict arises from the fact that more money is being spent for relief than was provided or expected by the Earle administration. Now, when that happens in the Earle Adminstration that is a deficit, but when it happens in the James Administration that is something nobody knows about.

I do not agree with either position. I want to call attention to the fact, first, there is a substitute for this tax, without any worrying about studying where it comes from. It is here and has been in front of the gentlemen who, if they wanted to, could have found it. It is as plain as the nose on anybody's face.

In the first place, Mr. President, in 1935 there was appropriated for relief $139,000,000 and, subsequently $25,000,000 or $164,000,000—I should say 1937—$164,000,000 and not $135,000,000. In addition to that extra appropriation of $25,000,000 there was removed from the statute books taxes totaling some $25,000,000, $15,000,000 from the net corporate income tax, which was reduced from 10% to 7%; $800,000 from the documentary tax; $6,800,000 from the amusement tax; $2,800,000 from the distilled liquor tax—that is a total in the neighborhood of $25,000,000.

If the gentleman from Tioga is opposed to this tax and if this administration had the courage which the other administration had, they would have restored these taxes which were removed only because they were not needed; and if they wanted to offer any substitute for any of these vicious taxes, they certainly could have offered the reinstatement of those taxes that were repealed last year. Is it because corporations do not want to pay ten per cent on the income tax? Nobody who makes a profit, ought to complain. I do not like this personal property tax; and, since you have enough votes for it, I am going to vote against it because I have a conviction it is a false tax.

It may be all right for these gentlemen here, even on my side of the house, to say because real estate is taxed this ought to be taxed. If there is any income from it it is not only taxed the 4 to 8 mills in Pennsylvania, but there is also 4 mills tax in Philadelphia, and, in addition, if there is any income, it is taxed by the Federal Government. Real estate does not bear that burden.

In addition to that, real estate gets protection for some of its taxes, police protection, fire protection. The taxes which they pay are paid for these specific services which does not inure to those who pay a personal property tax, and it is not comparative at all to speak about real estate in the same breath that you speak about a personal property tax, and getting back to the tax problem, it does not make any difference whether you pass this tax now or not.

If, after four or five months campaigning with absolute promises that taxes could be reduced, you now give us the innocuous suggestion that you will appoint a tax commission to study and come back some time later and tell us how we shall revise the tax program.

The responsibility and the duty of an administration elected on a platform which promised us to reduce taxes—and not to appoint a commission, after the taxes are adopted, to see what you can do about them.

If the gentleman who campaigned did not know how to reduce taxes he should not have promised us that he would reduce them. If he cannot find how to get rid of these so-called vicious taxes he should not have called them vicious, and if he does not know how much money is needed for relief he should get someone to figure out how much money is necessary for relief.

The Earle administration got people who knew something about that, and they produced figures and upon those figures taxes were imposed. Conditions changed those figures; but they certainly proposed a minimum and certainly did not ignore—they based their figures on available experience, and the available experience, if maintained, shows that they would have been right; but, since conditions got worse, they were short.

Now, we have available figures. We are not blind on this relief proposition. Here we are today, more than three months since the first time we discussed relief, some of the gentlemen in this room remember when we spoke to Mr. Russell, where he said we were spending on the basis of $12,000,000 a month. When was that? About a week or so before we adjourned. Look at those figures you got from the Public Assistance Department and turn to February 4th—we adjourned somewhere around the 7th. You will find we were spending at that time $1,810,000 a week for direct relief—that, with Mother's Assistance, Old Age Pensions and the other Social Security Taxes amounted to $12,000,000—that was the total, and that is how we arrived at the $12,000,000.

Now, the Mother's Assistance is practically static, so are the pensions for the blind, and so are the Old Age Pensions. Therefore, this $1,810,000 per week is a guide and furnishes sufficient information to know at least the minimum.

We have a report dated May 1st, which gives us information for April 22nd and we spent $1,720,000, or $90,000 per week less, or a total of $4,500,000. That is the only difference and that difference would not exist if there was not something in this report to show there was some effort being made to keep down this relief for the purpose of furnishing an excuse that business will get better, but what is that?

On January 7th, when this administration left, there were nine thousand applications a week, today there are 12,700 applications.

What is happening is that the applications are piling up and the money being spent is being kept down, and you have figures here to show that there is practically no change in the relief for the last three months.

Well, if that is not enough information for the administration upon which to base a relief program I do not know what is, and for that program you need 24 times 12, or approximately $288,000,000 for relief.

What have you provided? $172,000,000 from which you must deduct the $44,000,000 deficit that you have from January 1st to May 31st—a deficit as you call it—so that you have a total of $128,000,000 to meet a $288,000,000 relief program, and you tell us that is the budget, and you have no figures to know what relief is?

Well, onething you know, it is going to be very close to $288,000,000, and when you get to that figure five or ten million dollars does not mean a lot, but when you take the difference between $288,000,000, which is necessary upon the experience of three months, and compare that with $128,000,000 you know that the Governor's program is merely an excuse to put off levying any taxes until past the election and until he can find some statement which will give him a means of getting an out from the promises he made.

That is not statesmanship. I said before and I repeat now, the election is over, and there is only one way the problem can be handled and solved, and that is by forgetting the election and proceeding to solve the problem in a statesmanlike way. You have got to meet the issue that there is $288,000,000 needed for relief and I say long ago, if we had not had this dilly-dallying and finding of excuses and changing of positions we might have gotten somewhere.

There is $40,000,000 available as against this $288,000,000 from the Unemployment Compensation. Look at the reports you get weekly and see how relief is affected by payments from unemployment compensation, and you will find that a proper analysis of those figures will enable you to take $40,000,000 from that reserve of $80,000,000 which is now in their hands and for which they will have no use this year, because they will take in on the three per cent basis as much as they will spend. That is $40,000,000 off and that should have been done long ago and taxes should have been provided or some program set up for the difference; and the difference between $240,000,000 and $128,000,000 must be provided sooner or later—tax commission or no tax commission—and you might as well make up your mind to it. I criticize it as an unfair proposition to ask the people to vote for $26,000,000 or $24,000,000 on this personal property tax, when you could tax income to the extent of $15,000,000 from people who make money, and not tax the poor people or retax that same group who are paying taxes otherwise on the same property, irrespective of profits.

Everybody knows the personal property tax makes a man pay on his stocks, whether he gets a dividend or not, and if he does get a small dividend; he has to make a return to the Federal Government. We do not need this tax. If the Governor has the courage he should have and say to the people who are making money, you are the men who can pay this tax, you can pay this $15,000,000 out of your profits, and you can be relieved of paying this $24,000,000 out of your capital, because that is what it amounts to in many instances, and you can put on an amusement tax of $6,700,000, and you can put on a documentary tax of $800,000, and you can find a substitute for the distillers' tax money worked out, you can find a substitute for that $2,700,000, and you will have $25,000,000 and that is why I say there is no excuse for any Republican or Democrat voting for this tax. I am going to register my protest by voting against it, unless my vote is needed.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, when this same tax law was put in the Earle tax program, I voted for it because in the contemplation of the said Earle Administration this was to be only a temporary tax, an emergency tax.

The principal reason why I cannot vote for it now is that, in my judgment, the rates are too high; but let me say that the wisdom of our Republican friends has me confused and flabbergasted.

I find that from the Governor down, they have plenty of wisdom to evaluate and appraise this tax, as well as the other Earle taxes, as being vicious, as driving industry out of the State. That is as far as their wisdom went. They do not seem to have had the wisdom and do not seem to have the wisdom, to dig up some taxes that would not be vicious and oppressive and not drive industry out of the State. I suppose what they are waiting on in this Tax Commission, that is to be forthcoming is some more wisdom to find some taxes that will not be vicious, that will not drive industry out of Pennsylvania. And I longingly wait for their digging up of such taxes, because I certainly want to vote for them.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 1 is a companion bill to Senate Bill No. 2; and, unless Senate Bill No 2 becomes a law, Senate Bill No. 1 should not be passed. In the committee this matter was discussed, and I suggested that I would prepare a bill to take care of that situation, which will be done this week, before we leave here.

Senate Bill No. 1 provides that the Registration Commission shall be transferred to the County Commissioners. That is the situation in about all of the counties except two, I think—Philadelphia and I think Pittsburgh—but if this bill does not become law we will make a change and I suggest, under the circumstances, that Senate Bill No. 1 go over in its order until we consider Senate Bill No. 2.

Mr. SHAPIRO, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 1, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sections three and eight of the act, approved the thirtieth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 115), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the first class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, bodies of electors, registration commissions, commissioner, registrars, inspector of registration, and other appointees of registration commission, election officers, municipal, officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, real estate brokers, rental agents, certain public service companies, persons, firms, and corporations operating vehicles for moving furniture and household goods, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," by providing that the registration commission is to consist of the county commissioners instead of appointed commissioners and by providing that appropriations to carry out the act are to be made in the same manner as other appropriations are made.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

An act for the better government of cities of the first class of the Commonwealth by providing, among other things, for a councilmanic form of government with a council elected by proportional representation and with a city manager selected by council; the creation, abolition and change of departments and the addition to departments of certain functions pertaining to parks, detention and correction, planning within the city, weights and measures, and dependent, negelected, incorrigible and delinquent children transferred from certain county offices to the extent of the performance of such functions within such cities improvement of the civil service; increased control over finances by requiring balanced current and capital budgets and by greater control over the collection of charges, fees and taxes, and over payments of salaries and other expenditures out of the city treasury; improvements in the making and revision of assessments; the grant of home rule to such cities and penalties.

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this is the Philadelphia City Charter Bill and all I wish to say at this time is to express my appreciation to Senator Stevenson, as Chairman of the Committee on Municipal Government, for his fairness and courtesy in conducting the campaign, a long campaign, over this bill. As you know, Senator Stevenson held two all day hearings in Philadelphia, at which time the proponents and opponents had ample opportunity to express their opinions; and it is either a coincidence, or has significance, that two of the three members of the Committee, who will probably vote "no," were not present at those hearings. That, I think, is perhaps significant; but I again wish to express my appreciation of the Senator and the courtesy we received.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, this is the Philadelphia City Charter bill.

I wish to state, preliminary, that I attended all the hearings in connection with this bill.

It has been contended that this proposed legislation to provide a new charter for the City of Philadelphia is of vital concern only to the people of Philadelphia; and that this Legislature, if it is to preserve the spirit, the principle and the purpose of home rule, has no prerogative in the matter, beyond that of docile, unquestoning affirmation.

As a matter of fact, that contention is about the only one that has been brought to the defense of this measure up to now; and, not only in the public mind, but also among those whose responsibility it is to delve deeper than they have, it has successfully served its purpose of diverting and forestalling that searching consideration which should be directed to the provisions, purposes and potentialities of the bill itself.

Of course, such a superficial statement is phony on its face, for to accept it would be to lay down the principle that the Constitution of Pennsylvania does not mean what it says, and that the Legislature is bereft of all independent powers in matters which are seemingly—or, by argument, are solely—the primary concern of the lesser political units which go to make up the State. Acceptance of such a contention would give complete validity to its real meaning, namely, that any political unit in this State is entitled to demand and receive Legislative approval of any form of government it wishes to set up, that the rest of the people have no rights or voice in the matter; that the sole determining factor shall be the vote of those in the community itself. Such an argument would be ridiculous in any circumstance, but in this instance it falls completely when it is realized that the primary purpose involved in this bill is so startling a departure from the established practice and the accepted political principles under which candidates for public office have been elected in this State and throughout the Nation for a century and a half, that it is, most emphatically, a matter of vital concern not only to this Legislature, but to the people in every part of the Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I have been one of the chief targets of those who are demanding that this bill be passed by the Legislature, without change. I have no complaint from the personal standpoint, but I do regret that practically all of the criticism up to this time has been of individuals, with almost none directed to the legislation itself. As a member of the Committee on Municipal Government, I have voted to bring this measure to the floor of the Senate. I propose to strip it of some of its attractive window-dressing and camoflage. I shall vote against it, just as I believe that a majority of the people of Philadelphia will vote against it if comes before them in anything like its present form and they have a clear understanding of what that means.

Mr. President, it may be worth the reminder that periodically, for years, some temporary shortcoming in the functioning of local government in Philadelphia has been seized upon by professional charterchangers as the excuse for highly propagandized demands that the Legislature scrap whatever might be the existing form of government and enact a new charter.

And, it being far easier to condemn than defend any legislative and administrative system which has had to meet the many and acute problems of municipal management over any considerable period, invariably there are those who, having no detailed knowledge of the subject themselves, are swayed by the persuasive prospects offered by the charter-changers, and thereby are enlisted for the time being in the "new charter" movement.

Propaganda is something that is plotted out in advance At the beginning of any controversy, therefore, it has the jump on the solid but unorganized public opinion of a community. And in this instance being composed of about fifty per cent lure and an equal part of political threat, it must, to succeed, "strike while the iron is hot." It must capitalize, if at all, before the support that it has created disintegrates and disappears under the irresistible pressure of deeper examination and more mature thought.

We have seen that technique employed by the supporters of this measure, who demand that every provisoon in it remained as is, including that by which the people of Philadelphia would have only five weeks after enactment of this bill, and I believe it is now only four weeks to inform themselves as to the purposes, operation and effect of the drastic departures from past procedure which have been written into it. Their methods have been "high pressure" in every respect, and ought to be a further warning to the Legislature that its own responsibilities are its first concerns in such a matter; that its clear duty is to proceed with caution, careful consideration and courage; and that its ultimate action, whatever it may be, shall be based upon judgment, in complete disregard of the political threats which are among the chief weapons of the charter-change propagandists.

I call attention to the fact that when Philadelphia's present charter was adopted, it was upon the solemn assurance of some of the foremost advocates of present change, that abandonment of the bicameral Council whose members received no pay, and the substitution of a single-chamber Council of 22 members each receiving $5,000 per year, would be the complete answer to all of Philadelphia's difficulties—the enduring solution of municipal problems which common sense knows are never fully or permanently solved.

The arguments now are similar, but the bait is different.

What Philadelphia really needs, the charter-changers now tell us, is a figurehead Mayor at a clerk's salary of $2,500 a year, and a Council of only eleven members, each of whom shall receive a 50% greater salary than at present, for exercising an authority which, so far as it concerns the responsibility of city management and operation, shall be limited to the power to hire or fire a professional City Manager—if and when any six or more of the 11, having no party obligations or responsibilities, can be gotten to act in concert.

The afore-mentioned "if" is by no means an exaggeration. Upon the contrary, it is not only a possibility, but a probability, under this legislation. For the fact is that the real essence of this whole proposed new charter—the single aspect of it that has rallied the complete and undiluted support of every Socialist, every Communist, and every other political freebooter who owes no allegiance to either of the two major parties—is the definite and specific provision in it for the beginning of the end of the two-party system in this country.

For nearly a century and a half the American form of government has rested securely upon the two-party system by which the people have selected and rejected candidates for public office. Those who are informed upon the subject know that for many years past, the agitators who would abandon the American form of government and substitute some foreign product for it, have regarded that two-party system as the real stumbling block, the one impassable barrier, to the accomplishment of their purposes. And it is equally well known that, openly and publicly, these borers-from-within have set for themselves, as the first tenet of their political program and as the only means of removing this effective barrier to their ultimate objectives, the achievement of that which is called by the euphonious name of Proportional Representation.

What is Proportional Representation? No less a citizen than the Governor of Pennsylvania, long a Judge of the Superior Court of this State and in public life practically from the time he cast his first vote, said the other day he does not know clearly what it is. Perhaps the Governor spoke more or less lightly about his own knowledge. The fact remains, however, and cannot be disputed, that relatively few men and women in this Commonwealth—certainly not one in one thousand—have any real idea of what it does mean.

But, of far more significance than that, although Proportional Representation is by far, and above all else, the most important thing in this proposal, and in my opinion is the one big purpose for which all others in the bill are just selling points—while all of this stands out so clearly that it must impress any impartial mind in an honest examination of this proposal and the propaganda behind it, the irrefutable truth is that not a single word has been said, before the Committee or elsewhere, by any supporter of this measure, in real defense of this radical and far-raching effort to begin here the uprooting and abandonment of established political procedure in this State.

There is another thing that is necessary to a clearer understanding of this situation. The proponents of this proposal tell us that it would apply only to Philadelphia and hence is of no concern to this Legislature or the people of the rest of Pennsylvania. I want to warn the people of the rest of Pennsylvania that right now there is a bill in the legislative hopper of this session that would impose Proportional Representation upon the rest of Pennsylvania. It is high time that the truth about this be brought into this matter; that the people of Pennsylvania be aroused to what lies behind and within these demands that are being made upon their Legislature.

And now some light upon Proportional Representation and what it would mean.

Under Proportional Representation, candidates do not appear upon the ballot as the affiliates of any political party, and the elections are "at large." Thus Proportional Representation immediately does away with two things—the political party system, and district representation of the people of the various sections. Under it, the entire membership of an elected body could be of one political leaning, and from a single section of the whole area covered by the election. Obviously, if it is good for the largest city in the Commonwealth, it is good for all other cities, towns and boroughs, and the State as a whole. And if it is good for one State it is good for all, and for the Nation as a whole. Clearly, it is the beginning of the end of the two-party political system upon which the whole structure of the American form of government rests—and that is real, it's deliberate, and, at least among Communists, it's frankly avowed purpose.

As to its operation, that can be illustrated best by reviewing the kind of Councilmanic election that would take place in Philadelphia under this proposed new charter.

There would be eleven places to be filled. Now, there have been occasions when Philadelphia has had to fill that many Magisterial vacancies, and hundreds of aspirants have contended for the party nominations. But in such a Councilmanic contest as is proposed, the monetary reward of success would be much larger than in the case of the Magistracy, in addition to which, under Proportional Representation, no political party nomination would have to be procured. No requirements would be imposed as to knowledge, experience, ability, or integrity. Residence, so long as within the city, would have no bearing. Individual candidates would not run for some particular one of the eleven places to be filled, but for any one of the eleven into which he or she, if fortunate, might land. The only test that any citizen would have to pass, in order to get his or her name upon the ballot, would be to procure—through agents, by canvass, by solicitation on a street corner, or what-not—the signatures of 1,000 qualified voters. There is a filing fee of $250, but this is returnable if the candidate withdraws or is elected.

With the help of relatives or friends, the signatures would be a matter of only a day's work. Can there be any doubt that hundreds, perhaps thousands, of citizens would be willing to risk the $250 to enter them in the race for one of the $7,500 jobs?

And can anyone estimate the degree of intelligent discrimination with which the average citizen could go through a ballot containing hundreds of names, many of them similar or perhaps identical, and pick the eleven best fitted for the offices to be filled? And with the complete removal of that guidance which is now afforded by the party identification of all candidates, what sort of an indicator, if any, would the average citizen have, to help him with his choice? Aside from the personal knowledge he might have of perhaps two or three of the candidates, there would be nothing but the names. What significance would they have? Maybe little, maybe much. But they would be the only things on the ballot that would have any significance, or afford any guidance at all. Can anyone imagine a system more surely calculated to divert the voting into religious, racial and group channels?

By whatever might be his method of choosing, the voter would vote for the eleven names of his choice, marking the names in the numerical order of that choice—1, 2, 3, 4, etc. The bill provides that immediately any candidate receives a vote equal to one-twelfth of the ballots cast, plus one, that candidate is elected. If, to use a round figure, 600,000 ballots were cast, any candidate who received 50,000 votes, plus one more, would automatically be elected. His excess above 50,001 votes then would go to the credit of the next highest candidate, where the same process would be repeated, and so on until eleven were under the rope and into the coveted jobs.

No stricture would prevent the entire eleven from coming from one ward, and it is easy to conceive that if not all, at least a substantial majority, could come from one section, with pronounced sectional leanings. Soon or late, under such a system, Communists and Socialists would gain the seats of Council; none is more aware of the fact than they themselves. And under a division of 5-5, a single Communist could be the balance of power—the arbiter of who should be the Manager of the largest city in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and how he should operate it in order to hold his job.

Except as to this hiring and firing of a City Manager, members of Council would enjoy a highly paid impotence in all matters relating to city operation and management. It would be unlawful for any member of Council, or for the entire membership collectively, to direct or even request the appointment or removal of any employee coming within the almost unlimited province of the hired City Manager. Once appointed, the latter could be a virtual czar, and Council, the elected representatives of the people, could deal with the questions of city management only through him. The goal of the real backers of Proportional Representation would be achieved: Party Government and representative government would alike be gone; personal government would be firmly installed in its place. And, as has been said, the City Manager only could be fired when six or more members of the Council were in accord upon such action.

One of the most significant things about this legislation is that they do not want to discuss the principal provision in it. They don't want to talk about Proportional Representation. And that they don't want to give the people of Philadelphia time enough to talk about and clearly understand it, is amply evidenced by the provision in the bill that it shall be submitted to the people of Philadelphia in a Special Election, which shall be held the fourth Tuesday following Legislative enactment.

There is other and equally conclusive evidence that Proportional Representation, the openly-sought goal of all Communists and Socialists, is the real purpose of this whole proposal. We all know that the different problems of municipal operation and management do not continue long in the same form. They loom large, subside or are solved, and are superseded by other and different questions. The important and all-absorbing one of today is all but forgotten tomorrow, and certainly the remedies of one year do not fit the requirements of the next.

Now, this proposal, Mr. President, comes before us in the fetching garb of a new City Charter, designed to meet the problems of the present in Philadelphia. That is its surface appeal, and the intent avowed by its chief supporters—to meet the problems of the present.

Yet the supporters of this measure when it was introduced in the Senate specifically provided in it that if it fails of adoption now, it shall be submitted every four years until adopted. Will the sponsors and supporters of this measure attempt to say that this important proviso rested upon the supposition, or even the argument, that the bill's so-called remedies for the present will fit the needs of four, eight or twelve years hence? That, in effect, is what this proviso said, and it cannot be interpreted as saying anything else. The purpose, and in my opinion the only purpose, of the repeat referendums, that was in this bill originally, was a dogged determination to fasten Proportional Representation upon the people of this Commonwealth, and by this proviso assuring themselves of a try in the largest city in Pennsylvania at least once every four years.

But they have the hardihood to say that this proposal is of no concern to this Legislature, of no concern to any of the people of Pennsylvania outside of Philadelphia, and therefore the Legislature should pass this measure forthwith, wholly as is, without discussion or debate.

I take this opportunity to say to my fellow members in this chamber, and to the people of Pennsylvania irrespective of section, that if they think the proponents of this measure are right in that statement, and if with their consent the Legislature gives Proportional Representation legal sanction in Pennsylvania by approving it for the largest city in the State, then the precedent will have been established and the way paved to adoption for all other cities and boroughs, and, logically, for the State as a whole.

The sponsors of this bill have harped interminably upon the allegation that it serves, indeed is the very essence, of "home rule." What kind of "home-rule?" Mr. President, Proportional Representation obliterates all district or sectional representation, it thereby completely destroys representative government, and, carried to its logical conclusion, it is the exact anithesis, the acknowledged annihilator of "home rule." Representative government stands challenged in Pennsylvania, and we are told to blink the fact, that it is of no concern to this Legislature!

I have a different concept. I say that it is for the Senators from all other sections of the State, and for the people of more than three-quarters of the counties of this State, to ask themselves, for example, just how much "home rule" they would have—how much representation of themselves and their communities—in a Legislature elected at large, under this principle of Proportional Representation.

I say again that Proportional Representation is the stepping-stone to the eventual abolition of the two-party system, and the destroyer alike of representative government and the true meaning of "home rule." Every Communist is for it; every Socialist is for it; many others who have had no real idea of what it means have thought they were for it; and the Democratic Organization in Philadelphia has seen in this situation the opportunity for what it thinks would be a smart political squeeze-play.

But the facts are that the Democratic Party, when it had the State-wide power to do so, would not enact such a law; and the proposal itself will not stand up under analysis and publicity.

The cry is for a new charter for Philadelphia. But without the real and chief purpose of this legislation—Proportional Representation—its proponents do not want that new city charter! Unbendingly, and rejecting all considerations of compromise, the supporters of this bill have demanded all that is in it, or nothing.

To me, no attitude could be more revealing, and in this circumstance my vote is going to be NO.

I will not betray real "home rule."

I will not destroy the two-party system.

I will not obliterate representative government.

I will not join hands with anyone to put over, in this State or any part of it, the first tenet of the political program of the Communists, Socialists and other avowed enemies of the American form of Government—Proportional Representation.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I want to assure my colleagues in this Senate that when I vote for the Charter Bill I am not voting for a piece of legislation that has been inspired by Communists or anyone else. But I want to assure my colleagues in this Senate that the people of my district are absolutely tired of the tyrant rule of the Republican party in the City of Philadelphia; and when the opportunity comes, when the constituents of my district come to vote, they will vote "yes" on the Charter Bill, and they are going to answer my colleague from Tioga in a very certain way.

The people of my district are not Communists and they are not Socialists, they are America-loving people, and they believe in and respect the Constitution of the United States and its organized government.

I wish to say, Mr. President, that in voting for this bill I am trying to give the people of Philadelphia an opportunity to vote for something that they desire.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the charter in question was framed by a group of citizens who are well-known in Philadelphia, and the charge that this is communistically inspired is a reflection upon the integrity and standing of those people.

One of the members of the Charter Committee was William G. Schnader, former Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; another gentleman was Mr. Rue, who is a high official in one of the banks; another gentleman is Mr. Thomas Evans, a well-known citizen of Philadelphia. Several members of the legislature were members of that commission. A well-known Republican, loved by all of us, Dr. Woodward, was a member of that commission. That commission worked on this charter for over a year, and that commission produced a piece of legislation without at any time considering that there were 2,400 or 2,500 Communists in the City of Philadelphia. I would like to assure the gentleman from Tioga that that is all the Communists there are in Philadelphia, and if they are going to vote for this charter I am sure we will all agree that that will not have any affect on the results.

When the gentleman who appeared as president of the Communistic organization in Philadelphia was asked how many members he had he said about twenty-five hundred.

The Socialist party, about which he seems to have such fear, was so strong that I think they lost their place on the ballot. The people supposed to be back of it, the so-called Communists, have been called "long haired men and short haired women" by some Republicans. For instance, Francis Shunk Brown, President of the Board of City Trusts—he and a number of other gentlemen of his type, Mr. Sidney Hutchinson—I am sure he is not a Communist—I know Mr. Francis Shunk Brown does not like them any more than I do—they gave a thousand dollars toward the expenses of the Charter Committee—which is not the Charter Commission but the Charter Committee—in order to popularize this charter, so that the people would know months in advance, before it came to the Legislature, just what was said, what Proportional Representation would provide under this charter, and how to find out about this charter.

Those are the so-called communistically inspired people to whom my friend refers as instigating this charter. Now, that is all silly and tommy-rot.

My friend from Tioga talks about the fact that it violates the Constitution; and he talks about real home rule—I have distinct recollections about both of those points.

In the first place, I would like to suggest that the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania provided, more than fifteen years ago, that cities should have the right to frame their own charters, and while this Legislature was controlled by the Republican organization for fifteen years thereafter it never passed a law which would enable those people to have their own charter, and my friend is so afraid of this that in order to block the charter he participated in the introduction of a bill here in the Senate, by the gentleman from Montgomery, which would have given the City of Philadelphia the right to frame such a charter if it wanted to, but of course they would have to elect another commission and then go through all this work again and spend $25,000 more to prepare this charter or any charter they would want.

And he was so anxious for home rule that when the City of Philadelphia adopted a resolution to combine the city and the county he took it upon himself to go to Philadelphia and talk against it and to urge to the people of Philadelphia and people all over the State to vote aginst consolidation of Philadelphia City and Philadelphia County.

All during the time that he was campaigning against the consolidation of the City and County of Philadelphia—so that the taxpayers could have some control over the salaries paid to people for whose salaries they were obliged to levy and raise taxes, he complained about the fact that they had no control over the county offices, complained about that fact and yet when we were attempting to correct that misrepresentative form of government my friend was in Philadelphia and all over the State protesting and seeing to it that the bill should be defeated, and that is the net result of that so-called home rule spirit which he has.

In Philadelphia, where the city itself was affected by that constitutional amendment, it was carried. Upstate, where the gentleman from Tioga has influence, and the amendment was lost—a sufficient number of votes were produced against its passage up-State to lick it despite the majoiity in favor of it in Philadelphia; and that is my friend's idea of home rule.

When it suits his purpose he argues for home rule and when it suits his purpose he argues against home rule; and when it suits his purpose he calls upon the Communists. I want to tell the members of this Senate that, much as I hate the Communists and dislike their principle—which is to overthrow this government—I am wondering whether they do not play a part and a necessary part in our legislative matters and in our life, because our friend from Tioga can use them as a red herring to throw over the trail in order to discredit this charter which was advocated by those who have studied and have worked hard on it, by the decent respectable citizens who are entitled to some credit and less condemnation of the kind we are hearing here tonight.

All of this is true but I am afraid it may be forgetton in this tirade of misrepresentation of the whole charter, of the people back of it. The men who framed this charter are respectable citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, leaving myself out, and the misrepresantation is carried further by saying the mayor gets only $2,500 a year. Well, if you will read the charter you will see the mayor gets $10,000. They say the mayor will be only a handshaker, well that is all he has amounted to in Philadelphia for the last forty years, and it is time we put the mayor where he belongs in Philadelphia, under this so called American form of government about which my friend harps so much. I do not know what the American form of government means any more, except the kind of government you refer to when you want to lick something you do not like. The other fellow is destroying the American form of Government. It is high time that we look facts in the faces.

Under our so-called American form of Government in Philadelphia not a single mayor who ever became mayor of the City of Philadelpha, with one exception, ever got any higher office or any other public office. Every mayor that left the office of mayor, for forty years, left it in disrepute and such a condition of personal reputation he never could get any other public office, because all he amounted to was a spendthrift and a handshaker and politician; and while it is true that this bill, that those who framed the charter have said that it should be with proportional representation or nothing, there is a very good reason for it. The powers given to council in this charter would never have been given to them without proportional representation. With proportional representation, which means a strong minority, powers are given to council which are extreme, extraordinary, and different from those they have had in the past forty years.

Without proportional representation the right of city council to run the city, giving them the powers that they have here, would be foolsh; and therefore we say the people will know what it is; if we do not tell them the gentleman from Tioga will take good care to do so; either he or somebody else for him will tell the people of Philadelphia about this terrible thing called proportional representation and they will know what proportional representation means.

He will tell them that this means that any group of people can get together and elect their candidate, so that race, creed, politics, religion, labor will get their groups in. Well, if he says that he will be flying in the face of all experience. If he says there will be five of each party and one Communist and that would result in the ten men joining with the one to vote for the Communist for city manager, then those too men must be crazy or the Communists themselves must be crazy. What would prevent the ten men voting against the Communist? I cannot see anything illogical or wrong in thinking that might happen.

He tried to "strip the charter of its camouflage" by surrounding it with a lot of what I might call, not "baloney as he says, but hooey, which is more understandable.

And now, Mr. President, I do not know whether it is true Mr. Woodward is a long-haired gentleman or not, but I think we know him and have known him for years. I have never known him to associate with Communists but I know he is heart and soul for this charter.

I know that there was a list of contributors to this charter, which the gentleman from Tioga wanted to have, because he felt that he might find amongst them some Communists, I suppose, so he got the list, and as soon as he got the list he discovered that 90 per cent of those gentleman were Republicans; most of them were, anyhow; and so, in order that these gentlemen should not have opportunity to contribuute again, last Wednesday he offered an amendment providing that no corporation should have the right to contribute toward the expense of seeing this charter through the election.

In other words, corporations which have a vital interest in the form of government are now put in the same position as a candidate who runs for office, a candidate who might be controlled, so in order that the corporation should not be able to control this charter how they may I do not know they are not now permitted to contribute.

The real purpose back of that is to, in every way possible, prevent any support financially for this charter; and I should like to say to the gentleman in passing that all these things will not help. The people of Philadelphia are aroused, not because there was temporary mismanagement, as the gentleman says, in the city affairs but because for the last 25 or 30 years the City of Philadelphia has been so grossly mismanaged there must be an end to it.

I suggested a few weeks ago that unless something be done there would be trouble in Philadelphia. Last week we were visited by one of those troubles. For over 25 years there has not been a dollar spent on the substructure of the streets of the City of Philadelphia, and last Saturday the subway was stopped for 24 hours because the sewer system broke down and the subway was filled. Next year you will have some pipes break down, you will have the sewage disposal plant leaking into the drinking water of the city, and you will have every structure which the city needs for the purpose of assuring the safety and well-being of the citizens failing to operate because the money which should have been spent there was wasted in plain words, in graft, plain ordinary graft.

The people of Philadelphia are tired of paying $800,000 for a piece of property which is assessed for taxation at $80,000; the people of Philadelphia are tired of spending money for subways under Arch Street about the existence of which fifty per cent of the people do not know, and the only purpose they serve is, as happened two weeks ago when we had a flood they carry off the water and keep it from the cellars at a cost of millions of dollars.

The people are tired of having a subway under Locust Street, that has been built over three years and costing millions of dollars, that has never been opened; and to this day there is not an entrance or an exit. The people are tired of having assessments on a basis which is absolutely out of line with all decent, common knowledge of today.

The people of Philadelphia are tired of all that kind of government and they say to the Senator from Tioga. "You give us the right to vote on this charter." And we say to him in plain language, "It is not the affair of anybody outside of Philadelphia whether we want this charter or not."

That charter is plain—he is not the only one that can understand it—we know what it means. It is working in New York today. In the Bronx, under proportonal representation, where you would have expected all of the people of one kind who inhabit the Bronx to elect their own man, they did not do it, not a single man of their religion was elected. Why? Because they liked the other candidate better—for personal reasons. That is why we should have this charter; everybody should have the right to exercise his personal preference in voting for candidate; and if the Communists in Philadelphia are of sufficient strength to carry this charter, if they are going to carry this charter into effect, then they are in the majority, and under our form of government they are entitled to have the charter; but that is a farfetched argument and is facetious and is certainly not conformable with the information the committee had before it.

The Governor of Pennsylvania does not know what proportional representation is? I would rather take that suggestion from the gentleman from Tioga if he said it with a smile on his face, because I would hate to think that the Governor of Pennsylvania would make such a remark about an important thing like that without sufficient study. And if he does not, I think he should find out, because he is one of the gentlemen who promised to help Philadelphia.

Now, on the question of the four years, there was a provision in this bill that if it failed this time it could be tried again in four years. That was intended as a limitation and not as a privilege, and when the gentleman from Tioga walked into the committee meeting and presented an amendment to remove this provision entirely, the amendment was passed and adopted by the committee.

There was no scheme or plan back of this bill except one—the real plan back of his proposition is to get those people out of Philadelphia who have been controlling it for their own purposes. The real plan is to get rid of the Republican party control in Philadelphia—that is perfectly plain, and the only way we will get rid of it, and the only way this charter will be passed, is when the decent Republicans in Philadelphia join with the Democrats and pass this charter—then we will get rid of them.

In passing I want to answer one porposition. It has been said here—and I agree—that, after all, the management or government of a city is no better than its manager or governing body. That is true. There is no question about that. If, under this charter, we do not get decent people we will not accomplish the results we expect. But I want to call attention to the fact that this is the only way and the only kind of a plan—certainly one of the plans—which will enable us to get decent candidates to run. Up until now what decent man wanted to run for mayor of Philadelphia? He could not do what he wanted, he would have the council against him. What could he do except aggravate himself and have his name spread all over the papers as being responsible for conditions over which he had no control. This is a proposition that will invite and encourage decent people to become candidates and participate in the government of their city.

This has not aroused the Communists; this has aroused the decent citizenry of Philadelphia. Mrs. Scott, of Philadelphia, is one of those citizens. George Wharton Pepper, a life long Republican and a man who is a credit to the City of Philadelphia, is one of the first signatories on this petition to this body for the charter—I certainly do not think you would call him a Communist. That is the type of people back of this charter—because they feel, once and for all, we will not have ward heelers in our city offices, we will get rid of waste and extravagance in our city offices. We would call in a cleaning company and pay $50,000 or $60,000 to clean up the City Hall on the inside when it needs it—I do not mean the officials—instead of paying $340,000, which it now costs for janitor services. Take our courts—10 or 12 rooms—where it costs $64,000 a year for janitor service. The Land Title and Trust Company in Philadelphia does not pay that much for cleaning the entire building, and yet here you have 10 room that cost $64,000. It is not the fault of the Courts but of the politicians; every time they need a job for somebody they put him on as a janitor and give him $1800; and when it comes to getting any service from him it is like the installment plan—go and try to find him. You do not see that many people in the hall—as they have janitors.

Go over the the City Treasurer's office, now controlled by the Democrats, and compare the space there with that occupied by the Receiver of Taxes. The Receiver of Taxes pays $16,400 for janitor service and the City Treasurer has it done at contract for $960.00. Is that occasional mismanagement? That has been going on for years. And that is the kind of thing that has caused our $50,000,000 deficit.

The law provides that our budget should be balanced by December 15th, but we do not have the budget balanced yet. The only way our people can get their pay every two weeks is to go to the Supreme Court on their bended knee and say, "Please violate the Constitution and help us so we can get our pay," and the Court says, "We will give you two more weeks, but do not come back again;" and they go back in two weeks and ask the Supreme Court to violate the Constitution again. And yet we speak of Communists! We do not show the Communists the respect for our law we should show them.

For the last six months the law in Philadelphia has been flaunted, because no budget has been made; nobody knows how much money has been spent, nobody knows how much is going to be spent, and nobody knows how we will finish up this year.

I want to say to the members of the Senate that was a nice speech coming from a man in Tioga County who knows nothing about Philadelphia, but to any Philadelphian who has any pride in his city that speck would just make him laugh; and any Philadelphian who would have any pride in his own city would not want anybody else to know about it. I do not like to talk about Philadelphia this way, but I have come to the conclusion the only way we can get any correction in Philadelphia is to talk about it plainly and honestly; and I am presenting these facts to my colleagues on both sides of the house to show to you that I have had experience with the City of Philadelphia's difficulties, contact with its finances; and I want to tell the members of this Senate that when a city gets to the point where 47% of its annual budget of $83,000,000 is spent to pay debt service on $500,000,000—70% of which is graft, corruption and waste—that we are entitled to ask you to give us a chance to vote on a bill that will throw these people out.

I cannot say it any more plainly. I cannot say it any more plainly than I am now—they do not deserve the consideration they have been given under this bill; they have mismanaged the city not temporarily, but consistently; they have utter disregard for the citizens and they are treating the citizens not as Communists but as dictators; and they have not the courage of their convictions. If they had been honestly managing the city they would have imposed the necessary taxes to balance the budget and go through with it; but every time they tried to impose a tax they asked," How much economy are you imposing? How many of these people who are wasting our money are you throwing off the payroll? The Pennsylvania Economy League publicly told them here and there you can cut down $12,000,000 and when the budget estimates were made up there were not $300,000 in the whole budget saved, and I say to the members of this Senate you let the Philadelphians tells you about Philadelphia and why they need a charter. Really the gentleman from Tioga has borne the brunt of criticism because he has made the fight against this charter, he don't know anything about Philadelphia except when he goes there and he protests against some proposition that concerns us alone, and it is not fair for the gentleman from Tioga to say that this charter, sponsored by decent respectable well known citizens, has been inspired by Communists.

If he had not made that remark I would not have said anything about the fact that he comes from Tioga county, which must be the excuse for his remarks, because he comes from Tioga county and not from Philadelphia.

Give us this right at this time to decide whether we want the charter or not and the gentleman from Tioga will get his answer.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this discussion and not coming from Philadelphia I have no right, either; but I have in front of me, a pamphlet put out by the City Charter Committee.

I listened to a discusion on P. R. or proportional representation and the city charter. I do not know anything about Philadelphia, but I think I know something about Democratic form of government.

The pretex is, of course, to do away with party government in the city; but in this very pamphlet put out it says this, under proportional representation: The party with the majority of votes will get a majority of council, the councilman so chosen will represent the wishes of the voters in local matters and will continue to help his party in State and National Affairs.

Maybe I am wrong but something is screwy about the whole thing.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am going to be very brief, but I cannot permit to go unchallenged the statement made by my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that I accused such high-minded citizens as my friend Mr. Woodward, and George Wharton Pepper, as being Communists. I think everybody who heard what I said knows that that is not so; and it well evidences the lengths to which those who are seeking to pass the charter will go in order to force it on the people.

I said we discovered—and I repeat it—this idea of Proportional Representation is backed by every Communist and every Socialist in Philadelphia, and everybody that was on the Committee of Municipal Government, that held this hearing, heard the head of the Communist party come before us and explain how proportional representation is right down their alley; and so did the Socialists; and I say to you, Mr. President and members of the Senate, that the system of proportional representation is minority bloc government, that it fosters voting by creed and race and therefore I say it is un-American.

I want to pay my tribute here and now to the high-minded character of many of the citizens who are back of this proposal, but it does not change the fact that the system of proportional representation that they have put in this bill is the one system which appeals to every group such as we find in the Socialist and Communist parties; and if we are going to turn this State over to that kind of minority bloc rule, I think the members of this Senate should know what they are voting for.

One of the biggest newspapers in Philadelphia said, in an editorial on the front page of that paper, that the people of Philadelphia should be given a chance to vote on this so they could reject proportional representation if they wanted to; and what did we find here in the Senate? "You cannot have it unless you swallow it all." I am not accusing my friend, Dr. Woodward, with being aligned with Communists; I am not accusing George Wharton Pepper, whom I respect as no other man in Pennsylvania, as being aligned with the Communists; but I am afraid they have been sold a bill of goods on this proportional representation.

I do not believe in it; and I believe that the members of this Senate, without regard to personalities, without being accused of having some sinister motive, have a right to consider this idea of proportional representation and see whether they like it. I believe we have a right to be a little bit afraid of it when we find the Communists and those other groups that appeared before that committee saying, "It is right down our alley; it is what we believed in."

Everything that has wrecked this country under the New Deal has been foisted upon this country during a time of hardship and unemployment; and I say to you, Mr. President, that those who are interested in this plan of proportional representation have seized upon the present plight of Philadelphia to get that across, and they have said to the people of Philadelphia, "You cannot have a new charter, you cannot get good government, unless you will swallow this proportional representation scheme." And I say to you, Mr. President, we have a right in this Senate to decide whether we are for this scheme or not, and if we are told we have to pass the bill with that in in it or not at all, we have a right to vote against it on that ground.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Tioga.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the Senator from Tioga state whether the people that he refers to as Communists and Socialists are American citizens?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am sure I don't know. One of the Communists who appeared for this charter bill in Philadelphia said he was born in New Jersey, I believe, and that he was the head of the Communist party. I assume he was an American.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, to what Communists and Socialists is the gentleman from Tioga opposed? To those who are citizens of Russia or a foreign country or to those who are American citizens?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I am opposed to the theory of Communism in government. I am opposed to this man David Lasher, for instance. He and his crowd came here and they pretty nearly wrecked this Senate. He it was who led the hunger marchers when they were here. I am opposed to this man Benjamin, Secretary of the Workers' Alliance. He appeared down in Washington the other day. He is a representative of the Workers' Alliance and is a Communist. I believe that those men are opposed to the American form of government; and we had an example right here in this country the other day of those men, from the funds collected from relief money, going to Russia to study that system of government. Now, if this Senate is going to give approval, why, all right, but let us know what we are doing.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, nobody wants to approve of a thing like that, but many of us have fought for our country and have bled for it, and surely we are not going to stand for any foreign influence coming here and overthrowing our government; but I would like to ask the gentleman from Tioga to enlighten us who have fought and shed some of our blood for this country, to point out where in the Constitution and American citizen is prohibited from entertaining Socialistic and Communistic ideas without resorting to violence.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, everybody under our Constitution—and I hope it will always be true—has the right to think as they please. For that very reason I, who am opposed to proportional representation, have a right to oppose it in this Senate. But that does not mean because an American citizen has a right to embrace the theory of the Communistic party and the principles under which Russia is governed today—that does not mean we American citizens cannot oppose that system of government.

As far as I am concerned I am going to continue to oppose it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not think it is fair to end this debate and leave it in the way the gentleman from Tioga did. I am opposed to the communistic form of government and also am opposed to flinging a red herring over the charter problem and calling it "communism." From what the gentleman from Tioga says, he has great admiration and respect for Dr. Woodward and George Wharton Pepper, but he is afraid they have been sold a bill of goods. It looks to me like everybody has been sold a bill of goods except the gentleman from Tioga. These people are backing the charter and know what proportional representation is, and if it is communistic they are responsible and they are communistically inclined.

Is the gentleman from Tioga the only one who can smell a communist? It is unfair to say what he did about Mr. Reeve, who was born in New Jersey. Let me tell a story about Mr. Reeve. This is what he said. He wrote me about this charter and told me a great many of his constituents did not like certain things that were said at those meetings and some of those constituents live in my district. I said to Mr. Reeve and I repeat it now, I am not interested in what the communists think about what I do, or say, or how I vote, and I so told him because he and I are on different ends of the pole. They advocate the overthrow of government and I do not care how they vote, and do not want them to vote for me.

At one of those hearings there was a gentleman who happened to be a former mayor of Philadelphia—and he probably has some present aspirations to be mayor again—and he spent an hour telling us how terrible this charter was and talking about Mr. Reeve, telling him to go back to Russia, where he came from, and Mr. Reeve handed me a note which read something like this, I do not remember the exact words, "I cannot go back to the place I came from, because I lived in New Jersey, in Jersey City—and I will not go back there until Mayor Hague is no longer the mayor."

"My father," he says, "and my grandfather were born in Pennsylvania, my grandfather lived in Pennsylvania and died at the age of ninety-five; he was a Republican and a Presbyterian"—and that is your communism.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, may I be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. You are so recorded.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 1, Page 2 on the Calendar.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act to amend sections three and eight of the act, approved the thirtieth day of March, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 115), entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in cities of the first class as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries; prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors; and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens, parties, bodies of electors, registration commissions, commissioners, registrars, inspectors of registration, and other appointees of registration commission, election officers, municipal officers, departments and bureaus, police officers, courts, judges, prothonotaries, sheriffs, county commissioners, peace officers, county treasurers, county controllers, registrars of vital statistics, real estate brokers, rental agents, certain public service companies, persons, firms, and corporations operating vehicles for moving furniture and household goods, and boards of school directors; and imposing penalties," by providing that the registration commission is to consist of the county commissioners instead of appointed commissioners and by providing that appropriations to carry out the act are to be made in the same manner as other appropriations are made.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—6

Chapman,	Mallery,	Scarlett,	Thomas,
Farrell,	Owlett,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 218, Page 3 of the Calendar.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 218, entitled:

An Act for the better government of cities of the second class of the Commonwealth by providing among other things for a councilmanic form of government with a council elected by proportional representation and with a city manager selected by council the creation, abolition and change of departments and the addition to departments of certain functions pertaining to parks planning within the city improvement of the civil service, increased control over finance by requiring balanced current and capital budgets and by greater control over the collection of charges, fees and taxes and over payments of salaries and other expenditures out of the city treasury, abolishing Property Assessment as a city function and penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, this bill is the city manager bill for the City of Pittsburgh. Back in Pittsburgh we have the greatest steel mills of the world; we have the greatest glass factories in the world; we have the greatest football teams in the world; and we have some of the greatest universities in the world, one of which is the Cathedral of Learning, which, like Catalon's residence reaches up and kisses the clouds.

We are not asking the members of this Senate to vote for this bill because of the fact that Pittsburgh is full of graft, thievery and corruption, because it is not. How could we? We have the most beautiful women in the world and the smiles of our citizens are brighter, and we do not have graft and thievery and corruption there and that is not why we want the bill. We want the bill because we feel it is a step forward in better government and we feel those who live west of the Alleghenies are entitled to the same considerations and courtesies extended to the people of the great city of Philadelphia.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I might start the few remarks I am going to make stating that Oakmont also has the best golf course in the world.

Mr. WALKER. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. KILGALLEN. And, Mr. President, strangely enough this Senate does not have before it now a bill giving the city manager plan to the Borough of Oakmont.

Now, Mr. President, I voted for the bill that gives the city of Philadelphia the right to decide whether or not it wants this city manager business, and I was induced to vote that way because for some eight or nine months—the first General Session, and the next Special Session and now in this Session—I have been hearing about the woes and tribulations of the City of Philadelphia, and it always struck me as being somewhat strange that the City of Philadelphia, by the use of its ballot could not correct that condition, and I do not understand yet why the people of Philadelphia put up with conditions that we are told here exist in that city.

Nevertheless, that picture has impressed itself on my mind and so, as a last resort, I have been somewhat persuaded by that picture to give this new set-up to the City of Philadelphia. Now, I agree with everything the Senator from Tioga said about the system of proportional representation voting. I think it is unAmerican. I think it is entirely foreign to our American ideals and I want to say that, while I am voting for the bill now before the Senate, I reserve to myself the right to go back to my people and bitterly contest the whole idea; meanwhile I am voting favorably on this bill so that once and for all back in Pittsburgh we can settle this question of proportional representation. I do not think it is a good thing but sometime we will have to meet it and we might as well meet it this year, 1939, as any other time.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, just one question. If all the good things the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, has said about the City of Pittsburgh are true, how will this bill give better government to the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, never anywhere outside of heaven has there been a place where you cannot have room for improvement. I hate to admit before my colleague of Allegheny that we are not satified with perfection but such is the case. We are never satisfied, even with perfection. I might add, Mr. President, there is one thing I forgot to add in discussing this bill and that is that the great County of Allegheny sends to Harrisburg the greatest collection of Senators that have ever come from any district to Harrisburg.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I feel that my colleague from Allegheny County has not answered my question. In view of the fact that we do have an excellent government in the City of Pittsburgh I see no reason for any change, and for that reason and others I intend to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I intend to vote against this bill for the reason that there is no demand for it. I have received very few requests from anybody in the City of Pittsburgh to vote for this bill.

I sympathize with the people down in Philadelphia but if they would do in Philadelphia what we have done in Pittsburgh, elect a Democratic council and mayor, I am sure they would see results immediately.

I have seen a great many reforms and reform administration in cities and am sorry to say that I was never satisfied with any of them.

I believe in two-party government. I believe any city is governed best that has two strong parties. We have in the City of Pittsburgh two strong parties today, one watching the other. I feel that the same condition to a great extent exists in Philadelphia.

The city manager idea is working in a few cities and in many other cities it is working, just as the two-party system is working very good in some cities and, of course, in some cities it is not. I am sure of this, that any city in the United States under the present system can have any kind of government it wants, and for the life of me I cannot see why, by electing a Council by proportional representation and that council picking a manager, how that in itself is going to improve government.

I am sure that in the long run that that manager will do exactly as the council will want him to do, or they will fire him and get a man who will. I can see how, perhaps, in one instance here and there there may be an uprising—they may pick a manager and the people may stay aroused and devote themselves to the government in their city and it will show some improvement, but the said part of the whole thing is that the people who become aroused every forty-five or fifty years in a city and become public-spirited citizens—they stood by for years and years and took no interest in politics, did not care what happened, and saw things go to the bad, and then after they have gone they have blamed it on the system of government. It is not the system of government, it is their own dereliction, it is their own fault, it is their own lack of interest in government that was the cause of it all.

The other argument is let these people vote on it. Why not put back in their laps and at least let them vote on it? Well now, in the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, this fall we have a very important election for county Commissioners, for Treasurer, Controller, four members of council, Register of Wills, and Recorder of Deeds, and we have two elections now in this city, the primary and the fall elections, that keep our people stirred up practically the year around and right now, when we are having a very important election in the City of Pittsburgh, here is an added matter of confusion, an added subject of discussion which, to my mind even if adopted, would not improve the city government of Pittsburgh one particle. I say to you, in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, there is one day in the year that the people have absolute control of their cities. Three hundred and sixty-four days, why they may not have so much to say, but I say to you there is one day in the year that the people have absolute say on the kind of government they should have in their city.

They can have that under our present two-party system and I am not quite sure they can have it under proportional representation.

The experience has been in many cases where they have had it that the minority group stepped in just as trouble makers—no responsibility, they do not have to answer to anybody, and are in there just to dig up or stir up trouble. I say to you in order to get anything constructive in any city or in any state you have to have a strong party to do it. You have got to have a strong administration to do it and even when you have a large majority, because of a difference of opinion in the minds of people, it is hard to put through good legislation and perhaps proper legislation, but if we have proportional representation and a minority group—that experience has shown in many places do nothing but stir up trouble, and with certain groups that might get in—I am sure it would not add to the sum total of knowledge in any city about good government.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 168, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph six of section two, and paragraph four of section five of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 551), entitled "An act prohibiting the employment of miners, as herein defined, in the bituminous coal mines, unless certificated by a miners' examining board; providing for the appointment of such boards, and defining their powers and duties; providing penalties; and making an appropriation," by providing for the suspension of examinations and certifications by the Secretary of Mines and for the issuance of new certificates to replace lost certificates.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

SENATE BILL 168

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it not true that the Senator from Cambria objected to this bill when it was on the calendar in the first place and asked that it be sent back to committee for a public hearing.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, that is correct.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, did the Senator from Cambria have an understanding with the Secretary of Mines and Mining that certain amendments were to be inserted into this measure and that the Senator from Cambria would approve it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I did not.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I happen to be a member of that committee and I reported the bill out. In the committee meeting I stated that the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, raised objections to this bill, inasmuch as he was the original sponsor of this legislation in the session of 1937, and I stated that he had some objections to the bill that seemed very logical.

The Secretary of Mines stated that amendments that he was ready to propose were agreeable and accepted by the gentleman from Cambria.

I find, upon questioning the gentleman from Cambria, that he is not in favor of this legislation nor had he any agreements with the Secretary of Mines. I therefore intend to vote against the measure, although I reported it out of committee.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the record shows that on page 1445 of our journal I moved that Senate Bill No. 168 be recommitted back to the Committee on Mines and Mining, for the purpose of a public hearing, and that motion was agreed to. I then walked over to the desk of the Chairman of Mines and Mining, Mr. Thomas, and discussed the matter with him and he agreed that evening to call a public hearing on Senate Bill No. 168.

Later I was met in the lobby of the Penn-Harris hotel by the present Secretary of Mines and Mining, and he then discussed with me the proposed amendments to which, of course, I could not agree. He informed me that the bill would be reported out of committee without a public hearing and now I am quoted as giving my consent to someone to report this bill out—that I have reached some agreement.

Now, Mr. President, those of us who have engaged in the field of sport would call that hitting below the belt. I think it is unfair for anyone to quote me as agreeing to any compromise because I believe I am voicing the opinion of upwards of 130,000 coal miners. I know the contents of this bill, and as my colleague from Westmoreland has said, I was the sponsor of this act in the Session of 1937 and now, after we had called for a public hearing, I was very much surprised to find the bill once again reported out and violating that verbal agreement.

I certainly think we should have a public hearing and I am going to ask tonight to send this bill back to committee, and have some agreement with the chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining for that proposed public hearing so that those people that are interested in this bill will have an opportunity to voice their objection to this bill.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 168 be once again recommitted to the Committee on Mines and Mining for the purpose of a public hearing.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 245, entitled:

An Act limiting the liability of fiduciaries for taxes assessments and other charges against real property held by them to the assets of the estate fund or trust of which such property is a part

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 280, (House Bill No. 351), entitled:

An Act to amend section twenty-two of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 403) entitled "An act relating to the form execution revocation and interpretation of wills to nuncupative wills to the appointment of testamentary guardians to spendthrift trusts to forfeiture of devise or legacy in case of murder of testator to elections to take under or against wills and to the recording and registering of such elections and of decrees relative thereto and to fees therefor" by providing for the forfeiture of the right to take property under the will of a murdered testator

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as rquired by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the bill under consideration at this time is a very unique bill and I do call upon the members of this Senate who are in the legal profession to consider this bill seriously.

Mr. President, this bill proposes to give to the Orphans Court the power, upon a petition of an interested party, to try the innocence or guilt of a man that is already dead. I agree fully with the principle that a person who is guilty as a principal or an accessory to murder ought not to be permitted to inherit any of the property of the person that he has murdered, but this bill provides that after a man who is alleged to have committed a murder dies and is in his grave, that the Orphans Court may, upon a petition of an interested person, try that dead man and determine whether or not that man was guilty or not guilty of the crime of murder—first degree murder or second degree murder.

Now, gentlemen, it is an extraordinary proposition, when this man is in his grave and cannot defend himself, that we are going to give the Orphans Court the jurisdiction and the power to blacken the memory of that man. I say that it is wrong and we ought not to pass any bill that would permit a thing of that kind.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think that the remarks of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, are well taken. I think the purpose of this bill is good, but I think the way we are trying to carry it out is wrong.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that further consideration of Senate Bill No. 281, (House Bill No. 352), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section twenty-three of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 429) entitled "An act relating to the descent and distribution of the real and personal property of persons dying intestate and to provide for the recording and registering of the decrees of the orphans' court in connection therewith and the fees therefor" by providing for forfeiture of the right to inherit or to take property of a murdered intestate under the said act.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 294, (House Bill No. 443), entitled:

An Act to amend the appropriation act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Appropriation Act No. 51-A) entitled "An act making an appropriation of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways for expendture in the various second-class townships of the Commonwealth for the maintenance of township roads and bridges during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight and one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine apportioning the funds to the several counties on the basis of the maintenance costs for the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-two permitting the use of any surplus funds for construction and reconstruction and resurfacing of township roads and bridges requiring townships to exclude provision for maintenance of roads and bridges from their annual budget and tax levy for road and street purposes for said years authorizing the Department of Highways to rent road building machinery and equipment belonging to such townships in carrying out the provisions of this act and lapsing the unexpended or unencumbered balance of the appropriation remaining on January first one thousand nine hundred forty" by providing that the unexpended and unencumbered balance of such appropriation at the time this act becomes effective shall be allocated to and apportioned among the various second-class townships on the basis of the amount of road mileage in such townships authorizing the township supervisors to expend the moneys allocated to the township for the purpose prescribed under the approval and supervision of the Department of Highways and excluding the provision for expenditure by the Department of Highways of such balances the taxing and budgeting limitations on townships of the second class and the right of the Department of Highways to rent road building machinery and equipment belonging to such townships

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, on this bill I wish to make a few remarks and I want to call upon my colleagues to pass judgment. I have insisted for quite a number of sessions that under Article 3, section 33, of the Constitution, a member of the General Assembly ought to disclose any personal or private interests that he might have in legislation and refrain from voting thereon.

This bill deals with the allocation of money to townships of the second class.

Now, Mr. President, I am at this moment employed as legal counsel for the supervisors of South Union Township in my county.

I am not employed at a high salary, I get only a hundred dollars a year from them, but I advise them on all matters.

This bill, if passed, would permit the supervisors to dispose of and use some money here that is left over on an appropriation that was made by the last General Assembly

Now, if I am permitted to vote on this bill by my colleagues after I have disclosed to them my interest, I intend to vote against the bill, because although the bill allocates to second class townships here some money and gives the supervisors some jobs and authority to improve some roads, nevertheless this bill will permit an increase in taxes on real estate and I call the attention of this Senate to Section 5, page 6 of this bill.

The Act of Assembly, as it is now on the books—when the supervisors receive their share of these funds they must comply with section 5 of the Act which reads as follows: "The board of supervisors of townships of the second class shall at the time of the adoption of the annual budget and at the time of fixing the road tax levy for the years 1938 and 1939 exclude from the said annual budget and tax levy for road and street purposes any provisions for the maintenance and repair of the roads and bridges."

This bill now before us strikes that provision out of the act and the money that will be allocated to the supervisors will be used by them and the limitation of their levying power against real estate is lifted, and they will be permitted, in addition to the use of the money which this bill will allocate to them—will permit them to levy additional taxes on the real estate if they want to do that, because the amendment in this bill strikes that part of section 5 from the bill and I say that this bill is bad because of that.

I think that we ought to retain that provision in the bill, that we ought not to lift that bar but ought to allow that bar to remain.

Then, Mr. President, there is another objection that I have to the passage of this bill at this time. If we investigate our history we will find that House Bill 442 is now in the Committee on Highways and that bill deals with an appropriation of $8,500,000 for the same purpose, and I think that these two bills ought to be considered together and dovetailed into each other so that the purposes that we have in mind may be fully effectuated, but if we pass this bill now before us and allow this House Bill 442 to remain in Committee we will have done a very bad job—the job will not be complete.

Now, Mr. President, I do call upon my colleagues, before we come to vote on this bill, to determine whether or not the interests that I have disclosed should disqualify me from voting for or against this bill.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, the Senator from Adams, Mr. Rice, called my attention to something in this bill and I intended to make a motion but my colleagues from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, beat me to the gun.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I now move that this bill,

Senate bill 294, printer's No. 485, go over in its order in order that I may between now and tomorrow, look at the point the Senator from Adams called to my attention.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 294, (House Bill No. 443) on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the appropriation act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Appropriation Act No. 51-A) entitled "An act making an appropriation of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways for expenditure in the various second-class townships of the Commonwealth for the maintenance of township roads and bridges during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight and one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine apportioning the funds to the several counties on the basis of the maintenance costs for the year one thousand nine hundred thirty-two permitting the use of any surplus funds for construction and reconstruction and resurfacing of township roads and bridges requiring townships to exclude provisions for maintenance of roads and bridges from their annual budget and tax levy for road and street purposes for said years authorizing the Department of Highways to rent road building machinery and equipment belonging to such townships in carrying out the provisions of this act and lapsing the unexpended or unencumbered balance of the appropriation remaining on January first one thousand nine hundred forty" by providing that the unexpended and unencumbered balance of such appropriation at the time this act becomes effective shall be allocated to and apportioned among the various second-class townships on the basis of the amount of road mileage in such townships authorizing the township supervisors to expend the moneys allocated to the township for the purpose prescribed under the approval and supervision of the Department of Highways and excluding the provision for expenditure by the Department of Highways of such balances the taxing and budgeting limitations on townships of the second class and the right of the Department of Highways to rent road building machinery and equipment belonging to such townships go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume the consideration of Senate Bill No. 278, (House Bill No. 38), on third reading, postponed.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 278, (House Bill No. 38), entitled:

An Act to amend Sections Three, Four, Five, Nine and Eleven of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-three), entitled (as amended), "An Act providing for the incorporation, as bodies corporate and politic, of 'Authorities' for municipalities, counties, and townships; defining the same; prescribing the rights, powers and duties of such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor; providing for the payment of such bonds, and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof; conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities; authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof; and for other purposes," as amended, by omitting the requirement that the resolution or ordinance of the intention to organize an Authority shall set forth the proposed Articles of Incorporation regulating the publication of such resolutions and ordinances by including waterworks water distribution systems and parts of sewer systems as projects by authorizing the municipalities to limit the projects to be undertaken by an Authority by authorizing a longer term for the bonds issued by an Authority avoiding competition with existing enterprises and by including waterworks water supply works water distribution systems and parts of sewer systems as facilities which may be transferred to an Authority by any owner in addition to the Commonwealth and the political subdivision thereof and authorizing authorities to acquire water and water rights subject to the approval of the Water and Power Resources Board.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend title, page 2, lines 18 and 19 of title, by striking out the following: S "SC and making them legal investments for trust funds etc"; amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 5), page 13, lines 6 to 12, both inclusive, by striking out: S all of said lines.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I wish to explain that this amendment strikes out the provisions making the bonds of Municipal Authorities legal investments for trust funds.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chairs hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That said bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. Prseident, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 661, on Page 16 of the Calendar.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 661, entitled:

An Act for the prevention of congenital syphilis; providing for and regulating the taking of serological tests of women pregnant with child and requiring notation thereof on the birth and stillbirth certificates of their children; imposing duties upon the Department of Health and upon physicians and other persons attending women pregnant with child, and imposing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, as I understand it these two bills cover the same subject matter as Senate Bills Nos. 12 and 13.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I believe Senate Bills Nos. 12 and 13 were vetoed by the governor.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in what way do those two bills differ from the ones we had before us known as Senate Bills Nos. 12 and 13.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, Senate Bill 661 has a section in it a penalty section, that it did not have before. Senate Bill 662 has been changed so that it includes all types of magistrates and justices of the peace.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in what section does the bill refer to magistrates and justices of the peace.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Philadelphia will turn to page 3, line 18, Senate Bill 662, towards the end of the line, he will see "upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding"—in the original bill it recited in a summary proceeding before a justice of the peace and it did not include the word "magistrate".

Mr. SHAPIRO. As a result the governor vetoed that bill because of that alleged defect?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, is that the opinion of the attorney general as to the words, "Summary convictions."

Mr. WOLFENDEN. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, assure us that if there is any trouble the Attorney General will call it to our attention the next time?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Philadelphia is asking me a ridiculous question and he knows it.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in the history of my experience in this Senate I have never heard of a bill that was vetoed by the Governor because of a defect in the bill, without it first having been called to the attention of the Senate, and I should like to make record of the fact that those in charge of bills in the executive department or in the judicial or semi-judicial department should at least give us notice when they disagree with our bills.

I think that these two bills are very important, I think that they are a step in the right direction, and I have said so before. I am afraid that the gentleman from Indiana may not have enough votes to get these bills through now. I have urged a number of my colleagues to vote for these bills but I am not sure I have enough votes for their passage. However, having had these bills in their possession, if there were objectionable features in them I feel it was incumbent upon the Governor and the Attorney General to see that we be advised of that fact; and I think it is unfair to the members of the Senate for them to take a position on an important bill, to veto it and then compel the Legislature to pass it all over again.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, as the gentleman from Philadelphia has so well said, these are important bills, but he knows very well that neither he nor I can guess at any action of any Governor. We have no right to do so. The Governor has called our attention to what he considers technical defects in the bill. I think we have corrected that, upon consulting with the Attorney General, and I hope the Senate will remain in the same position as before, when it practically unanimously passed these bills. It would be a shame if they were lost because of any little difference such as the gentleman from Philadelphia pointed out, regardless of who was at fault.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I too, consider these bills very important and I am going to ask my colleagues to join me in support of these bills.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am like the rest of the gentlemen that have spoken. I think the bills are important and I am fully in accord with this attempt to eradicate syphilis; but I would like to be clear on some points, and I would like to have Dr. Mundy or the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, clear me on these points. Section 1 provides that "every physician who attends any woman pregnant with child shall take or cause to be taken a sample of blood." Suppose a woman does not want to permit a doctor to do that. Will this bill punish her for refusing or does this bill impose a penalty on that woman?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, to which bill does the Senator from Fayette refer.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, Senate Bill 661, the one under discussion at this time.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, if the woman does not consent there is absolutely no penalty and there is nothing to it.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, may I say that in actual practice we have no trouble in having women cooperate with this feature of the bill—they are only too anxious and too ready to cooperate with the physician because they are anxious to find out if such a condition exists.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, that may be true, but I know of instances where the person thinks that to disclose that she is in any way affected with syphilis blackens her reputation and character and if she is compelled to expose that fact, by this Act, I say that the tendency might be that a woman might have some fear of that and attempt to bring a child into this world without the aid of a physician.

Now, Mr. President, I am in favor of this bill, but I want these points cleared because I think we cannot, by legislation, compel a woman in that condition to give a test of her blood.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I am informed that at the present time in the hospitals of this State—and I think Dr. Mundy will bear me out—anyone who is fortunate enough to have the means to go there and have hospitalization get sthis attehtion. All these bills do is give the people who do not have the means the opportunity to get this attention. There is not any forcing about it, or anything of that nature. I think that while the objection of the Senator from Fayette is very sincere, I think it is without foundation in fact.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 669, entitled:

An Act to amend section four hundred eighteen of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing, defining, and limiting their duties, powers, and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicles and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates, providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilities and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations of municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies, and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violations of the provisions of this act and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," changing the restrictions against public utilities where cooperative associations file with the Public Utility Commission maps of territory to be served by such associations.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 669, on page 17 of the Calendar, and Senate Bill No. 670, on page 18 of the Calendar, be recommitted to the Committee on public Utilities.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, may I interrogate the Senator from Blair?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I would like to know whether there will be public hearings on these bills.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, they would be recommitted for further consideration.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, it is my understanding there will be public hearings on these bills or, at least, I was given to understand that by the Senator from Tioga; is that correct?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 670, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sub-section eight of section two and sub-section twelve of section three of the act, approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1969), entitled "An act relating to nonprofit cooperative corporations organized to engage in rural electrification, providing for the organization, consolidation and dissolution of such corporations; prescribing the qualification for membership therein; conferring certain rights, powers, duties and immunities upon them and their officers and members; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the inclusion of certain existing cooperative or nonprofit corporations and and associations within the provisions of this act; conferring powers, and imposing duties on certain State departments, commissions and officers; fixing fees; conferring the right of eminent domain; prohibiting the use of certain terms in the corporate names of other corporations, exempting such corporations from exercise taxes; imposing on them a license fee; and exempting such corporations from the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, and from the provisions of the Securities Act," by re-defining "rural area" and limiting the exercise of the power of eminent domain.

be recommitted to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 308, (House Bill No. 480) on Page 6 of the Calendar.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 308, (House Bill No. 480), entitled:

An Act regulating the appointment, promotion, suspension, reduction, removal, and reinstatement of employes (except chiefs, deputy chiefs and chief clerks) in bureaus of fire; and fire alarm operators and fire box inspectors in bureaus of electricity in cities of the second class; defining the powers and duties of Civil Service Commissions for such purpose in said cities; and repealing inconsistent legislation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 308, (House Bill No. 480), the bill pust read, be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Government, for the purpose of a Public Hearing.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that all remaining House Bills on the third reading calendar go over in their order.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

It was agreed to.

The second and third sections of the bill were read as follows and agreed to:

Section 2 The provisions of this Act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional the decision of the Court shall not effect or impair any of the remaining provisions of this Act It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this Act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included herein

Section 3 This Act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the volaton thereof provding revenue to established and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith' as amended by limiting the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class and prescribng the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, these bills, Senate Bills Nos. 414, 415 and 416, represent an agreement of the committee, in connection wth the school districts of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, concerning first class school districts. These bills were subject to an understanding that when these bills are passed Senate Bill No. 45 will be abandoned so that we can get an agreement of the teachers and the taxpayers and the committee to follow out a plan or program which will correct the conditon in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Senate Bill No. 415 is the bill which gives to the school district the right to decrease salaries of the schoql teachers; I have amendments here to that bill which I want to offer now, and I will explan them briefly.

The first amendment to this bill, Mr. President, is to provide that the teachers' salaries under $2,200 shall not be affected by any decrease.

The second amendment is to provide that the decrease shall be limited to a period of two years.

The third amendment would provide that the decrease shall range from one per cent to ten per cent, so that the higher deduction will come in the higher brackets. This third amendment is an amendment as to the retirement fund which enables teachers to elect which of the basic salaries she shall select as the basic for payment into the retirement fund. If her salary is reduced she will have the choice of paying on the reduced salary or on the basis of the previous salary.

These are three sperate amendments and I now offer them and ask their adoption.

Mr. President, let me suggest that when we were talking I thought we were considering Senate Bill No. 416.

On Senate Bill No. 415 the amendments I propose limit the increased tax rate to two years and after two years fixes that rate at eleven and one-half mills instead of eleven and three-quarter mills.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, as one who is concerned in the passage of these bills, I would like to be given a little consideration before these amendments are presented. The Senator from Philadelphia stated that there was an agreement existing on the passage of these bills and coupled them with the consideration of Senate Bill No. 45.

May I say that I feel, and deeply feel, that I might have been considered in this agreement. So far no one in this Senate has spoken to me that such an agreement existed. I am very vitally interested, not only in these bills, but certainly. I am interested in Senate Bill No. 45.

The statement was made tonight that the agreement was, if these bills were passed, Senate Bill No. 45 would be abandoned. I do not want to doubt the veracty of any of the gentlemen in the Senate, but I am asking the President if I may break in now on my talk in order to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, with unusual pleasure.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, is it the purpose of the Senator from Montgomery to abandon Senate Bill No. 45, as indicated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Presdent, only if there is a substitute for that bill which will accomplish the main results that we have in mind. I see no connection between Senate Bill No. 45 and these three Philadelphia-Pittsburgh bills. I will join with anyone, on either sides of the house, in working out a solution of the tenure problem; but I will not agree to abandon Senate Bill No. 45 unless there is a substitute which is adequate to cope with the emergencies of the situation.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. Presdent, I would have been very much disappointed in the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, if he had entered into such an agreement—that the passage of these bills depended on the abandonment of Senate Bill No. 45. The bills differ entirely in scope and are only similar in that they deal with educational problems. I want the Senate to judge the merits contained in Senate Bill No. 45 singly and individually, and in no way want it coupled up with the present bills as presented.

I say this to you, Mr. President, and to the members of the Senate, that we, in championing the present Tenure Bill,, do not want to sacrifice the pay, and the pay-envelope, of the teachers of Pennsylvania as the price for retaining their tenure. If we should get and maintain tenure at that expense, then I say to the members of the Senate that tenure to the school teachers of Pennsylvania is worth nothing. If we start in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and give the school boards power to reduce salaries, then there is no reason why others throughout the State of Pennsylvania should not claim the same power; and if we give school boards in Pennsylvania the right to cut teachers' salaries, then I say we should abandon tenure entirely, because in that there is contained a more powerful political threat than ever was contained in Senate Bill No. 45.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, let me say very plainly that these four bills are hooked up together, the three on the calendar and No. 45; and in discussing them I am discussing them as they were discussed in committee.

It is folly to talk to the teachers about security and at the same time have a bill on the calendar which deals with making them insecure. It is folly, it seems to me, while you are asking her to take a reduction, to meet a precauious situation, to say to her "Well, you should not worry about this cut in your salary, because you are secure in your position." But I am sure no teacher will agree to a reduction in salary while at the same time there is hanging over her head the question of security.

These bills were agreed upon as a common-sense proposition; but if you are asking a teacher to take a small reduction in salary and then at the same time you are asking her to take the risk of being dismissed by this Tenure Bill, you will not get anywhere with it.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are in a situation that needs immediate correction. Everybody knows also that the outlying districts are in a precarious position. Now, we have granted an additional million dollars out of the public treasury of this State to the outlying districts. What will you do in Phladelphia and Pittsburgh, where they are saying there can be a saving of $81,300,000 by a reduction in salaries of one to ten per cent, and when you realize we have $22,000,000 salaries in Philadelphia you know it is an average of a little over five per cent.

In addition to that we are imposing on the taxpayers in Philadelphia an additional one-and-one-quarter mills, so that they will contribute $3,750,000, and we are passing a third bill allowing the city of Philadelphia, the school district of Philadelphia, to borrow five or six million dollars for the purpose of meeting the present deficit, which I think is $6,500,000, which will occur this year.

Now, those three bills hook together with the proposition of dropping Senate Bill No. 45 mean a program not of bargaining or dealing, but a program of security for the teachers, and a program of cooperation between the school board and the teachers. I am opposed to Senate Bill No. 45 and I will not vote for it and I do not think it will ever pass the Senate. The discussion in committee was along the lines we have had today. I asked permission to appear before the committee and made the same statement and I said there were one or two matters in Senate Bill No. 45 about which there should be no controversy and they should be incorporated in another bill, and I think that was the destinct understanding between everybody in the room today, and I certainly think that is the real solution of the problem and one of the ways in which all problems confronting the Senate should be handled.

I am not a member of that committee but I took it upon myself to go before the committee and, took some time to try to solve the problem.

These three bills in their original form gave the Board of Education in the districts the right forever to reduce salaries. I limited that to two years. They wanted to reduce the limit and I suggested that $2,200 was small enough. I do not see why the Senator from Montgomery says he has not abandoned Senate Bill No. 45. In effect he is abandoning it, if this program goes through. If he has not abandoned Senate Bill No. 45 I am not for this program.

I am not going to ask the teachers of my city to take a reduction and then feel insecure. We have not given the tenure bill a decent real trial. It has only been less than two years in effect and I see no reason why it should be tampered with, unless there is a real emergency, what threatens the school districts today is not so much the tenure bill as the financial situation and we have solved that and I think this is certainly no time to fool with the tenure of the teachers, upon whom we are depending to teach our children and give us our future citizens, and if we deal with our teachers properly I am interested to the extent I am going to ask that my colleagues go along with this program of reduction but I am not going to ask them to go along if Senate Bill No. 45 is pressed.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, in these bills, 414, and 415, if I remember correctly, there is permitted a ratio of pupils per teacher. That ratio has to be set by the Board and a reduction in teachers' forces will depend upon the fixing of that ratio, and there also was given them in addition the power of raising revenue. It states that the budget shall be set at a definite time and the experience or ratio of that budget shall be fixed by the preceding period. It also says all pupils attending during a subsequent period shall be judged by the previous quarter. Now, I want to ask the Senator from Philadelphia this: if he votes for this bill for Pittsburgh and for Philadelphia, in the event that the boards from Luzerne, Lackawanna or some other third class counties come in for the same proposition, could he consistently vote against them?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not recognize the bill as the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy, describes it. As I recognize this bill, it provides salaries shall be based on the ratio of one teacher for twenty-five pupils in the elementary schools and one teacher for thirty-two pupils in the high schools, and that is the present basis upon which they are teaching. As a matter of fact, there are more pupils in the schools than twenty-five or thirty-two. I have been told in Pittsburgh the average is around twenty-seven for the elementary schools and thirty-six to forty-three in the high schools and the basis set up for taxation is the basis upon which they are figuring now. In other words, the tax rate will provide enough teachers without increase or decrease of the teacher to maintain the schools upon the present basis. If Luzerne or Lackawanna or any other third class counties come in with a program which will mean a parity for the teachers certainly I will vote for that and I will be consistent. These other counties apparently cannot meet their situations by that solution. We have given them a million dollars to reach a solution; but Philadelphia and Pittsburgh certainly can solve their problems by these bills. They do not present the same problems suggested by the gentleman from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy.

Mr. MUNDY. Will the Senator from Philadelphia say this bill does not give empiracal powers to the board, in addition to reducing salaries above the figure of $2,200, and that it also gives powers to reduce the teaching force?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, it does not, emphatically no.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, in arriving at the figure of $2,200 for the teaching force may I ask what was the guiding principle in arriving at that? It is a cardinal of living wage or is it a standard above what he considers a living wage in proportion to the years these teachers have taught and the expenses incurred in attaining their education.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, with regard to that I understand that the low base for the reduction of salaries will begin with $2,200, because these teachers had been receiving in Philadelphia $2,400—$200 above the amount fixed by the Edmonds Act, I think it is the Edmonds Act. The later Act, not the 1911 Act but the later Act, and it was thought they already had taken a reduction of $200 and that was my reason when I was making that one deduction that they had already received a deduction of $200 and they should be as little affected under this bill, as possible.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, has there been provision made in this bill for reducing salaries of other employees proportionately.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Oh, yes, Mr. President, all employees known as professional employees, including heads of departments and secretaries and all persons employed will have their salaries reduced within the ratio of one to ten—the ten percent will come in the higher brackets, and as a matter of fact in Philadelphia the officials have already taken one reduction of ten percent and this will mean another.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I rise to make this statement. It seems to me all the fault in the management of the school systems and the mismanagement of all the school systems seems to be visited upon the teaching profession itself. I am very much against cutting any wages and I am seriously opposed to cutting the low grade wages given to the teaching profession in the State of Pennsylvania. All professional groups, and particularly the legal profession, are very careful about maintaining their fee standards—I know that is true of the medical profession and the dentistry profession also, and I cannot see why we should begin economy in the school system by cutting the salaries of school teachers.

I feel that the bills should be considered singly, separately voted upon by the members of the Senate on their merits alone, and that we deal with S. 45 on the merits of every single amendment as we meet them.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have no objection to that. I stated before and I repeat that I do not think there are enough votes in the Senate to carry Senate Bill No. 45 and if the gentleman persists in trying to pass it let it come up and get licked, because I do not think they have got twenty-six men in the Senate to say that this bill should be amended now. I do not think they can get twenty-six members to vote that the married teacher be permitted to be discharged by any Board of Education. I think these matters are controversial and if we intend to settle this problem we had better make up our minds.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I agree entirely with the last sentence. There is a controversy in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh with regard to finances. These three bills deal with that problem. S. 45 deals with amending the tenure act. I have listened to the gentleman's prophecy with a great deal of interest, but I think there is a strong desire to amend the act, that is apparent. Now, however, we are faced with the fact that we are considering three Philadelphia-Pittsburgh bills that ought to stand entirely on their merits, but if the gentleman has in mind a statesmanlike approach to the tenure question, whereby both parties will engage in endeavoring to find a proper solution for all time, I will be only too glad to join with him, but I think that is entirely apart from these bills that deal with a specific financial problem in school districts of the first class.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I see no objection to voting on these amendments now but I say very frankly I will not vote for these bills for decreasing salaries of teachers until I am certain there will be no interference with the tenure of the teachers and I think the approach was made in a statesmanlike manner. In that way I think they are hooked up. I thought it was agreed in committee, when we learned that Senate Bill 45 would not be brought out, I thought in committee we decided it would not be brought out unless we agreed on certain changes.

If we do no agree, then of course the bill should not be passed, and the tenure should not be affected. I want the record to show I will not support these bills unless the teachers' tenure is safe, is not interfered with. I will not vote for a reduction in salary. I think we can vote on these amendments now, because certainly the bills should not be any more drastic.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, so far as I am concerned there was no thought of endangering the teachers' tenure in the conference last week. There was some talk of that amendment and about a bill that would be sponsored by both sides of the house, and Senator Mundy's name was mentioned as a possible sponsor with Senator Edmonds, who was responsible for that first bill, giving a salary raise, but I have no recollection of tying in the three bills on the Calendar tonight with the tenure bill itself.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, without betraying any confidence I think Senator Homsher will bear out my statement that I left here before the final session last week and before I left I spoke to the Chairman of the Education Committee and asked him if he was going to have a meeting of that committee to consider tenure, and I had his assurance, before I left, that the tenure bill would not be brought out of committee and would not be discussed in my absense.

I was very much surprised to pick up a newspaper in my home town and saw that an agreement had been reached by which certain provisions of the tenure of Senate Bill No. 45 would be permitted to be passed by agreement, and up to this day I want to say that my position in the matter is that I am remaining yet to be convinced that the present tenure bill needs amendments.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I say that Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are not the only districts in this State that have this problem. They are going to come into my district next. Let us be consistent and start with the Governor of the State and cut everybody's salary in the same proportion. Otherwise I shall vote against it.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 416, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and thirty-two of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended by empowering school boards in districts of the first class to make for any year such general reductions in salaries fixed by law as will enable the district to keep its estimated annual expenditures within the estimate of funds available to the district for that year and by in such instances so regulating the discretionary power vested in the Superintendent of Public Instruction to withhold requisitions for moneys payable by the Commonwealth to School Districts which have not made provision for full payment of minimum salaries and increments that the exercise of such power shall not interfere with the operation of this act.

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Section five hundred and thirty-two of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of colllecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 532 The board of school directors of each school district of the first class shall annually at or before the time of levying the annual school taxes prepare an approximate estimate of the amount of funds that will be required by the school district in its several departments for the following fiscal year Such annual estimate shall be apportioned to the several classes of expenditures of the district as the board of school directors thereof may determine The total amount of such estimate shall not exceed the amount of funds including the proposed annual tax levy and State appropriation available for school purposes in the district as estimated by its Board of Directors For any year in order to bring the expenditures of the district within the annual estimate of available revenue it shall be the duty of each School Board in districts of the first class and such Boards are hereby so empowered to make such general adjustments and reductions in salaries fixed by law incllluding salaries of the professional employes as in the judgment of the Board may be proper and necessary to bring the total of all expenditures within the estimate of revenue to be received and on a finding of necessity therefor by the Board such general decreases may be made notwithstanding any statutory provision fixing and regulating the payment of salaries and increments or forbidding or regulating decreases therein or which otherwise may conflict with the provisions of this amendatory Act The power here conferred to make general decreases in salaries in order to keep within the annual estimate of revenue collectible within a given year may be exercised only after all other economies in the expenses of conducting the school system in the district as the Board may deem proper have been provided for and after all items of customary revenue available for the year in question have been considered by the Board in making its annual estimate including revenue to be derived from the exercise of the taxing power up to maximum limit allowed by law for the School District in question and the Board in each school district of the first class shall have the privilege at its discretion to borrow for any year on delinquent taxes within the limits allowed by law and to include the amount thus borrowed as an item of revenue and in any instance where the power to make a general decrease in salaries below the minimums fixed by law has been exercised if at the end of the year for which the power was exercised there is a surplus of revenue such surplus shall be used to make up ot the employes whose salaries have been affected by the general reduction as much of the loss of salary as an equitable division of the urplus on a pro rata basis among all such employees will permit The decision of the Board as to the existence or non-existence of a surplus in any given year shall be final When for any year the Board of Directors in a School District has exercised the power to decrease salaries conferred by this Act the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall not be at liberty to exercise the discretion vested in him to refuse to authorize the payment of any amount payable by the Commonwealth to that district or to withhold requisition therefor on the ground that the School District has not made provision for the full payment of minimum salaries and increments of that year

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move to amend Section 1, page 3, line 20 by inserting after the word "Act" the following: In making any general adjustment and reduction in salaries the decreases shall be within the limits of one percent (1%) to ten percent (10%) of the several compensations fixed by law for such position as may be affected and for purposes of this act the Board may classify employes and the decreases may be confined to employes who prior thereto were receiving compensation of Twenty-two Hundred Dollars ($2200.) or more per annum"; amend Bill, page 4, by inserting between lines 26 and 27 the following new section: Section 2. Retirement Options. During the period in which this act is in effect each employe who is a member of the school employes' retirement system may elect to contribute to the school employes' retirement fund either on the basis of the total salary he or she will receive during the effective period of this act or on the basis of the total salary which he or she received during the year which began July 1, 1938 and ends June 30, 1939.

Each employe who makes an election under the provisions of this section shall notify in writing his or her employer on or before September 15, 1939 upon which such salary he or she elects to contribute. Each employer shall thereupon notify the School Employes' Retirement Board in writing of the option elected by each such employe.

During the period in which this act is in effect the employer and the Commonwealth shall contribute on the basis of the salary upon which each such employe shall have elected to contribute.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to supersede any election heretofore made by any employe of a school district of the first class who is a contributor to the public school employes' retirement fund without the consent of such employe. The right of each such employe to make an election under the provisions of this act shall be optional with the said employe. The salary upon which each employe contributes during the effective period of this act shall be used as the salary for such period in the determination of any final salary upon which a retirement allowance will be computed.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section of the bill was read as follows:

The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Rev. Dr. T. A. Alspach, St. Paul's Reformed Church, Lancaster, offered the following prayer:

Oh God, our Heavenly Father, Thou art our help in ages past, Thou art our hope for years to come. Thou art great in Thy goodness and Thou art good in Thy greatness. It is in Thee in whom we live and move and for our continued being. We give Thee honor in the name of God in the Heavens, Ruler of nations and of man, the praise that is due Thy name and the homage that is due unto Thy will.

We look unto Thee at all times for health and for strength which Thou dost give freely and dost not withhold any single good thing.

We turn our faces to Thee this evening for guidance for wisdom and for help. What we do right wilt Thou sanctify, what we do amiss wilt Thou over rule it for some good in the end. Give wisdom unto those who lead, and loyalty unto those who follow.

May the hand of Thy blessing rest upon our Commonwealth, especially in these days of trial and trouble in many places. Help us to be fearless before men, and fear only one thing and that is Thee, Oh God, lest we might offend Thee. We would commit ourselves unto Thee in body, soul and spirit. In our ignorance wilt Thou enlighten us; in our weakness wilt Thou strengthen us. Lend Thy help at all times, and thus may the service we render here this evening be acceptable to Thee. All these favors we ask not because we are worthy but alone for His Name's sake. Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DENMAN. RESOLUTION No. 74.

In the House of Representatives, April 26, 1939.

Whereas, Under the present system of fixing the price of milk in the various districts of the Commonwealth, the producer who bears most of the risk and expense and burden of production, receives but a small part of the profit arising out of the final sale of milk to the consumer; and

Whereas, The farmer and dairyman who assumes this risk and expense and burden of production should in all fairness be entitled to receive proper compensation for his work and efforts; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, that it is the opinion of this House that the Milk Control Commission in fixing the prices to be paid by the consumer for the various grades of milk in the different districts of the Commonwealth, shall fix such prices so that the producer shall in all cases receive at least half of the price fixed by the said board, for payment by the consumer; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to the Chairman of the Milk Control Commission of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Dairy Industries.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 25, 1939.

General Order No. 7 emanating from the office of the Adjutant General's office of the Department of Military Affairs on April 2nd, announced the retirement of Brigadier General Robert McKune Vail, Commanding the 53rd Field Artillery Brigade, and his promotion in the Retired List to the rank of Major General.

General Vail served with the Pennsylvania National Guard since 1894 and practically all of his service was with the 109th Infantry.

He entered the Federal service with his regiment in the Spanish War, saw service in the Philippine insurrection, on the Mexican Border and in the World War.

He has served as Commander of the Department of Pennsylvania of the American Legion and as United States Marshal for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

General Vail was awarded the Distingushed Service Cross with the following citation:

"During the crossing of the Vesle River, Major Vail expedited the construction of bridges by his advice and assistance. He personally cut a passageway through enemy barbed wire along the river, and then led his troops through this opening. When the officers of a supporting Infantry company had been killed and the men were falling back in confusion, Major Vail kept his forces intact 1,200 yards in front of any Infantry support, holding the position until reinforced by an Infantry unit."

He was awarded the French Legion d'Honneur (chevalier) with the following citation:

"At the crossing of the Vesle on September 5, 1918, with admirable ardor he personally prepared for the passage of his battalion by having foot bridges constructed under a violent machine-gun fire, thus permitting the forward movement of an entire regiment of infantry."

He was also awarded the French Croix de Guerre, with Palm, by orders of the French Armies of the East, under date of April 13, 1919.

Although now retired, the experience and ability and courage of General Vail gained during forty-five years of honorable service are still subject to call from his country; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulates General Vail upon the enviable record of outstanding service performed for the Commonwealth and for the Nation, and extends to him its full measure of gratitude for that service and for the part he has so conspicuously and courageously played in the military annals of the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That as a lasting testimonial of that gratitude and a fitting tribute to that record, the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House are hereby instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to General Robert McKune Vail.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 1, by inserting after the figure "3" the following: "10."

Amend Sec. 1, page 3, by inserting between lines 23 and 24 the following: "Section 10. There shall be established a central police court in the city hall of the city of Philadelphia which shall be open, with a magistrate continually present thereat, during the entire twenty-four hours of each day, and to which the [mayor of the city of Philadelphia] chief magistrate shall regularly assign from the body of magistrates a sufficient number of magistrates to hold the same for the period of one month Provided however That the same magistrate shall not be assigned for consecutive months and that no magistrate shall be assigned to said court more than once in every six months"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 3), page 3, line 21, by striking out the following "nonperformance" and inserting in lieu thereof: "nonperformance"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rhodes, to explain the purpose of this amendment?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this amendment is merely to place the appointment of the magistrates to the Central Police Court in Philadelphia in the hands of the Chief Magistrate instead of in the hands of the mayor as it is at the present time.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rhodes.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RHODES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia whether or not under his amendment the only one who will be responsible for the appointment of the Central Police Court magistrate is the Chief Magistrate?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in opposing this amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rhodes, I wish to say that an amendment of the kind offered, if accepted, to the magistrates bill of 1937 will put the magistrates act and the working of it back into politics.

The original intent of the magistrates act, which you may remember was passed in 1937 during the regular session, you will recall that there was quite a discussion about the act, and we intended to make it as workable as we possibly could. We provided in that bill that the Chief Magistrate, with the advice and consent of the District Attorney and the Chief of Police or the Director of Public Safety, should select at least ten and not more than fifteen central stations, wherein cases would be heard. In addition to that, we provided a Central Police Court, the magistrate for that court to be appointed by the mayor, and there was a definite reason for that. The mayor of Philadelphia is also the Chief Magistrate of the city of Philadelphia, and he has the right under the present law to sit in any court as a magistrate in any case that he desires, and the intent at that time was to provide that instead of the Mayor sitting in the Central Police Court, the Mayor might designate a magistrate to sit and listen or hear the cases in which the city, especially the Department of Public Safety, was particularly interested.

It was provided under Sections 10 and 11 that the Chief Magistrate shall make all other assignments, not by himself, but with the advice and consent of two other officers of the city of Philadelphia, the Director of Public Safety, and the District Attorney, and rightfully so, because if the chief magistrate alone has the right to designate the various magistrates in other courts it will definitely put the magistrates back into politics and in a worse shape than before the Act of 1937 was enacted.

Therefore, members of the Assembly, we drafted a bill which took care of all contingencies in 1937, but this amendment will practically destroy, in part at any rate, the good intent of the act of 1937. It is no indication that the other side has any interest in clean government in Philadelphia. It is another indication that they are attempting to keep a promise even if it is only in a partial way, to burn laws which were passed in 1937 by the Democratic majority no matter how good the bill is. This amendment is absolutely wrong, it is bad for the city of Philadelphia and I ask the members to vote it down.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have heard much about clean government, and I take it that the Chief Magistrate of Philadelphia is just as honest and just as fair in his appointment of the Magistrates to the Central Police Court as the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia. I feel that all men are honorable and decent until they are proven otherwise. As a matter of fact, the Chief Magistrate of Philadelphia is only one of twenty-eight magistrates in the city of Philadelphia, and I think he is competent to make the appointment. I can see no reason why one magistrate out of the twenty-eight should be appointed by the Mayor and all other magistrates appointed by the Chief Magistrate. For that reason, I ask the members of the House to support these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, one hundred and five, or a majority having voted in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 4, line 17, by striking out with light-faced brackets the word "the" where it first appears in said line.

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 4, lines 17 and 18, by striking out with heavy-faced brackets the word "clerk of the court of quarter sessions" and insert in lieu thereof "a bail commissioner appointed by the board of judges'

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 5, lines 1 and 2, by strking out with heavy-faced brackets the words "clerk of the court of quarter sessions" and insert in lieu thereof "bail commissioner"

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 5, line 9, by striking out with heavy-faced brackets the word "clerk" and insert in lieu thereof "bail commissioner"

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 5, line 10, by striking out with heavy-faced brackets the word "clerk" and insert in lieu thereof "bail commissioner"

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 5, lines 12 and 13, by striking out with heavy-faced brackets the words "clerk of the court of quarter sessions" and insert in lieu thereof "bail commissioner"

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 18), page 5, lines 22 and 23, by striking out with heavy-faced brackets the words "clerk of the court of quarter sessions" and insert in lieu thereof "bail commissioner"

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 20), page 5, lines 25 and 26, by striking out with heavy-faced brackets the words "clerk of the court of quarter sessions" and insert in lieu thereof "bail commissioner"

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 20), page 5, line 29, by striknig out with heavy-faced brackets the word "clerk" and insert in lieu thereof "bail commissioner"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the suspicions that I had about the other amendments putting the magistrate's act and its working back into politics will be confirmed if this House votes these amendments down.

Section 18 of the present act provides that every magistrate before accepting bail secured by real estate, shall be furnished with a bail certificate issued by the city comptroller, and "such certificate shall contain the following information," and then it points out several things necessary. That certificate goes to the magistrate but before the magistrate can accept that bail today he must obtain that certificate from the City Comptroller. Before the Clerk of Quarter Sessions accepts a bail today he must obtain a certificate from the City Comptroller. The present act as it is drawn, which is up for consideration, takes that provision out of the City Comptroller's hands and puts it back in the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court, which means this, that instead of the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions court having a check on him against bad bail, he will not have that because this act takes it out of the City Comptrollers hands. I feel that in order to avoid further scandals in bail securities in Philadelphia, this amendment is necessary, if the City Comptroller does not now want that duty upon him.

My amendment to this bill provides as follows, that instead of the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court giving that certificate to the magistrate, to himself or his deputized bail clerk, whoever he may be, and he is appointed by the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court, a Bail Commissioner should be appointed by the Board of Judges who in the ultimate, as you all know, have the right and should have the right of censure as far as bail and the approval of bail is concerned. That is what my amendment will do. It will first provide a check on the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court, and, secondly, it will put the Bail Commissioner where he should be, in the hands of the Board of Judges who are, after all, judges of the Courts of Oyer and Terminer in all the criminal courts, and in that way will prevent possibly another bail scandal in Philadelphia such as inspired a former grand jury investigation in Philadelphia.

I therefore ask the members of this House to vote for these amendments.

SPECIAL ORDER ON HOUSE BILL NO. 867

The SPEAKER. The hour of 8:45 p. m. having arrived, the Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 867, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" defining responsibility for burial providing for separate administration by county boards of assistance of certain types of public assistance designated "general assistance and pensions" regulating the employment and dismissal of employes therefor authorizing the employment and dismissal of an executive director of general assistance and pensions changing the system of allocation of funds by the Department of Public Assistance changing the powers and duties of county boards authorizing appointment of sub-committees for certain purposes providing for immediate return to assistance rolls of persons accepting temporary employment authorizing appointment of labor review boards to pass on eligibility for assistance of persons refusing offered employment regulating the granting of assistance to aliens and the use of credit agencies changing the definition of dependent children the maximum property allowances for pensions to blind persons and the general qualifications for assistance and changing and adding to penal provisions

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2051) entitled "An act relating to public assistance providing for and regulating assistance to certain classes of persons designated and defined as dependent children aged persons blind persons and other persons requiring relief providing for the administration of this act by the Department of Public Assistance and county boards of assistance hereby created for this purpose authorizing the Department of Public Assistance to cooperate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons providing for the liquidation of the State Emergency Relief Board Boards of Trustees of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and Boards of Trustees of Pension Fund for the Blind and repealing laws relating to mothers' assistance pensions for the blind old age assistance and the State Emergency Relief Board" as amended by section one of the act approved the fourteenth day of September one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight (Pamphlet Laws 31) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 2 Definitions as used in this act unless otherwise indicated

"Assistance" means assistance in money goods shelter medical care or [burial] services provided from or with State or Federal funds for indigent persons who reside in Pennsylvania and need assistance to enable them to maintain for themselves and their dependents a decent and healthful standard of living and for indigent homeless or transient persons The word assistance shall be construed to include pensions for those blind persons who are entitled to pensions as provided in this act and to include also burial for those indigent persons who were receiving assistance at the time of their death

"Special Assistance" means assistance provided from or with State or Federal funds for the following classes of persons as hereinafter defined (a) dependent children (b) aged persons and (c) blind persons

"General Assistance and Pensions" mean assistance provided from or with State funds only to persons entitled under this act to assistance other than dependent children aged persons and blind persons It shall also include pensions for the blind as hereinafter defined

"Local Board" means any county board of assistance established under the provisions of this act [and shall include any county relief board or board of trustees of the mothers' assistance fund or board of trustees of pension fund for the blind until abolished in accordance with law]

The masculine pronoun includes the feminine

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2.) page 4, line 7 to 15, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as you no doubt already know, this section divides relief into two phases, special and general. Special assistance is where the federal government contributes and the general end of assistance will be strictly where the state alone contributes. The reasons for this division are rather simple. General assistance will be given over strictly as a job graft, that is all that it is, pure and simple. Under the General Assistance Act, the merit system will be ripped out and the spoils system will prevail. Now that is exactly what we have been trying to get away from for years, the spoils system, especially in the Department of Public Assistance.

The Department of Public Assistance was put together by public spirited men and women of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the reason I am so positive that it provides a decent merit system is because it seems that the politicians of both parties are opposed to it. It is the greatest tribute we can pay to the merit system under the Department of Public Assistance.

The people who are going to vote for this section do not have at heart the consideration of the unfortunate citizens on relief in Pennsylvania. In this dual set-up you will have a duplication of effort which means that it won't be a cheap set-up. You will have the special assistance employees covering probably the same territory that the general assistance employees will cover.

This section will also eliminate the pensions for the blind and place them on a relief basis. This must not be done. I realize full well that during the last campaign, the Republican party promised this, they promised more jobs than they can give, but it surely isn't fair and right that on account of those foolish promises, the only decent merit system set-up in the state should have to pay the penalty. For that reason I appeal to those of you who are humane and reasonable beings to vote for my amendments, because my amendments will restore this bill to its original form.

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, seek to destroy the whole purpose of the bill. They would render the whole bill senseless. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask the members of the House to vote the amendments down.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman, does not the bill as it is presently drawn place the recipients of blind pensions on the basis of relief rather than on the basis of pensions?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the question of the gentleman from York is out of order. The question is on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, to section 1.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, are we not on Section 1, of the bill, page 4, lines 7 to 15?

The SPEAKER. The Chair was under the impression that we were on the amendments to Section 1 which struck out. The gentleman is correct in his position. The Chair is incorrect.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, with the Chair's acquiesence I desire to continue my interrogation of the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does not the bill as it is presently drawn and before the House, place the recipients of blind assistance, as it were, on the basis of assistance rather than on the basis of pension?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from York please restate his question?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the bill as it is presently drafted on the floor of the House for enactment, place blind persons in the category of those receiving assistance rather than in the category of those receiving pensions?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's question, I would say it does place those who are in need in the category of assistance and also provides for blind pensions.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the bill as it is presently drafted provide pensions for the needy blind or assistance for the needy blind?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, it provides assistance for the needy blind up to thirty dollars per month, so that they will be receiving, provided the Social Security Board gives us their approval on that provision of the bill, if they O. K. it, they will be placed on an assistance basis, but as I say, they will receive thirty dollars per month by supplemental funds or with general assistance, and if they do not O. K. it the blind pensions will be available to all.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman point out for the benefit of the membership of this House, where in the bill there is a provision that the bill as now amended covers the payment of thirty dollars per month to the needy blind.

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will refer to the bottom of page seventeen of the bill, paragraph (c), it provides as follows:

> "(c) The needy blind recipients of special assistance shall receive from general assistance the difference between the amount received as special assistance and the sum of thirty ($30) dollars so that every needy blind person shall receive total assistance in the amount of thirty ($30) dollars.
> "No payment made under general assistance to any needy blind person shall be deemed to be an item of income so as to disqualify such needy blind person to receive funds under the special assistance provisions of this act."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman is not conducting his interrogation on the amendments now before the House to Section 1 of the bill. The amendments we are considering are amendments to Section 1, and the gentleman is making inquiries concerning the entire bill. He asked the gentleman from Erie to point out where in the entire bill he could find a certain provision. I think the ruling of the Chair in the first instance was right.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York should confine his interrogation to the section of the bill which is now under consideration and to the amendments to that section. The question before the House is upon the amendment, striking out lines 7 to 15 inclusive. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from Erie to say that the amendment which would strike out lines 7 to 15 inclusive on page 4 of the bill would strike out the very heart of this bill?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, by striking out those two paragraphs it, as I said in the beginning, would mean striking out those same words throughout the whole bill and they occur many times. In other words, it would destroy the whole purpose of the bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments seek to strike out the distinction that is being set up relative to special assistance and general assistance and the pensions, does it not?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, it does.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, and that distinction is an innovation in the present distribution of relief?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, that is the distinction really between the words "special assistance" and "general assistance."

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, and do I understand that if the blind persons were continued as pensioners rather than as recipients of assistance, that the very heart of this bill would be striken out?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, no.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman further, and inquire whether the Federal Social Security Board has agreed to the distinction between special assistance and general assistance, and pensions, as set forth in that part of the bill, ought to be stricken from the bill?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, I would say that we have not consulted the Board as to their opinion on these two paragraphs.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know, and can the gentleman say to the membership, that the transfer of blind persons to the category of special assistance rather than the continuation of the blind persons under the pension, will be met by contributions made by the Federal Social Security Board?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question, I will say that we know that the Federal Social Security Board never will give and it is not their custom to give to any Legislature their opinion as to whether or not it will receive the approval of the Federal Social Security Board until the act has become a law.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that by continuing in the bill lines 7 to 15 and all the implications that follow thereunder, that recipients of the blind pensions will now be subjected to investigation by the Department of Public Assistance?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. They would, Mr. Speaker, if the Social Security Board approved of this plan.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if the Social Security Board does not approve this plan, what will continuation in the bill of lines 7 to 15 mean?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, when I refer to the plan, I refer to the whole bill. I do not believe that the Federal Social Security Board would object to the general plan. They might have objections as to the question of whether they would give us the grant and to aid pensions under assistance.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the gentleman has indicated that blind persons, if this section is enacted along with the other sections, will then be subject to investigation by the Department of Assistance and placed in the same category as relief recipients?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the gentleman from York is out of order in the questions that he is proposing. The matter of the treatment of the blind is provided away along towards the close of the bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Erie has raised the parliamentary objection as to the continuation of my interrogation along the line that I have pursued. Will the Chair rule upon the propriety of the objection?

The SPEAKER. The question as to whether the gentleman from Erie will answer the interrogation is entirely within the prerogative of the member. The Chair has no authority to demand that he answer or not answer.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Under those circumstances, Mr. Speaker, I will dispense with my interrogation of the gentleman from Erie and ask to be recognized by the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will proceed.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Erie, prior to the injection of his own objection has indicated that lines 7 to 15 contain the very heart and meat of this bill. These particular lines set up a definition heretofore unknown in our assistance laws, whereby the blind are placed in the category of those receiving special assistance and removed from the category of those receiving general assistance and pensions.

I realize the limitations to which I must confine myself in discussing these particular amendments. The Chair has requested, and being very dutiful to the Chair, I will acquiesce in restricting my arguments to the amendments under consideration, but I wish to stress the point to the membership of the House that this is the first departure, the first legislative departure by the General Assembly, from the distinction between pensions and assistance. This is the first time since the passage of the constitutional amendment providing for pensions for the blind, that we find a determined effort to place those receiving pensions in the category of those receiving relief. This necessitates under the distinction of special assistance, throwing the blind into the category that you will find runs through the entire bill requiring investigation, numerous visits, continued observation by the Department of Public Assistance of those recipients. I say to the membership of this House that if there is the least bit of consideration and appreciation for the situation of those who are afflicted with the worst punishment that can be inflicted upon human individuals, blindness, that they will not further expose them to a change in their status, and that the membership of this House will not take them out of the class of pensioners where they rightfully belong, where the Constitution says they belong, and place them in the category of relief, subject to investigation, supervision and all the problems that go with it.

I ask the membership of this House to vote for the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, that will strike from the bill these particular distinctions.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as to the question of what should be debated on the amendments which are now before the House, usually when amendments are submitted, they are submitted to carry out one definite, complete purpose. I hope that the submission of these amendments, only to strike out a few lines in the bill, is not an indication that we are going to have unconnected amendments, as it were, all through the bill, which as we have already seen, will interfere with proper and intelligent debate on the amendments and which will interfere with the proper and intelligent passing upon the subject which is before us.

The gentleman from York has not confined his remarks to the immediate amendments, and has indicated, I think, that if these amendments were adopted by the House, there should be additional amendments. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I feel that we should briefly discuss the entire situation relating to the blind so that we will not have to discuss it every time when one of a dozen, or maybe a score of amendments on the subject might be submitted.

The truth of the matter is that when the 1937 session passed the legislation which they did, concerning the pensions for the blind, or the funds which the blind should receive, they were of the opinion, or at least so stated, that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would receive from the Federal Government their share of blind money which would amount approximately to four million dollars during the biennium. It developed that for a time they did receive that money and then all of a sudden it was stopped, and we carried the entire load of payments to the blind out of State funds. If it would be possible to secure the entire amount which should be allotted to us by the Federal Government, we would receive approximately four million dollars during the biennium, and that is a very substantial sum.

Now, it is the intent of this bill to do this: to see that the blind receive exactly the same amount that they are receiving now and at the same time obtain the payments from the Federal government, amounting to approximately four million dollars. We have tried in all kinds of ways, and we have accepted all sorts of suggestions and given them consideration, as to how that could be done, and this is the method which has been worked out as the one which we feel will most likely accomplish that result. We have accepted suggestions from the other side of the House in preparing this bill and the various amendments to bring about this purpose, and we feel that there can be no legitimate objection to any amendment to the Public Assistance law which will give the blind the same amount of money which they are now receiving and at the same time will give the state of Pennsylvania an opportunity to collect four million dollars from the Federal Government during the next biennium. That is the intent of this bill and we feel that we have done everything in our power to carry out that intent.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, replying to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, relative to the leniency permitted in debate, may I just call to the attention of the members of the House that the amendments pertaining to Special Assistance and General Assistance and, as a consequence, attack the entire heart of the proposed bill. It becomes necessary and essential therefore, in order to intelligently discuss the amendments, to discuss certain phases of the bill that appear in different sections. Just as an example, Mr. Speaker, special assistance and general assistance is defined in the bill, which would be removed by the amendments we introduced for a specific reason. First of all, so that it will be possible to break down the civil service that now exists in the Department of Public Assistance. It is generally known, Mr. Speaker, that at the present time in order to receive federal assistance you must have civil service among your employees. Here in order to distinguish between the two types of funds you define special assistance and general assistance.

Going further into the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin and discussing blind persons that appear under the special assistance and then appear again under general assistance, may I say that while the effort proposed to receive federal moneys for blind persons may be commendable, it is nevertheless a very dangerous proposition as this bill provides. That, of course, goes further than the first section, it carries you on back to the pages that were discussed by the gentleman from York and the gentleman from Erie. May I point out, since the gentleman from Dauphin discussed blind pensions, that while the amendments he referred to which will assure each blind person in Pennsylvania thirty dollars, were introduced primarily at my suggestion, they still, nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, in my opinion fall far short of what they originally did in Pennsylvania. I make that statement for this reason, Mr. Speaker. We may take a blind individual who is receiving perhaps just a small competence in the form of labor, perhaps selling newspapers or pencils or whatnot, he could qualify under special assistance as the bill is drawn, and as a consequence, perhaps, he would come under general assistance, but more likely, a strict interpretation of the rules of the Department would force that blind individual to desist in his employment, and come under special assistance where he would then receive from the Department not necessarily thirty dollars per month, but perhaps eighteen or nineteen dollars per month, and then even after that although we supplement some of that differenc between what he receives and the thirty dollars, so that he receives thirty dollars, you may still be faced with the proposition that the Federal Government would say, "Oh, no, we do not agree with your bill; we do not agree with this law, and therefore we will not permit any Federal contributions." The danger with the entire bill, as I see it Mr. Speaker, is to perhaps destroy the initiative of the blind individuals in their efforts to at least supplement the thirty dollars, which I think each and every member here will say is certainly little enough income for a blind individual to manage to exist on. For those reasons, Mr. Speaker, I rise to support the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo.

In reply to the gentleman from Dauphin, I cannot see how we can intelligently discuss the amendments that will be offered without on occasion repeating at least portions of the debate, for the simple reason that we do want to know just how far the majority are going in changing the Department of Public Assistance laws; just which members are anxious to see the blind penalized, and as to the worker who is qualified under the law—perhaps he didn't like Civil Service, I know I didn't—but certain individuals who are now working and have been working, whether you want to tear them out of office, we want to see just how far you are going and to that end, I can frankly say to the gentleman, there will be repetition in the debate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that on a measure of this kind the greatest latitude should be allowed in debate. However, when amendments are offered to just one portion of the bill, it is the custom of the House if they desire to discuss the whole bill, to offer all amendments at one time, and after all amendments are submitted, a request be made that debate shall be on all the amendments and on the entire bill. That has been our custom and the Chair would certainly encourage that that be done.

The amendments of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, are to just one portion or one section and do not pertain to any other part of the bill. The Chair therefore was fearful, after the remarks made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, which were certainly not in point on this amendment that the gentleman from York was going astray in his remarks.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in order perhaps to more intelligently discuss the bill, I make this suggestion, that this side of the House submit their amendments to the Chair and we can then discuss, for instance, the amendments that will be offered to section one, the amendments offered to section two, and so on, and perhaps save considerable time. Would that meet with the Chair's approval?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that would be a very wise procedure. It would conserve the time of the House. The Chair, however, desires to hear from the majority floor leader.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would be very glad to have the minority follow that procedure.

The SPEAKER. The gentlemen of the minority will follow the usual procedure of presenting to the desk all their amendments under the agreement between the two leaders, and debate on the entire bill will then be permitted.

Amendments were offered by Mrs. Fauset, Messrs. Edwin F. Thompson, Westrick, Achterman, Rosenfeld, Reuben E. Cohen, Holland, Readinger, Weiss, Levy, Scanlon and Tahl.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I ask the indulgence of the Chair. Inasmuch as other amendments are now being prepared for me by the Bureau, I ask permission to submit them later.

The SPEAKER. During consideration of the bill, of course, the gentleman will have the opportunity to offer further amendments. The Chair, however, cannot guarantee that to the gentleman.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I understand they are in the course of preparation now.

The SPEAKER. It all depends on when they are offered. The Chair cannot hold up the procedure in the House awaiting amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Tronzo and Mr. Harkins.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Baker, Tronzo and Russell E. Reese.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mrs. FAUSET. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 9, by inserting after the word "children" the following "and"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 10, by striking out the following "and (c) blind persons'

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mrs. FAUSET. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this amendment refers particularly to the present status of the blind. It has been so ably defined by the previous speakers, it is not my intention to prolong debate on this particular point, but I do want to say that I feel it would be contrary to public sentiment for the present status of the blind, who are receiving pensions, to be changed. I feel that the people ordinarily have a very different attitude toward people who are well and strong in connection with their going on the dole. I think they feel very differently from what they do in connection with the blind, considering the handicap that is being suffered by those that cannot see. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I hope very much that the members of this House will vote for this amendment and maintain the present status of the blind as pensioners, making it impossible for any of them, even the most needy to be recipients of relief.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on the amendment to Section 1, line 10, I don't think the Republican membership would object to anyone speaking concerning blind pensions, because the amendment deals particularly with those persons. I, however feel, Mr. Speaker, that the Republican party in this piece of legislation is a bit inconsistent. We heard the majority floor leader a few moments ago defend the status of this bill on the ground that they might be able to benefit from certain Federal contributions by the Federal Social Security Board.

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, on October 14, 1938, the candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, and the present Governor of the Commonwealth, sent this telegram to the blind people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I quote from that telegram:

> "When I announced my candidacy for Governor last January, I stated that 'we must have adequate pensions for the blind.' That I mean. The pensions must be adequate; they must be certain. Further, there must be a complete divorce of this form of assistance from any kind of political influence, racketeering or control. The blind of this state have my earnest pledge that as Governor I will safeguard their interest to the full extent of my ability. There is a chapter in my life which makes my interest in the problems and assistance of the blind very deep indeed. About ten years ago my own eyes failed me. In my case, as the result of the fortunate outcome of a delicate and uncertain operation, my sight was saved. But no one who passed through the valley of darkness as I did will ever forget his fellowship with those who must spend their lives in that valley.
> ARTHUR H. JAMES."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendment to line 10, page 4, sponsored by the lady from Philadelphia, would take out of the bill the provision dealing with blind persons and place it back again into the same portion of the 1937 act as it is now. I note in the telegram in October, 1938, that the Governor said nothing about blind assistance; he said they must have "adequate pensions for the blind". I trust the Republican membership of this House will accede to the wishes of the Governor, that is his wishes at that time, and I hope they will join the lady from Philadelphia in voting for this amendment.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if my memory serves me right, it was the Republican party the majority in the House and the majority in the Senate that first passed the blind pension bill. That bill was signed by a Republican Governor. The gentleman from Philadelphia has misquoted the Governor's telegram. The Governor does say in his telegram: "There is a chapter in my life which makes my interest in the problems and assistance of the blind very deep indeed."

I think it is the Governor's wish to carry out the principles of the Republican party and to see that the blind of the state of Pennsylvania get as adequate pensions in the future as they have in the past.

Mr. ACHTERMANN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the reason for the presentation of the amendment we are now considering as offered by the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Fauset, is for the purpose of ascertaining the true intent of the majority party of this House. You have heard read the telegram of the Governor of Pennsylvania, Arthur H. James, stating that we must have adequate pensions for the blind.

I realize, concerning the first amendment that we voted upon, that you are keenly interested in ripping out civil service and securing some three or four thousand jobs. Just why you want the jobs, when you are rather busy at home now explaining why you can't hand them out, is more than the average man can comprehend, but if you wish to have more to explain when you go home, not only why you can't hand out jobs but also why you want to destroy civil service in Pennsylvania, after you have been so strong in sponsoring that cause, certainly you shall have all the pleasure of doing so. However, we are curious to find out in addition to that broken promise, whether you wish to add one more broken promise, the broken promise to the blind in this instance, or the destruction of their pension as it exists under the laws of Pennsylvania. You are truly rapidly getting to the point where you are a party of broken promises and it is a rather sad commentary to make in this House that because your party started blind pensions in Pennsylvania, therefore you should now have permission to destroy them. We will observe from the roll call just how strong you are for that, how much you really desire to destroy, to what point you are willing to go in the breaking of promises to the electorate and the individuals of Pennsylvania. For that purpose, Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if it were a matter of broken promises, we certainly would have the very excellent example set by the Democrats during the last four years.

I want to say one word about blind pensions. The Social Security Act was passed at Washington by an overwhelming Democratic House and by the Senate with an overwhelming Democratic majority and signed by a New Deal President. It is that Social Security Law which is saying to the state of Pennsylvania, "If you give a pension, we won't give you a penny, but if you will put it on the basis of need we will give you four million dollars. If the federal government and the Social Security Board would carry its share of the burden, we could give them, call it a pension if you will, thirty dollars a month and could get that which we are justly and honestly entitled to, but the federal government stepped into Pennsylvania and said, "Oh, no, you have a pension law. You are giving to the blind a pension, and we won't give you a penny. If you put it on the basis of need, then we have four million dollars here for you."

The Republican party in Pennsylvania is saying this: "All right, we will set this up, if you can determine how much we, in Pennsylvania, are justly and honestly entitled to," and at the same time we turn to the blind and say, "We are going to see that you, out of our own pockets get all the money you are now receiving." That is exactly what this bill aims to do, and I believe, Mr. Speaker, that that is what this bill does do. For that reason I say that all of the remarks which have been made on the other side are not sound, sensible or reasonable, and this bill should be adopted in its present form.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the remarks of the gentleman from Dauphin and the remarks I am about to make, were made, of course, a bit earlier this evening. As this bill was originally prepared, very honestly, all it did, was to divide the blind into two classes, the needy and, let us call them the unneedy blind. The needy blind would qualify on the basis of need, and according to the experience of the past the sum of money they would receive from us would have been approximately nineteen dollars, and those blind who had an income that did not exceed seventy dollars per month would receive a pension and would receive, of course, thirty dollars per month. In other words, as the bill was originally drawn, a blind person that was needy would receive but little and a blind person who was not needy would receive thirty dollars a month. That was the theory upon which this bill originally progressed.

As a result of my protest and as a result of amendments prepared by myself, which you will find in the last two lines on page 17 and at the top of page 18, the blind at least are assured of thirty dollars a month. The Democrats claim credit for that, but I even say this, that although those amendments are an improvement over the bill as introduced, I still insist that it destroys the initiative and the desire of a blind individual to work unless he is fortunate enough to have a job that pays him more than thirty dollars a month. I am saying that you will find under this bill, that it penalizes the blind man who has a desire to work. It is better than what you originally introduced, but it is a long long way from perfect, and the unfortunate thing about it is the fact that you do not know, and I do not know how far the federal government will go in accepting this bill. You insist on haste and you make it impossible to determine or to secure even an expression from the Federal Social Security Board of their reaction to the amendments to the bill. We are saying to you it is a dangerous step to take. We are saying to you that you should not do it. It would be far better to leave the law in its present shape, in the condition it was when the Governor, your Governor, if you please, sent his telegram, in which he stated he was for adequate pensions. It is for that reason that we ask for a roll call, Mr. Speaker. We are breaking no promises, we are watching to see whether the majority party will break them.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Dauphin, if an individual is blind and is earning thirty dollars a month will that individual be susceptible to either blind pension or to assistance?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to say, if a person who is blind is receiving thirty dollars a month, or has an income of thirty dollars a month?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, if he is earning thirty dollars a month.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, a person who has an income of thirty dollars a month would be entitled to a payment of thirty dollars.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that if a person is blind and by some effort on his or her part is able to earn thirty dollars a month, that they will receive additional moneys, either in the form of a pension or in the form of direct relief?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, to what extent?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, they will receive the same amount as they would be getting under the present law.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I further inquire of the gentleman, if a blind individual is receiving assistance to the extent of thirty dollars a month and subsequently would inherit four thousand or five thousand dollars, would the moneys received as assistance then be repayable to the Commonwealth?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I think they would not.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not know. I do not know without a study of the bill; I could not answer that question, conclusively, because I was not one of the sub-committee. The gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, as he has suggested to the House, prepared these amendments which were to carry out the intent which I have stated, and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick, and several other very able lawyers in this House, attempted to work out this problem, knowing exactly what the intent was, and I believe that those very able and intelligent gentlemen worked out this bill in such a way that that intent is carried out.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it is only because of the extreme courtesy that I always extend to the gentleman from Dauphin that I am prevented from objecting to his reply as not responsive.

I wish to inquire of the gentleman from Dauphin, if an individual who is blind and who is entitled to twenty-five dollars a month, if the earnings of that individual were to increase ten dollars a month, would the assistance provided under this act be decreased by the same amount?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there would be no change in the total amount which the blind recipient would receive. It would just be a matter of bookkeeping. In other words, as to his particular assistance, the Commonwealth would receive less money from the federal government but the blind individual would not receive any decrease in his payment.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean by his answer that if an individual is earning twenty-five dollars a month and is receiving an additional twenty-five dollars a month as assistance, if the individual's earnings were increased to thirty-five dollars a month, that the man would still be paid the sum of twenty-five dollars a month as assistance, or would the assistance payment be reduced to the same extent as the earnings of the individual had increased?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman as I under stand it is submitting an hypothesis which could not exist. It does not exist in the law today and would not exist after the passage of this bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the gentleman, as the earnings of a blind individual would increase, would the amount of assistance decrease in the same proportion that the earnings increase?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, not until it reached seventy dollars a month.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, after it reached seventy dollars a month, would they decrease?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, they would, yes, and they do now.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand from the gentleman, that until the earnings of a blind individual would reach the total of seventy dollars a month, assistance will be provided to the individual up to that point.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Oh, no, Mr. Speaker. I think I have answered the gentleman. That would be figured on exactly the same basis as it is figured at the present time. I think the gentleman knows how it is figured at the present time; he was very active in the passage of the law. I believe he is acquainted with how it is figured, and he knows the minimum is thirty dollars a month that is being paid now.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, what they are trying to do and what is being attempted by this bill is to subject the blind individual to some sort of complicated formula with which apparently the gentleman from Dauphin himself is not entirely familiar. Neither are most of the members of the House entirely familiar with the formula that must be resorted to in order to determine the amount of money that will be received by an individual who is blind under this bill.

I submit to the membership of this House that we have in Pennsylvania the most idealized and far reaching blind pension law that has been passed in any state of the United States. This amendment that was passed by the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expressly wrote into our fundamental law the constitutional amendment which states that blind people shall receive a pension. If the Federal Government, if the Social Security Board says to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, "you cannot receive any contributions because your act is based upon a pension," that is not a request from the Social Security Board to Pennsylvania to lower its standards. The Social Security Board from its very inception has attempted to raise the standards of the various states in the union. The Social Security Board has been offering financial inducements to state after state in order that they might raise their standard of relief so that the Federal Government might come in and contribute to these particular needy individuals who would be the recipients. Never before have I heard such paradoxical arguments on the floor of this House as to say that for a mere four million dollars, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is willing to forego its position as the number one state of the union in its care for the blind, and retrogress from that position and sell out the millions of people who voted for the blind pension, as well as sell out the thousands of blind pensioners. Members of the House, it never was the intention, and it is merely a subterfuge resorted to by the majority to come before this House and say that the Federal Government is trying to beat down the standard of relief for the blind. I say to the membership of this House, just as every activity of the Federal Government has been directed toward the desire and the objective of raising the standards, I say to the membership of this House that we should be interested in raising the standards rather than acquiescing in the request of the majority to lower those standards for a paltry four million dollars that will come from the Federal Social Security Board.

I realize that those in charge of the administration have neither the desire, the intestinal fortitude, nor possibly the ability to formulate a tax program for the administration, but I say to them they should at least have the common sense to know that if the people of the Commonwealth have said we are to have blind pensions, they should not turn it into mere assistance. I ask the membership of this House to vote for these amendments.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wonder if the members of this House know what special assistance and general assistance means to blind persons. A blind person must be lead to a special assistance board and there he applies for assistance. If he is turned down, he is then shunted to a general assistance board, and when he is shunted to the general assistance board he must be investigated like anyone else applying for relief. You know what that means. If he receives relief under general assistance, he must sign a bond, and when he signs that bond, he promises to pay back any moneys received. I think that the people of Pennsylvania voted to settle that question, they voted to give the blind a pension, not assistance but a pension, and no member of this House has the right to change any issue that was settled by the voters of Pennsylvania a number of years ago. If you do intend to shunt these blind persons, who are led by children or dogs from one place to another, then I say to you, you are derelict in your duty and you are not listening to the voice of the people who decided once and for all that the blind shall get a pension and not assistance.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, on page 17 of the bill it states:

> "The needy blind recipients of special assistance shall receive from general assistance the difference between the amount received as special assistance and the sum of thirty dollars, so that every needy blind person shall receive total assistance in the amount of thirty dollars"

It is my understanding that recipients of general assistance must sign a bond to repay any money which they receive from this fund. Would that apply to recipients of general assistance who happen to be blind, under this provision?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, no, it would not apply.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire from the gentleman from Dauphin how he would set up a separate class of recipients of general assistance. Is it not true that all recipients of general assistance must sign a bond for repayment?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that it is necessary for all recipients of assistance to sign bonds.

I do not think that the law so requires, and it is not the intent to require bonds from those who receive assistance. As I have stated time and time again, if any of the amendments that the gentleman have to submit, will carry out the intent to a larger and more comprehensive degree, we will be glad to agree to those amendments. So far none of them have been submitted. I say again it is the intent that the blind shall be in exactly the same status as they are now. It is a matter of bookkeeping, and we are not going a bit further than the Federal Government has compelled us to go. In fact, the only danger is we may not have gone as far as the Federal Government would like us to go under the circumstances.

Mr. LONG. I have been informed, and it is the general opinion of those I have met that all recipients of general assistance of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will be required to sign a bond for repayment. If there is any possibility that this bill, by including a group of blind pensioners of the state, under the general assistance fund would require them to pay back the amount of money which they received from the general assistance fund, it is obviously and palpably unfair, first of all because we have blind pensions under a constitutional amendment, and secondly because we are setting aside the indigent blind and requiring them to sign a bond for repayment, whereas those blind who are not indigent would not be required to sign such a bond. That is obviously unfair and I therefore ask that the members vote for these amendments.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the majority floor leader, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Dauphin whether or not on page 4, line 7, of the bill under discussion, the term "special assistance" means assistance to the blind other than the assistance that is spoken of in Article XVIII of the State Constitution.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that that would mean anything different than the provision of the Constitution. In the Constitution the words, "pension gratuities" are mentioned, and here the words, "special assistance" are used, so that the effect in my opinion is exactly the same so that I do not think there is any question about the ability to sustain that as being properly within the constitutional amendments. May I say further, Mr. Speaker, that a blind person always receives a flat rate of the same amount, which is in effect a pension, and I think the courts would unquestionably so hold.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, by special assistance does the majority floor leader mean that a blind person will receive a pension of a gratuity?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, with the two assistances which a blind person would get, the two assistances made necessary, as I have stated from time to time, as a result of the Social Security Act, the two together would constitute a pension or a gratuity.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, if the federal Social Security Act does not make contributions to the state under the act which is being discussed at the present time, does the majority floor leader believe that the amount of assistance provided for the blind, without aid from the Federal Government, would constitute a pension?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I think it would, a pension or a gratuity.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that, notwithstanding the fact that it would come from the relief fund?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I do not quite understand the question of the gentleman from Allegheny.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the majority floor leader, if the funds for the blind will come from the relief department?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean in the matter of the appropriation?

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in the matter of the appropriation, it will be under our general direct relief grant.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that is a matter for the appropriation bill. It is handled that way at the present time and it will continue to be so handled. It is handled by the Department of Public Assistance and is paid now from the appropriation which is made to the Department of Public Assistance, as I understand the situation at least, and that same situation would be continued under the present bill.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, then I take it that the terms "special assistance," "general assistance," "pensions" have no distinction as far as the blind are concerned, and that the term "special assistance," "general assistance" mean pensions to the blind.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, when they are taken together, I think they do.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, when taken separately, would they?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I think the question of whether it is a pension or whether it is not depends upon the amount which is given and the way it is determined.

It is a matter of bookkeeping and having two types of assistance, when you put them together so that the total amount that the person receives is a flat sum, I think it amounts to a pension.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is the test, the question of the substaniability of the amount and the definite fixed amount in the grant, as distinguished from the amount which can be curtailed, which can be diminished by the department head or by anyone in the department in authority, acting in a professional capacity? Isn't that the distinguishing test between assistance and the pension that we give now?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, under this bill, that is exactly what would happen; a man would receive a flat amount, a definite amount.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, that is providing the Federal Government makes a contribution?

Mr. WOODSIDE. No, Mr. Speaker, whether the Federal Government makes a contributuion or whether it does not.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Walsh and Mr. Herbert B. Cohen.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Moran, Corrigan and Tronzo.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 9, by inserting after the word "children" the following: "and"

Amend Sec. 1. (Sec. 2), page 4, line 10, by striking out the following: "and (c) blind persons"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 13, by inserting after the word "children" the following: "and"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, line 14, by striking out the words: "and blind persons"

On the qestion,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, there appears to be a duplication of the amendments offered by the lady from Philadelphia, Mrs. Fauset, and by myself, and I therefore am willing to withdraw my amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia. If there are no objections, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia to Section 1 will be withdrawn.

The Chair hears none, and the amendments are withdrawn.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to this section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 Sections four six seven and eight of said act are hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 General Powers and Duties of Department of Public Assistance The Department of Public Assistance shall have the power and its duty shall be

(a) To allocate to the [local boards on the basis of need and as may be required for blind pensions funds with which to provide assistance] several assistance programs funds with which to provide assistance and separate funds for [administrative] expenses in administering special assistance and in administering general assistance and pensions and as may be needed from time to time to keep [a] reasonable separate emergency [fund] funds in the hands of local boards which shall be used by the executive director or directors for the furnishing of special assistance and of general assistance and pensions respectively in emergency cases upon application to him or them or under the direction of any member of the local board

(b) To establish with the approval of the State Board of Public Assistance rules regulations and standards consistent with law as to eligibility for assistance and as to its nature and extent

(c) To supervise the local boards and to establish for such boards rules regulations and standards consistent with law

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SHAW. Mr. Speaker and members of the Hous early in his Administration Governor Earle asked for an received, authority to appoint a Committee to study th relief question, receiving also an appropriation of thirt thousand dollars for the expenses of this study.

The Committee, headed by Dean Goodrich of the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania was named, an thereafter the Commonwealth was traversed by numer ous persons under the special direction of K. L. M. Pray an official of the Pennsylvania School for Social Work Finally, just after the close of the Extra Session of Decem ber, 1936, the result of the labors of this committee ap peared in the form of a booklet containing the "Goodric Plan." Incidentally, an additional sum of sixty-eigh thousand dollars in the form of a WPA grant was spen in this investigation.

It is interesting, in view of the cost of this investigation to find that practically the same information contained i this Report might have been secured by the expenditur of twenty-five cents for the purchase of a booklet pub lished several years ago, or from the report submitted t Governor Pinchot by his Secretary of Welfare, Mrs Liveright.

Meanwhile, persons in the employ of the Public Chari ties Association had been touring the Commonwealth stirring up enthusiasm for this plan.

Armed with this stupendous Goodrich Report the Gov ernor asked that its proposals be immediately enacte into law. Finding this to be an impossibility those behin this monstrosity changed their strategy, and those presen wo were members of the House during the 1937 session wl not soon forget the battle which ensued.

'is finally enacted this Law provided (as we thought) fc an examination "practical in character" to be con-d:ted by an Employment Board for the purpose of setting u a civil service for employes in the new Department of Polic Assistance.

After this Employment Board was named, the then Sretary of Public Assistance, together with the present Sretary, requested the then Attorney General to assign a ertain one of his deputies for the purpose of instructing th Employment Board as to the "intent of the Legisla-tie" in the framing of the assistance law. It is inter-eing, in view of what has happened, to note that not one mber of the House and Senate Welfare Committee was consulted as to our "intent."

Thereupon the Employment Board, entirely ignoring th clear wording of the law, proceeded to take their in-suctions from the Secretary and his Deputy and their fends in the Federal Social Security Board outfit.

When the House and Senate Welfare Committees last Fll investigated these examinations it was learned that th examinations had been anything but "practical in caracter" as stipulated in the Assistance Law. On the oier hand they were found to be full of "trick" questions, sne of these being as follows:

"How long is a piece of string?"

"Is dessert necessary to a balanced dinner?"

"What are the duties of a bushelman? a dripman? a coter?"

"Estimate the number of daily and weekly newspapers, i:luding foreign language ones, in Pennsylvania."

Questions as to the forest area in Pennsylvania, number r stores and hotels in Pennsylvania, receipts of electric light, heat and power companies and total number of shool teachers in Pennsylvania.

"A square jaw is a sign of determination. True or lilse."

This was asked in examination for tabulating machine oerator.

Nearly every examination was full of such asinine ques-ons.

Immediately upon learning of these questions and that e law had been violated in this fashion, I got into com-unication with a member of this Board and was told at the Board wished to "determine the attitude and the ptitude of the applicants." In reply, I asked this person when she hired a cook, she inquired as to the cook's titude toward the stove.

Some members of the House will recall how, early in e 1937 session, a resolution was passed by the House di-cting the State Relief Director, Karl DeSchweinitz, to op his plan for an examination for visitors to investigate ending Old Age Assistance applications, and how, after is man promised to not hold such examinations, he then ranged to have them held by the Mothers' Assistance oard, resulting in passage of a joint resolution stopping ie examinations. However, Mr. Speaker, probably none you knew that one of the questions included in that ex-mination was:

"If a bird is flying west, where is it going?"

I cite this merely to show the caliber of the people ien and now in charge of assistance.

I wonder whether or not this House knows the top-heavy setup that prevails throughout this assistance out-fit. Do you know that, after a Visitor investigates a case, and before the case is decided, a Case Reader comes into the picture, then a Junior Supervisor, an Assistant Supervisor and finally a Supervisor? If this setup did not affect human misery it might be amusing, but it is far from so being.

To further illustrate the strange results of these examinations, let me tell you of the following incident, an absolutely authentic one. During a meeting of a Labor Review Board, the secretary of this Review Board was called by the head of the local Financial District and was told that, under orders from the Department heads in Harrisburg he had that day interviewed several persons who had been certified by the Employment Board as Addressograph Operators. Becoming suspicious at the way these people were answering the questions furnished to him by the Department, he asked each of these persons to operate an Addressograph, and not one of them could operate a machine. Yet, these people had been certified by the Employment Board for these positions.

Possibly, Mr. Speaker, this Commonwealth may have fared well at the hands of these Social Security people in the matter of questions, as the newspapers some time ago reported that one of the questions propounded in a similar examination held in Texas was "Button, button who got the button?", but I feel that we have received a rather rank deal.

Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, if we are to have a civil service it must be an honest one. Honestly arrived at and not one conceived in iniquity and born of trickery such as the one we now have in the Department of Public Assistance.

For this reason, namely, that the civil service examinatons given by the Employment Board of the Department of Public Assistance, with the help of those now in charge of this Department, was entirely against the provisions contained in the assistance law, I am in accord with the provision of House Bill No. 867 permitting County Boards to select those employes dealing solely with general assistance and blind pensions without any regard to any list furnished by the Employment Board, and without any vestige of any control by his Department over such employes.

The provision permitting County Boards to avail themselves of the services of accredited Credit Bureaus may assist the County Boards in their work and can cause no deserving applicant trouble.

As amended the provision in this bill permitting scrutiny of assistance rolls by an interested taxpayer, under rules to be set up by the County Boards, should cause no uneasiness to those legitimately on such rolls. However, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe that most of us are utterly wrong in some of our ideas as to the people now on these rolls.

I was, as you know, chairman of the Welfare Committee during the 1937 term of the General Assembly. Also, from December, 1935, until January 17, of this year, I was chairman of the Labor Review Board in Allegheny County. In this capacity I have passed upon the cases of many hundreds of people who have, for various reasons not accepted WPA and other assignments. My experience has clearly shown me that the vast majority of assistance clients are not there of their own volition.

Any provision of this Act, under which County Boards may refuse assistance to those refusing work assignments should clearly provide that such assignments should not be made at wages less than those prevailing in such county for such employment. Without such provision an unscrupulous Board might use its power in order to lower the prevailing wage scale.

The provision forbidding assistance to any alien who has failed to apply for citizenship on or before Jan. 1, 1939, is an unjust one. Large numbers of these people were brought into this country in order that the railroads, mines, factories and other establishments might secure laborers to do work that our native-born Americans either would not or could not do. Any member of this House who has even been called upon to help one of these people secure citizenship papers must have realized the fearful handicaps presented to these people in such efforts, and it certainly is not wise to include this provision in House Bill No. 867.

The provision placing certain blind persons on a needs basis, while at the same time others suffering in the same way continue to receive blind pensions springs from a hope that the Federal Social Security Board will agree to participate in payments to those blind placed in the special assstance class. I doubt very much that this will prove to be anything but a hope.

During the entire 1937 session this federal Social Security Board, through its agents who infested this Capitol (later in the year they even attempted to dictate to the Governor as to the people to be named to the County Assistance Boards) assured us that the Federal Social Security Board would share in payment of our blind pensions and it did so share until late in December of 1937 when it suddenly announced that, unless and until this Commonwealth agreed to disregard its blind pension law and place the blind on a needs basis, it would no longer make any contribution in this payment.

In view of such action I fail to see any reason that this House to place any trust in any agreement that this Federal Social Security Board may make with us.

The Secretary of Public Assistance well knows that there is not one word of truth in his statement that a blind person placed on a needs bass would receive more than this same blind person now receives as a pension. If a person is blind and is on a needs basis he would he would receive $19.10 per month as contrasted with the thirty dollars he receives as a blind pension, and the Secretary knows this to be a fact. However, since the Secretary and his Deputy are allied closely with those behind the Goodrich Plan it is reasonable to believe that their estimates are just as reliable as the estimates of the Goodrich Committee when it told us that the amount of money needed for assistance in the biennium ending May 31, 1939, would be one hundred and thirty-nine million dollars whereas the amount will prove to be closer to two hundred and eight million dollars.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I wish to state that I am convinced that, until this assistance matter is entirely removed from the control of the present Department of Public Assistance and returned to local control, this Commonwealth will continue to be faced with staggering costs and those of our citizens unfortunate enough to be compelled to ask for public aid will continue to have their morale undermined.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Thompson, would in effect destroy the thought behind the double method of assistance, namely, general and special. We find in sponsoring this amendment that the Republican organization has once more shown to the people of this Commonwealth that they do not care for assistance. I heard the majority floor leader stand on this floor many times and say that the Republican organization will attempt to economize. I have just listened to the stirring address by the gentleman on this side of the House relative to economy in public assistance, and yet Section 2 of this act provides distinctly that the Department shall be split into two separate entities, namely, general and special, and along with that thought it also provides that from the enactment of this law there shall be in each county two executive directors instead of one. I might bring to the attention of the membership of this House that in each county we have an executive director under the 1937 act of the Legislature. Under this bill, we will increase it to two. For what reason the good Lord only knows. Nevertheless, the two executive directors will most likely draw the same salary and we will have an additional burden placed upon the Department of Public Assistance.

Further amendments sponsored by the gentleman from Philadelphia have to do with the additional fund created in this bill, and I might point out to the membership of the House that the only reason that this additional executive director and this additional fund is set up is to place blind persons upon a dual system, and the elimination of the civil service system, and I ask the membership of this House, in due justice to the original bill enacted in 1937, to support the two amendments sponsored by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Shaw, addressed you at some length relative to the investigation carried on by the Welfare Committees of the House and Senate in 1938. As you recall, that is, those members that were here in 1938, considerable complaint arose as a result of the conducting of civil service examinations, with the result that the Chairman of the Committees on Welfare, both of the House and the Senate, appointed a sub-committee to act jointly for the purpose of investigating those particular civil service examinations. I had the honor and the privilege of being one of the members appointed on the majority side, and Hon. T. Jay Sproul was appointed to serve representing the Republican party and, as I recall it, Senator Wolfenden of the Senate served in a like capacity for your party in the Senate. We discovered in connection with that investigateon that the present Secretary of your Department of Public Assistance, Mr. Russell played no small part in those examinations which Mr. Shaw just recently criticized.

I presume you are very curious to know what the Republican members of that committee thought relative to the questions referred to by Mr. Shaw, and for that purpose I rise to advise you that under date of Februaury 17th of this year, I received a letter from the Hon. T. Jay Sproul in which he expressed his conclusions relative to that examination. I will now quote from his letter:

> "As a member of the joint House and Senate Subcommittee of which you were chairman during the special session of 1938, you are entitled to the various opinions of its members as requested. While this letter should have been written before, it is pertinent at this time when Relief is being currently discussed to list some of my conclusions in which most of us concurred:

"1. Careful reading of the examinations used for the different series of jobs under civil service was made, and it was found that in some series, especially the large visitor and assistant supervisors' group, there were certain irrelevant questions which might be eliminated. Certain of the series questions were found to be very practical and were, therefore, passed over in our discussion. I was at variance with the views of some concerning a large elimination of the questions but agreed that a certain small percentage should be cut out as not necessary and impractical. I suggest, therefore ,that the House Welfare Committee go over questions jointly with the Employment Board.

"There seemed to be general agreement that politics should not enter into relief that civil service be returned, but that a more practical set of questions be required to be given to applicants.

* * * * * * *

"My personal conclusions have been expressed, hoping they may be of some use in a full discussion of the problem, and I believe they are not far apart from any of us that made the study.

"With kind personal regards, I am

Very truly yours,
T. J. SPROUL"

That, Mr. Speaker, indicates quite clearly that the epresentative of the now major party was not in accord vith the gentleman who just preceded me, but on the ontrary he believed that only a small portion of the uestions asked were impractical and of no use, and he, bove all, believed that civil service should be retained.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, he purpose of the combined amendments is to restore the Van Allsburg bill to the form of the present law. I opposed the Goodrich plan when it was in the state of its ormation, I opposed the Goodrich plan when it was pending in the House and I have seen little to recommend that plan as we have seen it in operation in this state. Up to he present time I have supported the amendments presented by the minority group because I was in sympathy vith their position regarding the treatment of the blind. I will find it impossible to support any considerable number of the amendments that will be submitted from now on.

I am very much interested in what the gentleman from Monroe has stated. I am very much interested in what he gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Shaw, has said. It s very interesting to turn to the special report to the Department of Public Assistance, and find out what kind of people these very singular questions produced, what was he mentality of some of these visitors; how did they spend their time; what did they write about.

I have taken just a few typical reports by these agents n the present relief system who journeyed around to see people and then returned to the office to write stories.

Here is a report, and it is a typical report Mr. Speaker, t is about a man, and the visitor writes that "this particular man is the kind of man who is too heavy for light work and to light for heavy work, if you get what I mean. He does not care particularly whether he gets relief or not, but if he is so down and out he has it coming to him for he way he acted all his life," which I suggest is a very intelligent report.

Here is another visitor, this was on July 16, 1937, who visited Mrs. "S," and I quite: "She is very prim, a good looking young woman for her age, her skin is very fine and unlined and seems to have a delicate natural color all its own, her hair is mixed grey and black, apparently naturally curly, and it seems to be well cared for." There are are three or four more pages of the same enlightening information.

Here is another one, this was a poor man visitor. He states: "The interview was very trying and the woman quite reticent about any detailed information, she continuously kept on saying that everyone should be as close mouthed as I am", adding to that "there was a ridiculous coyness in her manner which made the woman particularly disgusting to the interviewer. She also tried to take advantage of the difference in sex by trying to touch the interviewer's foot and hand, tapping his foot under the table" and so forth and so on.

You see, Mr. Speaker, under this system to what dire temptations we submit these poor men, who have the ability to answer the very intriguing question, "How long is a string".

Here is another one, "She had a large batch of noodles drying on the table, she preferred those to bought noodles," and incidently Mr. Speaker, so do I. "Her health remains about the same, she is disinclined to complain", and then some information about her wayward grandson.

Just a couple more, Mr. Speaker, maybe just one more, Oh, wait: this is a good one: "As soon as the visitor arrived Mrs. "H" told her all of the choice bits of gossip about her neighbor", and then there is a recital of some of the choice bits of gossip that Mrs. "H" has to tell about her neighbor.

Now, Mr. Speaker, when we go through the files of the relief organization in this state, county by county, and take out this sort of stuff, you will find it by the carload. I do not believe Mr. Speaker that given a moderate amount of local control, and given a moderate amount of emphasis on the sort of practical training that the men and women who have been conducting family welfare, association or church work or neighborhood relief work, given their expericence, I do not believe that we have to place our dependence upon this trained social worker group, and therefore, Mr. Speaker, I shall find it necessary to oppose most of the amendments that will be submitted from now on.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to tell the members of the House at the very opening of my remarks that it is my personal opinion and I believe in the old theory of Andrew Jackson, "To the victor belongs the spoils." At least, members of the House, I am truthful in my statement, but I can hardly sit in my seat and listen to the learned gentleman from Cambria give you examples of how the case-workers, the so-called socially trained young persons, go to homes of individuals and then make a report. If you want to criticize in this big world of ours, you can always find somebody to criticize, but bear in mind, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that there were seven hundred and fifty thousand people on relief and there were two hundred and forty thousand cases at the time the learned gentleman was quoting from the reports of certain social workers who made the investigations.

I want to say to you, members of the House, that there are certainly many cases where the social service workers went out and did a splendid job. I do not think it would be fair to the average youth of the state of Pennsylvania that took these examinations and many of them were Republicans in my county, more so than Democrats, and today many of them who attended our institutions, hold jobs whose parents saw fit to give them that kind of education. Now we come here to the halls of the Legislature and make fun of our children who have gone out into everyday life, into a certain line of work and criticize a few but do not praise those who have gone out and done a splendid job.

I want to say that although I still believe "To the victor belong the spoils," that there is a lot more credit due the social workers than there is criticism.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I will not, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria declines to be interrogated.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I for one am not satisfied with the reports read by the gentleman from Cambria. If I remember correctly the gentleman from Cambria read from certain reports in the files of the Department of Public Assistance, and if I recall correctly, those reports were dated July, 1937. I believe that the gentleman from Cambria mentioned that specific date in reading from one of the reports. I submit to the House that the Department of Public Assistance under the Goodrich plan did not hold these examinations until much later than that date, and that the new personnel was not in office at that time.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in order to complete the record, as told by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, may I just read to the House the date of these reports? One is under date of June 25, 1937. Another is under date of October 13, 1936. That was before this act, Mr. Speaker, was passed. The other was under date of July 10, 1937. Another was under date of September 2, 1937.

All this was read into the record, Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of belittling the men and women who successfully passed civil service examinations, but those reports were made by individuals who at that time had not taken that examination, and for all we know, if they did take it, were not successful in passing the examination.

I am making this remark, Mr. Speaker, for the sole purpose of showing to the members of the House that the remarks of the gentleman from Cambria, insofar as they referred to the work of the particular visitors he mentioned amounts to nothing, it has no effect, it has no result, it points nowhere for the purpose of guiding us in our conclusions.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can only speak from the vantage point of Cambria County. In that county eighty-five per cent of the employes in the relief organization, who were employed prior to the Goodrich Act, managed to "make the riffle," pass the examination and qualify undoubtedly under the Goodrich Act. The other gentlemen can speak for their own counties, but I rather imagine that the same results would be shown in those counties as were shown in Cambria County.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if the members of this House were not sold on civil service for relief, they were certainly sold tonight after what the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Shaw, and the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, have stated. I think it was pointed out to this House that there were some members on this side of the House who would like to have politics in relief, but they were in the minority and the majority went along with the Goodrich plan, as pointed out to you by Mr. Shaw of Allegheny as not being a political plan.

I for one, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, represent a district that has suffered considerably during the recent depression. I can honestly say that the administration of relief by those who have passed civil service examinations was considerably better than by those who were appointed originally with political pull. Naturally there are some members who are sore because they have not been able to dictate to the relief workers, and I say to you that no man, whether he be Republican or Democrat, regardless of what position he has been elected to, has the right to dictate his wishes when it comes to administering relief.

I believe that the Goodrich plan was worked out by men and women who made a study of the relief problem, and I say to you, majority members of this House, that one of the biggest mistakes you as a party could make would be to do away with civil service when applied to the administration of relief. You have heard letters being read here and, as pointed out to you by Mr. Achterman, those reports were made by people before they came into the relief setup.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Edwin F. Thompson and Mr. Finnerty.

A vertification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Keenan, Baker and Corrigan.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4), page 5, lines 10 and 11, by striking out the words: "or directors"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. WESTRICK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this particular amendment is nothing more than an economy move. Since we have as the head of our state relief set-up a state secretary who is supposed to function and handle this proposition under the dual set-up that is now being proposed, I cannot for the life of me understand why we want a dual-set-up back in the counties. I am asking you in all seriousness, let us put in a provision that these county executives may be one executive rather than a set-up of two or possibly three county directors, and again make this thing a top-heavy proposition, so it is going to be impossible as time goes by for the members of the Legislature to provide the money that is going to be necessary to do this work of relief. I am pleading with you members of the House to approve this amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 4), page 5, line 4, by inserting after the word "pensions" the following: "provided sufficient funds shall be allotted so that no person now employed under civil service will be discharged, released or dismissed because of insufficient funds"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I can understand how amusing this amendment may seem, as I can also understand how amusing, perhaps the latter part of this year or the fore part of 1940, may be to those men who laugh now when they find out that they have so violated the Federal Social Security law in their over-anxiety to get jobs that suddenly federal contributions for old age assistance and dependent children will be cut off by the federal government. That is no idle statement, Mr. Speaker, it is made in all seriousness. It so happens that in the state of Ohio that very thing occurred. It also happened in Arkansas, as I recall, and it can just as easily happen in Pennsylvania.

All this particular amendment does is to guarantee that there is going to be sufficient money to permit the operation of special assistance in Pennsylvania. It does not mean for one lone minute that the employees that you won't need cannot be laid off or furloughed or discharged, but it does mean that you shall not cut the rolls down to a point that they cannot operate. It does mean that you are going to appropriate sufficient money to operate special assistance in Pennsylvania, and if you do not go wild in your desire for jobs, you may rest assured that the federal contributions will be coming through, and this amendment only intends to see that you do that very thing. It will be no laughing matter in 1940, if you violate the law. Your unbalanced budget will be a complete shambles, and the question of whether there will be more taxes in Pennsylvania, Governor James' promises notwithstanding, will be on your hands. It is for that reason that I am asking that even the laughing Republicans see fit to vote for this amendment, and, Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 23, by inserting after the word "four" the following: "five"

Amend Sec. 2, page 7, by inserting between lines 3 and 4. the following: "Section 5. Establishment of County Boards of Assistance.—(a) For each county of the Commonwealth, there is hereby established a county board of assistance, to be known as the County Board of Assistance, which shall be composed of [men and women, to be appointed, as hereinafter provided.] three qualified electors of said county to be elected at the municipal election of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine for the term of four years, and their successors shall be elected every fourth year thereafter. The terms of office of all members shall begin on the first Monday of January following their election to such office. Any vacancy occurring in the membership of the board shall be filled by appointment, for the unexpired term by the Governor, with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate. The members of the board shall serve without compensation, but shall be reimbursed for necessary expenses. No member of a board shall hold office in any political party. Not all of the members of a board shall belong to the same political party.

[(b)] Each board shall be composed of eleven members in counties of the first and second classes, and of seven members in other counties. In each county having a board of seven, the Governor shall, with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint two members to serve for the term ending December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight, two members to serve for the term ending December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, and three members to serve for the term ending December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred forty. In each county having a board of eleven, the Governor shall, in the same manner appoint three members to serve for the term ending December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight, four members to serve for the term ending December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine, and four members to serve for the term ending December thirtyfirst, one thousand nine hundred forty. After the original appointments, any vacancy caused by the expiration of a term shall be filled by an appointment, in the manner above provided, for a term of three years, and any vacancy, otherwise caused, shall be filled for the duration of the unexpired term by appointment, in the same manner. No member of a board shall be eligible to serve for more than two consecutive terms;]

[(c)] (b) Each board shall elect from among its members a chairman and a secretary.

(c) The terms of the members of the board, upon the effective date of this act and the members appointed by the Governor prior to the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred forty, shall expire on the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred forty."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in 1937 I was very much opposed to the Goodrich bill. As the members who then served well know, I felt that we were going entirely too far in centralization in the appointment of the boards whose functions and whose duties were to supervise and control relief in the various counties in Pennsylvania. In 1937 I offered amendments to the present Goodrich bill substantially as I am offering them here this evening.

May I say to the members of the House, especially the newly elected Republican members, that in 1937 I received the whole hearted and complete support for these very amendments from your side of the House. In 1937 you were thoroughly in accord with the proposition of home rule. You agreed with me that an efficient and satisfactory operation of relief could not and would not be secured unless the local populace had something to say in the management and control, and above all with the personnel of the men and women who had control of the Board in your county. I believe there was not one Republican member of the House that did not vote for the very amendments that I am now offering on this floor.

Mr. Speaker, I feel that if the Republican members were sincere in 1937, and I believe they were, that now I can anticipate the same full and complete support from them that I received in 1937. I felt in 1937 that I was correct in stating that home rule was the one and only effective manner of controlling boards. I still feel the same way, and I believe that if you adopt these amendments you will go a long way toward curing the defects in the Goodrich bill and in the Van Allsburg bill as it seeks to amend the Goodrich bill. I am appealing to those men, especially those who so valiantly fought with me for this very amendment in 1937. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll-call.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 6), page 7, lines 11 and 12, by striking out: the light-face bracket before the letter "(d)" and after the word "seven"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 6), page 7, line 12, by striking out the following: "(c) of section eight"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the purpose of this amendment is to make the county boards the sole judge of the eligibilty of the persons who request relief. It relegates the entire situation back to where it was before the change.

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. Rosenfeld, Tronzo and Skale and were as follows:

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, line 1, by inserting after the letter "(d)" the following: "] (c)"

Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 7), page 8, line 13, by striking out: the light-face bracket after the word "Assistance"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, line 14, by striking out the letter: "(c)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "d"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, line 21, by striking out the letter: "(d)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(e)"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, line 24, by striking out the letter: "(e)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(f)"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 9, line 1, by striking out the letter: "(f)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(g)"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAN ALLSBURG. I shall not, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Erie declines to be interrogated.

Mr. REUBEN E. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendments I have offered to this section seek to clarify what was obviously an oversight on the part of the drafter of the bill.

Not so long ago I was discussing this particular section with a friend of mine and I asked him whether or not the purpose of this bill, this particular section, was that the Board of Review, which in Philadelphia county was known and is known as the Job Refusal Committee, was to be eliminated and my friend told me, "Yes, it was." Then I asked my friend whether or not there was any provision made for any Board of Review or Job Refusal Committee. He told me that it provides for such a Job Refusal Committee only in the case of special assistance. However, not being satisfied that I had received an accurate answer from this friend of mine, I came to the conclusion that the purpose of this bill as drawn would make two separate classes of persons under the relief set up proposed in the bill. Under the former system any person who was on relief, if he were offered employment by the State Employment Agency or any private employer, if he refused to take employment for any reason, he was notified that the grant given to him by the board would be cut out on the refusal to take that job. Whereupon he had the right to appeal to the Board and state his reasons for refusing to take the job. If the Board believed that he was right in not taking it, in that possibly the work was not satisfactory to his ability or his health, he was not compelled to take the position but was continued on the relief rolls.

Now, we come to the point where that system is to be broken down. As I was saying, Mr. Speaker, the new set up would mean that persons on special assistance, and we have heard many definitions of special assistance tonight, in fact so many I am quite confused as to who might be put under that classification of special assistance—would be the only persons who would have a right to come to the local board and say, "I cannot take this job," and set forth his reasons and have a real determination in his appeal and his rights under the act. In Philadelphia the Job Refusal Committee was made up of very fine outstanding citizens. Among the members was Philip Staples, the president of the Bell Telephone Company; another one was Judge Theodore Rosen, then whom is no finer quality of social minded jurist in the State, and many other persons of equal caliber. Today we find that a person who is unfortunate enough to have to go on relief and who, being offered a job which he cannot hold because of health and inability to perform the task given to him, or for any other proper reason, apparently has no right to say, "I cannot take the particular job. Won't you please keep me on the relief roll until a better job is offered to me or work that I can do is offered to me." He would apparently be taken off relief and thrown upon the general community for any sustenance at all.

I therefore say, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that this effort to only appease the Federal Government in th proper manner of handling relief should be eliminated from the bill and the amendment adopted, so that the Job Refusal Committee would be maintained for the recipients of relief.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, lines 14 and 15, by striking out the words: "and promote."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the words "and promote", give very far-reaching power to the county boards. In counties where the relief rolls are very heavy the board could by rules and regulations force the relief recipients to accept positions at lower than current wages. No one objects to providing work for relief recipients, but we must guard against reliefers being forced to take wages that will break down our whole wage scale, and compel the poor unfortunates who accept relief to work at slave wages. I think it is very necessary that the words "and promote" be deleted from this bill, and I ask the members of the House to vote for this amendment.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 23, by inserting after the word "six" the following: "and"

Amend Sec. 2, page 4, line 23, by striking out the word: "and eight"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 8), page 9, lines 4 to 28, both inclusive by striking out: "all of said lines."

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 8), page 10, lines 1 to 6, both inclusive, by striking out: "all of said lines."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, these amendments delete section 8 on page 10 of the bill, in line with the amendments offered prior to this time, and well covered by argument up to this time. Inasmuch as it deletes a whole section from a very bad bill, I ask the support of the members on these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 7, line 22, by inserting a light-face bracket and the following words after the word "law"] To appoint all its employes from the present civil service lists of the Department of Public Assistance, and to give preference to those now employed by the Department of Public Assistance"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 7, line 23, by striking out: the light-face bracket after the letter "(b)"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 7, line 26, by striking out the letter: "(b)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(c)"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, line 14, by striking out the letter: "(c)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(d)"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, line 21, by striking out the letter: "(d)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(e)"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 8, line 24, by striking out the letter: "(e)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(f)"

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 7), page 9, line 1, by striking out the letter: "(f)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(g)"

Amend sec. 2 (Sec. 8), page 10, by inserting between lines 6 and 7, the following paragraph: "It is unlawful for any member of any county board of assistance to engage in political activity and failure to comply with this provision by any member of a county board of assistance, shall be sufficient grounds for removal."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendment I propose on its face needs no explanation. However, in view of the fact that on March 6, a gentleman of the Senate, representing the majority party, made a statement regarding the very subject upon which I am now offering this amendment, I am going to quote an extract from the Journal of March 6, and I quote as follows from page 494, a statement by Senator Deitrick:

> "I was appointed chairman of the Welfare, Public Assistance and Attention Committee of this Senate. I have been working with a joint committee of the House of Representatives since the recess began several weeks ago. Again and again we have been—

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to advise the gentleman that he is out of order in reading from the record of the Senate, which is an independent body, and its proceedings should not be read into the record of the House.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, may it please the Speaker, the purpose of this amendment is predicated upon what Senator Deitrick stated in the Senate with regard to public assistance and relief. I think it is quite material at this time—

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read to the gentleman from Philadelphia from Jefferson's Manual the following:

> "It is a breach of order in debate to notice what has been said on the same subject in the other House, or the particular votes or majorities on it there; because the opinion of each House should be left to its own independency, not to be influenced by the proceedings of the other; and the quoting them might beget reflections leading to a misunderstanding between the two Houses."

The Chair therefore feels that the gentleman should confine his remarks to the amendments that are now before the House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, as a member of this House I believe I am entitled to read any record, and further it is my opinion that I am not debating any statement or any address made by any member of the upper body of this Assembly. I am merely repeating the experience of a member who appeared on a board, and I believe it is the privilege of a member of this House to refer to the experience of any member of any board upon which he sits.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands the gentleman from Philadelphia has read from the Legislative Journal, which is the journal of the proceedings of the Senate. The gentleman is therefore out of order, and the Chair so rules.

APPEAL FROM DECISION OF CHAIR

Mr. ROSENFELD. I appeal, Mr. Speaker, from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I second the appeal.

The SPEAKER. The Chair calls to the rostrum the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, who will preside during the debate on the question raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld, on the appeal from the decision of the Chair.

APPEAL FROM DECISION OF CHAIR

On the question,

Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

Mr. ROSENFELD. I thank you, Mr. Speaker. The question before the Houese at this time is whether I can read from the Legislative Journal the following paragraph:

> "I was appointed Chairman of the Welfare, Public Assistance and Pension Committee of this Senate. I have been working with the joint committee" —

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman will yield. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is doing the very thing the Chair by its ruling forbid him to do. I think it is the duty of the Chair to not permit him to proceed, and I ask the Chair so to do.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, the question before the House at this time is whether I can read an extract from the proceedings of the Senate with reference to a joint committee, on which sat a member of this Assembly, and related his experience in connection with public assistance work. The page I am referring to is the last paragraph on page 494, and at the top of page 495.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The Chair must rule that the gentleman from Philadelphia cannot read from the Senate record until the House has passed upon the pending appeal. The pending question involves the right of the gentleman to present material from the Legislative Journal. The gentleman will proceed and confine himself to the question on the appeal.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, the reference made by the gentleman sitting on this particular Committee has to do with the political situation that the relief set-up under the Earle regime has been subjected to. I therefore present to this House an amendment which would make it unlawful for any person or member of any county board to indulge in any political activity. That was my only reference to the extract from the Journal.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The question recurs on the appeal.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I believe that I have every right to refer to this particular paragraph in making clear to the members of this House the purpose of this amendment. I therefore ask for support in this view.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that we are to vote upon whether or not we can under any circumstances quote from the Legislative Journal proceedings in the Senate?

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The ruling of the Chair was to the effect that in view of the stipulation in Jefferson's Manual, which governs the proceedings in this House, except when there are rules to the contrary, the gentleman cannot quote from the Legislative Journal the proceedings in the Senate. The stipulation in Jefferson's Manual is that in the course of debate the members of one House cannot refer to the deliberations in the other House, and the Chair ruled that the gentleman from Philadelphia could not read from the Legislative Journal and recount the debate in the Senate.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. SPEAKER, may I ask that the paragraph or rule from Jefferson's Manual be again read?

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. For the information of the members of the House, the Chair will read the section in Jefferson's Manual upon which the Speaker based his decision, as follows:

> "It is a breach of order in debate to notice what has been said on the same subject in the other House, or the particular votes or majorities on it there; because the opinion of each House should be left to its own independency, not to be influenced by the proceedings of the other; and the quoting them might beget reflections leading to a misunderstanding between the two Houses."

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from York will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, are there any decisions by former speakers of this House upon the same point?

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The Chair will inform the gentleman from York, that there was a ruling in 1933 to the effect that the Senate and/or its members cannot be criticized in debate. There appears to have been one other similar ruling.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a further parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, was not the procedure that the gentleman from Philadelphia attempted to follow one of praise rather than criticism of the Senate's action?

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The Chair based its decision upon the stipulation in Jefferson's Manual which is broader in scope, and which in the opinion of the Chair governs the proceedings of the House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, has it not been considered heretofore that that provision in Jefferson's Manual applied to a question that was being debated in the House or in the Senate, or had been debated in the House and was now being debated in the Senate, or vice versa.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. It is not in the province of the Chair to determine the decision of the House on that particular point. The Chair can only present stipulations as found in Jefferson's Manual, it then being the province of the House to interpret that statement in the light of its own wisdom.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, then the Speaker interprets the provision in Jefferson's Manual, applicable to this situation, to mean that nothing can be read into this record from the other House, and that notwithstanding the fact that the question being debated now has never been debated in the other House?

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The Chair at the present time is not interpreting Jefferson's Manual. The Chair is presenting to the House the phraseology in Jefferson's Manual, leaving it to the judgment of the House to determine.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is it proper to now ask the presiding officer whether or not it is his opinion that provision in Jefferson's Manual applies to the question being debated in this House?

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The Chair will reply that it is not proper to ask the Chair to interpret a particular question of parliamentary law or parliamentary procedure, which has been specifically referred to the House, as the result of the appeal taken by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OMINSKY. May I inquire of the Speaker whether the ruling is based upon House Rule 89?

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. OMINSKY. May I inquire of the Chair whether it would be in order, if the sponsor of the appeal from the decision of the Chair withdrew that appeal, to make a motion to suspend Rule 89.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The Chair would say that the appeal of the gentleman from Philadelphia is one that can only be determined by the House itself. The only question now pending before the House is on the appeal. Following the determination of the appeal the gentleman from Philadelphia will be privileged to make such motion as would be proper under the Rules of the House. The gentleman could move to suspend the Rules or ask for unanimous consent, but the only question now pending is on the appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. OMINSKY. My parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker, was not exactly answered. It was this: Whether or not it would be in order, not whether or not the House would vote for such a motion, but whether or not it would be in order to present a motion of that kind.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The procedure that the gentleman suggests would be in order.

APPEAL WITHDRAWN

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I am satisfied, due to the rather late hour, to withdraw my appeal.

The SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman withdraws his appeal from the decision of the Chair. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia, and requests the Speaker to return to the rostrum.

THE SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) IN THE CHAIR.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 89

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to move that Rule 89 be suspended for the specific purpose of being permitted to read into the record an extract from the Legislative Journal with reference to the remarks of a certain Senator made in the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read Rule 89 for the information of the House.

> "The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules of the House."

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote sixty-nine members voted in the affirmative and one hundre dtwenty-two in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am opposed to politically dominated boards of any sort, and I feel more particularly in cases of relief that politically controlled bodies are vicious. I have been advised of a situation that existed in many counties of this state where party affiliation was the basis of any relief. I refer to a particular situation where in one county a Republican county chairman occupied a position on that particular county board. I say to the members of the House, that you should have no objection to an amendment of this sort, to an amendment which would require the members of any particular county board to positively not indulge in political activities. I feel at this time that we are dealing with a very delicate situation; we are dealing with a situation wherein much criticism was directed towards the previous administration. I feel that if we are out for the benefit of human suffering, if we are out to do the best we have in us, we certainly should not vote for a system wherein politics is the end towards relief. I ask you to support this amendment, and I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Rosenfeld and Mr. Corrigan and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The third section was read as follows:

Section 3 Said act is hereby amended by adding after section eight thereof a new section to read as follows

Section 8.1 General Assistance and Pensions Each county board of assistance for the purpose of administering general assistance and pensions shall have the power and its duty shall be

(a) To appoint and remove at will and without regard to the laws regulating employment in the Department of Public Assistance such employes as may be necessary under the direction of the executive director appointed under the provisions of section eight of this act to provide general assistance and pensions in the territory under its jurisdiction in accordance with law and at a minimum of cost Provided That any county board of assistance may without regard to the laws regulating employment in said department appoint and remove an executive director of general assistance and pensions who shall direct the administration of general assistance in place of the executive director appointed under the provisions of section eight of this act All persons appointed to the position of executive director of general assistance and pensions if any or any other position in connection with the administration of general assistance and pensions in a supervisory capacity under the county board must be (1) practical fair-minded persons of good character (2) above twenty-five years of age (3) citizens of the United States (4) qualified to vote in the county in which they are to be employed (5) residents of Pennsylvania and have been such for a period of not less than three years immediately prior to their appointment (6) persons whose qualifications are such as best to promote the most efficient and economical administration of general assistance and pensions The selection of such employes shall not be subject to any control or approval by the Departmnet of Public Assistance The county board of assistance shall in every instance be the sole judge of the qualifications of employes chosen to administer general assistance and pensions

(b) To classify employment positions according to types of service and to establish between a maximum and a minimum a sliding scale of salaries reflecting local costs of living and salaries paid in the locality for similar services but in no case less than the minimum salary paid to employes of the board engaged in administering special assistance for the same kind of work Such classifications and scales of salaries shall not be subject to any control or approval by the Department of Public Assistance or by the State Board of Public Assistance

(c) To establish policies and practices as to the amounts of general assistance granted in individual cases but no grants may exceed the maximum amounts for which families of a given size and of given circumstances are eligible as established by the Department of Public Assistance with the approval of the State Board of Public Assistance

(d) To appoint sub-committees of the county board or of local citizens in various communities of the county as circumstances may require to cooperate with the county board in (1) supplying information as to the eligibility of persons for assistance (2) recommending local policies and (3) stimulating local employment and on petition of fifty or more residents of any community it shall be mandatory upon the board to appoint a sub-committee to function in such community

(e) To encourage employable recipients of general assistance to accept full- or part-time employment by guaranteeing to such recipients that they will again be granted general assistance immediately upon the termination of such employment if in need thereof and no rule or regulation of the Department of Public Assistance or of the State Board of Public Assistance or of the county board of assistance heretofore or hereafter adopted shall render impossible the performance of such guarantee

(f) To appoint a labor review board composed of three representative citizens of the county who shall serve without compensation and whose duty it shall be to pass on the eligibility of any applicant for or recipient of general assistance who shall refuse an offer of employment

(g) As need may require to employ services of commercial credit rating agencies for the purpose of determining eligibility for general assistance

(h) To make available for inspection and examination during office hours to any taxpayer in such manner as the county board of assistance may prescribe the names addresses and amount of assistance granted to all persons receiving general assistance

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, ask for a division of these amendments. There are prob-ɔbly seventeen or eighteen.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland ısks for a division on the amendments. The amendments will be divided.

The Clerk again read the first four amendments.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, his particular amendment deletes completely Section 8.1, which is a new section and which would give complete power to the county boards of assistance. To vote for this particular amendment will help to divorce politics from relief. I recall it was not so long ago in a particular campaign pledge, that Governor James said he was going to start the greatest divorce case in the history of Pennsylvania, and that was to divorce politics from relief. Rather than divorcing politics from relief, I would say this is re-marrying politics to relief. Because of the proposed appointments to the various county boards of assistance, which the Governor is to do, it certainly shows that it is not the intention to divorce politics from relief, but to put politics into relief. I believe it is a bad example to set for people on relief to allow them to play politics, and I believe that this particular amendment should be voted upon favorably.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I have been waiting for recognition from the Chair. I have another amendment to Section 2, which was submitted but not read.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to advise the gentleman that all the amendments to Section 2 were read.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I awaited recognition before the amendments to Section 3 were read.

The SPEAKER. Does the Chair understand that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rosenfeld, now desires to offer further amendments to Section 2?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I do not now offer to submit those amendments to Section 2, they are already on the Speaker's desk.

The SPEAKER. The Chair advises the gentleman from Philadelphia that all the amendments to Section 2, submitted by him, were read and have been voted upon.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Well, Mr. Speaker, the amendment I have now has not been read.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's amendments will be read in their order.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

The Clerk again read the remainder of the amendments offered by Mr. Weiss.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I want to call special attention to the amendments to Section three, page twelve, line three, referring to the maximum amount to which families of a given size and circumstances are eligible, that allows the county boards to put up a ceiling and not to put a bottom or floor under it. There really ought to be a minimum amount so that there shall not be any starvation in the state.

Likewise, on page twelve, line seventeen, by inserting after the word "assistance" the following, "provided that no persons may be discriminated against as to the amount of the grant on the basis of race, religion, political or labor union affiliation."

The amendment on page thirteen, line two, by inserting after the word "employment," is a very important one because it allows an appeal from the Labor Review Board or the County Assistance Board to the Department of Public Assistance. I do not believe that any decision by the Labor Review Board or the County Assistance Board should be final. The final action should be taken by the Department of Public Assistance.

Likewise the amendment on page thirteen, line five, which provides that the amount that shall be paid to the commercial credit agencies must be approved by the state Department of Public Assistance, is a very important one. It would cut out any record which might develop from employing any of these commercial credit agencies. I believe all of these amendments should be voted for favorably.

On th question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I wish to withdraw the amendments offered by me.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 10, line 13, by striking out the word: "To" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Except as hereinafter provided to"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 11, lines 13 to 17, by striking out the following: "not be subject to any HC [super-" in line 13, and all of lines 14 to 17, both inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof: "be made from the present civil service list of the Department of Public Assistance and preference shall be given to persons now employed by such department"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 12, lines 26 to 28, both inclusive, by striking out: "all of said lines."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, lines 1 and 2, by striking out: "all of said lines."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, line 3, by striking out the letter: "(g)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(f)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, line 6, by striking out the letter: "(h)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(g)"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker and members of th House, these amendments are also for the purpose o abolishing publication of relief recipients.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the follow ing amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by th Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 10, line 9, by insertin after the word "Pensions" the following: "(1)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 12, lines 1 to 7, both in clusive, by striking out: "all of said lines"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 12, line 8, by strikin out the letter: "(d)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(c)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 12, line 17, by strikin out the letter: "(e)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(d)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 12, line 26, by strikin out the letter: "(f)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(e)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, line 3, by strikin out the letter: "(g)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(f)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, line 6, by strikin out the letter: "(h)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(g)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, by inserting betwee lines 17 and 18 the following: "(2) Maximum grants fo general assistance in individual cases shall be from tim to time fixed by the General Assembly. The variou grants for general assistance shall be as follows: ,Singl person, six dollars and sixty cents ($6.60) per week.

Two persons, ten dollars ($10.00) per week. Three per sons, twelve dollars and eighty cents ($12.80) per week Four persons, fourteen dollars and fifty cents ($14.50) pe week. Five persons, sixteen dollars ($16.00) per week Six persons, eighteen dollars and twenty cents ($18.20) per week. Seven persons, twenty dollars and fifty cent ($20.50) per week. Eight persons, twenty-two dollar ($22.00) per week. Nine persons, twenty-four dollars and twenty cents ($24.20) per week. Ten persons or over twenty-six dollars and fifty cents ($26.50) per week."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, lines 13 to 17, by striking out the words: "To make available for in-" in lin 13, and all of lines 14, 15, 16 and 17.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House section 8.1 of section 3 of this act provides that the county board shall have the power to fix the maximum of grant in general assistance, and further that it shall be set by the rules prescribed by the Department of Public Assistance.

Members of this House, very many of us during the last two years have found that the Department of Public Assistance in regulating policies and rules regarding the Department have time and time again, when they found that the funds were going down instead of notifying the Governor's office, they have instituted new policies, so as to be able to pinch on the money which they have at the present time and that has proven a hardship to the various county boards.

The amendments which I have offered here to section 3 provide that the maximum grant for general assistance in individual cases shall from time to time be regulated by the General Assembly, and I see no reason why the members of the Legislature who appropriate this money shall not from time to time prescribe the proper rules ıd regulations, and not have the Department or any ıher form of government prescribe such rules. I do ıow that in 1938, the Board of Public Assistance, when found that the money appropriated by the current egislature was rapidly diminishing, handed down certain ıles and regulations to the county board whereby the ·ants were ultimately reduced. Now, Mr. Speaker, if ɔ other member of the House is serious about this ques-on, I am. I might inform the members that in the two .onths prior to the last election, the Republican candidate vo months before the last general election, and I heard in Philadelphia from the lips of the new Governor of ıe Commonwealth, made very, very serious promises re-ırding the adequacy of relief. I remember distinctly ıat in Philadelphia about that time the present Secretary f Revenue made a very important issue in the campaign ı Philadelphia relating to direct relief and old age assist-nce, and I wish to cite for the benefit of the membership, ıe state-wide address made by the Governor of Penn-ylvania on November 1, 1938, which was broadcast from ittsburgh. Speaking on the relief situation in Pennsyl-ania, he said:

"I am going to keep relief and WPA going just as long as one man or woman in the State needs it.

"I'll go further than that. Let me tell you some-thing about myself, that will show you how much that promise means to me. I have lived all my life in the little mining town of Plymouth. There's one mine that employes two thousand men, just a few blocks from my own house, which hasn't turned a wheel since 1932. That's the sort of thing which is going on all around in my home community.

"Every time I walk down the street, I see men and women who haven't been able to find work in years. I know most of these people by their first names, and I know what they have been going through. I know that the only thing which has kept them alive and held their families together and kept their children in school has been relief and WPA.

"Every time a WPA truck passes me, it's "How are you, Arthur?" and I say, "How are you Dave?"—or Mike, or Pete or Blodick. These are people I have known all my life, boys I went to school with.

"I am about to be elected Governor, and for four years I will live in Harrisburg, but after that I'm go-ing right back to the same little house in Church Street.

"Here is what I want you to think about. If I let these men and women on relief and WPA down—if I cut off relief or stop WPA, if I fail to keep my promise to try to get industry going again so as to open up jobs for these people—I would never be able to hold up my head again among my own friends and neighbors.

"Don't loose sight of that. I don't live in a fashion-able town like Alvin Jones and George Earle, where there is hardly any relief and WPA—it's going on all around me all the time when I am home.

"And I'm not going to Europe after I get through being Governor, or to Guatemala either—I'm going right back to where I was born and raised. And when I go back there, I'm going to be able to be proud that I have done everything I could to help the poor and unfortunate people of this State—both those I know and those I've never met."

Members of the House, by the inclusion of Section 8.1 in this present relief bill, sponsored by the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Van Allsburg, you are in no way attempt-ing to keep the promise of the Governor. The first thing you have done is to create a political county board, and a political county board in itself is a broken promise of Governor James, and I am going to tell you why. Not so long ago, a person over in the Senate, in a release to the newspapers concerning the conditions in his county said this:

> "When I was a member of the Committee on Wel-fare, it was understood among the Repulicans in my party we were not to have politics in relief."
> "The Senator then went on to say, "That no sooner had that assertion been made to me and definitely through my party, the Governor fired every man and woman on the county board in Northumberland County and replaced them with another board."

He went on to tell that each and every member of the board that he had recently appointed were men and women actively engaged in politics in Northumberland County. In addition to that he specifically brought to the attention of the people of the Commonwealth that the chairman of the board was also the chairman of the Republican County Committee.

Now, members of the House, in my opinion, Section 8.1 is a very vicious addition to this bill. It creates one thing and one thing alone, it gives to the county board, made up throughout of politicians, the power to grant direct relief. If that is the type of general assistance the Re-publican party promised, then you vote for it, but in my interpretation of the present Secretary of Revenue, who resides in Philadelphia, that we want to have a non-political set up in Pennsylvania and we want to have blind pensions in relief, this bill is certainly not that. I ask every member of the House, if they are true to the party which they represent, and if they are true to the thousand of citizens back home, to insert amendments in the bill so as to take the power from the county boards to say who shall get assistance and who shall not. My amendment provides that the General Assembly shall fix the rate. I have taken the time and trouble to make a personal survey of the relief situation in the state at the present time and I have a schedule appended to the amendment.

I ask every member of the House to vote for this amend-ment.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have just sent down for a half dozen sandwiches and a cup of coffee, so I am here to stay.

You know, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the few Democrats who were re-elected to office certainly have become orators. I did not have any idea that we had as many orators on the minority side of the House as we have discovered tonight, and the surprising part to me is that the accusation has been made that the Re-publicans are going to put relief in politics or politics in relief. I would just like to know where it was for the past four years. I want to say to the members of the House, Mr. Speaker, to the minority especially, that what-ever we do, whatever the majority does, we are perfectly willing to abide by the result. We believe conscientiously that we are starting along proper lines. This bill isn't perfect, there are a lot of faults, probably a lot of things that might seem better as we go along, but the Lord knows the people of the Commonwealth have said that the set-up we have had up until this time was not satis-factory. If this proves as unsatisfactory as the system we have had up to this time, well, there isn't any doubt as to what the people will do in the 1940 campaign but at least I want to say to the minority, "Give us a chance and seen how this works out." The amendments that have been offered and the suggestions that have been made would have been very nice in 1937, when we went along with you as far as we could and it was your time at bat. It now happens that the people of Pennsylvania have said, "We will have a little change; we will give the Republicans a chance." There is only one thing, Mr. Speaker, so far as broken promises are concerned. I remember the campaign back in 1934 when as I recall there were many promises made and they were not all fulfilled, so I suppose, when it comes to making political promises during a campaign, the Democrats and the Republicans go down the same alley.

I want to say to the members of the House, this bill has some merit, and if it doesn't have, the people of Pennsylvania will decide in 1940 and say, "We have had enough of this Republican group," and then we will let you boys do the trick yourselves.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if you will permit me, I would like to answer in part the statement of the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the House will be delighted.

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have in my left hand a copy of today's Pittsburgh Press, an independent newspaper.

Starting at the lower section of the page, I wish to answer the gentleman from Lancaster, or rather the Pittsburgh Press shall answer the gentleman from Lancaster and also answer the Republican Party by this statement.

"ANOTHER BROKEN PLEDGE"

"The republican majority in the Legislature evidently has made up its mind to ignore all protests and rip out the civil service system that now protects the employes of the Public Assistance Department.

"The Van Allsburg bill, which will take 4000 jobs out of the civil service class, has come out of committee and is in a position for final passage. All indications are that the Republican bloc in the House will be solidly behind it.

"Thus, another major plank in the Republican state platform of 1938 is about to be tossed out of the window. And from his statements, the platform-scrapping evidently is being done with the tacit approval of Governor Arthur H. James.

"Although Mr. James raised his hands in horror last fall over the patronage-grabbing activities of the Democrats, he now apparently sees nothing wrong in a Republican grab that in size surpasses anything the Democrats ever attempted. Moreover, he seems to have conveniently forgotten his pre-election statement of last fall when he announced that upon inauguration he intended to file the "largest divorce suit ever filed in Pennsylvania, a divorce between politics and relief." This is a divorce suit all right, but between civil service and relief.

"There are no valid arguments that can be offered in defense of the Van Allsburg bill. It is simply a gigantic ripper. But its only purpose is to give 4000 relief administrative jobs, jobs that by their very nature calls for skilled and trained personnel, to "deserving" Republicans. The politicians simply are endeavoring to build up a formidable political machine at the public's expense.

"The politicians responsible for the Van Allsburg bill probably are congratulating themselves for having thought of this wholesale patronage grab. Actually, they have only demonstrated their own lack of political foresight by trying to ram such measures as this down the public's throat.

"For political victories in Pennsylvania are no longer made possible by powerful machines built upon payrollers. If they were, the Democrats, whose patronage last fall far exceeded that of the present Republican regime, should have won in a walk.

"That they didn't is a warning to the Republicans that Pennsylvania voters base their decisions upon performance in office, not upon how much patronage is handed out and that all the patronage in the world can't save a bad administration. Unfortunately, Governor James and the Republican legislators do not seem inclined to heed that warning."

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as we have arrived at a new legislative day, the time now being 1:26 I move that this House do now adjourn until May 2, 1939, at 1 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 12, lines 26 to 28, both inclusive, by striking out: "all of said lines."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, lines 1 and 2, by striking out: "all of said lines."

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, line 3, by striking out the letter: "(g)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(f)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, line 6, by striking out the letter: "(h)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(g)"

Amend Sec. 3 (Sec. 8.1), page 13, lines 13 to 17, by striking out the following: "To make available for in- in line 13, and all of lines 14 to 17, both inclusive.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

MOTION TO RECESS

Mr. KILROY. Mr. Speaker, the hour is getting late and I wish first to withdraw my amendment on the desk I also wish to state that I do not know whether the soda fountain is working on daylight or standard time, but being thirsty, I move you that this House recess until 2:30, eastern standard time.

The SPEAKER. The motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia is out of order. A motion to recess is not a privileged motion. The question before the House is on the amendment submitted by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Rosenfeld.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. Speaker, I agree that the hour is late, and I therefore withdraw my amendment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair, on behalf of the members thanks the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 3 Sub-section 8.1, paragraph (c), page 12, insert between line 2 and line 3 following the word "cases," as follows: "with no grant to be below the following minimum amounts per month:

person case	$21.05	6 person case	$77.45
person case	$35.50	7 person case	$89.25
person case	$45.90	8 person case	$95.85
person case	$57.45	9 person case	$104.70
person case	$66.65	10 person case	$114.35"

Amend Section 3, Sub-section 8.1, paragraph (c), page 1 line 7 after the word "Assistance" add as follows: "nd in no case shall the minimum grant be less than the ndards set by the State Board of Public Assistance as January 1, 1939"

Amend Section 3, Sub-section 8.1, paragraph (f), page 1 line 2 after the word "employment" add as follows: rovided that refusal to accept employment under the lowing conditions shall not constitute grounds for re- sing or discontinuing asistance to any applicant or re- ient of general assistance: (1) labor disputes (2) em- yment at wages below the union scale (3) employ- nt where no union scale has been established, at less an the prevailing wages in the industry or community) and at hours exceeding forty-four hours in any one ek at a maximum of eight hours in any one day (5) e inability to perform the work offerred."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this amendment will provide that the minimum assistance granted will equal a minimum subsistance level as determined by the Department of Public Assistance in their Current Living Costs as of December 31, 1938.

As provided by the Public Assistance Act, the Department of Public Assistance submitted a report to the Governor as to the cost of living in the various counties, as related to the standards of assistance and the amounts allocated for assistance. In this report we find that the present assistance granted to the unemployed is less than a "minimum subsistance level." In fact the actual grants to the unemployed is only 85% of a minimum subsistance level.

This report states, and I quote: "Living costs are computed for a 'minimum subsistance' standard only. As described by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, this standard represents a substantially lower level than does a standard of 'health and decency.' Living at the minimum subsistance level for a prolonged period 'may prove harmful to both health and morale.'"

It states further, and I quote: "The minimum subsistence standard provides for only food, clothing household supplies, shelter, and fuel and light. Moreover, it provides only the minimum requirements for these items."

Here we have an actual study of the present grants as compared with a minimum subsistence standard of living computed at only the minimum requirements and the admission of the Department of Public Assistance that living at this level for a prolonged period, and unfortunately the majority of our unemployed in the State have been living below this standard for quite some time, will prove harmful to both health and morale.

The present grants, we find in this study, make no provision for household supplies such as soap, toilet paper, washing materials, etc. They make no provisions for hair cuts, toothbrush and paste, razor blades, sanitary supplies and many other personal necessities which a family will require. No provisions for church donations, carfares, recreation, life insurance, and many other items which do become necessities to some extent and therefore, these items are taken from the small food allowances now granted and thereby further endanger the health of the unemployed.

The present grants provide only 65% of the minimum subsistance level for shelter according to this study. Now what happens when the unemployed are allowed only 65% of what their housing cost them. Either they do not pay their rent and the landlords are forced to evict them or they must cut down on some of the other items in their budget, particularly food in order to make up this deficiency. I must point out that this study states that a special study was made in December 1938 to obtain shelter prices in the various counties and the prices obtained were the amounts of rent asked by landlords for living quarters occupied by DPA cases and WPA workers. In other words, slums. The actual grants were 65% of what it cost to live in slums.

If this is allowed to continue then either we must ask the landlords to cut their rents practically in half or we must ask these receiving assistance to cut their food allowance in order to make up this deficiency in their shelter allowance.

We also find that the clothing allowance is only 69% of the minimum subsistence standard. If a study is made of the number of deaths from pneumonia during the past winter, I am sure you will find that the vast majority of these cases were due to inadequate clothing and that this very definite was harmful to the health of the unemployed.

This study has revealed definitely that this Legislature will have to take some steps to alleviate the inadequacies of the present grants to the unemployed of our State.

While House Bill No. 867 gives the Department of Public Assistance the power to set the maximum grants it does nothing to provide minimum grants which would correct some of the conditions which now exist. In fact this bill leaves the way open for wide-spread discrimination by the County Boards of Assistance.

The manner in which this bill is now written, these county boards could grant assistance of a maximum to one family and could cut this grant in half or even more to another family of similar circumstances because of political discrimination, personal dislike or for any other reason they desire.

Very definitely the manner in which this section is now worded the way is open for wide-spread political discrimination. County Boards could give a very low grant to a family who did not vote the way they considered right, and reward a family of exactly the same type with a much higher grant because they did vote right. If there ever was a piece of legislation which inserted "Politics in Relief," this is one.

Are we to assume that the thousands of negroes now on the relief roles are to be discriminated against at the will of the County Boards because they think a negro should live at a lower standard?

Is this section not leaving the way open for relief cuts? Or I might say, that the purpose of this section is to give relief cuts to the unemployed.

We see the Congress of the U. S. appropriating millions of dollars to build battleships, airplanes, and guns for national defense. Can we speak of national defense only in the terms of battleships and guns or must we also take into consideration the man-power necessary to man these battleships, airplanes and guns.

Unless we take steps in this Legislature to put a stop to the break-down of the health and moral of almost a million of the unemployed in our State, we must take the responsibility of undermining our National Defense. The man power of our national defense in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is being undermined by the present standards granted to our unemployed. This must be stopped at once.

The least this Leigslature can do is to set a minimum of assistance granted equal to a minimum subsistence level. I am sure that had this study been prepared and submitted to the prior administration, immediate steps would have been taken to eliminate these inadequacies. Unfortunately this study is the first which has been prepared since the Public Assistance Act has become effective.

I am sure this Legislature will vote its approval of this amendment and thereby guarantee to the unemployed of our State that the minimum assistance granted will not be less than a minimum subsistence level. Surely we can not expect the unemployed to live at a lower level when it is admitted that this level may prove harmful to both health and moral. This is the least the majority can do if they are sincere in their promises to the unemployed that assistance will be provided at an adequate and humane basis.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 4 (Section 9), paragraph (b), page 14, line 25 to strike out "(sixty-five)" and insert "sixty.'

Amend Section 4 (Section 9), paragraph (b), page 15, between line 10 and line 11, add as follows: "The minimum amount of assistance to an aged person shall be sixty dollars ($60.00) per month.'

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I offer these two amendments to this bill fully convinced that the present provisions in the Public Assistance Act in regard to aged persons is inadequate.

We cannot provide assistance to our aged people at age 70 or even 65 and feel that we are even approaching a solution to this problem. The operation of our economic system today has greatly increased the need among our fathers and mothers. Today, as I understand it, more than half of those sixty years of age and over are dependent and unable to support themselves. Why?

Because the advances of science and medicine have extended the life span of our people. This is a blessing that permits us to have our fathers and mothers with us for a longer time.

Because scientific and technological improvements in industry have made for a speed-up in industrial processes. Business men now discharge our fathers and replace them with younger men who can stand the modern pace.

Because employers take advantage of the unemployment crisis, with its flooded labor market, to pick and choose their employees and displace older people by younger.

Because of the great need among those over 60 years of age and because of the inadequacy of the present provisions for them, many are forced to try to compete against younger men in industry, at any wages, under any conditions. However, the overwhelming majority of those over 60 have no jobs and no social security and are therefore unable to either produce or consume.

Under the provisions in House Bill No. 867 there is no amount set as a minimum granted to these aged people. The reports of the Department of Public Assistance show that the average grants to the aged are approximately $21.00 per month although the Federal Social Security Act provides for a maximum grant to the Commonwealth of $15.00 per month if the state will match this.

We must understand that provisions must be adequate to sustain a person in decency and health. Remember that a person over sixty is unable to stand the privation that a younger person can. It is indeed a great tragedy to have science prolong the life span of our fathers, and then allow insecurity, disease and starvation to send them to an early grave.

The overwhelming population of our Commonwealth feel the necessity of improvements in our present Social Security program, especially in regard to old age assistance. They want more security for old age people.

At present the Congress of the U. S. is considering amendments to the Social Security Act to provide Federal grants to the states for Old Age Assistance at age 60 with the objective of obtaining a maximum grant of $60 per month by increasing the Federal grant to the States to $30 per month if the state will match this amount.

The least this Legislature can do is to meet the desire of the people of our Commonwealth by passing these amendments and requesting our representatives in Washington to amend the Federal Legislation in order to bear their share of the financial responsibility.

I have already introduced tax bills that will cover the additional expenditures required by these amendments. Surely this Legislature can not turn a deaf ear to the demands of the people of this Commonwealth for a step towards security for our aged people.

If these amendments are defeated the only conclusion the people of this Commonwealth can reach is that this Legislature is openly opposed to taking any step in the direction of old age security, that they are turning a deaf ear to this burning issue.

I, therefore, ask you to consider these amendments very carefully before you turn a cold shoulder to this burning issue.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

(Consideration of House Bill No. 1300 resumed.)

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments to Section 1?

The SPEAKER. As the Chair recalls Mr. Ominsky had the floor and was discussing the amendments to Section 1 at the time we took up the Special Order fixed for this evening. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, may I suggest to the Chair that since the hour is late and this bill is not as important as the one we just considered, and since there will be more debate on the amendments, that we hold it over until the next calendar.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to postpone consideration of this bill? Is there objection? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, for the information of the House, I will ask the Clerk to again read the amendments to Section one.

The amendments were read by the Clerk.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you may recall that when I previously discussed these amendments, for which I ask your support, I suggested that it is a matter of good government and good criminal procedure to insert these amendments in the bill at this time, because if we do not I predict that the straw bail and the bail racket which caused an investigation by the grand jury in Philadelphia will be brought back, because as the bill now stands, without these amendments, it rovides that the same agency, which is the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia, who takes bail, will also approve bail. That was the situation before the Magistrate Act of 1937 was passed. The purpose of these amendments is to stop the possibility of straw bail coming back to Philadelphia, where the County of Philadelphia lost in bail several hundred thousand dollars as reported by a special commission which was headed by Judge Gordon, President of one of the Common Pleas Courts of Philadelphia.

These amendments were submitted to Judge Gordon and he suggested that they ought to be accepted in order to prevent that situation, and I ask the membership of this House to vote for these amendments.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the hour is late and I have a tremendous headache, so I am not going to deliver the two-hour address I have prepared.

I just want to say to the gentleman from Philadelphia that as the bill now stands before the House, the Clerk of Quarter Sessions Court will simply take the place of the City Controller and I take it since the Democrats are interested in economy, as the Republicans are, it is not necessary for us to create a bail commission. These amendments do not carry with them the amount of salary the bail commissioners will receive. I suppose it would be ten thousand or twelve thousand dollars added to the poor taxpayers of Philadelphia, and our hearts bleed for the poor taxpayers.

I take it, and I hope that the members of the House will agree with me, that this is an economy measure, and that the proper thing is for the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court to handle this instead of appointing another commission. We have too many commissions now. I just want to emphasize one fact, which is only my poor opinion, I don't know whether it will have much weight or not, but I take it that the Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court is an honorable gentleman and will not permit any corrupt bail to pass through the Courts, and since the act specifically provides what sort of bail should be accepted as bail bond, I will forego my two-hour speech to ask the members of the House to vote these amendments down.

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am sorry that I must answer the gentleman from Philadelphia, but I think he has made some misstatements which this House ought to know about.

In the first place, we are interested in economy, there is no question about that, and the amendments which I offered and which I hoped he would understand, would actually create that economy for which he has already spoken, because it will do away with the four clerks which the Comptroller has at the present time and will add no additional people to the payroll of the Board of Judges. The understanding is, as Judge Gordon has indicated to me, that the present members of the staff of the Clerk of the Quarters Sessions Court will be put under the jurisdiction of the Board of Judges.

In the debates we have had relative to a particular officer, I have indicated that those debates were not meant to be in criticism of any individual who is presently in office. I too have high regard for our present Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court and for his high ability. However, we may have a new Clerk of Quarter Sessions in office, because there is an election this coming year and we do not know who that individual may be. We do know who the Board of Judges are, and even the gentleman from Philadelphia will agree with me that the members compromising the Board of Judges in Philadelphia are highly respectable individuals, and they are greatly interested in the bail proposition. Therefore, this is not only an economy measure, but it is also a measure which will provide a proper place for bail to be approved. Furthermore, it does not create another commission. This creates or designates the present man who is taking bail under the present Clerk of the Quarter Sessions and under whose domination he is at the present time. He will be transferred to the Board of Judges so that he will have no particular affiliation with the present Clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court and in that way the one agency which will receive bail will not also approve bail.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Ominsky and Mr. Achterman.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Walsh, Williams and Ellwood B. Welsh.

(d) To see that no bank banking institution or trust company except those designated as active depositories shall receive a deposit of State moneys in excess of twenty-five per centum of its paid-in capital and surplus or have at any one time an aggregate of deposits in excess of five hundred thousand dollars Provided however That in the case of any particular depository these limitations may be waived by the Board of Finance and Revenue so as to permit the State Treasurer to deposit State moneys not in excess of one million dollars in any bank banking institution or trust company designated as an inactive depository

(e) To see that the combined deposits in the active depositories shall not exceed at any time such total sum as it shall by resolution have prescribed

(f) In case it is of the opinion that the credit of any depository is impaired the safety of the State deposits imperiled or for any other cause whatsover to require the State Treasurer to reduce change or wholly withdraw within thirty days any deposit or deposits held by any such depository of State moneys

(g) Whenever it is considering applications for State deposits to invite the Secretary of Banking to sit with and advise the board The secretary shall however not vote on any question coming before the board.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 4 by inserting at the bottom of the page, after line 28, the following: "Section 2 Section five hundred four of the said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 504 Refund of Money Subject to Escheat Paid Into the State Treasury; Appeal.—The owner of any moneys which shall have been paid into the State Treasury by order of court, entered upon petition of the Attorney General alleging that such moneys were subject to escheat, or the legal representatives of such owner, may at any time apply to the Board of Finance and Revenue for a refund of the same, and, upon his making proof of his ownership or right of possession to the satisfaction of the board, such moneys shall be paid him, on the requisition of the board, and the warrant of the Auditor General drawn on the State Treasurer in conformity therewith, out of any moneys in the State Treasury appropriated for the purpose, with interest thereon at the rate of two per centum per annum from the date when said moneys were paid into the State Treasury to the date of the refund thereof, and any moneys escheatable under the provisions of any act of Assembly, which have been heretofore voluntarily paid into the State Treasury, or which may be hereafter so paid, shall be likewise refunded in the same manner in which moneys so paid pursuant to an order of court are refunded under the provisions of this act. Any corporation or association, its successors or assigns, which shall have transmitted or delivered any shares or certificates of stock or other securities or the proceeds thereof to the State Treasury, or which shall have paid any moneys into the State Treasury, either voluntarily or under the provisions of an order of court entered upon petition of the Attorney General asking for payment of such moneys or property into the State Treasury without escheat, may, at any time, apply to the Board of Finance and Revenue for a refund of the same, and, upon making proof to the satisfaction of the board that such moneys or property were legally subject to escheat in any other state or territory of the United States and not legally subject to escheat by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or to payment into the State Treasury without escheat, such moneys or property, or the proceeds thereof, shall be paid to such claimant, on the requisition of the board and the warrant of the Auditor General drawn on the State Treasurer in conformity therewith, out of any moneys in the State Treasury appropriated for the purpose, with interest thereon at the rate of two per centum per annum from the date when said moneys were paid into the State Treasury to the date of the refund thereof, or, if moneys so appropriated are inadequate or if no such appropriation has been made, the amount to be refunded, together with interest as aforesaid to the date of the allowance of the refund shall be entered by the Department of Revenue as a credit to the account of the claimant. Such credit, or any part thereof, shall be assignable to any other person, firm, association, or corporation, and may be used by any such assignee in payment and satisfaction of any obligation or liability then or thereafter due by such assignee to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The determination by the board or the court, in the event of an appeal as hereinafter provided, whether such moneys or property were legally subject to escheat by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or to payment into the State Treasury without escheat, shall be made irrespective of whether said moneys or property were paid voluntarily or pursuant to an order of court entered upon petition of the Attorney General asking for payment of such moneys or property into the State Treasury without escheat.

Any claimant for any such refund may appeal, by petition to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County, from an adverse decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue, which court shall thereupon hear such testimony as may be offered in support of the claim and determine whether or not the claimant is entitled to any refund, and, if so, the amount thereof. If the court find that he is so entitled, it shall report its findings to the board, and order the making of a refund of the proper amount. Thereupon the refund shall be made in the manner hereinbefore provided, with interest as aforesaid. No such appeal shall be ascertained, however, unless the claimant shall file with his petition an affidavit that all the proof which he proposes to offer in support of his claim had been presented to the Board of Finance and Revenue before that board acted adversely upon his claim.

Any depository, or trustee, or other fiduciary, or any debtor who or which shall, through mistake or compulsion of law, pay the amount of any unclaimed deposit, trust fund, or debt, subject to escheat under the provisions of any act of the General Assembly, to the depositor or beneficiary thereof, or person to whom the debt is owing, after such amount shall have been paid into the State Treasury, either voluntarily or pursuant to an order of court, may make application for and obtain a refund thereof from the State Treasury in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore in this section provided."

Amend Section 2, page 5, line 1 by striking out after the word "Section" and before the word "Section" the figure [2] and inserting in lieu thereof the figure: "3".

Amend Section 2, page 8, line 2 by striking out after the word "Federal" and before the word "Board", with boldface brackets, the word: [Revenue] and inserting in lieu thereof, without underscoring, the word: "Reserve".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Every petition for review filed hereunder shall state specifically the reasons upon which the petitioner relies The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true If the petitioner be a corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership the affidavit must be made by one of the principal officers thereof

The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety (90) days after they have been received and in the event of the failure of the Board of Finance and Revenue to dispose of any such petition within ninety (90) days the action taken upon the petition for resettlement shall be deemed sustained

The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for resettlement or it may resettle the account upon such basis as it shall deem according to law and equity

Notice of the action of the Board of Fiance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to all departments involved and to the petitioner

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 3, page 10, line 3 by striking out after the word "Section" and before the word "Section" the figure: [3] and inserting in lieu thereof the figure "4".

An Act relating to sheriff sales of real estate heretofore or hereafter made changing the rule of evidence that the price at which a plaintiff on the list bids in real estate at sheriff sale is conclusive providing a procedure by which the actual value of real estate so produced by the plaintiff on the list may be established and credited against the judgment or debt to collect which the sheriff sale was had and providing a limitation of time within which such procedure may be invoked

Section 1 That whenever heretofore or hereafter real estate shall have been sold at a sheriff sale and purchased by or on behalf of the plaintiff in the writ on which said sheriff sale is had the price bid by or on behalf of said plaintiff at such sale shall not be conclusive evidence of the value of the real estate so purchased but shall be deemed to be only the prima facie evidence of the value thereof

Section 2 After said sale the defendant in the judgment or proceeding on which the sheriff sale was held or any party secondarily liable therefor may petition the court in which the judgment is entered to open judgment for the sole purpose of being allowed to establish the actual value of the real estate purchased by the plaintiff Provided That where the holder of a mortgage has purchased the mortgaged property at the sheriff sale pursuant to scire facias proceedings and thereafter brings action against the mortgagor or a party secondarily liable on the obligation accompanying the mortgage to collect the balance of the mortgage debt the defendant shall have the right to plead and show as a matter of defense and set-off that the property so purchased by the plaintiff at the sheriff sale was actually worth more than the amount of the debt secured by the mortgage at the time of the sale or that the amount bid and paid therefor was substantially less than its actual value

The burden of so showing shall be upon the defendant The actual value of the real estate as found shall be credited as a set-off against the mortgage debt sued for

Section 3 After five years from the date of the sheriff sale the price bid by a plaintiff on the writ who has purchased the real estate thereto shall become conclusive of the value thereof Provided That at any time before the expiration of five years from the date of a sheriff sale (not made pursuant to a personal judgment against the defendant) the defendant or the party secondarily liable for the debt for the collection of which the real estate shall have been sold shall upon petition to a court of appropriate jurisdiction be entitled to a rule on the plaintiff in the writ under which the sheriff sale was held to show cause why the actual value of the real estate so acquired should not be fixed at the sum set forth in the petition Whereupon unless an answer be filed contesting the actual value of the real estate so pleaded the court shall decree that the petitioner shall be entitled to credit in that amount upon the unpaid balance of the debt If the value so pleaded is denied by the answer the disputed fact may be determined by a judge of the court or at the request of either party and accompanied by the payment of a jury fee the said disputed fact shall be determined by a jury but the burden of proving the value shall be upon the petitioner The actual value so adjudged in the proceedings shall be credited on the unpaid balance of the debt if any is still due Provided That in any case in which the right to apply for relief herein granted shall be sooner barred the application to the court may be made within two years from the effective date of this act

Section 4 Nothing herein contained nor the filing of a petition by any party in interest shall in any wise affect the validity of any sale of real estate heretofore held nor the title acquired thereunder

Section 5 The provisions of this act are severable and if any of its provisions shall be held unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction the decision of such court shall not affect nor impair any of the remaining provisions It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent that this act would have been adopted had such unconstitutional provisions not been included therein

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I request the House to concur in the amendments.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Winner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Winner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WINNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman from Montgomery that the Senate in passing this bill has removed from the bill, the amendments inserted by the House which would overcome the decision of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as handed down in the recent Dorrance Estate?

Mr. WINNER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House I cannot conceive how this body can join in concurrance in this measure. Recently the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania handed down a decision relative to the Dorrance Estate in which there are foreign trustees holding personal property, deciding that the time worn rules usually applicable in such cases were not to apply. The House, in the passage of this bill, in concurrence in this measure. Recently the Supreme Court by a Legislative enactment and placed in this measure a paragraph that apparently the Senate has deleted. Now, we are in a situation where the funds necessary for the maintenance of the Commonwealth must be secured, and by the deletion from this House Bill of the paragraph overcoming the decision of the Supreme Court, if we concur in these amendments to this bill, are concurring in a measure that has a loophole in it big enough to drive a team of horses through. Every lawyer who has read the decision in the Dorrance case—

An Act to repeal the act, approved the second day of July, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 2797), entitled "An act requiring collectors of city, county, borough, town, township, school and poor district taxes, to file certain reports with the quarter sessions court and the Department of Internal Affairs; directing such department to prepare and furnish forms for such reports, making such reports available for public inspection; requiring all payments to such collectors, for compensation and expenses, to be by warrant or order; prohibiting such collectors from deducting their compensation and expenses from public funds in their possession; and making violation of the act a misdemeanor."

Mr. EWING from the Committee on Liquor Control reported as committed, House Bill No. 1337, entitled:

An Act limiting the number of licenses for the retail sale of liquor malt or brewed beverages, or malt and brewed beverages to be issued by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board; defining hotels and prescribing the accommodations required of hotels in certain municipalities.

SOFT BALL TEAM CAPTAIN APPOINTED

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to announce that "Hard Ball" Jack O'Keefe is captain of the Democrat's soft ball team.

The SPEAKER. The Chair accepts the announcement and will note upon the record that when the Democrats and the Republicans meet on Wednesday, May 17, the captain of the soft ball team for the Democrats will be "Hard Ball" Jack O'Keefe. The Chair will ask the majority leader to appoint a captain for the Republican team.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

There will be meetings of the Committees on:

Banking, Tuesday, May 2nd, at 12:30 p.m. in Room 324.

Constitutional Amendments, Tuesday, May 2, at 10 a.m. in Room 333.

Counties, Wednesday, May 2, at 10:30 a.m. in Room A.

Education, Tuesday, May 2, at 11 a.m. in Room 323.

Highways, Tuesday, May 2, at 10 a.m. in Room 324.

Judiciary General, Tuesday, May 2, at 11 a.m. in Room A.

Motor Vehicles, Wednesday, May 3, at 9 a.m. in Room 324.

Public Utilities, Wednesday, May 3, at 11 a.m. in Room 100.

Ways and Means, Tuesday, May 2, at 11 a.m. in Room 100.

There will be a Public Hearing before the Committee on Professional Licensure on House Bill Nos. 727 and 728 on Tuesday, May 2, at 9 a.m. in the House Caucus Room.

There will be a Public Hearing before the Committee on Professional Licensure on House Bill Nos. 786 and 565 on Wednesday, May 3, at 9 a.m. in the House Caucus Room.

There will be a Public Hearing before the Committee on Mines and Mining on Wednesday, May 3, at 4 to 6 p.m. in the House Caucus Room.

There will be a Public Hearing before the Committee on Mines and Mining on Monday, May 8, at 2 p. m. in the House Caucus Room.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow at 1 p.m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 2:42 a.m.) the House adjourned until Tuesday, May 2, 1939, at 1 p.m.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

Session 1939. 133d of the General Assembly.

Vol. 23. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1939. No. 46.

SENATE

TUESDAY, May 2, 1939.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., E. S. T.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

Thou Blessed God, ruler of the destiny of nations, in this day of our national existence we would remember the sharp warning of our beloved Washington that we beware of "entangling alliances." Indeed, may the wisdom of his words be indelibly written upon the consciousness of all our leaders and especially that no one man or group of men should so "entangle" our nation with others.

We would remember the awful price we paid but two decades ago. Today we see how futile the entire recourse to armed conflict has become. We know it is not Thy will for any nation so to do. E'er we would be so committed again may we calmly sit down with our consciences and figure the tremendous cost in material destruction, the awful toll of life and human misery and suffering and even to noncombatants and in irreparable spiritual loss.

God forbid that our directional activity as a people be turned into the channels of useless, degrading warfare with its staggering cost in every conceivable direction but rather that we expend our energy in the high and profitable endeavor of setting our own house in order that we may throw off the shackles of social unrest, economic distress, spiritual indifference and moral corruption so disastrously gnawing at the vitals of the individual, the home and the nation. In Thy Holy name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. OWLETT and Mr. GELDER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

ERRATA

Mr. SHAPIRO: Mr. President, while we are on the Journal, I would like to ask that the Journal be corrected as of last Monday night. On page 1633 of the Journal of April 24, 1939 I referred to the policemen of Second Class A cities. I suggested that it would be unlawful to wake the policeman.

I do not know the intent of the person who transcribed this, and I disclaim any participation in it, but as I read it now it says that it would be unlawful to "make" a policeman, and I ask that that be corrected.

On Page 1636 of the Journal of the same evening, the figure "$317,000,000" should be $327,000,000.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, in correction of the Journal, will be spread upon the record.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, as what I want to say involves statistics, with the permission of the Senate I will read. There have been three important questions before the Senate at this session: first, Taxation; second, Public Schools; third, Relief. I want to say something about the public schools which will require a little further analysis than could be given in the discussion of a particular bill.

There are so many important questions pending at the present time with reference to the administration of the public schools that it is worthwhile to attempt to review the situation.

First, what is the duty of the Commonwealth to the public schools? Within three months after the Declaration of Independence had been promulgated, a convention which assembled at Philadelphia framed the first Constitution of the Commonwealth. One of its clauses expressed the attitude of our Revolutionary forefathers toward public education as follows:

"Section 44. A school or schools shall be established in each county by the Legislature for the convenient instruction of youth with such salaries to the masters paid by the public as may enable them to instruct youth at low prices.

"An all youthful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more universities."

Little was done prior to the adoption of the second Constitution in 1790. In this convention, a movement led by Colonel Timothy Pickering of Luzerne County resulted in the following mandate:

"Article VII, Section 1. The Legislature shall, as soon as conveniently may be, provided by law, for the establishment of schools throughout the state, in such manner that the poor may be taught gratis.

"Section 2. The arts and sciences shall be promoted in one or more seminaries of learning."

This provision continued unchanged until 1874. Under its authority our system of free schools was inaugurated.

In 1834 the General Assembly enacted a series of provisions for the establishment of school districts and the employment of teachers. It was felt by its critics that this plan would be expensive, and in the next year there was an earnest movement for its repeal which was, however, defeated by the eloquence of Thaddeus Stevens. While the constitutional mandate provided for the instruction of the children of the poor gratis, yet the Supreme Court early decided that this did not prevent the establishment of public schools for both rich and poor and all classes in society.

In the Constitution of 1873 the provision was amplified and broadened as follows:

"Article X. Section 1. The General Assembly shall provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of public schools, wherein all of the children of the Commonwealth above the age of six years may be educated, and shall be appropriated at least One Million Dollars each year for that purpose."

This is one of the broadest grants of authority to be found in the Constitution. Recently, in 1938, it was well said by Chief Justice Kephart in the decision of the Teachers' Tenure Act cases as follows:

"In considering laws relating to the public school system, courts will not inquire into the reason, wisdom or expediency of the legislative policy with regard to education, but whether the legislation has a reasonable relation to the purpose expressed in Article X, Section 1, and whether the fruits or effects of such legislation impinge the Article by circumscribing it, or abridging its exercise by future legislatures within the field of 'a thorough and efficient system of public schools.' So implanted is this section of the Constitution in the life of the people as to make it impossible for a legislature to set up an educational policy which future legislatures cannot change. The very essence of this section is to enable successive legislations to adopt a changing program to keep abreast of educational advances. The people have directed that the cause of public education cannot be fettered, but must evolute or retrograde with succeeding generations as the times prescribe."

Under this clause of the Constitution there has developed a magnificent system which in the year 1936-37 provided for the education of 1,982,715 pupils in Pennsylvania and 63,309 teachers educated at a total cost of $219,587,669. Included in this total there is over $40,000,000 of debt service and $27,000,000 of capital outlay, and consequently in referring to the cost of the schools, I shall refer in the future to current expenses only, omitting these two items for consideration, and for the year 1936-37 the current expenses were $151,980,004.

The answer then to my first question is that the Commonwealth owes a full duty to its children to maintain a thorough and efficient service of public schools, and it is the duty of the General Assembly to see that such a system is maintained.

Second, what has caused the recent trouble with reference to the maintenance of the public schools?

It is to be noted that this trouble is not confined to Pennsylvania. A recent magazine article directs attention to the fact that in Ohio the state school fund is $17,000,000 in the hole, and that several cities have closed their schools; that in Colorado, Michigan, Illinois and the Dakotas the same condition exists; that Georgia owes its school teachers $5,000,000 as a result of which two hundred Georgia schools with 20,000 pupils are closed. In Pennsylvania we are familiar with the developments of the last few weeks, all of which add immeasurably to the problem.

In a general way, the trouble has been caused by increasing costs and decreasing income from taxation. The assessed value of taxable property in Pennsylvania decreased from $9,850,000,000 in 1929-30 to $8,550,000,000 in 1936-37, and this led to a decrease in this eight year period of the amount of tax levied from $150,000,000 to $132,000,000, and in the amount of tax collected from $134,000,000 to $108,000,000.

During this period of time the regular state appropriation has increased from $28,266,000 to $34,812,000, and in addition, the state has appropriated approximately $10,500,000 for the purpose of aiding financially distressed school districts. During this same period of eight years the enrollment in the elemenatry schools has decreased from 1,528,000 to 1,306,000, but the enrollment in the high schools which is the higher cost portion of the service has increased from 374,178 to 639,103.

We have then a situation in which there is a decrease in the funds available for education and an increase in costs and the result is that certain districts are not able to maintain the standards in education which have been fixed by the state.

Third. My third question is—Are the teachers paid too much?

The minimum salaries of teachers are fixed by the legislature of 1921 which is popularly known as the Edmonds Act and which prescribes the minimum for each class of school districts. I direct your attention to the fact that in 1921 two-thirds of the teachers of Pennsylvania had no permanent certificates, good teachers were fleeing from the state, and there was practically no professional standard for teachers outside of the larger cities. Under the brilliant leadership of Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, who in my judgment was one of the greatest educational statesmen that we have ever had in our public service, a campaign was inaugurated for higher standards of preparation, better teachers and adequate salaries, and as a result the legislation of 1921 was enacted.

While this legislation led to a material increase in the salaries of teachers, I direct your attention to the fact that in 1938 the average salary for all teachers and supervising officials was $1,479. There are wide variations in different districts. In Philadelphia the average salary is $2,446. In fourth class school districts it is still $800. Pittsburgh is approximately the same as Philadelphia, and between these extremes there are many varieties of middle figures. Personally, I do not think that a general average of $1,479 is high for a professional worker who is obliged to spend many years at her own expense in preparing for the work and whose professional preparation is wholly lost if she goes into another line.

It may be necessary to consider a temporary reduction in teachers' salaries, but it is my strong hope that there may be no disturbance of the permanent schedule.

Fourth, are the other expenses of the school system too heavy?

Through the courtesy of the Department of Public Instruction, I have received a series of figures which indicate that the items of current expense in our system outside of instruction, which includes teachers, textbooks, supplies, supervision, principals, clerks, etc., amount to about $550.00 per teacher. I am not satisfied that this expenditure is thoroughly justified in all of its details, and it seems to me that it would be worth exploring in order to determine whether any money could be saved along this line for the state or the local school district.

Fifth, does the state bear its proper proportion of the expenses of the school system?

In view of the Constitutional mandate to which I have referred, we must all agree that the state is under a high duty at this time. I do not feel that it performs this duty adequately. Under the Edmonds Act the state increased its share in the cost of the public schools, but nothing like to the same degree as other states have done. Whereas at the present time Pennsylvania contributes 23.4 percent of the cost of the school system, New York is contributing 37.2 percent, California 48.2 percent, Delaware 92.3 percent, Ohio 37.4 percent, and so on.

The general tendency in education is to recognize that an adequate high school education cannot be furnished through a tax on local real estate, and therefore in all of the progressive states of the Union there has been a continual tendency to take more and more of the cost of the public schools on the State Treasury. We in Pennsylvania would doubtless have attempted more along this line if it had not been for the total cost of relief. Ours is the only state which pays all of the cost of relief from the State Treasury. If as in New York we had 60 percent on the state and 40 percent on the locality, we would have adequate money for the public schools, but in the districts where the unemployment is great, the average of local taxes would still be high.

Under these circumstances, it seems clear to me that any attempt at improvement must be done gradually, but I think we should fix as our ideal the addition of a heavier portion of the burden to the state rather than to local government.

Suggestions for the Future

The question then arises as to plans for the future, and for this purpose I make the following suggestions.

1. Senate Bill No. 253 has been reported favorably from the Committee on Education with, however, a proviso that it shall not take effect until the biennium commencing in 1941. This proposes to add five points to the share of the basic teachers' salary which will be borne by the state, increasing the proportion in school districts of the first class from 25 to 30 per cent, and in school districts of the other classes from 35, 50 and 75 respectively to 40, 55 and 80 respectively.

This to my mind asserts the correct policy for the state, and it will be a sign to local government that the day will come when a larger portion of the heavy burden of taxation for the public schools will be taken from realty.

2. We have already authorized an appropriation for the distressed school districts. While I recognize the necessity and have voted for the appropriation, it seems to me that an appropriation divided among certain school districts by the State Department does not involve the correct principle. It is entirely possible that the deficit in a given locality may be due to extravagance and mismanagement, and it is certainly not fair to penalize the prudent and economical districts who have balanced their budget for the mistakes of the others.

I direct your attention to the fact that in Tremont Township, Schuylkill County, they have 122 pupils and 11 teachers, or an average of 11 pupils to a teacher; that in Riley Township, Schuylkill County, the average is 13; that in Branch Township the average is 17; that in Coal Township of Northumberland County, the average is 23, and in Mt. Carmel Township the average is 20.

Now there may be excellent reasons due to geography and other circumstances why these districts run at a deficit. Before voting any more money to distressed school districts, I would like to be sure that the district is doing its best to help itself. Last year we aided 368 school districts which is about 14 per cent of the districts of the state. When a school district meets with such a catastrophe as has affected certain of the districts in the coal regions where the heavy taxpayers are in bankruptcy, I would be willing to have the state establish a revolving fund to lend money for the current payment of teachers provided the state is reimbursed when the delinquent taxes are collected. This seems to be better than a handout.

But it also seems to me to be highly important that we should authorize the State Department to make a searching investigation of the incidental costs of the public schools, and see to it that these costs are kept to a reasonable minimum during this period of economic stress.

3. I ask my colleagues to consider also the necessity of such a revision of the Tenure Act as will not weaken the principle of tenure for the teachers, but will insure the proper development of the school system. In 1921 we estimated that there would be 10 per cent new teachers each year, and that meant that a continuous vocation was afforded for a large group of young people who were training in our schools for this work. The system needs these young people with their enterprise, their thoroughness, their modern science, and their new point of view. It would be a mistake to have all of the teachers new. Youth and experience should teach side by side in the same building in order that each may learn from the other.

I am told that there are certain school districts in which it has been years since a new teacher was elected because no one resigns, and there is a decrease in the number of teachers needed for elementary school purposes.

I ask your attention to the recent decision of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania affecting the school district of the Township of Mount Pleasant which was an appeal from Wayne County. The appellant had been dismissed as a teacher and her dismissal ws affirmed by the County Court. The opinion of the Superior Court reversing the lower court states briefly as follows:

> "Appellee presented evidence at the hearing before the court below to support the charges of appellant's incompetency, intemperance, and wilful and persistent negligence. The court below has summarized the evidence as follows '(1) While Miss X used and was known by the name of X she was in fact married to one Y and lived with him as his wife; (2) That the said Y was the proprietor of a lunch room and beer garden in which X acted as waitress and, on occasion, as bartender, such services being performed after school hours and during summer vacation; (3) That in this beer garden and in the presence of several of her pupils whom she was tutoring, she (a) took an occasional drink of beer; (b) served beer to customers; (c) shook dice with customers for drinks; (d) played, and show customers how to play a pin-ball machine on the premises. And further, that she was rated by A. H. Howell, County Superintendent of Schools, under the rating card provided by the Department of Education, as 43% competent, a rating of 50% being the "passing" or average rating.

" 'Is such a course of conduct immoral or intemperate, and does it—in connection with her scholastic and efficiency rating—amount to incompetency?' "

"A careful examination of the evidence requires us to differ with the conclusion of the court below. The valid causes for which a teacher may be dismissed are set forth in the Act of April 6, 1937, P. L. 213, which is 'intended to provide the greatest measure of protection possible against dismissal of employes': Teachers' Tenure Act Cases, supra, 329, Pa. 213 at page 234, 197 A. 344, at page 357. The continuation of appellant as a teacher may not be for the best interests of the children of her school or of the school system in that township, but the heretofore discretionary power of school boards to oust employees without cause has been taken away. See Teachers' Tenure Act Cases, supra, page 222. In Millar's Appeal, 30 D. & C. 1, at page 5, Judge Sheely aptly said: 'The wisdom of the act is solely a question for the legislature, and if the board fails to sustain the charges brought against the teacher by evidence which is legally competent and relevant it is the duty of the court to reverse the action of the board even though the result may be that the board is forced to retain a teacher whom they do not desire and who has lost the confidence not only of the board but of the community and the pupils.'

"Even the occasional taking of a drink of beer is not proof of intemperance. A teacher with such associations and inclinations may not be one in whose hands should be placed 'the molding of the character, intellect and the future of young children,' but those acts do not establish intemperance. It may be true, as counsel for appellee argues, that appellant now commands neither the respect nor the good will of the community, but these are not matters which the statute now recognizes as causes for dismissal." Mr. President I turn from the opinion to my own communication.

I do not like this opinion of the Superior Court, but I recognize it as a correct statement of the law. I do not want that woman to teach my son, nor do I believe that the citizens of Wayne County wish to have her teach their children. Under these circumstances, we are face to face with a situation in which we might idly denounce the Court, but the Judge who rendered this opinion, Hon. Chester Rhodes, is a man whom I have known for twenty years and in whose honesty, sobriety and legal learning I have the utmost confidence. It seems to me that this decision is a notice to us to change the law.

With certain reasonable changes in the Tenure Law and with the willingness on the part of the state to assume a large share of the cost of the public schools, we may still maintain the many excellent features of the system of public education which has made a record in Pennsylvania history of greater usefulness and higher service than any other branch of our government.

Mr. President, I express to you and my colleagues, my thanks for their attention in listening to this paper. I have submitted it in this way because it seemed to me worth while to attempt to gather togeher the several threads and weave them into a pattern. I believe that, along this line, there is a chance of our eventually making such an arrangement for the public school system as may prevent it from being an annual crisis in legislative circles.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I have enjoyed the remarks of the gentleman from Montgomery very much, and I would like to ask him a question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, in the study of the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, on this very important problem, did he come to the conclusion that our forefathers created our public school system for the sole purpose of making better citizens?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I certainly did. Now, may I answer that at some little length?

You will remember how Benjamin Franklin, who sat in that Constitutional Convention of 1776, once made the remark that Pennsylvania was peculiar in that it had more varieties, of citizenry than most states. He said it was composed on one-third English Quakers, one-third Pennsylvania Germans, and one-third representatives of all the other races on the face of the earth.

Now, he argued from that that it was essential that there should be a unifying element in our civic life, that a uniform element ought to be placed in the schools; and that it was that kind of thing which would give us common ideals, common understanding, give us an interest in common problems and enable us to pull together.

My own private opinion is that the intention was not to educate children so that they might seek a fortune for themselves, nor to provide for them vocations as instructors, however important that might be, but to make an essential contribution to American civilization.

Mr. REED. If we had adhered strictly to this principle would our public school system be in the dire plight it is in today?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I think that it is entirely conceivable that we have gone ahead on some specialties much more rapidly than was essential for the State. I am not quite clear about that. I am worried about that five hundred and some dollars per teacher that seems to be spent for other things. I do not quite know what those things are. I do think this, however, that the movement toward a high school education, is part and parcel of the warp and woof of American life at the present time.

I remember a number of years ago, when I was over in France during the War, I ran into, I think it was the Thirty-Fifth division which was the Kansas and Nebraska National Guard; and I remember how the remark was made that that Division had eighty-seven percent of those 28,000 young men graduates from a four year high school course, and it was the only division that had as high an average as that. When I came back I made up my mind that was what was going to happen in Pennsylvania, and it is perfectly true that with the higher development of the essentials you must have a higher development of scientific instruction, more subjects brought into the course of study.

I think that a four year high school course is essential; but as a matter of fact, I am quite clear in my own mind that you can not pay for it by local realty taxation. If you do you will simply cause migration from one community to another, and that is our trouble at the present time. We have developed the spending side before we have developed the income side, and that has gotten us into a jam.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to say to the members of the Senate that I am amazed I have sat in the seat of the gentleman from Tioga and have learned a tremendous amount of things I did not know before; and I am surprised it does not have the same effect on the Senator from Tioga.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland state his question of personal privilege?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, due to the stories being floated around that this Session of the Legislature is about to adjourn sine die, I believe it is important to take up a few matters that are of great interest to me and my community.

I introduced on April 10th, Senate Bill 476, which has been in the Committee on Highways since that date. I have spoken to the Chairman of the Committee and he tells me that the understanding is that no roads will be taken in by the State at this session of the Legislature, and, therefore, road legislation will not be considered.

I tried to point out to the Chairman of the Committee, and various members of the Committee, that this bill is a little different than the ordinary road bill. I would like to explain this bill to the Senate and then, after they have heard my explanation, if the Committee decides to put the bill on the floor, I will not introduce a resolution asking for the discharge of the Committee, for any further consideration by this Committee of that legislation.

I live in the City of Jeanette, Westmoreland County, with a population of approximately 16,000 free souls. Prior to 1936 that City was a borough form of government and during its fifty years of existence, by various Acts of the Legislature, certain streets were designated as State Highway Routes.

When the city or borough voted to become a third-class city form of government, all these highway routes reverted back to the city for maintenance, care, and construction.

This is the first session of the Legislature since that time, except the Special Session; and, inasmuch as it was not in the call, it was impossible to introduce this legislation at that time.

We are in the unique position, in this State, Mr. President, of being the only community, the only municipality, in the State of Pennsylvania that does not receive a proportionate share of the highway fund for street and highway route maintenance and care.

This Act of the Legislature does nothing more than change the word "borough" to the word "city," and so gives back to the State those highway routes which rightfully belong to the State.

I would like to have the Committee consider th[illegible] position from the angle of fairness and not from a political angle. The town is Democratic, of course, and whether we pass my bill or not, I hope to be able to persuade them to stay that way. So it does not matter in view of the political end of the thing, but it does matter to the taxpayers of that town who are placed in the unfair position of paying for road maintenance belonging to the State of Pennsylvania. In fact National Highway No. 30, the Lincoln Highway, passes through a section of the town.

Mr. President, I would not want to see my people in Jeannette barricade the Lincoln highway. I do not think they will do it unless the Committee refuses to act on this bill, because it is the duty of the State to take care of the Highway Route numbers that rightfully belong to it. The taxpayers of my town are in no position to pay this extra portion of the maintenance costs and I am going to ask and plead with the Chairman of that Committee to again take up the matter of Senate Bill No. 476, and give me, if possible, a favorable reaction to it.

Now, Mr. President, and members of the Senate, there is another matters that is of a serious nature. I introduced, early in March, Senate Bill No. 207 and it has been juggled from one committee to another until finally it rested in a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Labor and Industry.

I find in committee meeting that it is not so much the desire of the Senators that count as it is the desire of the deparment heads. I remember the accusation plainly, during my four years in the Earle Administration, made by the then minority party, that legislation was not treated from a legislative viewpoint but acted upon solely upon the recommendation of the various department heads and influences outside of the Legislative Chamber.

This particular Act gives to the employers of Pennsylvania the right to appeal to the courts in the case of unfair compensation rates. I have here a letter addressed to the Honorable Franklin S. Edmonds, from the Insurance Commissioner of the State, and he says this in his letter:

"In promulgating rates, the Bureau and this Department use a five year experience for commercial risks and three for coal, as illustrate, in making the rates that will be affective for the year 1940, the experiences of policy years 1937, 1936, 1935, 1934 and 1933 for commercial, and calendar years 1938, 1937, and 1936 for coal rates, assuming that there are two hundred classifications in commercial and quite some additional in coal; and assuming there are two hundred clauses and provisions in the rules and regulations and assuming that there are about ninety companies writing compensation insurance in Pennsylvania, you could understand what might be the maximum complications that would be called to the Insurance Commissioner's attention before a rate could be promulgated, and you can likewise see that before they would be reviewed, the cost of investigating the rates plus the cost of counsel fees, etc. in reviewing them to the satisfaction of the insurance carrier, the insured or the employee who is covered by the contract, would make the cost far in excess of the premium itself now paid for the protection intended by the Compensation Act."

Now, Mr. President, when this Bill was before the Committee they said it was not necessary to pass this Bill because the Insurance Commissioner had the right to review the rates established. In his own letter he states that it is impossible for him to review the rates established, and so we go back to the ruling of the Commissioner which says "Appeals. Any operator who believes that an injustice is done to his operation by these Standards or who is aggrieved by the Schedule Rating of his mine, is entitled to a hearing by the Committee on Coal Mine Schedule Rating." Let us see who are on the Committee of the Coal Mine Section of the Pennsylvania Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau. It says the Berwind Exchange, Coal Operators Casualty Company, the Eureka Casualty Company, the Pennsylvania Threshermans and Farmers Mutual Casualty Insurance Company, State Workmen's Insurance Fund, and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association Casualty Insurance Company (Coal Mine Classification in connection with Manufacturing or Contracting risks and Surface Coal Mining.).

Now, the only right of appeal that the employer has today is to a group of Insurance Underwriters. He can only appeal to the men who make up the rate and who sell the policy—he has no other appeal. All I ask in this legislation is that he be given the right to appeal, if necessary, to the courts.

You say to me, "What justication have you for putting this burden on the court?" I say it is no burden on the court; that every person in Pennsylvania, who thinks he is aggrieved, should have the right to appeal to the court. Every employee in Pennsylvania covered by compensation insurance has the right of appeal to the court. So, why should not his employer have the same right of appeal to the court when he feels and knows his rates are too high?

Further, in this letter we find: "This legislation seems to be prompted by the premium collected and the losses incurred in the coal mining industry and I know you have glaring examples of wide discrepancy between what a company has paid for compensation and what the insurance carrier has paid back to the employee in the form of benefits, but that compensation, like other insurance, is predicated upon experience and the law of averages and to ascertain what is a correct rate these two factors must be taken into consideration even though it seems ridiculous in some cases—."

However, it goes on to say that the Rating Bureau forces every company insured to send to them, on a form supplied by the Rating Bureau, its experience rating.

Now, Mr. President, I have here in my possession an entire schedule of rates and the companies who carry insurance in Pennsylvania and the profits that they have made from carrying insurance, and the losses that they have paid out in the way of injury losses to the individuals who sustained injury.

I am just going to open this book at random and take the first case that comes to me. Here you find File No. 486, report of loss of $9,497 the earned premium as $12,781; reported loss of $19,562, premium earned, $20,867. You can go on through this entire list of companies and less than 2% of the total companies carrying insurances here have received more than what they have paid in. There are glaring examples in this particular file, which does not happen to be my own, but which I managed to get for this purpose, where a company has paid as much as 55,000 and its employees have received less than $5,000 in return, over an average of three years, and I say to you such a condition is the basic ailment affecting our compensation in Pennsylvania.

We hear a great deal of talk about the compensation bill passed in 1937. I know that there are some features of that bill which should be stricken out, or amended; but do believe that you cannot treat that matter fairly until you have taken up the matter of rates, the establishment of rates, and the right of appeal of an employer when those rates are excessive.

I do not believe that this Senate committee is being fair to the employers of Pennsylvania and, incidentally, I find myself in rather a strange hole, because all my life I have promoted and worked for the interest of the ordinary working man and I find myself pleading here for the employer instead of the employee. But, I find when the employer is treated unfair that it is just as easy to plead for his cause and case as it is for the employee when he is being treated unfairly.

Take into consideration that 59¾% of all the insurance premiums paid in Pennsylvania by employers are returned to injured employees and 40¼% of premiums go into the pockets of the companies writing the insurance; and, of course, in that is their overhead, etc. Now, any business that requires practically 50% to carry on its method of doing business needs some sort of restraint and some sort of investigation from the point of view of those interested in the employers of Pennsylvania who are saddled with this exorbitant burden.

I want to ask that that Committee on Labor and Industry meet this week and that it give consideration again to Senate Bill 207. I do not know how many votes can be gathered here to discharge a committee, but in fairness to the employers of Pennsylvania, whom I believe are being exploited to the advantage of the insurance carriers in Pennsylvania, I must of necessity make that motion to discharge the committee, much as I dislike to do so because of my personal admiration for its Chairman.

However, the question is one that has many ramications. I do not care to go into the interest of the members of the committee; but if necessary, in my fight to try to get this legislation before this Senate for consideration, I will do that.

I believe that we have a problem on compensation that must be solved before we go home at the end of this Session. Thousands of employees are without the benefit of compensation coverage; but, unless we take the time to analyze this one particular phase of compensation, we cannot intelligently sit here and vote on a compensation bill in this Session.

So, Mr. President, I appeal to the members of the committee to reconsider their action on Senate Bill 207, and without a threat, but merely a promise to all of you, say that next Monday night I will move to discharge that committee and the Committee on Highways unless these measures are at least given further consideration by the committee.

I do not believe that we will leave this Session without acting upon the matter of compensation; and I predict that, if we try to leave without acting upon that particular matter this Session of the Legislature, we may have some long-winded talks.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Luzerne. Mr. Mundy, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I do not think that such a magnificent treatise on education, such as was presented by the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, should be passed over lightly. I know to me it was very educational. I learned a great deal about the early history of education and its development; and I enjoyed the frank presentation the Senator made of the problem which confronts us now in dealing with the problem of education.

However, I do disagree with the Senator from Montgomery in presenting one brief argument before this Senate.

The Senator stated a particular case from the Borough of Mount Pleasant, with which I think I am very familiar, having followed up these cases which were presented to the court. There were some two hundred odd cases which were presented for appeal on the part of the teachers to boards and to courts of record; and in those two hundred odd cases there were only three in which the moral issue was a part of the appeal to the court of records.

In this case of Mount Pleasant Township, the Senator from Montgomery said he, as an attorney, expressed his confidence in the judge and his admiration for this judge personally. I say—not knowing very much about law—that this may have been decided on a truly legal basis; but my interpretation of the Tenure Law, as it exists in present writing, would had me to believe that if the facts, as presented, were verified and were found to be true that this teacher should have been dismissed as part of the educational system of Pennsylvania.

The main point which impressed me very seriously was the differential in the salaries of first and second-class cities to those of the lower grade, in township in rural districts.

The Senator will agree with me that in the rural districts the teacher does not receive a sufficient return for her services to keep her in proper circumstances, or, at least, circumstances fitting a teacher in those communities; and that ratio, or average, paid to the teachers is less than $1,500 in the State of Pennsylvania. We also fall short seventeen per cent of the contribution made by states that would compare favorably with our standard of education as maintained here in our own state.

Now, as far as this particular case cited is concerned, in my opinion it is not an indictment of an individual—this particular teacher in this Township—but a serious indictment of the whole system of education as we have set it up in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, if a young man or young woman goes through our ordinary grammar grades, takes a high school education, then goes to a State Teachers' College, passes in review before all this array of educators, then is given an opportunity in modern schools to teach, and then comes out and a Board says that this girl is not qualified to teach in the schools of Pennsylvania, then I say that we are not doing our duty as members of the Senate when we vote for these tremendous sums to uphold our systems of education in Pennsylvania. The primary fault lies, as I say, not with this individual, but with the method of administration of education at large in Pennsylvania.

If the educators and the teachers all along the line that handled this particular woman in question, had fully done their duty she would never have received a diploma from an outstanding school of education.

In checking up on her record, I might say the only thing that you might credit to the school teacher, which both the Board and Court failed to do—at least they should have given her an increased rating on her versatility.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

NOMINATIONS RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 2, 1939.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following persons for appointment as members of the Board of Trustees of West Chester State Teachers College, for terms of four years and until their successors are qualified:

CHESTER COUNTY

Fred S. Wood, West Chester.

DELAWARE COUNTY

Mrs. Frances Price Donahoo, 2428 Edmont Avenue, Chester.

ARTHUR H. JAMES.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to make a statement in regard to a request of the Governor. Last evening the names of Fred S. Woods and Mrs. Francis Price Donahoo were sent in for confirmation. There was a misspelling in the first name and the address of the second nominee was wrongly given. The purpose of the Governor, as I understand, is to ask us to permit these names to be recalled so that the nomination in proper form may be submitted.

MOTION TO GO INTO EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. EALY that Rule 38 which requires nominations made by the Governor be referred to an appropriate committee be dispensed with, and the Senate don ow resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of reconsidering the confirmation of these nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, how can nominations be recalled by the Governor when they are not with the Senate and are now in the hands of the Governor? We approved these nominations last night and the Governor was notified accordingly. He cannot recall those nominations, when we do not have them.

Mr. PRESIDENT. I think the point of order of the Senator from Philadelphia is well taken. If I remember correctly, when these confirmations were made the Chair stated that the Governor would be so notified and the Chair understands he has been so notified.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, my motion was to reconsider the confirmations.

The PRESIDENT. I think the point of order of the Senator from Philadelphia is well taken. There is nothing in the possession of the Senate at the present time in the way of nominations.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understand the mistake is in the spelling of a name, and I am quite sure that need not concern us. We can get a communication from the Governor with respect to the name which will solve the whole problem. That is all we need do in this matter.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I understand that.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the Governor nominated certain definite persons and we acted on those nominations. are not now in the possession of the Senate, the objection of the Senator from Philadelphia is well taken.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SHAPIRO, by request, read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 826, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "An act concerning elections, including general, municipal, special and primary elections, the nomination of candidates, primary and election expenses and election contests; creating and defining membership of county boards of elections; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth, county boards of elections, county commissioners; imposing penalties for violation of the act, and codifying, revising and consolidating the laws relating thereto; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to elections," by providing for special elections for the submission of public questions only; providing for the appointment of watcher at such elections; conferring certain rights upon chairmen or other presiding officers of political parties and of certain organized bodies of citizens, and imposing further duties upon county boards of elections and courts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Elections.

He also, read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 827, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding section eight.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER SENATE BILL 214

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at this time I move that this Senate reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill 214, Printer's No. 69, was defeated. By way of explanation I want to state before we vote, that this is a bill introduced by Senator Geltz limiting of the size of signs on gasoline stations. Since that bill was defeated, I had occasion to go back home and talk to some of my retail dispensers and I find that they are very must interested in the bill and believe it will give them a breathing spell in the gasoline war.

I request that the members of the Senate go along on this motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I voted "no."

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I voted "no."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, may I inquire from the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, the sponsor of this bill, what he had to say on this motion? I understand the Senator from Allegheny was the sponsor of this bill, and he has heard the motion of the Senator from Westmoreland. I desire to know his standing on the motion.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I am in favor of the motion. I think it is perfectly proper that this vote be reconsidered; and, in that connection, Mr. President, I would like to say at the time this bill was considered last week improper motives were imputed to my sponsorship of this bill. It was claimed by our colleagues on the other side, I believe, that I was in league with some of the big individuals in the State, representing them, and not interested in the small businessmen and taxpayer, whom I claimed were the ones this bill would benefit.

It appears that, after the defeat of this bill, some activity was created by those small gasoline station owners and dealers; that they became very much outraged by the lack of consideration apparently given to this bill by the Senate and they got busy. Although I introduced the bill for their benefit, they apparently forgot all about me; but I understand they did not forget about some of the other Senators here and sent some night letters requesting reconsideration. So that the record of the Senate will show my standing on this bill, and the purpose for which I introduced it, I ask leave at this time to read into the record a night letter sent to various members of this Senate by the Associated Gasoline Retail Dealers Association:

"It is very urgent Bill 214 be reconsidered by your body. The defeat of this bill means continuance of the chaotic conditions in the retail gasoline business and the continuance of unemploment and starvation wages in this industry, numbering in this State more than seventy-five thousand employees. We cannot understand why the Democratic Senators were solid against this bill as their party advocated policies for the small man, and the very heart of Bill 214 would pump life-blood into the thousands of small retail gasoline dealers and their employees. The retail dealer has been in chaos for the past three years with an overwhelming business death rate annually. There is some misunderstanding. The sponsors and backers of Bill 214 are small retailers and in no way would it help or hurt the major oil companies. These oil companies are paid for their products upon delivery and have no interest in the price the retailer sells for. A committee of gasoline dealers will be in the Penn-Harris Hotel Monday afternoon, May 1, and would appreciate contact with you between four and six p. m."

Mr. President, I might say that this committee appeared yesterday and I believe they are present here now. Until last night I did not know personally any member of that committee but I believe they have something here that ought to receive fair consideration by every Senator. I think they are in a very serious condition, due to the price wars which are going on in this State. These men who are vitally interested in this bill are, after all, taxpayers in this State and some of the persons who give the State the money from which it operates. Further than that, Mr. President, I have no interest.

I do not know whether this bill will bring about satisfaction of the condition for which they are hoping; but they are convinced it will, and I think, in all fairness and justice to them, that we should give it our most earnest consideration.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, first of all, I want to say I did not inpute any improper motives except in my accusation of the Republican party. I said this was the first promise the Republican party is keeping in passing this bill, because this takes care of Mr. Pew and several others of the oil industry.

I have not changed my attitude. I still say that this bill, in the first place, is silly legislation. I have hearty sympathy with those people who are operating gasoline stations and cannot make a living out of them. It is not because somebody else cuts prices that they do not make a living, but it is because the people from whom they buy gasoline control the prices so that they cannot make a living. I do not see how these people can be protected in the cutting of prices by a law which, any lawyer in the room will agree does not require much experience to know, is absolutely contrary to any principle of fundamental law; namely, that I shall not put a sign on a station, for which I pay rent, which is not more than eight by ten inches in size. It is ridiculous, silly, nonsensical and the law will never stand the test.

By what right does the Legislature say to me, when I run a grocery store, that I can put a sign in my window, a fifty foot sign, but if I run a gasoline station I must confine it to my pump and make it an eight by ten inch sign?

Where is this thing going to end? Are we going to apply a poultice plaster for every ill? We cannot correct every ill, we cannot instill honesty by passing laws and we cannot stop competition by passing a law. I do not know that we want to stop it. On our calendar today is another bill. These people are telling us how important it is that they should be saved from the cutting of prices. In the other bill we are telling the people they must not sell for less than six per cent over their costs. Where is it going to end? Are we going to discuss this law and, because somebody sends a telegram, reverse our position? I got one of those telegrams, and I am not going to change my position. I have all the sympathy in the world for those people but I suggest that the disease will not be corrected by the remedies they are trying to apply.

I suggest that they go to the big gasoline companies and tell them to make a differential between the selling price of gas to them and the selling price to the public. This bill cannot help all the agents who rent from these companies, who make leases and are charged a certain amount per gallon rent. I know what the situation is, and I have made inquiries about it. There are two independent groups—the one buys from one group of companies and another buys from another group of companies.

One group wants to cut prices and the other group does not, so the group that does not want to cut prices thinks they are solving the problem by putting up an eight by ten inch sign, and they are the retail dealers and all of them want this bill; and the other group who want to cut prices are not asking for the bill.

There is no secret about that. You can go to Philadelphia and get ten people to say that they are crazy for a bill and you can get ten other people to say, "no, it will not help us." That is not our job, in my opinion. If there is any police regulation needed, we can do that; if there is any safety regulation needed, we have a right to do that; but under what law does this gentleman, who advocates this bill, say that we have a right to say to those people that they can not put up a sign ten by twenty on their station?

Last year we passed a law saying a sign must be large enough, conspicuous enough, so that everybody can see it, and it must contain the Federal Tax, the State Tax and the price. Now we have a law that it must be small enough so that nobody can see it and it must still contain the Federal Tax, State Tax, and the price.

There is nobody in this room, who is a lawyer, who can honestly point out upon what authority we can pass such a law.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I have always had a very strong sympathy for the little businessman, including the little gasoline station man, and I know what great havoc these price wars in gasoline cause among the small gasoline dealers. I know what a serious thing, what a destructive thing, gasoline wars are to the little gasoline man; but I did not know that the evils of price wars could be cured so easily as simply requiring by law a little sign not larger than eight inches by ten inches. And it occurs to me that if small signs are a cure for this evil, then perhaps there should be still a smaller sign than one eight inches by ten inches. If a sign eight inches by ten inches will stop gas wars, why not stop them more effectively by putting up a sign two inches by four inches?

At this point I should like to interrogate the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, the Senator from Westmoreland has told us that he has heard from small gasoline dealers in his district since this bill was defeated and that they have told him that they believe this bill will help to stop gas wars. Now I want to ask him what reason they gave, if any, for the hope that it will do so?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, they advanced various reasons and amongst them was this one that appealed to me. They say that a person who operates what might be termed a general gasoline company works on a different buying cost or buying basis than what they do and can demoralize the market for an area, say of twenty miles on the highway by putting up signs calling attention to the fact that gasoline is selling for 14.2 cents or 13.9 cents or some price within that range and all other gas companies along that road must either meet it, or cut their price and put up still bigger signs.

Now they claim, and I think they are right, that it is not so much the cost of gasoline, or the price of it, as the manner in which they induce the public does not tell the whole story, they have signs eight feet by twelve feet high, with nothing on them except the figures, 13.9 cents, or 14.5 cents, and that is all they do say. They believe that this will establish a better principle in business, a more fair and equitable manner of setting up the price, and if that is what they believe I am inclined to go along with that thought.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I have still another question. Did these small dealers express the thought that a sign 8 x 10 is small enough for the purpose for which they will use it?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in most stations, as I understand it from them, that is the size of the sign that has been in use.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, did any of them think a sign still smaller would be advisable?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, no, they did not.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, then they do not believe a sign two inches by four inches might correct the situation still more effectively?

Mr. DENT. Not necessarily, Mr. President, I might say that I do not agree entirely with those gentlemen in stating that this will cure gas wars, but I believe, from the amount of money they have invested and from the importance of the industry, from the number that that industry employs in Pennsylvania, that they should be entitled to it if they desire this type of legislation and believe it will help them and I am ready to go ahead and give them this type of legislation, although we may not see eye to eye with them in the matter of gas wars and what causes them and what will cure them but I do believe in fairness we should pass this legislation for them.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I voted against this bill when it was before us on the last occasion and I am now going to eat a little crow and vote for it, and the reason I am changing my vote is because the people back home in whom I have confidence, small business men, tell me this is a good bill. In addition to that, Mr. President, last week on my way home I went over the William Penn highway and stopped at seven small gasoline stations that had those flamboyant signs and asked the attendant why it was and they told me we could get rid of them by putting up a small sign.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am sorry that the Journal for last Wednesday is not here. I do not know whether I can change any votes or not, but I wish to make a few remarks on the subject.

Last Wednesday when this bill was before this dignified and august body, I talked about Sidney Green, the Virginia Democrat who runs a little gasoline station in my district and of whom I spoke last week? When I went home over the weekend I was called by the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association and asked why I was against the bill. I have not changed my mind, I still think it is a good bill and I am awfully glad a few of the seeds I tried to sow last Wednesday are falling on fallow ground.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I do not know what kind of seeds fell on what kind of ground, but will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, tell me in what way this bill will stop price wars?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have my doubts as to whether this bill will serve the purpose they think it will, but these men know their own business better than I do, and if they are for the bill, having a greater knowledge of the subject matter than I do, I am inclined to go along with it and give it a trial.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny think that this bill can be enforced, as a legal proposition, even if it is passed?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if it is passed it will have the effect of giving a breathing spell to this business. Whether that lasts for a period of one, two or three months, it will be a breathing spell.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Well, Mr. President, he has that breathing spell unconstitutionally.

Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny think it is fair, instead of treating this matter on this basis of two or three people contacting four or five Senators—if it is to be considered there should be a public hearing to bring out the general attitude, instead of these private conversations that we hear about.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I do not know about that.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I do not know that I accept the proposition of two or three people—I think now I am speaking the sentiments of the industry—by the industry I mean the small operators of these stations.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Does the gentleman think there ought to be a public hearing on this bill?

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I have no objection to that. I thought perhaps that would be a good thing.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I voted against this bill and I was induced to do so largely because in my opinion it was unconstitutional. I agree with the Senator from Philadelphia that the Act is probably unconstitutional. How this Legislature can say that I, as a private owner, shall not and cannot exhibit a sign on my private property, which sign is not in itself a nuisance, I cannot comprehend.

Therefore, if the bill is unconstitutional, why should I, as a member of this Senate, vote for a bill I feel in my heart is unconistitutional and then have it so decared by the Governor when it comes up to him? Why should we pass legislation that we know is unconstitutional?

There is another thing which influenced my vote and that is the provision in Section 2 of this act, which requires that the Act shall be enforced at the expense not of the dealer who is asking for this legislation but at the expense of the Department of Revenue. I am informed there are at least ten thousand dealers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that will be affected by this bill, and, multiplying that by the number of inspections required to be made by the Department of Revenue, your cost will run over two or three hundred thousand dollars. Therefore I am still against this bill.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I realize that this bill may be unconstitutional but we have in Pennsylvania a large number of retail dealers that are starving. Before here in this committee today, from Allegenhy County, was a gentleman who lost a hundred thousand dollars in the last three years; another man is losing nine dollars a day in three different stations, and others are in a like situation.

Here is what happens to that little retail dealer: He builds up a little business with his friends, by his courtesy, by his treatment of his customers, and they get in the habit of coming there—he has a business built up; then, lo and behold, some unscrupulous dealer puts up a station next to him and cuts the price and puts up one of those placards, a piece of cardboard along the street, and he cuts the price down a cent and the fellow next to him feels he must do the same thing and he puts another card up and he cuts it down another cent; another fellow puts up a card announcing a cut of nine-tenths of a cent, and so on the highway between here and Pittsburgh we have every station plastered with these signs four to five feet square, with gasoline at 16.1 cents, 15.3 cents and so on, so that, they have got it down, in this price war—they have got the price down so that some are selling for cost and very few are selling for a penny more than cost. In other words, practically every dealer, every little dealer in Pennsylvania, is losing money.

Now, I feel this—and these dealers who are in that business feel it too—that if these signs are prohibited a person who drives along the highway or the street and does not see these placards plastered all over the curb, he does not know what the price of gasoline is and he will go to his old dealer and in that way that dealer can keep the trade he has built up over the years.

It may be, as the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, and the Senator from Bucks, Mr. James, say, that this bill is unconstitutional; but I know that the courts these days are going to great lengths to protect business and to protect the little fellow and to see that he keeps his business after he builds it up.

We have a Fair Trade Practice Act; we have a Regulating Act, we have Utilities Commissions and so forth. I introduced a bill here just now to organize or have established in this State a commission that will take into consideration this entire subject, and have the oil industry itself submit what they call fair rules of practice in business and have these rules and practices enforced by a commission similar to the Federal Fair Trade Practice Act, and I believe that if we do nothing else by passing this bill then call to the attention of the people of Pennsylvania that there is something wrong here, it will agitate this question and a lot of people will get to discussing it. If these signs are stopped—even if the court will come along and declare that bill unconstitutional—we will have called to the attention of every dealer in Pennsylvania that there is something radically wrong with the gasoline business in Pennsylvania.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, if I understand the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, correctly, he said that the courts are going to great lengths to protect the little business man. If that be the case it is certainly not in Pennsylvania. Two years ago the Legislators in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania passed the chain store act, having in mind the salvation of the little store-keeper, the little independent, but the court of the Commonwealth here in Harrisburg, comes along and knocks out that law, saying it is capricious, and also applying a lot of deteriorating and depreciating adjectives to describe it. So that I would like to ask my friend from Allegheny, if he has found any courts in Pennsylvania that are working overtime to protect the little business man, to please tell us where they are—it is not the court of the Commonwealth here in Harrisburg that will probably pass on this Act.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, Justice Hughes, to my mind, has had a transformation. During my memory I have seen Justice Hughes write opinions today that ten years ago would shock him. Justice Kephart, of our own Supreme Court, is writing opinions today that ten years ago would have shocked him. I want to say that while they are both Republicans, I say to you that our Supreme Court of the United States has been very fair to New Deal legislation; and I say to the members of this Senate that I feel the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania have been very fair and very liberal in the interpretation of New Deal legislation of this State under our Administration.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, we have twenty pages of the Calendar to conclude, and some of the men want to go to a dinner this evening. This debate is on a motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill was defeated.

I therefore would like humbly to request, without moving the previous question, that we terminate as soon as possible the debate on this question so that we can proceed with the consideration of the calendar. I think we all understand this problem.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I do not want to yield the floor yet to that suggestion, because I am very firmly convinced that if a few more words are said about this question the truth will be known. On this question of constitutionality I think that we probably are in confusion, for I remember distinctly that in all the liquor bills we have provisions, and we have already told the citizens of this Commonwealth, where liquor is sold in restaurants you cannot keep signs of a certain dimension—we have regulated this. And then, not long ago, we read in the paper where even the Governor of this Commonwealth gave orders that the signs were to be taken out of certain liquor stores. Apparently the Governor does not think that that is unconstitutional.

Now, the truth of the matter is this: that the voice that speaks out of this bill is indeed the voice of the big oil men, the big companies. Now I have discussed this matter, the matter of this bill, with some of my very sincere colleagues in this Senate, and we are fully in sympathy with these hundreds of gasoline retailers along our highways. They are in very serious circumstances. But, Mr. President, if they are in those circumstances it is because they have put themselves in that position—they are either indebted to a large extent or operate their places of business under agreements with these big oil concerns or they lease from these big men; and here they themselvss, the little fellows, find themselves, in plain language, "hog-tied" by the hog oil men, the big men of oil; and here they are faced, no doubt, with a very serious question. But I say this: Who is the little man in this question? It is not the man who retails the gasoline but the little man is the man who stops along that highway, the consumer, the public; and I say this: there must be a place where we must stop, but if there is competition and wars between these great big men of oil and if that war inures to the benefit of the consuming public, then the proper people are getting a fair show, the public is getting probably a square deal there.

Now, the truth of the matter is, we are not retracting from our position that we took last week; we still think that the voice in this bill is the bill of Mr. Pew and the big oil men, and that these unfortunate retail dealers of gasoline find themselves "hog-tied" and they are the pawns, they are the fellows who are going to receive the blows, they are the ones who are going to suffer the loss; but if this bill is passed, if we pass this bill, any benefit that will come to these little men will inure to the benefit of the big fellow—it must go up that way.

And so I say, Mr. President, that if we stretch this debate out long enough to know the truth, that is what these men, this committee that is here in this Senate Chamber today, say—that they are "hog-tied" by the big men; and if they buy gasoline from the big man, the wholesaler, at thirteen cents a gallon, they must sell it, in many cases, at thirteen cents a gallon.

In other words, they are merely the pawns and the slaves of those over them; and under our Constitution, under our form of government, no American need be put in that position unless he puts himself in that position. If they show a little bit of grit, a little bit of American red blood, and fight the big man over them and keep him from "hog-tying" them, then we would not need to pass these bills to help them out.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move the previous question.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga moves the previous question, and it has been seconded by the Senator from Delaware, the Senator from Lancaster, the Senator from Blair, and the Senator from Bucks—more than is necessary.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. For what purpose does the Senator from Westmoreland rise?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on a question of personal privilege.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, there is nothing before the Senate but the previous question, which has been moved.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is well taken. The question is on the motion to reconsider.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be called.

The PRESIDENT. A roll-call has been requested. The Clerk will proceed with the call.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the vote now is on the previous question?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair so understands.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Not on the reconsideration, Mr. President, but on the previous question?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands it is on the previous question.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does it carry the bill with it?

The PRESIDENT. No, it does not.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland will state his question of parliamentary inqury.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the vote upon the previous question—in my understanding of parliamentary law, a vote upon a previous question carries the motion which is the previous question.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not so rule. The Chair rules that there is nothing before the Senate except the calling of the roll on the motion to reconsider.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, is it not true that a vote "aye" is a vote to reconsider the vote by which this bill failed of passage?

The PRESIDENT. This vote is on the previous question.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, which is what?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair was about to take the vote and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, asked for a roll-call.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, that is why I raised the question.

I do not want a roll call on whether or not the debate shall be stopped, which is all we are voting on now.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if a motion is made for the previous question, what is the previous question except the motion before the Senate? There is no such thing as a previous question unless you are voting on something before this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that you are voting on whether you want to call up the question of reconsideration.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the motion was clearly made.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland is out of order.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I withdraw my request for a roll call.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Philadelphia agrees with me as to what I said about a motion on the previous question—what is the previous question? He called for the motion on the previous question. Now, what is it?

The PRESIDENT. The motion is, "Shall the previous question be put?"— and that is all we are voting on.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the motion was, "I move the previous question." I think we are wrong in the ruling. The motion was, "I move the previous question."

Did not the Senator from Tioga make that motion?

Mr. OWLETT. That is correct, Mr. President. But the Chair has ruled on the matter, and therefore I suggest, that the speaker is out of order. The Chair has ruled that we are voting on whether we shall proceed with the vote on my motion.

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I never heard of such stuff in all my life.

The PRESIDENT. Was the Senator from Westmoreland in the Senate on January 3rd?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President, I was here on January 3rd and also on January 16th and January 17th.

The Clerk proceeded with the calling of the roll.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. It will be so recorded.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. It will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—37

Bartlett,	Gelder,	Letzler,	Ruth,
Cavalcante,	Geltz,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Chapman,	Gilson,	McGinnis,	Sipe,
Crowe,	Heyburn,	Miller,	Snowden,
Dando,	Homsher,	Mundy,	Stevenson,
DiSilvestro,	James,	Owlett,	Tallman,
Edmonds,	Jaspan,	Pierson,	Thomas,
Eroe,	Kilgallen,	Reed,	Walker,
Farrell,	Kunkel,	Rice,	Wolfenden,
Frey,

NAYS—4

Dent,	Haluska,	Lanius,	Stiefel,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

The PRESIDENT. The question now recurs on the motion to reconsider Senate Bill No. 214.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill 214 was defeated on final passage.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Bartlett,	Frey,	McGinnis,	Snowden,
Cavalcante,	Gelder,	Miller,	Stevenson,
Chapman,	Geltz,	Mundy,	Tallman,
Crowe,	Gilson,	Owlett,	Thomas,
Deitrick,	Haluska,	Pierson,	Walker,
Dent,	Kilgallen,	Reed,	Wolfenden,
Edmonds,	Kunkel,	Sipe,	Woodward,
Farrell,	Letzler,

NAYS—16

Coleman,	Eroe,	Jaspan,	Ruth,
Dando,	Heyburn,	Lanius,	Scarlett,
DiSilvestro,	Homsher,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
Ealy,	James,	Rice,	Stiefel,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask for verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. A verification of the roll has been requested. The clerk will call the affirmative votes.

The clerk verified the affirmative votes as follows: Bartlett, Cavalcante, Chapman, Crowe, Deitrick, Dent, Edmonds, Farrell, Frey, Gelder, Geltz, Gilson, Haluska, Kilgallen, Kunkel, Letzler, McGinnis, Miller, Mundy, Owlett, Pierson, Reed, Sipe, Snowden, Stevenson, Tallman, Thomas, Walker, Wolfenden, and Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The clerk will read the votes in the negative.

The clerk read the votes in the negative as follows: Coleman, Dando, DiSilvestro, Eroe, Ealy, Heyburn, Homsher, James, Jaspan, Lanius, McCreesh, Rice, Ruth, Scarlett, Shapiro, Stiefel.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none.

The negative roll will stand as verified.

The vote on the motion to reconsider is, yeas 30 and nays 16, and Senate Bill No. 214 is on final passage.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, in view of the fact that so many of us do not know exactly what these gentlemen have in mind I think that this bill ought to be put on the postponed calendar in order that we can learn more about it.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 214 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, if the Senator who made the motion and also the Senator who seconded the motion will withdraw, I would like to move to recommit this bill because of the fact that grave doubt has been expressed by some individuals whose opinions are worthwhile as to the constitutionality, as well as the fact that there seems to be grave doubt in the minds of a considerable number of the Senators as to whether or not this bill will accomplish the purpose for which it is intended and I think for that reason there should be further consideration by the committee.

WITHDRAWAL OF MOTION TO PLACE ON POSTPONED CALENDAR

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I shall be glad to withdraw the motion I made to place this bill on the postponed calendar, in response to the suggestion of the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I withdraw my second of the motion.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT SENATE BILL NO. 214

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 214 be recommitted to the Committee on State Government, for further study.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 278, (House Bill No. 38) on final passage, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections Three Four Five Nine and Eleven of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-three) entitled (as amended) "An act providing for the incorporation as bodies corporate and politic of 'Authorities' for municipalities counties and townships defining the same prescribing the rights powers and duties of such Authorities authorizing such Authorities to acquire construct improve maintain and operate projects and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof conferring the right of eminent domain on such Authorities authorizing such Authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof and for other purposes" as amended by omitting the requirement that the resolution or ordinance of the intention to organize an Authority shall set forth the proposed Articles of Incorporation regulating the publication of such resolutions and ordinances by including waterworks water distribution systems low head dams and parts of sewer systems as projects by authorizing the municipalities to limit the projects to be undertaken by an Authority by authorizing a longer term for the bonds issued by an Authority avoiding competition with existing enterprises by including waterworks water supply works water distribution systems and parts of sewer systems as facilities which may be transferred to an Authority by any owner in addition to the Commonwealth and the political subdivision thereof and authorizing authorities to acquire water and water rights subject to the approval of the Water and Power Resources Board.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, by the direction of the Committee on Highways, I move that Senate Bill No. 294, (House Bill No. 443), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend the appropriation act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Appropriation Act No. 51-A) entitled "An act making an appropriation of the Motor License Fund to the Department of Highways for expenditure in the various second-class townships of the Commonwealth for the maintenance of township roads and bridges during the calendar years one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight and one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine apportioning the funds to the several counties on the basis of the maintenance costs for the years one thousand nine hundred thirty-two permitting the use of any surplus funds for construction and reconstruction and resurfacing of township roads and bridges requiring townships to exclude provision for maintenance of roads and bridges from their annual budget and tax levy for road and street purposes for said years authorizing the Department of Highways to rent road building machinery and equipment belonging to such townships in carrying out the provisions of this act and lapsing the unexpended or unencumbered balance of the appropriation remaining on January first one thousand nine hundred forty" by providing that the unexpended and unencumbered balance of such appropriation at the time this act becomes effective shall be allocated to and apportioned among the various second-class townships on the basis of the amount of road mileage in such townships authorizing the township supervisors to expend the moneys allocated to the township for the purpose prescribed under the approval and supervision of the Department of Highways and excluding the provision for expenditure by the Department of Highways of such balances the taxing and budgeting limitations on townships of the second class the right of the Department of Highways to rent road-building machinery and equipment belonging to such townships.

be recommitted to the Committee on Highways, for the purpose of further study.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I object.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 296, (House Bill No. 358), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 305, (House Bill No. 374), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of article one and section forty of article four of the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 521) entitled as amended "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death defining and taxing transfers made in contemplation of death defining as a transfer and taxing the right of survivorship in property as to which such right exists and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth or national banking association located therein to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association standing in the name of any such decedent until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid and providing penalties and citing certain acts for repeal" providing for the release of lien of inheritance tax on remainder interests in real estate in certain cases by entry of security therefor and providing for the repayment of taxes paid in excess of amount due on future estates go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 342, (House Bill No. 373), entitled:

An Act declaring valid provisions in wills and trusts instruments directing that certain dividends upon and profits realized from corporate stock be treated in whole or in part either as principal or income and repealing inconsistent legislation

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 398, (House Bill No. 567), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (P. L. 275) entitled "An act fixing the salary of sheriffs in counties of the eighth class providing for the payment for the care and maintenance of prisoners where the sheriff is the keeper or warden of the jail requiring all fees and mileage earned by sheriffs in such counties to be paid into the county treasury for the use of the county and prescribing penalties" increasing the salary of sheriffs in such counties and providing for the payment of mileage thereto by the counties

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I would like to ask some of the Senators from eighth-class counties as to whether or not this bill is a salary raiser for the sheriff.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, absolutely.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, the increase seems to have been stricken out in the bill but not in the title; does anyone know about it?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, if I recall the law the increase was eight hundred dollars or more and that was cut down to only four hundred increase.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, according to a section of the bill it was $2,000 and cut down to $1,600. Is that an increase on existing pay?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I represent an eighth-class county and I think this bill is supposed to represent an increase of $400—$1,200 to $1,600. Sheriffs in eighth class counties receive $1,200 a year at this time.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, is there justification at the present time for paying $400 more?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I believe there is.

Mr. EDMONDS. Why, Mr. President?

Mr. OWLETT. Twelve hundred dollars in many eighth-class counties is inadequate to get a proper sheriff to handle the business of the sheriff and I believe that the eighth-class county representatives have agreed on this thing, and it was origionally put in for $2,000, as the Senator says.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 412 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I would like the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Crowe, to allow this bill to go over in order. Mr. Mallery has just spoken to me about an amendment that the Senator from Montgomery wanted inserted in the bill, and if the bill goes on the postponed calendar it will be difficult—the point is this; there are a lot of people interested in this bill, and this bill has been here for some time, and if it goes on the postponed calendar we will not get it back. And I might say I will insist upon a vote tomorrow, because this bill has been hanging around on the calendar for ten days and we are either going to support it or lick it.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 412, (House Bill No. 331), on third reading, entitled:

An Act defining and prohibiting unfair sales providing remedies for violations thereof and establishing penalties therefor go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to know why this bill should go over in order. I would like to inquire from the Senator what is his purpose—that action be postponed on this matter?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, in order to explain to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel—the bill was authorized to be reported out with the understanding that it would be reported out with an amendment that it shall apply only for two years. I reported it out and it did not contain that amendment.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 414, entitled:

An Act authorizing school districts of the first class to fund floating indebtedness, incurred prior to December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine, for current expenses and debt service and to issue and sell bonds for this purpose.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is a series of three bills relating to our first class school districts, and in connection with the remarks I made yesterday I see no reason why Senate Bill 414 and Senate Bill 415, the first being a bill authorizing an increase in the indebtedness of Philadelphia, cannot go through and Senate Bill 415 being a bill fixing the tax rate, cannot go through, and I am therefore going to ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill 416 go over in order, pending a meeting of the minds on this situation.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, does Senate Bill 415 affect teachers' salaries?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, Senate Bills Nos. 414 and 415 do not affect the teachers' salaries. Senate Bill 414 gives to the city of Philadelphia the right to issue bonds for twenty-five years to take up the deficit now existing in the school districts, somewhere around $5,500,000.

Senate Bill 415 increases the tax rate by one-and-one-quarter mills in the school district and is applicable for two years only, and has nothing whatever to do with the salaries of teachers.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading,

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 416, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and thirty-two of an act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended, by empowering school boards in districts of the first class to make for any year such general reductions in salaries fixed by law as will enable the district to keep its estimated annual expenditures within the estimate of funds available to the district for that year and by, in such instances, so regulating the discretionary power vested in the Superintendent of Public Instruction, to withhold requisitions for moneys payable by the Commonwealth to School Districts which have not made provision for full payment of minimum salaries and increments, that the exercise of such power shall not interfere with the operation of this act during the limited period in which it is to be in effect and granting certain options to the members of the school employes' retirement system during said period.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 422, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand and four of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising, and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," as amended, by authorizing exchanges which maintain a surplus equal to the capital and surplus requirements of stock insurance companies engaged in the same kind of business, to write policies without contingent liability in such policy or in the power of attorney.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, in a few words, tell the Senate just what this bill does?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, this is a repealer of an Act authorizing the County of Allegheny to have its own public utilities. It came up for a vote and was decisively defeated. It was decisively defeated and still stands on the statute books, and I think it ought to be taken off.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, as I understand it, this bill originally gave the right to these localities to establish their own electric utilities.

Mr. GELTZ. That is right, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Now, Mr. President, I understand that that bill had a provision for local referendum.

Mr. GELTZ. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does that mean that it cannot be voted on again?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, it can be voted on again, but we do not want it to come up at every election in Allegheny County. It was decisively defeated by the voters.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, for the purpose of clarifying the record, I understand that this will not affect any existing utility that might be operating under this Act.

Mr. GELTZ. That is correct, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Therefore, there has been no expenditure by any governmental agency.

Mr. GELTZ. No, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, last night we talked here about the so-called Charter Bill, in which they specifically stated that if the people defeated it at the polls of Philadelphia they could bring it up every four years.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, that was taken out.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it is in the Pittsburgh bill—I know it still exists, it is still a part of the Pittsburgh bill; so why not wait until the Democrats win again and just leave it on the statute books and let the Democrats pass it.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, I think I accurately voice the sentiments of the Democratic Senators from the County of Allegheny when I state that we are opposing the bill introduced by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz. It is true that this proposition was submitted to the people of Allegheny, but the measure was confused with other matters and we do not think that the proposition was entirely discussed or thoroughly understood by the people of Allegheny.

Now, this bill is the very essence of home rule, it has in it the same elements that were in the City Manager Bill that was under discussion last night. This bill merely permits the people of Allegheny to undertake these matters if the people of Allegheny want to undertake them.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, may I interrupt the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Kilgallen, and ask him if he objects to this bill going over in its order?

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, not at all.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 424, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act, approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1539), entitled "An act providing for the creation, incorporation, organization, and government of county public utility administrations in counties of the second class; providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors; authorizing such administrations to incur bonded indebtedness for the purpose of the construction of works, the acquistion of property, and the operation of public utilities, to contract for the payment therefor, or to have the price fixed by the Public Utility Commission; conferring the power of eminent domain; providing for the powers, duties, functions, and immunities of such administration; imposing certain duties and functions in connection with such administrations upon certain county officers; conferring power to enter into agreements with the United States and its instrumentalities, political subdivisions, and municipalities of the Commonwealth, and others; providing for a system of civil service and collective bargaining; and providing penalties; and for other purposes."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 425, entitled:

An Act to amend sections 2601, 2602, 2603, and 2604 of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven, (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by providing for the election or appointment of auditors in merged and other union school districts, fixing the terms of office and manner of filling vacancies.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I feel there is a misunderstanding as to this bill. All this bill does is to put something in the law that the Court has been doing for more than twenty years. Under the law a school board is permitted to pay the traveling expenses of one delegate to a state convention but out of a long custom they have not been paying dues to the State Association. There is no provision in the law that permits the Board to pay dues in the directors' association, which amounts to five dollars a year in fourth-class districts. I ask my colleagues to vote for this bill.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I ask that the Senate Bill 444, House Bill 412, that went over in its order, be called up at this time so that it can be amended.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I thought that Senate Bill No. 444 was going over in order until tomorrow. I wanted to propose an amendment to that bill also. Is the bill going over even after this amendment?—because I would like to offer an amendment myself.

Mr. PRESIDENT. I should like to interrogate the Senator from Indiana.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Indiana state whether any good purpose can be served by voting on this amendment now on this particular bill and printing the bill and having it reprinted tomorrow. Would it not be just as well to let the bill go over in order and offer both amendments at the same time?—or we could offer the amendment separately and vote on them separately; but we certainly do not need to print the bill twice—and we are not saving any time.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, may be defeated.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Then, Mr. President, they can be voted down; but the bill can be taken care of tomorrow just as well.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, the point I wish to make is that there have been a number of people interested in this bill and they have been put off or deferred for a considerable time. The only thing I am asking is that the bill either be defeated or passed; and all of these actions seem to be in the nature of delays, they do not relate to the substance of the bill. This amendment was just to correct an error. The Senator from Montgomery asked that an amendment be put in, and through an oversight of the chairman of the committee, the Senator from Blair, allowed the bill to come out, without any amendment. It is only correcting what we should have done before the bill came out.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I suggest that there is no hurry about this bill, because according to the bill itself it does not go into effect until sixty days after its final passage; and this story about such an important piece of legislation going over for one day does not appeal to me.

I am very frank to say that I want to take out of that bill the provision as to its effective date and let it become effective September 1st, in order to give those people who have just as much doubt about the constitutionality of this Act as they did about the one just discussed an opportunity to contest it; and I think it ought to be allowed to go over in its order until tomorrow. This bill may be important but it is equally important to the people that are affected by it.

I therefore suggest that the amendments be withdrawn and we can offer them tomorrow or some other day.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I withdraw my amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 444, (House bill No. 632), entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 1011) entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class' approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one creating a department of city planning providing for its organization and powers regulating the platting of ground prohibiting the recording of plans and sales of lots therein before their approval under penalties making it a misdemeanor for the recorder of deeds to record an unapproved plan restricting accepting laying out opening and improving private streets prohibiting the erection of buildings on land not abutting on public streets not shown on the official master plan or an approved plat transferring to the department of city planning powers conferred by other statutes over plats or subdivisions of land the reservation of locations of mapped streets for future use and authorizing the assessment of damages for same the preparation and compilation of an official street map providing penalties for the violation of this act and repealing certain statutes" further defining the powers of the planning commission in cities of the second class.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CHAPMAN, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 457, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and five of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand eight hundred eighty-five, entitled, "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of natural gas companies," enlarging the powers of such corporations; and limiting the cases where certificates setting forth enlargement or alteration of territory of production need be recorded.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the sponsor of this bill explain just what this bill is intended to accomplish?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, will the Senator from Fayette repeat his question please?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, what is the purpose of this bill? I notice by the heading on it that it was introduced by the gentleman from Indiana by request.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. That is correct, Mr. President. What does the Senator from Fayette want to know?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I do not think it is a discourtesy or improper for us to inquire at whose request the bill was introduced?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I do not mind telling the gentleman from Fayette that this bill was requested to be introduced by the Sheriffs' Association, and I will tell you why. My estimation is that at the present time the premiums on the bonds are being paid by the county as a matter of custom. It has never been questioned until a short time ago when a case was brought by one of the western counties and it was decided that the sheriff is responsible for the premium on his bond. This would simply make by statute what has been customary in our county. As to any other county I do not know.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Well, Mr. President, does not the bill go further than that?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it is the part that goes further that I would like to have explained.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Just what part, Mr. President, does the gentleman refer to?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, apparently the gentleman from Indiana would require considerable lenght of time to explain just how far this bill goes. I thank him very much for the information he has given.

Mr. President, it is my opinion that this bill is a bad bill. If it only dealt with the premiums on the surety bonds and who was to pay them, that is, the sheriff or the coroner or the county, I would not find the bill so difficult to understand, but it goes much further than that.

This bill, in the very first section, permits the Court to grant leave for filing of an additional surety in case the first bond given by the sheriff should be found insufficient. Now, that section is all right.

Section 2 deals with the premiums, and that is not bad; but the following section, Section 3, is a very bad section. I do not see how a sheriff or coroner would stand for that section. Here is what that section does: It requires the coroner or the sheriff, in addition to his surety bond, to execute a personal bond, signed by him and at his expense, recorded in the Recorder of Deeds office. Then the Recorder of Deeds is directed by this Act to issue a certificate of that recording to the Prothonotary, who shall enter that bond as a lien against the property of the sheriff or the coroner in that particular county.

Then it goes still a step further. It requires the Recorder of Deeds to forward a certified copy of that bond, and the record of it, the place where it is recorded, to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and then it gives the Secretary of th Commonwealth the authority to issue certified copies of the certificate filed with him, and that certificae can be taken and led with the Prothonotary in any county of the State for the purpose of making it a lien on any property that the sheriff or coroner of Fayette county or any other county may have in these outside counties.

The effect of that is very plain to an attorney-at-law. It means that when this bond is filed and sent over to the Prothonatary and made a lien on the sheriff's property or the coroner's property, then in all other counties where the sheriff or the coroner may have property, those properties are immediately tied up.

Now, if the sheriffs and the coroners of this Commonwealth want to tie up their properties in that manner there must be something wrong with their brains, because it means after they become the sheriffs or the coroners of our counties, their property immediately becomes subject to the liens of that bond. They will not be able to sell their property unless it is sold subject to that lien; they will not be able to borrow any money on their properties if they need that money. Why, gentleman, how in the name of common sense can a sane sheriff or coroner of this Commonwealth say that he is in favor of a bill of this kind?

I do not think that they are in favor of this bill, and I think that it is very bad in that it ties up the sheriffs and coroners' properties like that. It ought to be defeated. Our sheriffs and coroners ought to be permitted to enjoy their real estate, if they have any, and be able to sell it, even when they are sheriffs or coroners.

This bill, it appears to me, Mr. President, that the sole purpose of it is to protect the surety company that furnishes the bond, because the same section, then provides that if the surety is made to pay for any default of the sheriff or coroner, that surety is subrogated to the bond issued in the name of the Commonwealth and which is a lien on the sheriff's or coroner's property.

Now, of course, I do not mean that a surety company or a surety should not receive protection and be subrogated, but at the same time I do not think it is just to protect the bonding and surety company at the expense of the sheriffs or the coroners of our State by tying up their properties while they are in office and they will be prevented from selling their property.

This gives those surety companies a preference on the estates of sheriffs and coroners who may die, over their creditors, and I do not think it is a sound piece of legislation at all. I think it is very bad.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I received a letter from a sheriff of one of the counties I represent asking me to give favorable consideration to this bill. I realize there is no county official that should be more easy to reach on a bond than a sheriff, because his duties are such that he can do an awful lot of damage if he is so minded; and if he does, the way to recoup any losses ought to be made as easy as possible to the people of the county.

And now, Mr. President, in view of the fact that this is a sheriffs and coroners bill, I would like to make this request of the Senator from Indiana, that he let this bill go over in its order until I write my sheriff and see whether he knows what the provisions of this bill really are.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I am perfectly satisfied to let the bill go over in its order. I do not pretend to have the legal knowledge of the gentleman from Washington or the gentleman from Fayette, but my understanding is that this bill only clarifies the existing liability that the sheriff now has.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I do not believe that there is any law on the books that goes as far as this bill goes in the way of protecting the bonding company or the individual bondsman against any irregularities that may occur in the conduct of the sheriff or coroner.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I understand that this bill is to go over in its order—

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, will the Senator from Somerset yield before we pass on this matter?

Mr. EALY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have read this bill and I find it provides for the payment of premiums by the county beginning now for the year 1939. I therefore suggest that there ought to be an effective date in this Act, which does not appear now. Unless it does it will not become effective until September and we will be paying premiums from now on until September.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 459, on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to recognizances and official bonds of present and future sheriffs and coroners and to their sureties thereon; imposing the expense of corporate suretyships on such obligations upon the several counties and various duties upon the Courts of Common Pleas and county officers thereof; authorizing the substitution of approved surety companies for individual or corporate sureties upon such obligations and the release of any surety upon any such recognizance by such Court upon certain conditions; dispensing with sureties on such recognizances but providing for the acknowledgment, recording and indexing of same as liens on certain real estate; regulating such liens and releases therefrom; providing for refunds to sheriffs and coroners of certain premiums paid to sureties on their official bonds and recognizances; and repealing inconsistent laws, except as to existing claims or pending suits thereunder, subject to certain limitations.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

MOTION TO REQUEST RETURN OF NOTIFICATION OF CONFIRMATION.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I move that the Governor is hereby requested to return to the Senate the notification of the confirmation of the nominations submitted on May 1, 1939, for the appointment of the following persons, as members of the Board of Trustees of the West Chester State Teachers College for terms of four years and until their successors are qualified:

Fred S. Woods, West Chester, Chester County.

Mrs. Frances Price Donahoo, 2428 Edgemont Ave., Chester, Chester County.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 460, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraphs (6) and (7) of Section 2, Sections 405 and 915 of, and to add Sections 922 and 1315 to, of the act, approved the twenty-eight day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053), entitled "An act relating to the regulation of public utilities; defining as public utilities certain corporations, companies, associations, and persons; providing for the regulation of public utilities, including, to a limited extent, municipalities engaging in public utility business, by prescribing, defining, and limiting their duties, powers and liabilities, and regulating the exercise, surrender or abandonment of their powers, privileges, and franchises; defining and regulating contract carriers by motor vehicle and brokers in order to regulate effectively common carriers by motor vehicle; conferring upon the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the power and duty of supervising and regulating persons, associations, companies, and corporations, including, to a limited extent, municipal corporations subject to this act, and administering the provisions of this act; authorizing the commission to fix temporary rates; placing the burden of proof on public utilities to sustain their rates and certain other matters; authorizing a permissive or mandatory sliding scale method of regulating rates; providing for the supervision of financial and contractural relations between public utilties and affiliated interests, and supervision and regulation of accounts and securities or obligations issued, assumed, or kept by persons, associations, companies, corporations of municipal corporations subject to this act; conferring upon the commission power to vary, reform, or revise certain contracts; conferring upon the commission the exclusive power to regulate or order the construction, alteration, relocation, protection, or abolition of crossings of facilities of public utilities, and of such facilities by or over public highways, to appropriate property for the construction or improvement of such crossings, and to award or apportion resultant costs and damages; authorizing owners of such property to sue the Commonwealth for such damages; providing for ejectment proceedings in connection with the appropriation of property for crossings; conferring upon the commission power to control and regulate budgets of public utilities; imposing upon persons, associations, companies, and corporations (except municipal corporations) subject to regulation, the cost of administering this act; prescribing and regulating practice and procedure before the commission and procedure for review by the courts of commission action; giving the court of common pleas of Dauphin County exclusive original jurisdiction over certain proceedings; prescribing penalties, fines, and imprisonment for violations of the provisions of this act and regulations and orders of the commission, and the procedure for enforcing such fines and penalties; and repealing legislation supplied and superseded by or inconsistent with this act," by adding to the definitions of "Common Carrier by Motor Vehicle" and "Contract Carrier by Motor Vehicle"; requiring common carriers to deal only with certain common carriers by motor vehicles; providing for additional insurance by certain motor carriers of passengers; authorizing the Commission and the Department of Revenue to co-operate in identification plate requirements; and providing additional penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this bill came out once before and we said a few things about it, then it went over in order, and it is now up for final passage. I have been trying to fully understand the purpose of the bill and I have come to this conclusion, that I am satisfied that the hand that wrote the bill—the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker—the voice in it, however, I think is disclosed by just noting these facts.

On page 6 of the bill this amendment is made through the existing law: excluding from supervision of the public utility company law the following motor vehicles, those used in the transportation of property by the owner himself or to purchasers directly from him in vehicles owned and operated by the owner of such property and not otherwise used in transportation of property for compensation for others.

On the same page the same law is amended to include the identical words, that is, twice the same words appears in this act.

Now, Mr. President, studying these words a person would be lead to believe that these amendments were taken out of the control of the Public Utility Commission, all those motor vehicles that are owned by people who transport their own property. Now, who are those people? Who are the people that own motor vehicles that they use for transporting their own property?

I asked myself that question and I found it on page 8 of the same bill.

Section 915 of the Bill is amended which deals with the insurance to be carried by carriers on their motor vehicles and here is the amendment that this bill makes in that section:

"Provided however that all motor carriers of passengers whose current liquid assets do not exceed their current liabilities by at least one hundred thousand dollars shall cover each and every vehicle transporting such passengers with a public liability insurance policy." Who are the men protected by this bill, those who have assets and whose current liabilities do not exceed at least $100,000, do not exceed current liabilities by at least $100,000? Now, who can they be? Well, I imagine it does not require much mental stress to know that the only people in this state or the main people in this state who are affected by this bill and protected and given preferred rates are those oil companies who have hundreds of oil trucks on the state highways, who have their own property, that is gasoline. This bill—and it was explained to me and a few others of my colleagues—is a bill sponsored or offered by the truck drivers of this state and intended to protect them.

And now, I say, Mr. President, that this bill surely does have the mark that it was written by the gentleman from Allegheny but the context of it specifically show that it is for the protection and giving greater privilege to those who own large fleets of trucks and who have their own property—their own goods—and who have assets that exceed current liability by not less than $100,000.

Now, how many citizens of the State of Pennsylvania fall in that category and you want to take by this bill those people who operate all those hundreds of trucks on our state highways for the transportation of merchandise, you want to take them out of the control of the Pubilic Utility Commission—I say that we should not do that but we ought to keep all those large trucks and the use of them on our highways—we ought to keep them right where they are, under the jurisdiction and control of the Public Utility Commission, and we ought not to give Mr. Pew and his men any privilege over any other carrier in this state.

Why should we permit Mr. Pew and his people and the big oil companies who have all these trucks to escape the payment of insurance premiums, and yet we require the little man, the man who has fewer trucks and does not have that large assest—requiring him to pay premiums to insurance companies to protect him against liabilities, both property and personal?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, last Wednesday when I was so ably defending Mr. Pew and his oil interest here, in spite of the gasoline bill just reconsidered I suffered some embarrassment in being exposed as Joe Pew's henchman and now here again I have another bill and once more I am defending the vested interest.

Mr. Presdent, I have had the pleasure and privilege of representing trucking companies ranging from one fellow who owns one dump truck to great interests that own tremendous fleets of dump trucks. I have explained that because I am deeply in sympathy with the individual interests displayed here and with the intellectual honesty discussions we had on several ocasions, and when this bill eventually comes up for passage, whether on reconsideration after the gentleman gets back home or whether he takes my word for it and finds out what the bill is about, I will vote present and not vote for the bill, because I represent trucking companies who will be benefited directly and indirectly, and those companies pay me various fees for representing them, and I serve notice on the gentlemen of the Senate that I am disclosing my interests under the theory of intellectual honesty.

Now, Mr. President, I should like to explain to the gentleman from Fayette what this bill does. Back in 1931 the Public Utility Commission, which was then under the control of the distinguished Governor Pinchot, prepared a bill or a general order, known as No. 29, which directly took cognizance of the trucking industry. This order No. 29 divided the trucking industry into four different classes and issued certificates, a, b, c, d, trucks involved in those four classes were protected by this bill.

In 1935 the Federal Legislative Body distinguished, dignified, and known as the Federal Motor Carrier Act, in which the Interstate Commerce Commission was given jurisdiction over interstate trucking for the transportation of persons and property by means of modern vehicles between points in various states.

The Act of 1935 was so far superior to the provisions in the Pennsylvania Act that those who were deeply interested in the improvement of the trucking industry in Pennsylvania set out to improve the statutes of this state by bringing the state act up to and comparable to the Federal Act.

The Pennsylvania Motor Trucking Association, which is an organization composed of single and independent organization truck owners and operators and drivers—it is in their behalf that these amendments were introduced and they are the ones who will benefit.

Let us take the amendments—and I would like to call attention to the Senator from Fayette, that the first one, found on page 6 in order that we may all understand this amendment, I would refer the gentleman to page 5 of this proposed bill, line 16, under the heading, "Common Carrier by Motor Vehicle."

Now, Mr. President, the carriers in Pennsylvania, under our Act of 1937, were divided into two classes—common carriers by motor vehicle and contract carriers by motor vehicle.

Mr. President, in 1937 the Pennsylvania Legislature, in its infinite wisdom, deemed it advisable to give the Public Utility Commission jurisdiction over contract carriers. That is the first time they ever took such jurisdiction over the contract carriers.

In order to give the contract carriers a distinct entity in the trucking industry the definitions and the provisions of the contract carrier clauses were incorporated in the Act of 1937. This was a distinct departure from the old public utility law of 1913, Pamphlet Law No. 1374.

In this bill before us regarding common carriers, it was found necessary to insert a provision or amendment which is found on page 6. In that we took out of the jurisdiction of the commission all those carriers who transport property to themselves, or to purchasers directly from them, in vehicles owned and operated by the owners of such property.

In other words, Mr. President, this first amendment, on page 6, takes cognizance of the common carrier, and the common carrier who is transporting his own property is absolutely and definitely removed from the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission. I see no harm in that. I do not see anything sinister in it, nor do I see the hand of Joe Pew in it. We are trying to protect the little dealer. The little truck owner, the man at the corner grocery store, would be benefited by that.

Mr. President, I would say to the Public Utility Commission, "You can have jurisdiction over the common carrier, you can have jurisdiction over the contract carrier, but you are not going to have jurisdiction over the little fellow who is trucking his own products," and that takes in also the farmer who delivers the products from his farm to the corner grocery store or in to the market and also takes into consideration the man who has delivery trucks not for hire.

In order to take care of the contract carrier it was necessary also to amend that provision at the bottom of page 6, line 23—because we remove the contract carrier from the jurisdiction of the commission.

In other words, by this amendment, nobody who is transporting as a contract carrier for himself—or, in his own vehicles, transporting property owned by himself, can, under any circumstances, directly or indirectly be brought under the jurisdiction of this commission; and that is one of the first evils of our own industry, because I also happen to be a truck driver. We are deeply interested in seeing that the contract carrier receives the same protection as the common carrier. Now, that is the second sinister thing in the Act.

I want to call attention to one thing that has created so much interest in the mind of the gentleman from Fayette. That is found on Page 8, and it reads: "provided, however, that all motor carriers of passengers whose current liquid assets do not exceed their current liabilities by at least one hundred thousand dollars shall cover each and every vehicle transporting such passengers with a public liability insurance policy, issued by an insurance company authorized to do business in this State, in such amounts as the commission may prescribe, but not less than five thousand dollars for one and ten thousand dollars for more than one person injured in any one accident."

Now, for the first time I find out that my sinister backer, Joe Pew, transports passengers for hire—for that is all this provision does. I am glad to find out that Mr. Pew is in the trucking business and transports passengers for hire.

The Public Utility Commission realizing the effectiveness and the economic necessity of eliminating taxicab companies who have current liquid assets of more $100,000, said that to exempt them from the provision they must carry insurance.

The little fellow operating one taxicab must have public liability insurance in order to protect his passengers, and there is nothing wrong with that; but many of the big taxicab companies set aside a cash reserve of one or two cents a mile for property and public liability and the commission recognizes the good business judgment in a thing like that. So they say to those big companies that put aside one or two cents a mile, "You can use that as a reserve; you do not need to take out insurance." There are never any claims pending against them because they are settled right out of this reserve.

The commission has recognized the expediency of this legislation and that is why we have put in this amendment. Joe Pew is not protected by this amendment. It is true the great big taxicab companies are protected by it, but at the same time the public is indirectly protected. We are not requiring the taxicab companies to buy property and liability insurance if they can show current liquid assets of one hundred thousand dollars over liabilities.

If you require those big companies to buy insurance covering their great fleets of taxicabs you are going to practically double the taxicab rates and there is nothing the Public Utility Commission can do about that. We are merely legislating what is at the present time a recognized policy of the Public Utility Commission.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the members of the Senate to the final amendment in this bill, which is found on page 9, and which was not referred to by the gentleman from Fayette; and I would like to explain it.

In the Federal Motor Carrier Act it is prohibited for a shipper or a consigner or a trucker to engage in any contribution toward violation of the Federal Motor Carrier Act. This clause was put in at the request of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, to bring this State Act up to parity with the Federal Act; and all this amendment does is to say to the shipper "If you violate the Federal Motor Carrier Act the Interstate Commerce Commission will punish you; and if you violate the State Act the Public Utility Commission will punish you." We are only bringing our State Act in line with the Federal Motor Carrier Act.

I shall be glad to answer any other questions.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, where in this Act does it state that a company that has a large fleet of motor vehicles used in the carrying of passengers is required to establish a reserve?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the provision which says "provided however that all motor carriers of passengers whose current liquid assets do not exceed their present liabilities by at least $100,000—" and so on. Now, current liquid assets whould mean a reserve—not a book reserve but an actual current asset that is greater by $100,000 than the liability.

Mr. CAVALVANTE. Mr. President, what would prevent the carrier from using those assets for something else than property and public liability?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the Public Utility Commission requires the Public Utility Companies whether transportation companies or power companies or water companies, or whatever they are, to furnish semi-annual statements, and those statements are carefully checked by an efficient auditor, and if this current liquid asset is depleted in any way there must be an explanation to show why they were depleted, depleted in any circumstance whatsover, and if during a six month period it is found the assets have gone below $100,000 the Public Utility Commission is in a position to have that reinstated.

Now, in addition to this the Public Utility Commssion is given the additional precaution to send out field men who very carefully check into all those books in order to see that the provisions of the law are maintained.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, how does that protect the little man that the gentleman from Allegheny was so much worried about and said that this act protects the passenger carrier whose liquid assets, rather current liquid assets, do not exceed $100,000? Who does the gentleman from Allegheny think the little man is—the passenger carrier, who has assets that exceed current liabilities by $100,000, or the passenger carrier that only has probably five or ten taxicabs?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I point out to the gentleman from Fayette that under the present law the Public Utility Commission requires the little fellow who owns only one taxicab to take out public liability insurance. This provision, found on page 8, deliberately protects the big man. The big man in the trucking industry is entitled to as much protection as the little man, surely you would not want to discriminate against the big man merely because he happens to be successful in his chosen field and the little man should not object to that.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, certainly there is an objection if the little fellow does not have liquid assets that do not exceed current liability by $100,000, he has got to get liability insurance. And now, may I ask the Senator from Allegheny if he knows what the rates are as to the carrier who has two taxicabs, how much is his insurance on those two.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if two taxicabs are operated in the City of Oakmont the rate of property and public liability on one cab is $375 a year and for two cabs it is in the neighborhood of five hundred and some odd dollars a year, because there is a slight differentiation in the premiums according to the kind of policy you might obtain.

Now the little fellow must, under the present law and present regulations, he must buy the insurance. This act does not affect him one iota. This provision is to protect the big man. If he cannot carry his own insurance the effect is this: If you do not put this provision in the act, and if you force the big man who owns a fleet of taxicabs in Pittsburgh or Philadelphia to buy public liability insurance you would so increase their cost of operation that they would have to increase the rate.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, just one other question regarding section 1315, on page 9 of the bill—we all know that our colleague from Armstrong, Senator Sipe, is a farmer. Now, if Senator Sipe is fortunate enough to have a truck which he uses to transport farm products to market, if he should some day take the produce of his neighbor, or his neighbor should ask the gentleman from Armstrong to transport his farm products to market, would he be guilty of violating the provisions of this act?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Fayette that he would not be guilty of violating this act. I want to refer to the original provisions of the public utility law, passed back in 1913, and reenacted in 1937, the self service feature has not been deleted. Before you can be guilty of violating any of the provisions of section 1315 which is in this present act you must be dealing with a bona fide recognized common carrier, not casual transportation.

If the gentleman appreciates what is contained in the expression "common carrier" he will appreciate the fact that the "casual transportation" referred to by the gentleman from Fayette, using the gentleman from Armstrong as an example, certainly would never come under the provisions of this Act.

Mr. CAVALCATE. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentleman from Allegheny for his courtesy in answering my question.

Now, Mr. President, this bill ought to be defeated on the explanation and the answer made by the gentleman from Allegheny. This is a bad bill and it is very plain that a bill of this kind tends to protect the monopolies, to place the transportation of passengers in the hands of the big taxicab companies, because it saves them the insurance premiums on the public liability and property damage insurance, and puts them on a better competitive basis than the smaller man.

This bill ruins the little man because the big man, with a big fleet of taxicabs, will set aside his fund, and as the gentleman from Allegheny has stated; he will not have to pay this three or four hundred dollar premium on a policy on each taxicab and he can haul his passengers more reasonably; he will not have the expense that the other, the little fellow, has and the eventual result of this is to create a monopoly in the hands of the big man. So I reiterate again, this bill is not for the protection of the little man but is for the protection of the big man.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

TUESDAY, May 2, 1939.

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas George Baxter, offered the following prayer:

Our Father's God, to Thee, Author of Liberty, to Thee we pray, thanking Thee for health and home, fireside and family, flag and fatherland.

May we love our heritage of civic and religious freedom. Increase our devotion and loyalty to our own United States, the best country and the most idealistic government in the world. Bless and guide all in authority over us. Inspire each of us until we can sincerely and heartily sing,

"I love every foot of this Prairie Land,
Every rock on her mountain side.
I love every drop of her water clear
That flows in her rivers wide.
I love every tree, every blade of grass
That grows within Columbia's gates.
The pride of the earth is the land of my birth,
My own United States."

We pray in the name of Christ. Amen.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on State Government, for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ACHTERMAN. I make, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this motion for the reason that I feel the bill is perhaps placing the state in the position that it becomes a tax collector, if not directly then indirectly, for the collection of the per capita tax in Pennsylvania, that is, at least in those districts which have a per capita school tax. It strikes me that we are attacking the problem indirectly when we should attack it directly.

The reason for the bill is the fact that there has been a failure to collect in some districts, at least, the per capita school tax. Very frankly, Mr. Speaker, we have on third reading today House Bill 979, and I call to the attention, particularly of the majority members of the House, House Bill 979, which if passed finally becomes the law and will give to the tax collectors the power to collect not only the per capita school tax but also the occupational tax as it is known in some section of Pennsylvania. That bill, Mr. Speaker, actually tries to cure the whole existing system in Pennsylvania and does it directly and not indirectly, nor does it place any burden or any embarrassment upon any citizen who actually pays his tax. In the event House Bill 979 does not pass in this House or the Senate, then I say, Mr. Speaker, we still have ample time to bring back to this House Senate Bill 206 and act upon it, but I don't believe that we ought to pass Senate Bill 206 and then subsequently pass House Bill 979, and have two bills. In that event Senate Bill 206 would be of no value and useless, and cause annoyance and embarrassment far beyond the scope we intend.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I therefore ask for the support of the members on this motion.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I might state that this bill was sponsored by the Pennsylvania School Directors Association, and that it does not place any burden upon any state department to see that the tax is collected and it will not make out of any department of this Commonwealth a tax-collecting agency. The only purpose of this is to require an applicant for a state license, other than a marriage license, to state whether or not he has paid his or her per capita tax. As far as the state is concerned there is no obligation on the part of any department to follow up the matter of seeing that the tax is paid. Those back in the local taxing communities will then be able to check and see whether the per capita tax has been paid, and if a false affidavit has been made in procurring a state license the authorities will follow the matter up and the burden will be theirs.

I urge the members of the House to vote against this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1393, (Senate Bill No. 375), entitled:

[For the loss of a great toe sixty-five per centum of wages during sixty weeks]

[For the loss of a first toe sixty-five per centum of wages during thirty-five weeks]

[For the loss of a second toe sixty-five per centum of wages during thirty weeks]

The loss of [less than] the first phalange of the [toe] thumb or of any finger shall be considered equivalent to the loss of one-half of such [toe] thumb or finger and shall be compensated at the same rate or for the loss of a [toe] thumb or finger but for one-half of the period provided for the loss of a [toe] thumb or finger [Provided however That the accident involves injury to part of the bone of the phalange]

The loss of more than one phalange [or more] of a [toe] thumb or finger shall be considered equivalent to the loss of the entire [toe] thumb or finger

For the loss of or permanent loss of the use of any two or more such members [or the permanent loss of the use of the finger thumb hand arm foot leg toe or eye as hereinbefore provided] not constituting total disability [sixty-five] sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages during the aggregate of the periods specified for each

[The loss of the function of the distal joint shall be considered compensable for the period of one-half the number of weeks set forth for the loss of the toe or finger involved The loss of the function of the proximal joint shall be considered to be the loss of the use of the toe or finger and shall be compensable as set forth above for the loss of the toe or finger involved]

For serious and permanent disfigurement of the head or face [or neck] of such a character as to produce an unsightly appearance and such as is not usually incident to the employment [sixty-five] sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages not to exceed [two hundred] one hundred and fifty weeks [If by reason of disfigurement an injured employe shall be unable to obtain any employment for which he is otherwise qualified the board may order compensation to be paid in accordance with the provisions of clause (a) or clause (b) of this section]

Unless the board shall otherwise determine the loss of both hands or both arms or both feet or both legs or both eyes shall constitute [permanent] total disability to be compensated according to the provisions of clause (a)

Amputation between the elbow and the wrist [and the knuckles] shall be considered as the equivalent of the loss of a hand and amputation between the [toes] knee and the ankle shall be considered as the equivalent of the loss of a foot Amputation at or above the [wrist] elbow shall be considered as the loss of an arm and amputation at or above the [ankle] knee shall be considered as the loss of a leg Permanent loss of the use of a hand arm foot leg eye [toe] finger or thumb [for industrial purposes] shall be considered as the equivalent of the loss of such hand arm foot leg eye [toe] finger or thumb

This compensation shall not be more than eighteen dollars per week nor less than [twelve] nine dollars per week Provided That if at the time of injury the employe receives wages of less than nine dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation

(d) The period of five hundred weeks mentioned in clause (a) three hundred weeks mentioned in clause (b) and the specific periods (or aggregate specific periods as the case may be) mentioned in clause (c) shall begin to run seven days after disability begins and shall run concurrently

[(d)] (e) No compensation shall be allowed for the first seven days after disability begins except as hereinafter provided in [clauses (a) (b) and (e)] clause (f) of this section

[(e)] (f) During the first [three months] sixty days after [the date of injury and during such further period as the board may in the manner hereinafter provided require in a particular case] disability begins the employer shall furnish reasonable surgical and medical [dental and nursing] services [hospital treatment artificial appliances] medicines and supplies as and when needed unless the employe refuses to allow them to be furnished by the employer [Provided That the injured employe by petition to the board and notice to the employer may be permitted by the board to consult a physician of his own choice at any time during his disability the cost of such consultation to be paid by the employer in accordance with a schedule of charges to be prescribed and approved by the board Any such request shall be acted upon promptly either with or without a hearing and shall have preference over any other matter or proceeding pending before the board or the referee Upon application of an injured employe the board may issue its order requiring the employer to furnish such further services hospital treatment medicines artificial appliances or supplies during such further period and in such additional amounts after the three months' period as the board may in the interest of justice deem advisable] The cost of such services [(exclusive of the cost of hospital treatment and artificial appliances)] medicines and supplies [during the aforesaid three months' period] shall not exceed [over two hundred] one hundred and fifty dollars [($200)] ($150) If the employer shall upon application made to him refuse to furnish such services [hospital treatment appliances] medicines and supplies the employe may procure same and shall receive from the employer the reasonable cost thereof within the above limitations In addition to the above service medicines and supplies hospital treatment services and supplies shall be furnished by the employer for the said period of sixty days The cost for such hospital treatment service and supplies shall not in any case exceed the prevailing charge in the hospital for like services to other individuals if the employe shall refuse [such] reasonable surgical medical and hospital services [hospital treatment appliances] medicines and supplies tendered to him by his employer he shall forfeit all rights to compensation for any injury or any increase in his incapacity shown to have resulted from such refusal [Provided however That the employe need not submit to surgical treatment which in the opinion of at least two qualified physicians might jeopardize his life The employer shall also furnish to the employe or pay the cost of transportation to and from the place where such services are rendered and reimbursement for such costs assumed by the employe may be enforced as payments of compensation are enforced]

[(f)] Should the employe die from some other cause than the injury the liability for compensation shall cease]

[(g) If an employe receives an injury compensable under this act which of itself would not cause permanent total disability but which combined with a previous major permanent injury does in fact cause permanent total disability or if an employe who has previously suffered a major permanent injury receive an injury compensable under this act which of itself is a permanent injury or which either causes permanent total disablity or results in the death of such employe compensation for such further permanent injury total disabiltiy or death shall be paid out of the moneys existing to the credit of the second injury reserve account hereinafter created by this act in The State Workmen's Insurance Fund as follows]

[(1) In the case of further permanent injury not resulting in total disability either of itself or in combination with any prior major permanent injury the amount provided by clause (c) of this section for the particular type of the later permanent injury]

[(2) In the case of total disability resulting either from the later injury of itself or from such injury combined with any prior major permanent injury an amount equivalent to the difference between the compensation payable for any prior major permanent injury and the amount payable for total disability under clause (a) of this section]

[(3) In the case of death resulting from the later injury or from a combination of any prior major permanent injury and the later injury the amount payable under section three hundred seven of this act in cases of death]

[The employer of any such employe shall be responsible for compensating the injured employe for the second injuries and in the manner prescribed in this subsection but shall be relieved from the payment of compensation to such employe to the extent such compensation is paid under this subsection out of the second injury reserve account of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund]

[Such employer in order to obtain the benefits of this subsection shall file with the board a petition of agreed facts in the manner provided in section four hundred eleven of this act and thereafter the procedure shall be the same as in other cases except that the board may in its discretion act on such petition without a hearing]

[For purposes of this subsection a "major permanent injury" shall mean all permanent injuries set forth in clause (c) of section three hundred six exclusive of loss of or loss of use of one or more fingers or toes not amounting to loss of or loss of use of hand or foot]

(g) Should the employe die as a result of the injury the period during which compensation shall be payable to his dependents under section three hundred and seven of this article shall be reduced by the period during which compensation was paid to him in his lifetime under this section of this article No reduction shall be made for the amount which may have been paid or contracted to be paid for medical and hospital services and medicines nor for the expenses of the last sickness and burial Should the employee die from some other cause than the injury the liability for compensation shall cease

(h) Hernia shall be considered as a physical weakness or ailment which ordinarily develops gradually and shall not be compensable unless incontrovertible proof is offered that the hernia was at once precipitated by sudden effort or severe strain and that first the descent of the hernia followed the cause without intervening time second there was actual pain in the hernial region at the time of descent third the above manifestations were of such severity that the same were noticed at once by the claimant necessitating immediate cessation of work and communicated to the employer or a representative of the employer within forty-eight hours after the occurrence of the accident

Section 307 In case of death compensation shall be computed on the following basis and distributed to the following persons

1 If there be no widow or widower entitled to compensation compensation shall be paid to the guardian of the child or children or if there be no guardian to such other persons as may be designated by the board as hereinafter provided as follows

(a) If there be one child twenty-five per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of six dollars per week

[(a)] (b) If there be [either one or] two children thirty-five per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [twelve] nine dollars per week

[(b)] (c) If there be three children forty-five per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [fourteen] eleven and a half dollars per week

[(c)] (d) If there be four children [sixty] fifty-five per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [sixteen] fourteen dollars per week

[(d)] (e) If there be five [or more] children [sixty five] sixty-two and one-half per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of [eighteen] sixteen and a half dollars per week

(f) If there be six or more children sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages of deceased but not in excess of eighteen dollars per week

2 To the widow or widower if there be no children forty-four per centum of wages but not in excess of [twelve] eleven dollars per week

3 To the widow or widower if there be one child [fifty-nine] fifty-three per centum of wages but not in excess of [fifteen] thirteen and a half dollars per week

4 To the widow or widower if there be two children [sixty-five] sixty-two and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of sixteen dollars per week

4½ To the widow or widower if there be three or more children [sixty-five] sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages but not in excess of eighteen dollars per week

5 If there be neither widow widower nor children entitled to compensation [or if the widow widower or children are not receiving the maximum compensation payable under this act] then to the father or mother if dependent to any extent upon the employe at the time of the accident twenty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [ten] five dollars per week Provided however That in the case of a minor child who has been contributing to his parents the dependency of said parents shall be [conclusively] presumed And provided further That if the father or mother was totally dependent upon the deceased employe at the time of the accident the compensation payable to such father or mother shall be forty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of [fifteen] ten dollars per week [but the provisions of this paragraph in connection with other provisions of this section shall not be deemed to require the payment of compensation in excess of eighteen dollars per week in any one case]

6 If there be neither widow widower children nor dependent parent entitled to compensation [of if the widow widower children or dependent parent are not receiving the maximum compensation payable under this act] then to the brothers and sisters [until the age of eighteen] if actually dependent upon the decedent for support at the time of his death fifteen per centum of wages for one brother or sister and five per centum additional for each additional brother or sister with a maximum of twenty-five per centum such compensation to be paid to their guardian or if there be no guardian to such other person as may be designated by the board as hereinafter provided [but the provisions of this paragraph in connection with other provisions of this section shall not be deemed to require the payment of compensation in excess of eighteen dollars per week in any one case]

7 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expense of burial not exceeding two hundred dollars which shall be paid by the employer or insurer directly to the undertaker (without deduction of any amounts theretofore paid for compensation or for medical expenses)

Compensation shall be payable under this section to or on account of any child brother or sister only if and while such child brother or sister is under the age of [eighteen unless such child brother or sister is dependent by reason of disability in which case such compensation shall be paid to or on account of such child brother or sister until he or she reaches the age of twenty-one] sixteen No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widow unless she was living with her deceased husband at the time of his death or was then actually dependent upon him [for] and receiving from him a substantial portion of her support No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widower unless he be incapable of self-support at the time of his wife's death and be at such time dependent upon her for support [The] If members of decedents household at the time of his death the terms "child" and "children" shall include step-children [and] adopted children and children to whom he stood in loco parentis [if members of decedent's household at the time of his death] and shall include posthumous children Should any dependent of a deceased employe die or remarry or should the widower become capable of self-support the right of such dependent or widower to compensation under this section shall cease Provided however That upon remarriage of any widow [other than a nonresident alien widow] the compensation of such widow shall continue as hereinbefore provided for [two years from the date of such remarriage] one-third of the period during which compensation then remains payable to her Provided further That if upon investigation and hearing it shall be ascertained that the widow or widower is living with a man or woman as the case may be in meretricious relationship and not married or the widow living a life of prostitution the board may order the termination of compensation payable to such widow or widower If the compensation payable under this section to any person shall for any cause the compensation to the remaining persons entitled thereunder shall thereafter be the same as would have been payable to them had they been the only persons entitled to compensation at the time of the death of the deceased

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed twenty-seven dollars per week nor be less than [eighteen] fifteen dollars [and fifty cents] per week

This compensation shall be paid during [five] three hundred weeks [except that in the case of a widow if she remain unmarried compensation shall continue after said period of five hundred weeks at the rate of five dollars per week for life] and in the case of children entitled to compensation under this section the compensation of each child shall continue after said period of [five] three hundred weeks until such child reaches the age of [eighteen] sixteen at the rate of [twenty-five] seventeen and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [five] four dollars per week if there is one child [thirty-five] twenty-seven and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [eight] six and a half dollars per week if there are two children [fifty] thirty-eight and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of [ten] nine dollars per week if there are three children [seventy-five] fifty per centum of wages but not in excess of [fifteen] eleven and a half dollars per week if there are four children [or more] fifty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of twelve dollars and seventy-five cents per week if there are five children and sixty per centum of wages but not in excess of fourteen dollars per week if there are six children or more

The board may if the best interest of a child or children shall so require at any time order and direct the compensation payable to a child or children or to a widow or a widower on account of any child or children to be paid to the guardian of such child or children or if there be no guardian to such other person as the board as hereinafter provided may direct If there be no guardian or committee of any minor dependent or insane employe or dependent on whose account compensation is payable the amount payable on account of such minor dependent or insane employe or dependent may be paid to any surviving parent or to such other person as the board may order and direct and the board may require any person other than a guardian or committee to whom it has directed compensation for a minor dependent or insane employe or dependent to be paid to render as and when it shall so order accounts of the receipts and disbursements of such person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the moneys received by such person

Section 308 Except as hereinafter provided all compensation payable under this article shall be payable in periodical instalments as the wages of the employe were payable before the accident

[All compensation payable under this article shall be made payable only to employes or their dependents or their guardians or such other persons as may be designated by the board]

[Any person copartnership association or corporation who or which violates any of the provisions of this section shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay for each violation a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00)]

Section 309 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean [the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident except that if the injured employe was at the time of the injury a minor and his disability shall continue after he shall have reached the age of twenty-one years his average weekly wage for the purpose of determining the compensation payable under this act shall be determined on the basis of the earnings that such minor if not disabled probably would earn at the age of twenty-one (21) years In determining such probable earnings due consideration shall be given to the employe's aptitude education and experience fitting him for any employment not only in the trade or business in which he was engaged at the time of the injury but in any other trade or busines In determining such probable earnings the referee and the board shall have the right to receive into evidence as competent testimony the earnings of other employes of similar aptitude education and experience engaged in a similar trade or business and findings based upon such testimony shall be final The term "wages" shall include board and lodging received from the employer Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollars per day for the purpose of computing wages In] [seasonable occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employment if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Provided however That if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for working day by six six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation]

[In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment of the employer or the nature or terms of the employment it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the injury has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring or if there are no persons so employed by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employee] the average weekly wages of the employe ascertained as follows

(a) If at the time of the accident the wages are fixed by the week the amount so fixed shall be the average weekly wage

(b) If at the time of the accident the wages are fixed by the month the average weekly wage shall be the monthly wage so fixed multiplied by twelve and divided by fifty-two

(c) If at the time of the accident the wages are fixed by the year the average weekly wage shall be the yearly wage so fixed divided by fifty-two

(d) If at the time of the accident the wages are fixed by the day hour or by the output of the employe the average weekly wage shall be whichever is most favorable to the employe as computed under the following four methods

(1) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the fifty-two calendar weeks (or twelve calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the accident divided by fifty-two

(2) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the thirty-nine calendar weeks (or nine calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the accident divided by thirty-nine

(3) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the twenty-six calendar weeks (or six calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the accident divided by twenty-six

(4) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the accident divided by thirteen

If the employe has been in the employ of employer less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the accident his average weekly wage shall be computed under the fore-going paragraph (4) taking "total wages" for such purpose to be the amount he would have earned had he been so employed by employer the full thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months) immediately preceding the accident and had worked when work was available to other employes in a similar occupation unless it be conclusively shown that by reason of exceptional causes such methods of computation does not ascertain fairly the "total wages" of employe so employed less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months)

(e) In occupations which are exclusively seasonal and therefore cannot be carried on throughout the year the average weekly wage shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which the employe has earned from all occupations during the twelve calendar months immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings

The terms "average weekly wage" and "total wages" as used in this section shall include board and lodging received from the employer and when so received the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day but such terms shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall such terms include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe nor shall such terms include deductions from wages due the employer for rent and supplies necessary for the employe's use in the performance of his labor

Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers and the defendant employer has knowledge of such employment prior to the accident his wages from all such employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

Section 310 [Compensation under this article to alien dependent widows and children not residents of the United States shall be two-thirds of the amount provided in each case for residents and the employer may at any time commute all future installments of compensation payable to alien dependents not residents of the United States by paying to such alien dependents the then value thereof calculated in accordance with the provisions of section three hundred and fourteen of this article] Alien widows children widowers parents brothers and sisters not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation

[Non-resident alien dependents may be officially represented by the consular officers of the nation of which such alien or aliens may be citizens or subjects and in such cases the consular officers shall have the right to receive for distribution to such non-resident alien dependents all compensation awarded hereunder and the receipt of such consular officers shall be a full discharge of all sums paid to and received by them]

Section 311 [Unless the employer shall have actual knowledge of the occurrence of the injury or] Unless the employe or someone in his behalf or some of the dependents or someone in their behalf shall give notice thereof to the employer within [thirty] fourteen days after the accident no compensation shall be due until such notice be given [or knowledge obtained but if the employe or other beneficiary shall show that his delay in giving notice was due to his mistake or ignorance of fact or of law or to his physical or mental inability or to fraud misrepresentation or deceit or to any other reasonable cause or excuse then compensation shall be allowed unless the employer shall show that he did not know and by reasonable diligence could not have learned of the accident and that he was prejudiced by the delay in which case he shall be relieved to the extent of such prejudice [and unless such notice be given within ninety days after the occurrence of the injury no compensation shall be allowed

Section 312 The notice referred to in section three hundred and eleven hereof shall be substantially in the following form

To (name of employer)

You are hereby notified that an injury of the following character (.....) was suffered by (name of employe injured) who was in your employment at (place) while engaged as (kind of employment) on or about the (.....) day of (.....) Anno Domini (.....) and that compensation will be claimed therefor

Date ..... Signed (.....)

But no variation from this form shall be material if the notice be sufficient to inform the employer that a certain employe by name received an injury the character of which is described in ordinary language in the course of his employment or or about a time specified and at or near a place specified

Section 313 The notices referred to in section three hundred and two and section three hundred and eleven hereof may be served personally upon the employer or upon the manager or superintendent in charge of the works or business in which the accident occurred or by sending them through the registered mail to the employer at his or its last known residence or place of business or if the employer be a corporation either foreign or domestic then upon the president vice-president secretary or treasurer thereof [Knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of] Notice served upon any of said agents shall be [the knowledge of] notice to the employer

Section 314 At any time after the injury the employe if so requested by his employer must submit himself for examination at some reasonable time and place to a physician or physicians legally authorized to practice under the laws of such place who shall be selected and paid by the employer If the employe shall refuse upon the request of the employer to submit to the examination by the physician or physicians selected by the employer the board may upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit to an examination at a time and place set by it and by the physician or physicians selected and paid by the employer or by a physician or physicians designated by it and paid by the employer and if the employe shall without reasonable cause or excuse disobey or disregard such order he shall be deprived of his right to compensation under this article The board may at any time after such first examination upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit himself to such further examinations as it shall deem reasonable and necessary at such times and places and by such physicians as it may designate and in such case the employer shall pay the fees and expenses of the examining physician or physicians and the reasonable traveling expenses and loss of wages incurred by the employe in order to submit himself to such examination The refusal or neglect without reasonable cause or excuse of the employe to submit to such examination ordered by the board either before or after an agreement or award shall deprive him of the right to compensation under this article during the continuance of such refusal or neglect and the period of such neglect or refusal shall be deducted from the period during which compensation would otherwise be payable

The employe shall be entitled to have a physician or physicians of his own selection to be paid by him participate in any examination requested by his employer or ordered by the board

Section 315 In cases of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within [two years] one year after the accident the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within [two years] one year after the accident one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof [In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within two years after the date of death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within two years after the date of death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case or an employer has failed to report to the department the occurrence of an injury to his employe as required by law said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of two years from the time of the making of the last payment or the filing of such report as the case may be] In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within one year after the death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of one year from the time of the making of the most recent payment prior to date of filing such petition

Section 316 The compensation contemplated by this article may at any time be commuted by the board at its then value when discounted at five per centum interest with annual rests [disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death] upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe and that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such employe or dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business or assets [Except as provided in section three hundred and ten hereof and in this section no commutation of compensation shall be made] Provided however That unless the employer agrees to make such commutation the board shall require the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe to furnish proper indemnity safeguarding the employer's rights

[Any person partnership association or corporation who or which shall commute or attempt to commute any compensation directly or indirectly in violation of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or to undergo imprisonment for a period of not more than six (6) months or both in the discretion of the court No person partnership association or corporation shall be entitled to receive credit for any moneys paid in violation of this section and any such payment shall be considered as a gratuity]

Section 317 At any time after the approval of an agreement or after the entry of the award a sum equal to all future instalments of compensation may (where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payment certain) with the approval of the board be paid by the employer to any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this Commonwealth and such sum together with all interest thereon shall thereafter be held in trust for the employe or the dependents of the employe who shall have no further recourse against the employer The payment of such sum by the employer evidenced by the receipt of the trustee noted upon the prothonotary's docket shall operate as a satisfaction of said award as to the employer Payments from said fund shall be made by the trustees in the same amounts and at the same periods as are herein required of the employer until said fund and interest shall be exhausted in the appointment of the trustee preference shall be given in the discretion of the board to the choice of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe Should however there remain any unexpended balance of any fund after the payment of all sums due under this act such balance shall be repaid to the employer who made the original payment or to his legal representatives

Section 318 The right of compensation granted by this article of this act shall have the same preference (without limit of amount) against the assets of an employer liable for such compensation as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law for a claim for unpaid wages for labor Provided however That no claim for compensation shall have priority over any judgment mortgage or conveyance of land recorded prior to the filing of the petition award or agreement as to compensation in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which the land is situated Claims for payments due under this article of this act shall not be assignable and (except as provided in section five hundred and one of article five hereof) shall be exempt from all claims of creditors and from levy execution or attachment which exemption may not be waived

Any court before whom an appeal is pending from any action of the board may remit the record to the board for more specific findings of fact if the findings of the board or referee are not in its opinion sufficient to enable it to decide the question of law raised by the appeal

If the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth shall affirm an award or order of the board or of a referee sustained by the board fixing the compensation payable under this act the court shall enter judgment for the total amount stated by the award or order to be payable whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments If such court shall sustain the appellant's exceptions to a finding or findings of fact and reverse the action of the board founded thereon the court shall remit the record to the board for further hearing and determination in which the procedure shall be the same as that hereinbefore provided in this article in the case of a petition presented to the board except that [the board may order that any part of] the testimony taken in the original proceedings [may] shall be considered as though taken in such further hearing

The prothonotary of any court of common pleas to which an appeal has been taken from the board shall send to the board a certificate of the judgment of the court as soon as rendered with a copy of any opinion which may be filed in the case and within five days shall give notice of such judgment and the date by thereof registered mail to each attorney-at-law appearing in the case at the address given by the attorney in the pleadings and if no attorney-at-law has appeared by registered mail to the party or parties not represented by counsel At the end of the period hereinafter allowed for an appeal from the judgment of the court the record of the board shall be remitted to it by the prothonotary unless an appeal shall have been taken to the Superior Court as hereinafter provided If such appeal shall be taken the record shall be remitted to the board by the prothonotary on its return from the appellate court

Any party may appeal to the Superior Court from the judgment of the court of common pleas within thirty days after entry of said judgment irrespective of the amount involved Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and form and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the court of common pleas Any appeal from the action of the board to a court of common pleas and from it to the Superior Court shall take precedence over all other civil actions The judgment of the Superior Court shall be final unless an appeal therefrom is allowed [by the Supreme Court] as in the case of other judgments of [the Superior Court] that tribunal

Section 428 At any time after the approval of a compensation agreement or after an award or order has been made by the board or referee [the department] the employe or dependents entitled to compnsation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the total amount of compensation stated in the agreement award or order to be payable to the employe or his dependents whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith

Wherever after an accident any employe or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with his employer or shall file a claim petition with the board he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as judgment against the employer If the agreement be approved by the department or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition

If the agreement be disapproved or after hearing compensation shall be disallowed the employer may file with the prothonotary of any county in which the petition or agreement is on record as a judgment a certified copy of the disapproval of the agreement or disallowance of compensation and it shall be the duty of such prothonotary to strike off the judgment

If the amount of compensation claimed be disallowed but another amount awarded the compensation judgment shall be a lien to the extent of the award as of the date of filing the petition with the prothonotary with the same effect as to other liens and the same disability to issue execution thereon as if the compensation claimed had been allowed In such cases the prothonotary shall make such modification of the record as shall be appropriate

If the compensation payable under any agreement or award upon which judgment has been entered under the provisions of this section shall be modified suspended reinstated or terminated by a supplemental agreement executed under the provisions of section four hundred and eight or by an award or order made under the provisions of section four hundred and thirteen any party to such judgment at any time after such agreement has been approved by the department or after the expiration of the time allowed for an appeal from the award or order may file with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which the judgment is on record a certified copy of such supplemental agreement award or order and it shall thereupon be the duty of the prothonotary to modify suspend reinstate or satisfy such judgment in accordance with the terms of such supplemental agreement award or order

Execution may issue by first filing with the prothonotary an affidavit that there has been a default in payments of compensation due on any judgment for compensation entered prior to the approval of the compensation agreement or an award on petition as soon as such agreement shall have been approved by the department or such award made as evidence by the approval of the board of the award or by a certified copy thereof

Execution shall in all cases be for the amount of compensation and interest thereon due and payable up to the date of the issuance of said execution with costs and further execution may issue from time to time as further compensation shall become due and payable until full amount of the judgment with costs shall have actually been paid

Section 429 If any party against whom a compensation agreement award or other order fixing the compensation payable under this act has been filed of record in any county of this Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-eight of this article or against whom judgment has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county on any award or order of the board or a referee shall at any time present to the board receipts or copies thereof certified by any referee showing the payment of compensation as required by the agreement or award in full to the date of presentation to the referee the board shall issue a certificate to such party in the form prescribed stating the extent to which the judgment on the agreement or award has been reduced Upon the presentation of such certificate to the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county in which such agreement or award has been filed of record as a judgment or in which judgment on an award has been entered by the prothonotary of the court of common pleas it shall be the prothonotary's duty to mark such judgment satisfied to the extent of the payments so certified and upon the presentation to such prothonotary of a certificate issued by the board under the provisions of section three hundred and seventeen of this act it shall be the duty of the prothonotary to mark such judgment fully satisfied

Section 430 The lien of any judgment entered upon any award shall not be divested by any appeal If however the party appealing from the award shall file with the board a bond in such amount and in such form as the rules and regulations of the board shall direct the appeal shall pending its decision excuse the payment of so much of the compensation as is contested therein but if the final decision on appeal shall sustain the award it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such award is payable to make payments of compensation as from the date of the original award If on appeal the award is sustained as to a part it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such part is payable to make payments as from the date of the original award In case the award is annulled on appeal it shall be the duty of the prothonotary of any county in which such award has been entered as a judgment to mark it satisfied

Section 431 The cost of the prothonotary for entering the amount of compensation as provided in this act or making a modification of the record or marking the judgment satisfied shall be allowed taxed and collected as upon a confession of judgment on a judgment note

Section 432 It shall be the duty of the prothonotary of each court of common pleas and of the Supreme and Superior Court of the Commonwealth to make a monthly report to the board of the disposition of all appeals taken to the board of the disposition of all appeals taken to such court under the provisions of this article

Section 433 A document on file in the department or with the board or any referee or part of the record or any proceedings taken under Article III and IV of this act shall be proved by a copy thereof certified by the department under the seal of the department or certified by the chairman of the board and attested by the secretary of the board under seal of the board as the case may be

Section 434 A final receipt given by an employe or dependent entitled to compensation under a compensation agreement or award [reciting that the disability or dependency has terminated] shall be prima facie evidence of the termination of the employer's liability to pay compensation under such agreement or award Provided however That the board or a referee designated by the board may at any time within [six hundred weeks from the date of the injury] one year from the date to which payment is made as evidenced by such final receipt set aside a final receipt upon petition filed with the board if it be conclusively proved that [at the time of the execution of the receipt the injured employe was not in fact able to return to work without loss of earning power or that the employe had a condition which resulted from the accident which condition existed at the time the compensation agreement was executed and which was not covered by such agreement or that the employe had an existing disability at the time the final receipt was taken] such receipt was procured by fraud coercion or other improper conduct of a party or is founded upon mistake of law or of fact

[Payments shall be made by the employer or insurance carrier on every agreement or award other than for a definite period until a final receipt has been filed with and approved by the department or until a petition to terminate or modify has been filed under section four hundred and thirteen]

[Section 435 Any hospital institution physician surgeon or other person who has furnished surgical medical dental or nursing services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicines or supplies for which the employer is made liable under the provisions of this act shall be deemed a party in interest and have standing with consent of the claimant before the board or any referee designated by the board and the courts of this Commonwealth to present a claim for remuneration for such services hospital treatment artificial appliances medicine and supplies and have the same heard and determined and shall be entitled to receive an award for such renumerations Any such claimant shall be entitled to enforce any such award in the same manner as claimants of compensation are entitled to enforce awards of compensation]

[Section 436 The board or a referee designated by the board or any court of this Commonwealth in granting an award of compensation to an injured employe or his dependents or in affirming or modifying and affirming such an award or in reversing the disallowance of such an award shall in addition to such compensation include in such an award or judgment experts fees if any rendered in any such proceeding payment of which may be enforced in the same manner as the payment of an award may be enforced under the provisions of this act]

[Section 437 Any claimant may appear in person or be represented by counsel learned in the law or he may be represented by a member of his duly recognized union or labor organizations Such labor representative shall be selected by said union or labor organization and duly approved by the department to practice before any referee or the board]

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation, for the purpose of a public hearing.

On the question,

Will he House agree to the motion?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise in opposition to this motion for the reason that an arrangement is being made to hold public hearings in the Senate instead of having two hearings. That arrangement has been made and we have arranged that they shall be heard. Nobody asked me except two people to arrange for a hearing. I think there will be time in the Senate to be heard if these bills should pass the House, and for that reason, as the session is drawing to a close, we would like to have action today on these bills on second reading. Therefore, I ask the members of the House to take whatever action they wish upon second reading today on these bills and vote down this motion.

I want to say further that the gentleman from York had made no such request of me.

I feel in a matter of this kind that at least the courtesy should have been extended to me to give me an opportunity to work something out. This bill has been printed and has been on the calendar and in committee for some length of time, and nothing of this kind has occurred. Therefore, I ask that the motion be voted down.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I for one do not feel that the membership of this House should abrogate their legislative prerogatives to the Senate. This bill is of utmost importance to every working man, woman and child in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and if the majority feels that a measure of such implications should be hastily passed by this membership and turned over to the Senate for the purpose of public hearing, and for complete elucidation as to the sinister amendments that have already been put into these bills, if they wish to abrogate their legislative power that is their burden, but I, for one, cannot feel that this bill should be enacted and that no move should be made until every one of the numerous technical amendments that have been inserted in this bill are thoroughly understood by each and every member of the House that is called upon to vote for it.

The bill as it now stands goes even further than the inadequate Act of 1935. At that time both parties were pledged to a liberalization of the Workmen's Compensation Act, and when the Democrats were elected they tried to so liberalize the act.

Today we are confronted with a Workmen's Compensation Bill that is so completely defective in its social vision and its social outlook that if the majority of this House wish to assume that responsibility for political purposes, I would be only too glad to have them do it, but in addition to the political purposes there is the responsibility to the men and women of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who are working, and I wish to say that the only way we can understand the full measure of this bill is to have public hearings.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Jefferson whether or not this bill reenacts the Superior Court's decision in the Romig Case?

Mr. WILSON. It does not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Jefferson point out the section of the act that modifies the Superior Court's decision in the Romig Case?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, it would really take too much time to explain the Romig case, but from the experience this House had in the Session of 1937, I am quite convinced that the gentleman from York might be able to tell what this Romig Case was, and the various effects of this bill. There was time when the people on the other side of the House had a chance to find out about the bill, but in 1937 they showed but little respect for the man who thought at that time, and so announced, that he could explain those various things. The older members of the House know what courtesies was extended to him. There was a duty placed in the hands of the gentleman from Jefferson, who happened to be Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Committee. I want to say to this House, that not a man, Republican or Democrat, since the beginning of this Session, has come forward and offered to do a single thing to take care of this great problem. To pick out a single case, which I am quite confident the gentleman from York could easily find, if he wanted to ask me about it I should have been glad to explain it, but he did not see fit to do so. If the gentleman from York wanted to know anything about Bill No. 1030 I would have been glad to explain it to him. There is no use now in trying to go into any particular feature of this bill, unless the question is to be debated out in full, on a motion to refer back to committee. I feel that it is not proper and right to pick out a single paragraph in this bill and ask about it. If you have any amendments, if you have any ideas, if you have any plans or suggestions, or if you have any interpretations, now is the time to bring them forward.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WILSON. That is perfectly all right, we would like to hear from the gentleman from York.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Jefferson, if on page eight, section 301 of the bill, there is a clause to the effect that no compensation shall be paid if the employe should fail to use the proper safety appliances?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please repeat the page?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, page eight, section 301-a.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Right at the bottom, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, in that section there are found words to this effect: "or is caused by the employe's willful disobedience of orders, rules or regulations adopted by the employer for the protection of the safety of persons employed and the preservation of property or is caused by the employee's willful failure or refusal to use a safety appliance provided for him or is caused by the employee's violation of law——" I might say to the gentleman that the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has passed upon these very things heretofore. This is not a proper time on such a motion to debate the reason for putting that back into the bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. May I inquire of the gentleman from Jefferson whether he means to put into the bill the reduction in paragraph c, on page 9, reducing in that definition injuries——

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to extend every possible latitude on measures of the importance of this one, but feels that the gentleman from York is getting far away from the question of recommitting the bill for the purpose of a hearing.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will withhold further interrogation along these lines, and rise to address the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, nothing that I can say will impress upon the membership of this House the necessity for a public hearing on this bill. The gentleman from Jefferson has given ample reason for the necessity of a public hearing. He has told you that he put in that amendment himself, and I say to the membership of this House that this bill is chock full of amendments inserted by the gentleman from Jefferson, put in there by himself to the detriment of the workers of Pennsylvania. If the majority of this House feel that they should rely upon the ability of one man in framing a law of such implications then they may do so, but I call to the attention of the membership of this House, if you have any consideration for the men and women working in your communities you will refer this bill back to committee for the purpose of a public hearing and complete elucidation and discussion of all the amendments inserted by the gentleman from Jefferson.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, right at this point the gentleman from Jefferson desires to state that the bill was in its entirety, from beginning to end, written by himself, and it was written to take care of the situation that took out from under the protection of the act fully two hundred thousand employees in this state, because of the rejection of the act by their employers. Fully that many more people are not covered by the act at all because the employers are not paying any attention to it, because of the fact that the act of 1937 was so hard and so expensive that the employers of this state could not afford to take it. For that reason it has broken down entirely. No effort has been made by the gentleman from York to take care of these things. The Supreme Court has passed on it and declared it unconstitutional in at least eight particulars, and those particulars have been taken care of in this bill. The people of my party have entrusted me with this work. The people of the state ought to have somebody take care of this matter. The people on the other side, when they started out in 1935 and when they finished up in 1937, showed by their handiwork that they did not have a single man with sufficient experience upon whom they could rely to do it, and they made a mess of it. It is here for you to determine whether you want to let them do it again.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have just been informed by a Democratic member of the Workmen's Compensation Committee that that Committee had one meeting, a twenty minute meeting, in which this bill with the amendments were submitted to the committee, and then railroaded out on the floor of the House. If the gentleman who is Chairman of that Committee can refute that statement, and on the basis of that statement cause the membership of this House to bestow upon him or abrogate to him their entire legislative prerogative on a subject like this, then we are not abrogating legislative prerogative, we are abrogating our constituents.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, just one word. The gentleman from Jefferson would like to make the statement that the bill was not railroaded out. There was nobody to help. The entire Republican group expressed its confidence in the author of this bill, left him to do it, and that was all there was to it. The two Democratic members said no, and the one member who probably reported it to the floor leader on the other side, did not even know that the Supreme Court had passed upon it, and had declared eight parts of it unconstitutional. I am telling you they don't take this matter seriously. If they would spend twenty-three years of their lives in the administration of this act, become familiar with every portion of it, assume the responsibility of its administration and see the condition which it is in now, they would approach the proposition in an entirely different manner.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, since the gentleman has indicated his vast experience and knowledge pertaining to the Workmen's Compensation Law and has indicated that that experience has extended over a period of twenty-three years, I wish to read to the members of the House a statement by the gentleman from Jegerson relating to his ability and pronounced legal attainments on the Workmens' Compensation

Law. The gentleman in his autobiography says that he has "specialized in such practice for twenty-two years, representing several large coal companies—"

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, are we discussing the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson, or the motion to recommit?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from Venango is correct. The gentleman from York is out of order.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, that is one of the reasons pronounced by the gentleman from Jefferson indicating his super-knowledge, and the reason why we should abrogate our legislative prerogatives and bestow complete confidence, in the action of this House, on the gentleman. It has been conceded by the gentleman that he has had twenty-three years of experience. It is for the membership to determine whether that twenty-three years of experience that the gentleman had, is such experience that warrants the membership of this House in not referring the bill back to committee for a public hearing.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from York has brought the gentleman from Jefferson into the position where he had to make that answer. The gentle- from York is out of order in debating the question from that angle. The gentleman from Jefferson was out of order in the answer that he made.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. If the gentleman from Jefferson will admit to the House that his twenty-three years' experience is fair——

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York is out of order in pursuing further statements along this line. The question before the House is on the motion to recommit the bill. It is not a question on the qualifications of the gentleman from Jefferson.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. The purpose of my motion and the question before the House is for the recommitment of the bill to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation for the purpose of a public hearing. The gentleman from Jefferson has indicated in his remarks that he alone is responsible for the particular legislation that is now before the House. I do not wish to prolong this debate, but I feel sure, forgetting party affiliation, that the membership of this House must come to the conclusion that this bill is complicated, that its implications and ramifications are far-reaching, that it goes into every workingman's home in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and we should not, out of fairness to our constituents, allow such a bit of legislation to pass on the responsibility of one man. I ask the membership of this House, particularly in view of the fact that the gentleman from Jefferson has not denied the course of deliberation that this bill was exposed to in the Committee, has not denied that there has been but one meeting of twenty minutes duration, has not denied that the bill as it now is before the House is his own amended bill, I say to the membership of this House, in view of that situation, this bill should be sent back to the committee for the purpose of a hearing and for the purpose of elucidation to the membership of this House as to just what they are voting on.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not he is a member of the Committee on Workmen's Compensation?

Mr. MORAN. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I request the gentleman from Allegheny to explain to the House just what extended deliberation this bill was exposed to in that Committee, if any?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from York knows better than to ask that question. It is clearly out of order.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny how many meetings were called by the Chairman of the Committee on Workmen's Compensation?

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman from Allegheny knows.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. If the gentleman knows.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, one meeting last week.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny for what length of time that Committee met?

Mr. MORAN. In answer to the gentleman from York, Mr. Speaker, I would say that the length of time consumed by the Committee altogether was about forty-five minutes. I would further say that about thirty minutes of that time was consumed by the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson, in telling us about his history.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from Allegheny took advantage of the situation. The gentleman from Allegheny has been here long enough to know that the deliberations of Committees cannot be revealed on the floor of the House.

Mr. MORAN. I would like to ask whether I am being interrogated by the Speaker or by the minority floor leader.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, of course well knows that he is not being interrogated by the Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not the amendments presently in these bills were discussed by the gentleman from Jefferson with the gentleman from Allegheny prior to their inclusion in the bill?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, they were not.

The SPEAKER. The Chair asks the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, whether he intended that question to imply that the discussion took place during the meeting of the committee?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. No, Mr. Speaker, prior to the meeting.

Mr. MORAN. It was not.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as a member of the Workmen's Compensation Committee, and as a representative of labor, I am very much interested in the Workmen's Compensation Law, and when this meeting was called I had another meeting, a meeting of the Committee on Labor in which very important bills were to be considered, but I felt that I should go to the Workmen's Compensation Committee and attend that meeting because there were to be certain bills, in fact the bill under discussion now, to be brought up. I went to that meeting a little late. I think on my arrival the Committee had a quorum and I asked Mr. Wilson, the Chairman of that Committee at that time, if he had been approached by any one for a public hearing and he said that nobody had consulted him in regard to a public hearing. He said if they wanted a public hearing and if they would ask him he would give it consideration. I believe that since that time several organizations and probably several individuals have asked Mr. Wilson for a public hearing. Now, Mr. Wilson made the statement a few minutes ago that there would be a public hearing over in the Senate and it would not be necessary to have one in the House, I would like to point out to you members of the House, are we going to stand on our own feet, or are we going to have the Senate tell us what we want to do?

Last night the Speaker ruled that we could not even discuss the Senate. I say to the members of this House that this bill was railroaded out of Committee and the members of that committee did not have any chance to give any consideration to this bill. We should have this bill re-committed for further study and a public hearing.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, if the gentleman from Allegheny is raising a point of order?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to be informed.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman made reference to a ruling of the Chair, and in view of his statement the Chair inquires of the gentleman from Allegheny whether he is raising a point of order?

Mr. MORAN. No, I am not Mr. Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, under Rule No. 72, can a member of this House, who has a personal or private interest in certain legislation, take an active part on the floor of the House in the passage of that legislation?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the question has been answered many times. It has no application to the present proceeding and the point of order is not well taken.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the Speaker of the House construe Rule 72 which is in effect in this House, which reads "A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed"—

The SPEAKER. Does what?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, "or pending before the House shall disclose the fact to the House and shall not vote thereon."

The SPEAKER. We are not voting on the measure.

Mr. HOLLAND. "Shall disclose the fact to the House"—

The SPEAKER. At the time of the voting.

Mr. HOLLAND. We are now voting on the question of a public hearing.

The SPEAKER. We are not voting on the passage of a bill. The gentleman's point of order is not well taken.

Mr. HOLLAND. We are voting on a section.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is not well taken.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have the Chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Committee state whether or not he has ever called a meeting of that Committee to organize.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the one meeting that we did have was the meeting where we organized and put out these bills. However, for the information of the House, and for the information of the gentlemen who seem to have so much interest in the bills now, I might state that every step that has been taken on this measure has been made known to the majority members of the House, which we feel we have a perfect right to do. The bill was amended in 1935 and in 1937, and the majority members of the Committee at that time were fully aware what this bill was, they were fully aware what the bill contained, and everything has been explained to them.

As I told the gentleman from Allegheny, there was no application made to me for a public hearing except by two persons, and I rather suspect that that request was inspired by the people on the other side. Be that as it may, that was the only request I have had for a public hearing, and I think that the proper arrangements will be made for them to be heard.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the members of this House, in pure sportsmanship, to support the motion to recommit this bill for a public hearing, because as a member of that Committee, and as a member of several other Committees which had meetings that morning, I took it for granted that perhaps since this was the first time the Workmen's Compensation Committee was meeting, it was probably a meeting to organize, as you members of the House known in the early part of the session the committees meet and organize and then have their meetings. I was personally interested in this bill and the Committee, but I took it for granted that it would only organize. I didn't have the opportunity to get there, so I do not know anything about what took place. There was one meeting held. They organized and reported bills out. I think it is unsportsmanlike to have one meeting and report a bill of that type out. I think we should be fair and send this bill back for a public hearing.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker. We want to extend the gentleman every courtesy.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, on page 22 of House Bill 1030, on line 8, are the words, "the elbow and the" and there is a line and the word "elbow" is on the line—that was put back in the act the same as it was before—

Mr. WILSON. If the gentleman means what change does that make in the bill, he will find if he will look at the act, and refer to page—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the motion. This is a motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the question on the motion.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise ta parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether or not I can ask the sponsor of this bill what effect a particular clause has in the bill in question?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman cannot under a motion to recommit.

Mr. JIROLANIO. I would like to know from the Chair if the gentleman from Jefferson will agree to put the bill on the postponed calendar for the purpose of a public hearing?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, we feel that the dilatory tactics on second reading do not warrant the courtesy that has already been extended to the gentlemen on the other side.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Jefferson whether he has had any requests for a public hearing on this bill?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I have just stated that last night I had one request from some railroad men and I am making arrangements for those people to be heard. They will be heard either in the Senate, if the bill passes the House, or they will be heard by me. Arrangements are being made now.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell the members of the House how we can offer an amendment to the bill, in case he would grant a public hearing and in case it was necessary to amend the bill?

Mr. WILSON. I shall inform the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, how that may be amended. If they have the power to put it back into committee on the second reading, they have the power after second reading. I call attention to the dilatory tactics which occurred last evening and which kept us here for hours, and I say to you that that condition would not have been tolerated for a minute during the Session of 1937. The only reason I am taking up the time in debate is to clear it up and to call attention to those things as to how—

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the members on this side of the House seem to be opposed to it, I will answer one more question of the gentleman.

Mr. MORAN. I would like to ask the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson, due to the fact that this bill has been reported out, and a lot of organizations, especially labor organizations throughout the state have only become aware of the fact recently, and the members have not had a chance to put in a request to Mr. Wilson, whether he is opposed to having the bill recommitted, and whether he will not pass it over until these people have a chance to make their requests and get the requests in for a public hearing?

Mr. WILSON. I will be very glad to consider the matter, Mr. Speaker. Any requests that come to me will receive due consideration. The members on the other side of the House who have known me for a long time, know very well that I will give them every consideration.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I am very sorry, in view of the fact that the majority members feel I should not answer any more questions, I cannot answer any more questions.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think it is very unfair to have this bill pass second reading without giving an opportunity for a public hearing, in order that possible amendments may be offered. I think it is very unfair and I ask the members of the House to vote in favor of this public hearing.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to prolong the debate. Apparently this resolves itself into a party issue, but there are certain things that surmount party issues.

The gentleman from Jefferson in the course of his interrogation has seen fit to call to the attention of this House the fact that all the amendments to this bill, were discussed with the majority members, they were acquainted with what was happening to the bill, but no Committee meeting was held and no discussion was had with the minority. In view of that fact I must insist that honest legislation requires that this bill should go back for a public hearing. In all my experience in this House, I have never seen such derelicition of Committee obligation as has been testified to by the gentleman from Jefferson. I might state that it is not confined to the gentleman from Jefferson's Committee because the same situation has occurred not once but innumberable times, where the majority members of this House have been receiving information and have been hearing testimony—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his point of order.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the motion.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am citing this as an example of railroading of legislation that characterizes committees of this House. I can point not only to the example that has been testified to on this bill, but I can point to the method utilized by the Liquor Control

Committee and the Utilities Committee where information was kept by Committee members, and information being part and parcel belongs to the entire committee. If this Commonwealth, if this Legislature, is to run on a committee system the committees should be committees and any information they receive—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his point of order.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the motion to recommit this bill to the Committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

The Chair feels that the widest possible latitude should be allowed in debate on a matter as important as this, but the Chair feels the question has been discussed and discussed again, and that the gentleman from York should confine himself to the motion before the House.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my reasons for asking that this bill be recommitted to the Committee are due to the fact that the Committee has not given this bill proper study. I am only speaking on that one single proposition. I call to the attention of the membership of this House that that lack of study characterizes the course of many important Committees of the House, and I say to the gentleman from Jefferson and I say to the Republican members of the House that never in all of my legislative experience have I seen such a situation as exists in relation to this particular bill, where a Committee does not meet for approximately three and one-half months to consider one of the most important bills of this entire session, and but twenty minutes utilized to discuss the bill, and the bill reported out on the floor of the House for consideration.

The gentleman from Jefferson has said that he had not received any requests for a public hearing up until the time this bill came out. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, nobody in the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania could conceive that such a bill would come out of committee, and I say that if due deliberation and consideration had been given to this measure even by the majority members of the House, the bill would never have come out on the floor of the House for a vote. I say to the membership of this House that you are now at the turning point of your own legislative career. By voting to keep this bill on the floor of the House, by voting to railroad this bill through, you will all be only "one termers."

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is very interesting to hear what the gentleman from York has said as to what took place in the conduct of Committees during this session. I would like to call the attention of the gentleman from York and of the members of the House who were here in 1937, as to what happened at that time in relation to Committee meetings. I have seen Dave Lawrence come into the House caucus room and order out of the Committee every Democratic member. The other members of the committee had to wait until they were all ready to come back.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of information.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Did the Speaker not rule that the proceedings of Committees were not to be discussed on the floor of the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair did so rule and the gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. TROUT. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that I did not discuss any action that was taken by any Committee. I am discussing and making a statement of what took place before the Committee was in session. I further want to say that those of us who were here in 1937 cannot help but remember that—

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of information.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, what is the question before the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is all but lost as to where it is, and as to what the question is. The Chair feels that the gentleman from York might be better able to advise the gentleman from Allegheny. As the Chair recalls it, there was a motion made to recommit House Bill No. 1030, Printer's No. 534, to the Committee on Workmen's Compensation for the purpose of a public hearing.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, do the proceedings of a Committee in 1937 have any reference to the question before the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that in view of the attitude taken by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, that the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, is within his rights and is properly making an answer.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I am thoroughly aware of the question before the House. I was going to say that those of use who were here in 1937 have not forgotten the star chamber meeting of committees that were held in the conference room. Time and time again the Chairman of the Democratic party came in and dictated to the men on the various Committees, and you know it. There were meetings of Committees called that no one knew what the bill was until it was laid on the table and told that the administration wants this out, and out it came. Now why in the Sam Hill—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, there isn't any occasion to discuss the things that have been discussed on the floor of this House. I know, and the members of the House know, that there were sub-committees working on various bills. I have had several meetings of my committee, the Committee on Motor Vehicles, of which I think the gentleman from York is a member, and as I recall the gentleman from York did not attend one meeting. The gentleman from York is now complaining that bills have been railroaded out of Committee, when as a matter of fact he has failed to attend any meeting of the Committee, or be present at any meeting of the Committee.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in replying to the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, in relation to the conduct of Committee meetings in 1937, may I just make this brief statement: That the Democratic party in 1937 and in 1935 never made any real effort to throttle the members of the House. You members on the other side may laugh this off, but it was possible in 1937 for three members to resolve the House into a committee of the whole. Immediately, when the Republicans came into power, they destroyed that rule and it requires a majority of the members—

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from Monroe is extending the latitude very, very far.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot help but realize that we are barred from the question as submitted to the House, but I assumed, Mr. Speaker, that when latitude was extended to the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, to discuss the method of the conducting of this House in 1937, that I would be permitted the same latitude in pointing out to the members of this House that debate was possible, that bills could be considered in their entirety and that we no longer made no effort to throttle, where as now we have a perfect example of throttling.

I can understand why the other side of the House is concerned and do not like this point raised, but I say that the people of Pennsylvania who are asking for this hearing, and not the minority group, are entitled to such a hearing. You are not throttling us, Mr. Speaker, you are throttling the people of Pennsylvania and to them you will be given an opportunity to answer.

Mr. SCHROCK. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Schrock, Stockham, Yeakel, Eckels, VanAllsburg, Boose, Woodside, Habbyshaw, Ackermann, Stewart, Norman Wood, Curran, Cadwalader, Terry, Trout, Royer, Gillette, Muir, Serrill and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Moran and Mr. Skale.

The verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. Williams, Baker and Boies.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the section?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, my parliamentary inquiry is that my motion to recommit the bill for the purpose of a public hearing was made prior to the reading of section one of the bill. It was made immediately after the bill was called up.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York ought to know that before the Chair can entertain any motion, he must have the clerk read section one. The Chair remembers very distinctly that section one was read while the gentleman was endeavoring to be recognized by the Chair.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I don't wish to disagree with the Chair, but immediately upon the question as to whether the bill was called up, I received recognition and moved that the bill be recommitted for the purpose of a public hearing, section one not having been read.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to advise the gentleman from York again that the record shows that the first section was read before the gentleman from York made his motion. The section had not been agreed to. The question then was, Will the House agree to the section? The Chair then again recognized the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that there seems to be a concerted effort by the other side to delay and to hold up the work of the people who are trying to prepare this bill, I will answer one or two questions for the gentleman to see whether it is good faith or not, and from then on we will leave it open for debate.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Jefferson the reason for the deletion in section one, page three, line sixteen, beginning with the word "whenever" and including thereafter lines seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, and twenty?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the provision is in these words:

> "Whenever used in any clause prescribing and imposing a fine or imprisonment or both the term 'employer' as applied to partnerships or joint-stock companies or corporations shall mean the partners or the executive officers or local managers thereof."

The words speak for themselves. It was a provision that some of us thought should be taken from the bill. I think that provision was entirely uncalled for and it seems to me it should have been taken out of the bill, and I think practice has so proven.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman, does the bill further on in section one remove the criminal responsibility for violation of the act?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, in what clause?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman if the bill removes the responsibility for violation of the act?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean on the part of the employer or on the part of the employe?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, on the part of the employes.

Mr. WILSON. No. Mr. Speaker, I believe not. It is very difficult in a bill of this size to refer to any particular part thereof. There are some particular places in the bill, and without counting it over I do not know just where that provision is, that they are supposed to comply.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Jefferson whether those words are particularly obnoxious to him and what benefit will accrue to the people of Pennsylvania, whether they be employes or employers, by the deletion of lines sixteen to twenty inclusive on page three?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, this is repetition. This provision, it seems to me, is an unjust provision, it may be my own idea, that it should be taken out. The people who run corporations of that sort should not be made personally responsible for something that might happen in that particular. It takes a long time to go over this bill, and if this House wishes to take up the time, I will do so. Far be it from me to say that you should not have the opportunity to ask these questions, but due to the desire of those on this side of the House that this interrogation should not go on, I feel that I am carrying out the wishes of my party in refusing to be further interrogated.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is there anybody in the House who would acquiesce to an interrogation on this bill? Apparently not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am wholly unprepared to discuss the demerits of this bill. I think they are so apparent that even a superficial reading, and even relying upon my superficial knowledge of the Workmen's Compensation Law, nevertheless brings me to certain conclusions relative to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would ask the gentleman from York, does he desire to discuss the bill in its entirety?

If so, the Chair feels that the gentleman should ask to be permitted to discuss the bill in its entirety.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, are we on Section 1 of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Section 1 of the bill has been read.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is that the section which is about to be agreed to, or not agreed to?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am discussing section 1 of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. If you will turn to page three of the bill, you will see that section one hundred four of the bill previously read as follows:

> "The term 'employe' as used in this act is declared to be synonmous with servant and includes
> "(a) All natural persons including minors—"

Now they have taken out of this act the word "minors". I don't know just why they would take the minors out of this section under discussion, but apparently twenty-three years of experience leads one to the conclusion that if a minor is injured you ought to pay compensation. Apparently the Pennsylvania self-insurers do not like to compensate a minor so they take the minors out of the bill which will allow a reduced cost for workmen's compensation.

Then you read a little further and on the same page they take our persons who perform agricultural and domestic service in a private home. Now, the act obviously included minors as well as the possibility of including agricultural service and domestic service in a private home.

The gentleman is whispering. Is that under the rules of cricket?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Here we come to a very interesting amendment that has been inserted, where the term 'employe" is defined. This is at the bottom of page three. You say that the term "employe" is amended so that it will not include an individual who is performing service in private homes. The amendment says, "and exclusive of persons to whom articles or materials are given out to be made up cleaned washed altered ornamented finished or repaired or adapted for sale in the worker's own home or on other premises not under the control or management of the employer." Now, that means that an individual who is sending out materials to be worked upon in the home, an employer sending out work for home operation, even though that is somewhat limited after the passage of the 1937 industrial home act which I am surprised has not been the subject of arson similar to the conflagration that this bill is now being exposed to but none the less even in the restricted business of industrial home work, they still wish to deprive the employe who is doing work in the home of compensation for any accident occasioned by being in the service of the employer.

I can easily see that that is going to cut down the workmen's compensation costs, because where an indivdual is in a home performing work on the employer's materials, if that individual happens to get hurt in the performance of that duty, there would be a responsibility for the payment of compensation. However, this takes that out of the act and says to the people who are performing industrial home work "Men and women of Pennsylvania, when you are doing work for your employer in your home, you will not receive compensation for any injuries sustained by you in the course of such employement."

Now, let's see what else I can find. Now we come to page four of the bill, beginning with line five, they take out one whole paragraph, they take out the paragraph which says that volunteer firemen are not included under House Bill No. 1930. Now, why? Because the gallery over there tells me that that is included in another bill, but why the separate bill? I don't know why you take out perfectly good legislation, legislation that even the Supreme Court of the state of Pennsylvania says is alright, why you would take that out of the bill and put it in another bill. Is it possible that having taken it out of this bill, the great authority on workmen's compensation will then say, "We won't pass the other bill?" Now, that is a possibility, but Mr. Wilson shakes his head and says, "No, that wont happen," but if anybody—

The SPEAKER. The Chair being charged with the responsibility of preserving decorum in the House is also charged with the responsibility of the safety of the members. The Chair would ask the gentleman from York not to point that cigar at anybody.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the membership of the House, I wish to inform the members that this is not a twelve ball roman candle.

Mr. Speaker, I can't conceive why we should waste the time of the House in discussing legislation that takes provisions out of one bill and puts them in another. I remember when I was chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee, we decided we were going to reduce costs, and we were going to reduce costs by reducing printing costs, but look what you men are doing to the state of Pennsylvania by taking out of a bill a perfectly constitutional section and then having Bill No. 1302 printed, the cost of which may be five hundred dollars, six hundred dollars, seven hundred dollars, eight hundred dollars or one thousand dollars. I can only say if you are doing that, you are doing it possibly because you are not going to pass Bill No. 1302, with the result that the volunteer firemen will not receive workmen's compensation when they are answering their call to duty, hurrying to a fire to put out the conflagration. I think it would be a good idea to leave in this bill the volunteer firemen, because they are the first ones that should be called to put out this bonfire of legislation that is now burning the protection of the people of the Commonwealth, but it will save Pennsylvania self-insurers some dough, it will save possibly some municipalities some money; it will allow insurance companies writing workmen's compensation insurance on municipalites to restrict their liability and thereby possibly get a larger percentage of profit on the underwriting, so they say, "We will take them out of this bill and we will put them in another bill."

Apparently on the defintions they are quite satisfied until they come to the section on page 5 which states:

> "Minors shall have the same power to contract file claims for compensation and receive compensation as adult employees, subject however to the power of the board and its discretion at any time to require the appointment of a guardian to contract or to receive moneys thereunder or under an award for the benefit of any such minor. Any minor employed by his parent or parents shall have the right to file a claim for compensation under this act against such parent or parents in his own name and in his own right and to enforce the payment of such compensation."

Now, they have taken out that section and by so doing they say that there is a possibility that at the first inception of a compensation claim, a minor will not have the right, will not have the contractural responsibility to enter suit or to proceed in an effort to collect compensation awards which the minor is entitled to. Why they do that can easily be that it must be the result of the fact that if a minor were restricted in the prosecution of his claim, it would mean that there would be less possibility of his obtaining a compensation award, with the attending decrease in the cost to the Pennsylvania self insurers and to the insurance companies that write Workmen's Compensation.

That applies to the definition. We see in the application of the definition that only on a few articles have they taken out the possibility of domestic and agricultural employees being compensated. They have relieved the employer from criminal responsibility for failing to do his duty under the act; they have excluded the people in industrial home work; they have excluded volunteer firemen and they have excluded the right of minors to prosecute their claims when injured, in their own right.

Now, we come, after that short discussion into the definition of the act, to the problem—well, first, we have the section "Damages by action at law" and apparently there is not much excitement in that respect. They take out an entire page, page 6. They take out the .1 section of section 201, which reads as follows:

"In any action brought to recover damages for personal injury to an employee in the course of his employment or for death resulting from such injury the following legal presumption of the rules for admitting certain evidence and the amount of damages which can be recovered shall apply.

"(a) When injury results to an employe in the course of his employment it shall be presumed that the employer's negligence caused said injury which presumption may be rebutted by the employer and both the injured employe and the employer will be permitted to introduce testimony showing the cause of said injury. The final determination in all cases shall be a question of fact for the jury.

"When an employe sustains an injury in the course of his employment declarations remarks and utterances made by the injured employe within twelve hours after the injury was sustained shall be admissible as competent evidence.

"If the jury finds that the employe's injury was caused or contributed to by the employer's violation or failure to observe any safety law or regulation in effect at the time of the injury the injured employe or his dependents shall be entitled to double damages."

Now, look at this new part of the bill dealing with the definition. The gentleman who gave birth to this malformation says that if an employe does not abide by the safety rules that employe cannot secure compensation, and then they say that if the employer fails to maintain the proper safety appliances, there is no additional responsibility placed upon the employer. Now, if there ever was a section of a bill that definitely shows to the membership of this House the background that went into the development of these particular amendments, you can gather from just a cursory study of the bill on that question. I won't prolong my debate on it. I want you to study it. I want you to take it back to the citizens and tell them what a great guy you are. If an employe violates the safety rules, he won't get compensation, and if an employer violates the safety rules he will not have to pay the normal amount.

I am going to check upon each and every one of you in the November election of 1940 and find out if you told your constituents what great legislators you are, how you protected the interests of the working men and women in your community. That was paragraph c. I am taking this in the reverse order, because we will start bad and we will get a little worse.

Now, we will take section (b).

"When an employe sustains an injury in the course of his employment declarations remarks and utterances made by the injured employe within twelve hours after the injury was sustained shall be admissible as competent evidence."

The originator of this peculiar malformed, disformed, and uninformed brain child is now saying that an employe should not be given the benefit of those particular evidence rules in the prosecution of his claim.

(a) I don't know much about, but nevertheless I will attempt to discuss it and it read as follows:

"(a) When injury results to an employe in the course of his employment it shall be presumed that the employer's negligence caused said injury which presumption may be rebutted by the employer and both the injured employe and the employer will be permitted to introduce testimony showing the cause of said injury. The final determination in all cases shall be a question of fact for the jury."

Oh yes! Yes, let us take this: this Compensation Law has said up to the present time, the mere fact that you have an injury there is a presumption that the injury was occasioned by the negligence of the employer. In fact the question of negligence never arises in Workmen's Compensation, but be that as it may, it is put in here.

Now, we will pass a lot and we are now at page 7 of 81 pages. Nothing was done to Section 202 of the original act, and that must have been alright.

Section 203 reads:

"An employer who permits a sub-contractor or employe to engage another in whole or in part in services furthering the employer's regular business entrusted to such employe or sub-contractor shall be liable to the employe so engaged in the same manner and to the same extent as to his own employe whether said injury occurred from premises occupied or controlled by the employer or not provided only that the injury occurred in the course of employment."

Now, the gentleman knows that prior to 1937, a sub-contractor was not responsible to the employer. This bill now says that an employer must see that his sub-contractor carries Workmen's Compensation insurance, but that the employer will be responsible to the sub-contractor for the injury sustained by an employee working for the sub-contractor even though the employe was not working at the time on the employer's premises. Now, that must go out and in its place they say

"An employer who permits the entry upon premises occupied by him or under his control of a laborer or an assistant hired by an employe or contractor for the performance upon such premises of a part of the employer's regular business entrusted to such employe or contractor shall be liable to such laborer or assistant in the same manner and to the same extent as to his own employe."

Let me just cite you an example. I want to build a house and I need a contractor, so I employ a contractor and now, the general contractor needs a plumber—are there any plumbers in the House? Mr. Bretherick decides he is going to be a plumber. Now, the sub-contractor doing the plumbing, employs an employe and his employe gets mashed up going to the job, somehow driving his automobile, gets some injury. Now, the general contractor should have Workmen's Compensation insurance, and under the act as previously drawn, when Mr. Bretherick's employe was injured, if he did not have Workmen's Compensation insurnace, why then he, Bretherick's employe could look to Furman, as the general contractor. Under the act as previously drawn, the only time a sub-contractor's employe could look for compensation is where the injury occurred on the premises of the general contractor. Is that right, Mr. Wilson?

Mr. WILSON. That's right, and that was unconstitutional.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Wilson said I was right, and he said that what was in before was unconstitutional. Who said it was unconstitutional?

Mr. WILSON. The Supreme Court.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Only the Supreme Court of the state of Pennsylvania.

Now, we come to page 8. They didn't do anything to Section 204, but they did to Section 301. We now come to the problem of "Elective Compensation," and let us see what has been done to that.

> "Section 301 (a) When employer and employe shall by agreement either express or implied as hereinafter provided accept the provisions of article three of this act compensation for personal injury to or for the death of any such employe by an accident in the course of his employment shall be paid in all cases by the employer without regard to negligence according to the schedule contained in sections three hundred and six and three hundred and seven of this article provided that no compensation shall be paid when the injury or death is intentionally self inflicted."

Now, that hasn't been changed. Here comes the amendment:

> "Or is caused by the employe's wilful disobedience of orders, rules or regulations adopted by the employer for the protection of the safety of persons employed and the preservation of property or is caused by the employe's wilful failure or refusal to use a reasonable safety appliance provided for him or is caused by the employe's violation of law."

Now, members of the House, that part that I read with emphasis says to the employe, "Mr. Employe here are goggles that you should wear when you are welding, here are goggles that you should wear when you are cutting stone, and here is a safety belt that you should wear when you are climbing up a pole, and here are a million and one things. Now, wear them, because if you are injured without having those goggles, without having that safety belt on, without having any of the safety appliances"—that sometimes makes it impossible for an employe to perform his work "If you are injured without any of those appliances on, you are not entitled to Compensation."

Mr. WILSON. That was just decided by the Supreme Court also.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. The employe cannot under those circumstances receive compensation. Now, you men, know the difficulties with which individuals are confronted in the utilization of all these safety appliances. This act says to the employe, "Either you have them on or you don't get compensation." Is that right, Mr. Wilson? Mr. Wilson nods his head.

Now, paragraph b of section 301 reads: "The right to receive compensation under this act shall not be affected by the fact that a minor (is employed by his parent or parents)—they took that out—a minor employed by his parents under this act as now drawn cannot receive compensation; is that right, Mr. Wilson?

Mr. WILSON. No.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I just want to show you how that works. For example, I am an insurance company and I am insuring Mr. Wilson, carrying his workmen's compensation. I will go over Mr. Wilson's books and determine how much money he is paying out in salaries. The next step is to ascertain how much Mr. Wilson's rate should be for the particular type of wo he is doing, and the rating board sits down and they fi out that it should be three per cent of the wages. T insurance company goes down and they will check up the salaries paid by Mr. Wilson and they will say, "Yo workmen's compensation premium is now three per ce of all the salaries you are paying," but if perchange is employing his son who is a minor, although the insu ance company would asses Mr. Wilson's son's wages part of the compensation, they will not pay him insu ance in case the minor is injured. Mr. Wilson shakes h head, and I will have the stenographer note on the reco that Mr. Wilson shakes his head, no. I still think I a right.

Now, it goes on further, but be that as it may, a min working for his parents under this act now could not r cover workmen's compensation. Is that right?

Mr. WILSON. That's correct.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Wilson shakes his hea yes. Paragraph b of Section 301 goes on further and state

> "or that any minor or other employe on account of whose injury or death the benefits are claimed was violating any law or rule or regulation of the business or industry or a positive order of the employer at the time of the injury except that no minor or employe shall be entitled to receive compensation under this act who at the time of injury was engaged in the commission of a felony."

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, to save the tonsils the gentleman from York, I move the previous questio

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I did not yie the floor. I still have the floor and the only reason f the surrender of the floor would be the raising of a poi of order, which could not be done by the gentleman fro Bucks.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read for the informa tion of the gentleman from York, and for the informatio of the House, Rule 64:

> "No member when speaking shall be interrupted, except by a call to order by the Speaker, or by a member to explain, or by a motion for the previous question; nor shall any member be referred to by name in debate, unless for transgression of the rules of the House and then by the Speaker only."

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Schrock, Van All burg, Boose, Yeakel, Eckels, Ackermann, Stewart, Norma Wood, Curran, Cadwalader, McKinney, Watkins, Henr Kane, Hall, Alspach, Rose, Atkins, James, Denma Bretherick, Peale and others.

On the question,

Will the main question be now put?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will sta his parliamentary inquiry.

CONSTITUTIONAL INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I withdraw my parli mentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker, and raise a constitution inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his const tutional inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the bill n

having been read at length, is this House in a position to vote upon the main question?

The SPEAKER. The Journal shows that the first section was read, and the main question is on the agreement to Section 1.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I raise a further constitutional inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his constitutional inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEEN. I quote from Rule forty-two:

"Every bill and every joint resolution shall be read at length on three different days. All amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the members before the final vote is taken thereon and no bill shall become a law and no such resolution be adopted unless, on its final passage, the vote is taken by yeas and nays. The names of the persons voting for and against the same shall be entered on the Journal, and a majority of the members elected be recorded thereon as voting in its favor, as required by the Constitution, Article III, Section 4."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I submit to the members of the House that even though the Journal might indicate that the bill was read at length, I submit that this bill has not been read—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will yield. The gentleman is out of order.

Does the gentleman desire to state a parliamentary inquiry? There is nothing before the House but the question on whether the main question shall now be put.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, where the record of the Journal of the House incorrectly indicates that the bill has been read at length, even though the bill has not been so read, can the bill constitutionally be passed?

The SPEAKER. The Journal does not so indicate.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, my inquiry is directed to the fact that where the Journal does indicate that the bill has been read but in reality the bill has not been read at length in the House, can the bill constitutionally be passed?

The SPEAKER. The Journal does not so indicate.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Will the Speaker have the Journal Clerk read the action on the bill up to this point?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the question of the gentleman is out of order. There is nothing before the House but the question on whether the main question shall now be put. The Chair has allowed considerable latitude for the gentleman's questions of parliamentary inquiry, but there is nothing in order but the question on the motion of the gentleman from Bucks, shall the main question be now put.

MOTION TO LAY ON THE TABLE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the motion of the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, be laid upon the table.

The SPEAKER. The motion is out of order. His motion cannot be entertained. There is nothing before the House except the question on the motion of the gentleman from Bucks who moved the previous question. That motion cannot be laid upon the table.

On the question recurring,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Herbert B. Cohen and Mr. Ominsky and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the Chair ask the Journal Clerk to read to the House the Journal indicating whether or not the bill is now in position for agreement on the first section thereof?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will ask the Journal Clerk to read the Journal.

(The Journal was read by the Clerk.)

CONSTITUTIONAL INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a constitutional inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York will state his constitutional inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the Journal shows that the bill has been read, but does not show that Section 1 was read at length as provided by Article III, Section 4 of the Constitution. Can the bill be properly acted upon by the membership of this House in conformity with said article of the Constitution?

The SPEAKER. The Journal does not show that the bill was read. The Journal shows that Section 1 was read.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, Article III, Section 4 of the Constitution provides that the bill must be read at length on three different days. The Journal shows that Section 1 was read but does not show that the Section was read at length. I inquire whether failure to read Section 1 at length enables the House to vote on the section in conformity with the Constitution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the Journal shows that the section was read. That can mean nothing else than that the section was read at length. The record having been made, the House cannot go behind the record. There is nothing in order now but agreement on the main question, which was agreement as to Section 1. The Chair will not further recognize the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, and the Clerk will call the roll.

APPEAL FROM RULING OF CHAIR

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I appeal from the ruling of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of opinion that the only thing before the House is the main question, and that is agreement to Section 1.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I raise a further parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the Chair having entertained the question of parliamentary inquiry and the question of constitutionality having been raised from the floor, even after acquiescence by the House on the motion for the previous question, an appeal having been taken from the ruling of the Chair, is that appeal not in order, the Chair having entertained the question of constitutionality?

The SPEAKER. The question raised by the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, was a parliamentary inquiry made to the Speaker, from which there is no appeal. The Chair desires to read from Jefferson's Manual:

> "The right of appeal insures the House against the arbitrary control of the Speaker and cannot be taken away from the House; but appeals may not be entertained from responses to parliamentary inquiry."

The gentleman, therefore, is out of order.

POINTS OF ORDER

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has extended every courtesy to which he feels the gentleman from York and those who have put these questions are entitled.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to point of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has repeatedly said t there is nothing before the House but the calling of roll.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to point of order, which is always in order.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Herbert Cohen and Mr. Reuben E. Cohen.

A verification of the roll was requested by Mess Herbert B. Cohen, Ominsky and Hess.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

RECESS

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I renew my motion that this House do now take a recess until 8 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The House reconvened at 8 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. By reason of the absence of the Democratic leadership, if there be no objection, the Chair will pass over Bill 1030. The Chair hears none.

SENATE MESSAGES

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 576.

Amend section 2, page 2, line 22 by striking out after the word "section" and before the word "hereof" the word: "[two]" and inserting in lieu thereof the word: "one"

Amend section 3, page 2, line 25 by striking out at the end of the line the following: "[and for that purpose the Secretary of]"

Amend section 3, page 2, by striking out lines 26 to 28, inclusive.

Amend section 4, page 3, line 10, by inserting after "($100.00)" and before the word "for" the following: "nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00)"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

(Consideration of House Bill 1030 resumed)

The SPEAKER. At the time of recess the House had agreed to section 1. The Clerk will now read section 2.

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective ten days after its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. Very briefly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Jefferson whether ten days will be sufficient time from the passage of this bill until its effective date for the insurance carriers throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to adjust their rates so as to give the employers who purchase workmen's compensation insurance the benefit of the reductions that this act is going to effect.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe that will be ample time because I think these people are already qualified if there is no change in the bill. The amendments in this bill are such that the insurance people could very quickly compute what their rates are to be.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire just how much a reduction in the compensation rates will result as a result of the abolishment of unlimited medical benefits or the abolishment of medical benefits from three months to sixty days?

Mr. WILSON. This whole proposition requires scientific handling and you can't pick out just one proposition; it must be taken as a whole. To do that you must do it with training and experience, because every one of these propositions is based upon hazards and every employe is a hazard. If there are insurance carriers in this state carrying hazards, they know what those hazards are, they can apply those hazards to this new bill in a very few days. To pick out just one section of the bill and ask me about it, I am not a rating bureau, but as a whole I can tell the gentleman the effect of the bill, but it is unnecessary now to go into detail. Here is a blll that is well understood by people who understand workmen's compensation. Evidently the gentleman does not wish to get to the bottom of this bill or ask about it. We have used our best judgment, and I will say that that is ample time. There are two hundred thousand employes in this state not under any bill and by reason of rejection, there are perhaps an equal number that are not under the bill, because employers are not paying any attention to the act. The Supreme Court has made a decision recently declaring the present law unconstitutional in eight important particulars, which seriously affects the constitutionality of the whole bill and it is for that purpose that we are trying to put this bill through and save workmen's compensation. Evidently from the conversations that the gentleman from York had this afternaan and from the questions that he asked he does not know in what particulars the Supreme Court had decided that the present act is, I will say, unconstitutional. With this, Mr. Speaker, feeling that the purpose of all this conversation and all these questions is to work embarrassment, if possible, and to delay by filibuster, because I have been requested by the majority party not to enter into any—

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the statement of the gentleman is not responsive to the question. The gentleman has already given his answer.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Jefferson, since he cannot specify just how much reduction in premiums will result, for any specific reduction, just how the reduction in premiums will result as the result of the passage of the bill as it is now before us.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, as the gentleman well knows, so far as premiums are concerned, that is a matter for the rating board and for the insurance companies, but from actual experience, if the gentleman wants to know the actual cost from experience as relating to the bituminous coal fields, I can give him an idea about what it totals and how it would compare with the present bill, and how it compares with the old bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN.. Mr. Speaker, I am asking the gentleman just what reduction will result from the passage of this bill?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I will say to the gentleman that we are starting on the basis of the old bill prior to 1937, believing that the 1937 Act was so badly torn up by the ruling of the Supreme Court that it will be uncertain for months following. These reductions were so great from the very beginning of the act that there could not be much increase over the act prior to 1937, and with that in view I would say that from ten to twenty percent over the act prior to 1937 would be about what this increase would be over the old act, and it cuts the 1937 act accordingly, which of course, is unconstitutional. It would take hours to explain this to the gentleman from York, and for that reason, on questions of this kind, because it is growing late and there are many things to do, I am carrying out the plan of not answering any more questions.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Jefferson just one more question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, has the Secretary of Labor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania approved the bill in its present form?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I don't know because I haven't even conferred with the Secretary of Labor about this particular bill. I did the work with the assistance of the Committee and the Republican members and here is the bill which speaks for itself. I have no knowledge whether the Department of Labor and Industry approves the bill or the Secretary approves the bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish particularly to object to the enactment clause of this bill, because the enactment clause provides that the bill shall become effective ten days after its enactment. Irrespective of what the gentleman from Jefferson might say there is a tremendous problem involved in the actuarial work by the rating bureau necessary to compute the difference in premiums that should be paid as the result of the passage of this act. Ten days is insufficient time in order to get an accurate accounting, to determine just what reduction in premiums should be made in order to compensate the employer for the reduction in liability to which the employer is exposed. Of course this means a reduction in the benefits to the employee, and any employer readily knows that with a reduction in benefits and a reduction of his liability and a reduction in payments to the employee there should be an attending reduction in the premium. I say that ten days is entirely too short a time to allow the rating bureau to compute the figures that are necessary to determine the amount of reduction that should be forthcoming to those who are the purchasers of Workmen's Compensation Insurance

The bill makes considerable reduction; it reduced the limit of compensation for death from five hundred weeks to three hundred weeks after the accident. That problem has to be actuarily determined. It provides that the employe must be actively engaged in the business of the employer. The previous law, including the act of 1915, never went to that extreme. The act of 1915 only stated that the employe must be in the course of the employer's business. This says, "actually engaged." That must be determined to see what difference in premium should be chargeable to the employer, because the employee is to receive an attending reduction in benefit. The act also abolishes the requirement of the posting of notices of compensation. That particular problem also requires acturial study. Compensation for total disability is changed by the act. It raises the percentage from sixty-five, gives it a little sugar, to sixty-six and two thirds percent, and then starts to go down by lowering the weekly benefits from twelve dollars to nine dollars. It imposes a maximum limit of but seventy-five hundred dollars. Under the present act, and under the act of 1915, that limitation was not there. Now, how is the rating board going to determine in ten short days what particular rates should be charged as the result of the passage of this act? It abolishes the provision making compensation retroactive after disability has continued for four weeks. It provides that when partial disability is followed by total disability, the five hundred week period for which benefits would be payable shall be reduced by the number of weeks for which partial benefits were paid. The present act requires that when an employe goes on partial disability, he receives an extended compensation period of five hundred weeks. This act says, "No; the total amount of your payment shall be, five hundred weeks, and if you have been permanently disabled for a period of two hundred and fifty weeks and then you go on partial disability for a longer period of time, that time cannot extend beyond two hundred and fifty weeks," and so throughout the entire act there has been a limitation on the benefits that are to be received by the employe, with the result that there must be attending reductions in the premiums. How those reductions in the premiums can be figured out in ten days, I cannot see, and to show the difficulty that is involved, when the 1937 act was passed, that act was not made effective for a period of six and one half months after the passage of the act. The act was passed in the 1937 session and did not become effective until January 1, 1939. My superficial acquaintance with the problems led me to know that during that entire period of time that rating bureau and the actuaries were concerned with the rate to be charged, and during that entire period of time they were trying to determine the proper premium to be charged as the result of the passage of the 1937 act. By this effective date, ten days after the final passage of the act, you are asking the Rating Bureau, you are asking the employer of labor, you are asking the employee to put themselves in a position where in a mere ten days, those problems have to be decided. Members of the House, I say that it is impossible of performance. There is no rating bureau so equipped, irrespective of what information they have at their call, whereby they can determine in ten days, the honest, legitimate premium to be charged for workmen's compensation, and you can rest assured that until that premium is determined, the employers of this state will be paying an excessive rate, giving to the insurance companies excessive profits.

Under those circumstances I cannot see how this House can legitimately approve Section 2 of this act, which is the enactment clause, and I ask the membership of this House not to agree to it.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman from York and the members of this House to stop and think a minute. He speaks very eloquently upon the idea that when the bill was passed in 1937, it took seven months or more to adjust the rates by the rating department. The gentleman from York, and the members of this House could be informed by asking the people who composed the rating bureau.

Mr. Speaker, the provisions of the bill of 1937 were so generally recognized by every compensation man, whether an insurance man or a man who was essentially a self insurer, as having so many uncertain provisions in it that it would take six moths, it might even take a year or more, and even to this day, I am sure that the rating bureau by reason of the uncertain provisions of the act have been unable to tell accurately what the rates should be, but here we have insurance already placed, the insurance is being carried now, and the insurance rate will be reduced. There is no necessity for the rating bureau or any insurance company to change its compensation rates within ten days. They are carrying these rates and they can figure the difference out at their own free will and give credit accordingly. Each one of these employers have paid a certain amount ahead, they have taken out their insurance, and it was based on certain rates. Now then when they cut down their rates they are not going to be so high; any insurance carrier can figure them out, they have plenty of time to figure them out.

The reason we have ten days as the effective date of the act is because we want the people to be under this act as quickly as possible, to save the act. Sixty-five per cent of the anthracite coal operators of this state have rejected this act and are not under it at all now, and don't care whether they have any rates submitted by the bureau or not, and a goodly proportion of the bituminous coal operators have done the same thing and those with whom I have been connected have done the same. It is immaterial as far as we are concerned whether this act passes or not, I am merely telling you that the cost of insurance will be reduced, the insurance carriers can take their own time to give us that reduction, and if they want to get these two hundred thousand people who are not now under the act within a reasonable time, which they should be, they will have to cut the cost down somewhere near that provided by this bill. Therefore I say there isn't a word of this argument that has been advanced that applies to this case, because it is perfectly simple for them to take all the time they want to, and give credit in due time. They are not seeking new business, they are not seeking new contracts or anything of the sort, unless they want to approach these people to come back, and when they are ready, they may be able to get them back if they can quote the right price.

It is evident, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from York is not qualified to speak on this bill, and it is also evident that he has been out and has gotten some information from somebody and that somebody perhaps does not know what he is talking about. The only thing that he is objecting to comes from somebody that would not be told in 1937. The Supreme Court has told them now, and the gentleman does not seem to know about it. The rating board has told them, and the gentleman does not seem to know about that, the Dent report, which we could not pry loose in 1938, has told them.

I don't want to debate the merits of the bill, but I do say that ten days time is ample, because these rates do not have to be decided right away.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair believes that the gentleman from York understands that the desk is entitled to more than a single copy of the amendment, but in order that we have no difficulty and can dispose of the matter promptly, the Chair will ask the Clerk to read it.

The amendment was read by hte Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, Page 80, by striking out the entire lines 19 to 20 inclusive.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it does not seem to me that striking out Section 2 would accomplish anything along the line that the gentleman has indicated. He asks us to strike out Section 2 and we are wondering at the moment when the provisions of the act would become effective. I object to striking out Section 2 which reads: "The provisions of this act shall become effective ten days after its final enactment."

If he offered to put in some provision as to when the act should go into effect it might be acceptable. It is true that the act of 1937 went into effect some months later, beginning with the year 1938, but here is a bill of which we want to get the benefit a ssoon as we possibly can, and this is a reasonable time, ten days after the enactment of the bill. That is the reason Section 2 should not be stricken out, particularly in view of the fact that nothing is offered in lieu thereof.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I very humbly come before the House as a mere novice and admit to the membership that I am not as thoroughly experienced in the problems of workmen's compensation as the gentleman from Jefferson. However, I do feel that I have certain attainments and also certain qualifications, and the objection to the amendment that has just been raised by the gentleman from Jefferson would not have been made by him were he gifted with the same qualifications and attainments that I am. He would realize that in 1937, in the very House where he sat, there was a statute passed which was known as the Interpretation of Statutes Act. That provides that where there is no effective date provided in the act, it becomes effective, I believe, September 15. As a result, by striking out the effective date in Section 2 of this act, we would then find recourse to the Interpretation of Statutes Act, and the effective date would be September 15 of this year.

I say to the gentleman from Jefferson and to the other members of this House, that if this bill should ever become enacted, God forbid, that September 15th would provide the time necessary to indulge in the computation in order to determine the amount of premium to be charged. I might call attention to the fact that the minimum premium cannot be rebated, and that the rating bureau may decide that with the advent of this act there would be a lower minimum premium, with the result that those employers who have the minimum premium would then on September 15th receive the benefit of that reduction. I would say in view of those representations that September 15th should be the effective date of this act and not any sooner.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, from the gentleman's argument, in helping to get a better rate for some of the employers in which he seems suddenly to have become interested, he suggests that they wait until September 15th to get a better rate. Well, there might be some of these people ready to give a rate before September 15, and if they are ready on July 15 or August 15th, why shouldn't they be permitted to do the business if they are so much interested in getting a lower rate for the employers.

He says that the gentleman from Jefferson is not aware about these things, when bills that do not have any effective date will go into effect. There are lots of people who read these bills, who are not legislators or lawyers, and they will wonder when it does go into effect. It is a great deal better practice, regardless of when an act goes into effect, to place in that act the effective date, particularly when you want the benefits of the act in a very short time, and that is the reason we wrote that section in the act. We wanted it to be effective in a short time. For that reason, I ask the House to vote down this amendment.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from York when this act will become effective if his amendment is adopted?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. If the amendment is adopted, Mr. Speaker, the act will become effective according to the terms of the act passed in the 1937 session.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman when it would become effective.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it will become effective September 1st, September 15th or October 1st, somewhere around that particular time. I said September 15th just to play safe down the middle of the alley.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I was just wondering. The gentleman has made so many claims about his great knowledge concerning this act, we ought to be a little bit accurate. It happens to be September 1st, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I apologize to the House for having failed to remember the effective date set forth in the act. I feel sure if the membership of this House only made that proportion of mistakes in the things they did, they would have a much better record than they have right now.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the rest of us are willing to admit that we don't know everything, but the gentleman from York has told this House that he knows all the answers, so I just wanted to call to his attention the fact that there are occasionally a few answers he doesn't know.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker, with the full knowledge that I do not know all the answers.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to ask the gentleman from Dauphin whether he knows any reason why the effective date of this act should not be September 1st rather than ten days immediately following its enactment?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I know of no reason other than the reasons that have already been given, which seem to me to be sound.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin is correct. He doesn't know everything.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Section 1 of House Bill 1030 was agreed to be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. The motion is out of order. We are now on Section 2 of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section.

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act to further reenact and amend the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" changing maximum and minimum rates periods total amounts and aggregate of compensation changing the system of computation of wages for compensation purposes changing practice and rules of evidence defining earning power after accident authorizing the board to terminate compensation in certain cases changing the classes of dependents entitled to compensation in case of death increasing powers and duties of the board and imposing additional penalties and generally amending clarifying and changing the provisions of said act

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I realize the parliamentary difficulty that the gentleman from Philadelphia is in, and in order to expedite the matter, I move you, Mr. Speaker, that the vote by which the House agreed to transcribe the bill for third reading be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. Under the Rules the motion is not in order until other business has been transacted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Greene will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this afternoon in the debate, the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson, made a statement that shocked and amazed me.

That statement was to this effect that last night in consideration of the Van Allsburg bill, the Speaker of the House at the present time had leaned over backwards in giving privilege to the Democratic members in debating the various amendments that were submitted. I agree with the gentleman from Jefferson that the Speaker of the House was very fair in his consideration of the members on this side of the House, and I want to say to you, members of this House, that the Democratic members appreciate the consideration given.

The gentleman from Jefferson went further than that. He stated that in past sessions in which he has served the leadership at that time was unfair, and did not give to the minority at that time the consideration they should receive. I resent that, because I had the honor of presiding over this House not only in one session, but in the two special sessions of 1936, also in the regular session of 1937, and the special session of 1938. It was my policy at that time, and I think the present Speaker who was then the minority floor leader will agree with me, to give every consideration to every member of this House without consideration to political party or affiliation. I cannot allow that statement to go unchallenged. I do not like the record to stand that way. I do not believe that there is any member of this House who can say at any time that the Chair was unfair in giving recognition to any member of this House on any subject or any question.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Greene under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal.

The Chair feels called upon, in response to the remarks of the gentleman from Greene, to confirm in every way the statement made by the gentleman from Greene as to his conduct in the Chair.

The present Speaker of this House, as the minority leader then, realizes that many times he was a trying subject to the Speaker, but he received every courtesy and every consideration from the Speaker, even in those moments when he was a trying subject on the floor.

The Chair did not understand the remarks of the gentleman from Jefferson today to be in any way a reflection upon the former Speaker in his conduct of the affairs of this House, during the 1937 session and the special sessions over which he presided. The Chair, as he recalls the remarks of the gentleman from Jefferson, feels that the gentleman was referring to the Committees, as the gentleman from York had referred to the treatment of the Democratic members in this session of the Legislature by the Committees of the House. The Chair, from his knowledge of the situation, feels that the gentleman from Jefferson had some justification for his remarks, as undoubtedly the gentleman from York had for his remarks in reference to things that have occurred during this session.

After all we are trying at times to be non-partisan, but many times partisanship creeps in; many times we are anxious to expedite things; many times we understand what we are trying to do, while the other fellow does not and that does not always make for consideration for the other fellow whether he be of the minority or the majority. It is the belief of the Chair, however, that the spirit of the evening seems, with the lighting of the candles, to have changed the atmosphere. It seems that the tension has lightened, perhaps a little light has been let into the brains and the spirits of the members of the House and we are proceeding in a better way.

Mr. WILSON. Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and if I am permitted, I would like to make a statement.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Jefferson may proceed.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am sorry that the gentleman from Greene felt that anything I said applied to him. I want to say this, that no man ever presided more fairly, in my judgment, over the House than the gentleman from Greene. I never felt for a single moment during the session of 1937 that he did anything toward me or any other member, except that which was perfectly fair in every respect, although these were many trying circumstances.

My complaint was not directed at the Speaker of the House. It is a well known fact to every Democratic member who has returned and every Republican member who has returned that there was an element in the Democratic party that was determined I should not debate upon Workmen's Compensation, upon the bills that pertained to the mines, or flood control. They moved the previous question upon me and said disrespectful things about me in my hearing. All those things made it uncomfortable for me, and the Democrats who are here today, perhaps not the prior Speaker, but others who are here know that that is true. They accused me of representing the State Chamber of Commerce, the coal operators and the "economic royalists" in my hearing, and I felt it was perfectly fair and right for me to remind them about it and to recall those things to them.

I do, however, want to say that so far as the gentleman from Greene, who at that time was the Speaker, is concerned, nobody could have been fairer. I don't think there is anybody who served under him who would say anything different, and I would not want him to leave the hall of this House thinking that any words that I may have said pointing to those people who were so unkind, referred to him. Everybody knows that Roy Furman is all right.

Mr. FURMAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to publicly thank the gentleman from Jefferson for his remarks, and say that I am sorry that I misunderstood the statement he made this afternoon. I publicly apologize to him.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1031, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2714) entitled "A supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-six) entitled as amended 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing a system and schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties' as amended and re-enacted providing for the inclusion of occupational diseases within the scope thereof and providing definitions provisions and procedure related to such diseases and making an appropriation"

The first and second sections were read and agreed to.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania herby enacts as follows

Section 1 The act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2714) entitled "A supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-six) entitled as amended 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing a system and schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties' as amended and re-enacted providing for the inclusion of occupational diseases within the scope thereof and providing definitions provisions and procedure related to such diseases and making an appropriation" is hereby repealed

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

The title was read as follows:

An Act to repeal the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2714) entitled "A supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-six) entitled as amended 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing a system and schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties' as amended and re-enacted providing for the inclusion of occupational diseases within the scope thereof and providing definitions provisions and procedure related to such diseases and making an appropriation"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

MOTION TO LAY BILL ON TABLE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't wish to be very vehement in my denunciations, but House Bill 1031 is very deceptive. The title does not adequately represent the contents of the bill. If you read the title, it would seem that the Pamphlet Laws of 1937 are being amended, and reenacted providing for the inclusion of occupational diseases within the scope thereof, and providing definitions, provisions and procedure related to such diseases and making appropriation. That is not what this bill does. This bill is a repealer, it repeals the act of 1937 and in that respect the title is not only incorrect but, according to the Constitution, is unconstitutional.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, pending the production of an amendment that will make the title of the bill conform to the contents of it, I move Mr. Speaker, that this bill be laid upon the table.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest to the gentleman from York that he make a motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar rather than a motion to lay the bill upon the table.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion to lay the bill upon the table and move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Oon the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

LEGISLATIVE INQUIRY

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a legislative inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his legislative inquiry.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to be a repealer of what is known as the Occupational Disease Act. The act in its original form is not before me at the moment. I suggest that an explanation be made as to why this act is not proper. It seems to me that the title of it says:

> "To repeal the act approved the second day of July, 1937 (P. L. 271) entitled, 'A supplement to the act approved the second day of June, 1915, (P. L. 736) entitled as amended, 'An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee received in the course of employment establishing a system and schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties as amended and reenacted providing for the conclusion of occupational diseases within the scope thereof and providing definitions provisions and procedure related to such diseases and making an appropriation."

All of which is in quotation marks. It seems to me that is a perfectly proper wording of a repealer bill. If it is not, of course, the gentleman from Jefferson would have to say that the Legislative Reference Bureau did not understand how to draw a repeal bill. I will leave it up to you, Mr. Speaker, to say whether it is drawn properly.

The SPEAKER. The Chair refuses to accept the challenge of the gentleman from Jefferson.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1301, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as reenacted and amended providing for the payment of compensation to volunteer firemen or their dependents

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 In addition to those persons included within the definition of the word "employe" as defined in section one hundred and four of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as last reenacted and amended at the regular legislative session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine there shall be included all members of volunteer fire companies of the various cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships who shall be and are hereby declared to be "employes" of such cities boroughs incorporated towns townships for all the purposes of said act and shall be entitled to receive compensation in case of injuries received while actually engaged as firemen or while going to or returning from any fire which the fire companies of which they are members shall have attended

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 12, by inserting after the word "received" the following: "or illness contracted"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, to rightfully understand this amendment, it will be better to explain what House Bill No. 1301 is.

House Bill No. 1301 is a supplement to the act approved the second day of June, 1915, Pamphlet Laws 736—entitled as amended "An Act defining," and so forth. By the act of 1937, the volunteer firemen were put in the main body of the Workmen's Compensation Law, and in preparing a new bill such as we have had to do here, we felt that it would be better to take that provision out of the act entirely and put it by itself in a separate bill, the same as it was when that provision was first enacted. The volunteer firemen were first put under the act by a separate bill, but the act of 1937 put them into the main body of the act. The reason for our taking it out of the main body of the act is that there is a constitutional question as to volunteer firemen, and therefore it should be made a supplement to the original act and should be by itself, instead of being in the main body of the act.

Now that we understand why it was taken out of the main body of the act, we next must understand that it hasn't been changed at all. We just left them where they were in the main body of the act of 1937.

We now come to the amendment that was offered by the gentleman who preceded me. He says, "Amend Section 1, page two, line twelve, by inserting after the words 'received,' the following 'or illness.'"

The purpose of this amendment is to follow out the meaning of a certain bill that was introduced recently to cover illness that might have been contracted by a volunteer fireman in the course of his volunteer work as a fireman and to provide compensation for disease. The act as it stands, or did stand, in the main body of the 1937 act, and even the act that was passed prior thereto, had very serious objections to it from a constitutional standpoint. There is no use of discussing that now, but that was the reason for taking it out of the main body of the act. If you would include any illness or sickness in this act, it would make it still more objectionable. It does not seem that the volunteer firemen, much as we like to help them and do for them, should have these words put in acts that might lead to litigation, and if litigation comes on a volunteer firemen's act and is taken to the higher courts, it is just too bad. Particularly for that reason, and for the reason that they volunteer their work, are not employes and not under the control of the municipalities for which they work, they are therefore not under any act. It is better to leave a good thing alone and for that reason, for the benefit of the firemen themselves, I ask this House to vote down this amendment.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendment I offered consists of only three words and they can't do a whole lot of harm. Mr. Wilson stated that my amendment is comprised in a bill introduced recently. He is correct, except for the word "recently," because that bill was introduced January 16, the very first day we were permitted to introduce bills. However, that has no bearing on the amendment.

I am very sincere in presenting this amendment, because it was given to me by the Six Counties Firemen's Convention and likewise approved by the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association. This amendment aims to give compensation to volunteer firemen in case it is proven that they contracted an illness during the performance of their duties as firemen. It happens that there have been numerous cases of volunteer firemen in the state, where they were called upon to perform their duty during unfavorable weather conditions and contracted an illness and from that illness were confined possibly to their homes or hospitals without any compensation. At the same time we ask these volunteer firemen to go out any time of the day or night and serve the community in which they live.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel that the least we can do for the firemen, the volunteer firemen, is to give them the same protection that we ourselves would expect were we performing the duties they are performing. I feel that the firemen of the state are entitled to this protection, and I ask the members of this House in all fairness to support the amendment that I have introduced.

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 This act shall become effective ten days after final enactment

A Supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as reenacted and amended providing for the payment of compensation to volunteer firemen or their dependents.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1302, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as reenacted and amended to exempt domestic servants and agricultural workers from the provisions thereof except in certain cases

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Nothing contained in any article or any section of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws 736) entitled as amended "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties" as last reenacted and amended at the regular legislative session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine shall apply to or in any way affect any person who at the time of injury is engaged in domestic service or agriculture Provided however That in cases where the employer of any such person shall have prior to such injury by application to the Workmen's Compensation Board approved by the board elected to come within the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act of one thousand nine hundred and fifteen and the supplements and amedments thereto the provisions of this supplementary act shall not apply

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 and 2, by striking out the following: "Nothing contained in any article or any section of the" and inserting in lieu thereof: "The"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out the words: "or in any way affect"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 9 to 16, by striking out the following: "Provided however That in cases where" in line 9, and all of lines 10 to 16, both inclusive

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in this bill 1030 as originally drawn domestic servants and those working in agriculture were included under that bill. Mr. Wilson very wisely, I suppose, in drawing this bill, knew that they were a group of workers who deserved some consideration and had them included. For some reason, when the bill was drawn, it excluded the firemen. In bill 1302 he has made a stab at doing something, he made some kind of a gesture toward domestic workers and those who work in agriculture. However, I am of the opinion that as he has the bill drawn it would mean nothing to the domestic workers in the state of Pennsylvania. He simply states in here that if the employer wishes and has prior to the accident or occurrence accepted compensation, that they would be included. That would mean that they would never be included, because the employer certainly would not see fit with that provision in the bill to cover them. They have been in this state in every bill that has been put before the Legislature heretofore.

Last night I was very much concerned to see how the Republicans and Democrats were anxious to do something for the poor people of the state of Pennsylvania, the blind, the helpless, the homeless, and we stayed here until 4 o'clock in the morning trying to do something for them. Here is a bill that can help the domestic workers in the state of Pennsylvania, those people who certainly need the protection of this Legislature, who work in private families and work long hours; they do work sometimes that is jeopardizing their health, they have accidents, and to my own knowing quite often unscrupulous employers as soon as one of the domestic workers get hurt, they immediately fire them and they have no recourse. Something should be done for these people who are not organized as they ar in the coal industry, not organized as they are in the minin industry and in other industries in the state of Pennsyl vania. They do not work in large numbers where the could have the protection of each other; they do not kno the value of compensation because they have never had i I am hopeful that the Republican majority in fair pla as Mr. Wilson started to do in his original bill 1030 t give them the benefit of this act, I hope that all of us wi join here and show to the underprivileged workers o the state of Pennsylvania that while we are looking out fo the union workers, while we are looking out for thes workers who justly deserve compensation, we are als giving consideration to those who have no one to spea for them, because they have no union heads to bring pres sure upon the Legislature to enact laws for their benefit.

In the City of Philadelphia we have an organizatio known as the Domestic Workers of America. I have ha over five hundred pieces of mail sent to me since last Mon day when the newspapers of Philadelphia said that M Wilson had introduced legislation that would include th domestic workers. Last night one of their representative was here and after reading the bill he simply laughed a it and said, "Something should be done to keep us fro being made a laughing stock in the City of Philadelphia I submit that the bill as now before us, a separate ac which will later probably be kicked out altogether, shoul be amended to include domestic workers and those wh work in agriculture in order that the most deserving, th most helpless group of people in the state of Pennsylvani who work for a less salary and work longer hours to pro tect our homes, our children, who protect our wives an our babies while we are away from home, I appeal to yo that they deserve the consideration of this House, and I as whether we be Democrats or Republicans that we join hand in doing a humanitarian act here tonight and include thos people in the provisions of this act.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the Hous the sentiments of the gentleman who preceded me are ver nice. The first statement I want to make is that originally from the very beginning of the act by a separate bill th people who are engaged in agriculture, working on domesti work were exempt from the act, they were not included i the Workmen's Compensation Act. They were by a separat bill taken out of it. I was here as a member when th bill was passed in 1915 and the reason they were taken ou of the act, or left out of the act, was because of the doub as to the constitutionality of such a provision. Therefor there was a special act by itself, made a supplement to th original act of 1915, which exempted from that origina act those people who were engaged in agriculture an domestic service. After some twenty years or more, th Act of 1937 came along and reenacted the whole base o workmen's compensation, and this matter was placed i the main body of the act, the same as an exemption fro the act, the same as the volunteer firemen were put in th main body of the act, and for the same reason I have pre pared a supplement which will take it out of the main bod of the act and place it where it was in the beginning. Thi supplement does not in any sense of the word change th law, it is just as it was under the 1937 act, that act whic we hear so much about as being so great and so wonderfu for the employes of this state. By this section the law woul not be changed at all. Now you may say that the reaso for it is to make it stand by itself as a supplement t the original bill. The idea of having agriculture and domestic servants exempted from the bill did not originate with me. It began at the beginning of the Workmen's Compensation Law in 1915. You may say that there hasn't been a thing changed, not one thing has been done to change the law as it was in 1937. The gentleman is in error when he states that we tried to put in our main body of the act which is 1030 the provision for exempting or covering these domestic people. There was no such effort made. The original law was printed and there were brackets put around it merely to show that they were taken out. There was no effort made to put them in whatsoever. There has been no demand for that, there was no talk about it and I didn't want to go into that part of it, therefore I ask that these intended amendments, whatever they are, or any amendments to this bill which would change the law of 1937 by taking it out and putting it into a special bill like this as a supplement instead of the main body of the bill, I say that any amendments that may be offered, this one included, should be voted down.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Wilson, you stated that nothing has been changed regarding domestic workers since 1915; is that correct?

Mr. WILSON. Well, there was a provision in the act of 1937 whereby it provided that in cases where an employer of any such person shall have prior to act, made application to the Workmen's Compensation Board, approved by the Board, elected to come within the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act of 1915 and the supplements and amendments thereto, that the provisions of this supplementary act shall not apply, and therefore we have taken out that whole provision and brought it over into this supplemental act leaving it as it was changed by the act of 1937. There isn't anything wrong about that. We took it as it is. If they want to come under the act or agree to come under it, that is alright. That is the provision that the minority party, when they were the majority put in there. We accepted that and didn't change it at all.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Wilson, have you any objection to the amendment as drafted which would include the domestic workers?

Mr. WILSON. I most certainly have, because I would not want it to be charged to me, or the majority party that in respect to the relations between the employees and the employers of this state, we arbitrarily tried to undo the principle that we adopted when we first started to pass workmen's compensation laws in this state and have developed ever since up until the present time. There hasn't been any attempt by the majority, so far as I know, to try to enact any legislation that would cover employees arbitrarily who do work known as domestic work or agricultural work and I would be opposed to doing that, because it is very generally understood that it would be a mistake at this time to undertake it.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Wilson, if I were to tell you that the Republican party in this House in 1935 voted solidly for this amendment, would that make any difference as to the responsibility of the Republican party now, in your opinion?

Mr. WILSON. I do not know that it would make any difference to the party because I haven't heard them say anything. We have the responsibility of it and it would be entirely up to the Republicans to speak for themselves. Speaking for myself, I have not had a request from anybody to try to put domestic workers or agricultural workers under this bill, but there is nothing to prevent them from being under the bill if the employers and employees agree, and I think it should not be disturbed. I am not changing it at all, just leaving it as it was under the act as passed by the now minority party.

Mr. REYNOLDS. I would like to ask just one more question. I would like to ask Mr. Wilson if he feels that it is fair play to domestic workers to leave it to the discretion of the employers whether or not they should be protected?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I am convinced of course that the gentleman who is asking me the questions is very sincere and wants to help this particular class of people, and I am frank in saying if such a thing could be done without disturbing such a long period of time as we have had this law and without calling in the agricultural people and the rest of the folks, that personally I would not have so much objection to it, but under present conditions, under the plan that we have in mind trying to save the Workmen's Compensation Act and with the idea that we want to preserve the act as a whole as it has been in the past, we want to by these supplemental bills take them out of the main body of the act and not disturb them. I feel at this time it would not be wise to do so. If somebody else would want to undertake that, it would be up to them but I wouldn't want to be responsible.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr .Speaker and members of the House, I appreciate Mr. Wilson's stating that I seem to be sincere and I am. I was of the opinion when I read in the paper in Philadelphia on Monday morning, that Mr. Wilson was fair and I was of that opinion up until now, and I hope he will not allow me to go away and change my mind. This is a separate act. Nothing is included in this act except the domestic workers and the agricultural workers. It would not disturb the body of the act at all. He has seen fit to take them out of the body of the Compensation Act, I presume, because he knew. However, I think it would be a step in the right direction if we were to say here and now that this group of people who have no one to lobby for them, who can't afford to pay people to come here, shall be protected. Lots of persons around here represent districts that are largely inhabited by domestic workers and it is our duty not to wait until lobbyists come here and tells us what do. After we are elected I submit we should pass legislation for our constitutents. We should engender an enactment here tonight to right a wrong that has been going on in the state for years, and just because there hasn't been anything done before is no reason why we should not do it now. Just because in 1915 it wasn't necessary, is no reason why in 1939 it isn't necessary, and I say that we ought to pass these amendments in order that we may help the helpless.

Mr. GILLAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Reynolds, I happen to be in the agriculture section and we have been carrying workmen's compensation for a number of years. We have had a number of cases where the men and women have had accidents and they have profited by compensation. To say to the agricultural industry that they shall have workmen's compensation forced upon them at a rate which I think would be three and seven tenths per cent of their pay roll—I am giving the figure now which I wish were not on the record—our workmen's compensation bill has been between five and six hundred dollars a year for some years back. I believe in it, but to say that the farmers or the fruit growers that they shall be compelled to carry it, I won't say that now. We want to carry it, we hope to carry it, and I agree with Mr. Reynolds that these people should be protected. I would like to see them being protected, but I don't believe I am in any way guilty now of saying that they shall do it.

On the question recurring.

Elective Compensation

Section 301 (a) When employer and employe shall by agreement either express or implied as hereinafter provided accept the provisions of article three of this act compensation for disability or death of such employe caused by occupational disease arising out of and in the course of his employment shall be paid by the employer without regard to negligence according to the schedule contained in sections three hundred and six and three hundred and seven of this article but

1 No compensation shall be paid when the disability or death is caused by the employe's wilful disobedience of orders rules or regulations adopted by the employer for the protection of the safety of persons employed and the preservation of property or is caused by the employe's wilful failure or refusal to use a reasonable safety appliance provided for him or is caused by the employe's violation of law but the burden of proof of such fact shall be upon the employer

2 The maximum compensation payable under this article for disability or death resulting from silicosis anthraco-silicosis or asbestosis shall not exceed the sum of thirty-six hundred dollars ($3,600)

(b) The right to receive compensation under this act shall not be affected by the fact that a minor is employed or is permitted to be employed in violation of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to the employment of minors or that he obtained his employment by misrepresenting his age

(c) The term "occupational disease" as used in this act shall be construed to mean only occupational disease which is peculiar to the occupation or industry in which the employe was engaged and not common to the general population and occurring within one year after the date of his last employment in such occupation or industry Wherever death is mentioned as a cause for compensation under this act it shall mean only death resulting from occupational disease and occurring within three years after the date of his last employment in such occupation or industry

(d) Compensation for silicosis or anthraco-silicosis and asbestosis shall be paid only when it is shown that the employe has had an aggregate employment of at least four years in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during a period of eight years next preceding the date of disability in an occupation having a silica or asbestos hazard

(e) Compensation shall not be payable for partial disability due to silicosis anthraco-silicosis or asbestosis Compensation shall be payable as otherwise provided in this act for total dsability or death caused solely (as definitely distinguished from a contributory or accelerating cause) by silicosis anthraco-silicosis or asbestosis or by silicosis anthraco-slicosis or asbestosis when accompanied by active pulmonary tuberculosis

(f) If it be shown that the employe at or immediately before the date of disability was employed in any occupation or industry in which the occupational disease is a hazard it shall be presumed that the employe's occupational disease arose out of and in the course of his employment but this presumption shall not be conclusive

(g) The employer liable for the compensation provided by this article shall be the employer in whose employment the employe was last exposed to the hazard of the occupational disease claimed regardless of the length of time of such last exposure Provided That when a claimant alleges that disability or death was due to silicosis anthraco-silicosis asbestosis or any other occupational disease which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years the only employer liable shall be the last employer in whose employment the employe was last exposed to the hazard of such occupational disease during a period of six months or more after the effective date of this act and in such cases an exposure during a period of less than six months after the effective date of this act shall not be deemed an exposure The notice of disability or death and claim shall be made to the employer who is liable under this sub-section and his insurance carrier if any

(h) Except as hereinafter provided all compensation payable under this article shall be payable in periodic instalments as the wages of the employe were payable before the accident

Section 302 (a) In every contract of hiring made after October first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine and in every contract of hiring renewed or extended by mutual consent expressed or implied after said date it shall be conclusively presumed that the parties have accepted the provisions of article three of this act and have agreed to be bound thereby unless the employer shall post at his plant office or place of business a notice of his intention not to pay such compensation or unless there be at the time of the making renewal or extension of such contract an express statement in writing from either party to the other that the provisions of article three of this act are not intended to apply and unless a true copy of such posted notice or such written statement accompanied by proof of posting or proof of service thereof upon the other party setting forth under oath or affirmation the time place and manner of such posting or service be filed with the department within twenty days after such posting or service Every contract of hiring oral written or implied from circumstances now in operation or made or implied on or before October first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine shall be conclusively presumed to continue subject to the provisions of article three hereof unless the employer shall on or before said date either post at his plant office or place of business a notice of his intention not to pay such compensation or unless either party shall on or before said date in writing have notified the other party to such contract that the provisions of article three hereof are not intended to apply and unless there shall be filed with the department a true copy of such notice together with proof of posting or service within the time and in the manner hereinabove prescribed Provided however That the provisions of this section shall not be so construed as to impair the obligation of any contract now in force Such posted notice shall constitute sufficient notice to all employes and to the parents and guardians of all minor employes and a certified copy of proof of posting or proof of service shall be prima facie evidence of notice It shall not be lawful for any officer or agent of this Commonwealth or for any county city borough town or township therein or for any officer or agent thereof or for any other governmental authority created by the laws of this Commonwealth to give such notice of rejection of the provisions of this article to any employe of the Commonwealth or of such governmental agency

(b) After October first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine an employer who permits the entry upon premises occupied by him or under his control of a laborer or an assistant hired by an employe or contractor for the performance upon such premises of a part of the employer's regular business entrusted to that employe or contractor shall be conclusively presumed to have agreed to pay to such laborer or assistant compensation in accordance with the provisions of article three unless the employer shall post at his plant office or place of business a notice of his intention not to pay such compensation and unless there be filed with the department within twenty days thereafter a true copy of such notice together with proof of the posting of the same setting forth upon oath or affirmation the time place and manner of such posting and after October first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine any such laborer or assistant who shall enter upon premises occupied by or under control of such employer for the purpose of doing such work shall be conclusively presumed to have agreed to accept the compensation provided in article three in lieu of his right of action under article two unless he shall have given notice in writing to the employer at the time of entering upon such employer's premises for the purpose of doing his work of his intention not to accept such compensation and unless within twenty days thereafter there shall have been filed with the department a true copy of such notice accompanied by proof of service thereof upon such employer setting forth under oath or affirmation the time place and manner of such service And in such cases where article three binds such employer and such laborer or assistant it shall not be in effect between the intermediate employer or contractor and such laborer or assistant unless otherwise expressly agreed

(c) Any notice given hereunder by an employer to his employes need not be addressed to each employe individually but may be addressed to all employes Proof of service of any number of statements or notices may be made in one affidavit but such affidavit shall state the time and place of each service

Section 303 Such agreement shall constitute an acceptance of all provisions of article three of this act and shall operate as a surrender by the parties thereto of their rights to any form or amount of compensation or damages for any disability or death resulting from occupational disease contracted in the course of the employment or to any method of determination thereof other than as provided in article three of this act Such agreement shall bind the employer and his personal representatives and the employe his or her wife or husband widow or widower next of kin and other dependents

Section 304 Any agreement between employer and employe for the operation or non-operation of the provisions of article three of this act may be terminated by the posting of notice by the employer or by either party upon thirty days' notice to the other in writing if a copy of such notice with proof of posting or proof of service be filed in the department as provided in section three hundred and two of this article

Section 305 Every employer liable under this act to pay compensation shall insure the payment of compensation in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or in any insurance company or mutual association or company authorized to insure such liability in this Commonwealth unless such employer shall be exempted by the department from such insurance An employer desiring to be exempt from insuring the whole or any part of his liability for compensation shall make application to the department showing his financial ability to pay such compensation whereupon the department if the applicant establishes his financial ability shall issue to the applicant a permit authorizing such exemption From a refusal of the department to issue such permit an appeal shall lie to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County In any such appeal the only question shall be whether the department abused its discretion in refusing such permit The department shall establish a period of twelve calendar months to begin and end at such times as the department shall prescribe which shall be known as the annual exemption period Unless previously revoked all permits issued under this section shall expire and terminate on the last day of the annual exemption period for which they were issued Permits issued under this act shall be renewed upon the filing of an application The department may from time to time require further statements of the financial ability of such employer and if at any time such employer appear no longer able to pay compensation shall revoke its permit granting exemption in which case the employer shall immediately subscribe to the State Workmen's Insurance Fund or insure his liability in any insurance company or mutual association or company as aforesaid

If any employer fails to comply with the provisions of this section such employer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof for every such failure shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than five hundred dollars and costs of prosecution or imprisonment for a period of not more than six months or both at the discretion of the court Every day's violation shall constitute a separate offense It shall be the duty of the department to enforce the provisions of this section and it shall investigate all violations that are brought to iits notice and shall institute prosecutions for violations thereof All fines recovered under the provisions of this section shall be paid by the clerk of the court to the department and by it paid into the State Treasury

Section 306 The following schedule of compensation is hereby established for total disability resulting from occupational disease

(a) For the first five hundred weeks after the seventh day of total disability sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of the wages of the disabled employe as defined in section three hundred and nine but the compensation shall not be more than eighteen dollars per week nor less than nine dollars per week and shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of seventy-five hundred dollars Provided That if at the date when disability begins the employe receives wages of less than nine dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation Nothing in this clause shall require payment of compensation after disability shall cease Should partial disability be followed by total disability the period of five hundred weeks mentioned in this clause of this section shall be reduced by the number of weeks during which compensation was paid for such partial disability

6 If there be neither widow widower nor children entitled to compensation then to the father or mother if dependent to any extent upon the employe at the time of the accident twenty-five per centm of wages but not in excess of five dollars per week Provided however That in the case of a minor child who has been contributing to his parents the dependency of said parents shall be presumed And provided further That if the father or mother was totally dependent upon the deceased employe at the time of the accident the compensation payable to such father or mother shall be forty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of ten dollars per week

7 If there be neither widow widower children nor dependent parent entitled to compensation then to the brothers and sisters if actually dependent upon the decedent for support at the time of his death fifteen per centum of wages for one brother or sister and five per centum additional for each additional brother or sister with a maximum of twenty-five per centum such compensation to be paid to their guardian or if there be no guardian to such other person as may be designated by the board as hereinafter provided

8 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expense of burial not exceeding two hundred dollars which shall be paid by the employer or insurer directly to the undertaker (without deduction of any amounts paid for compensation or for medical expenses)

Compensation shall be payable under this section to or on account of any child brother or sister only if and while such child brother or sister is under the age of sixteen No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widow unless she was living with her deceased husband at the time of his death or was then actually dependent upon him and receiving from him a substantial portion of her support No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widower unless he be incapable of self-support at the time of his wife's death and be at such time dependent upon her for support If members of decedent's household at the time of his death the terms "child" and "children" shall include step-children adopted children and children to whom he stood in loco parentis and shall include posthumous children Should any dependent of a deceased employe die or remarry or should the widower become capable of self-support the right of such dependent or widower to compensation under this section shall cease Provided however That upon remarriage of any widow the compensation of such widow shall continue as hereinbefore provided for one-third of the period during which compensation then remains payable to her Provided further That if upon investigation and hearing it shall be ascertained that the widow or widower is living with a man or woman as the case may be in meretricious relationship and not married or the widow living a life of prostitution the board may order the termination of compensation payable to such widow or widower If the compensation payable under this section to any person shall for any cause cease the compensation to the remaining persons entitled thereunder shall thereafter be the same as would have been payable to them had they been the only persons entitled to compensation at the time of the death of the deceased

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed twenty-seven dollars per week nor be less than fifteen dollars per week

This compensation shall be paid during three hundred weeks and in the case of children entitled to compensation under this section the compensation of each child shall continue after said period of three hundred weeks until such child reaches the age of sixteen at the rate of seventeen and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of four dollars per week if there is one child twenty-seven and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of six and a half dollars per week if there are two children thirty-eight and one-half per centum of wages but not in excess of nine dollars per week if there are three children fifty per centum of wages but not in excess of eleven and a half dollars per week if there are four children fifty-five per centum of wages but not in excess of twelve dollars and seventy-five cents per week if there be five children and sixty per centum of wages but not in excess of fourteen dollars per week if there be six children or more

The board may if the best interest of a child or children shall so require at any time order and direct the compensation payable to a child or children or to a widow or a widower on account of any child or children to be paid to the guardian of such child or children or if there be no guardian to such other person as the board as hereinafter provided may direct If there be no guardian or committee of any minor dependent or insane employe or dependent on whose account compensation is payable the amount payable on account of such minor dependent or insane employe or dependent may be paid to any surviving parent or to such other person as the board may order and direct and the board may require any person other than a guardian or committee to whom it has directed compensation for a minor dependent or insane employe or dependent to be paid to render as and when it shall so order accounts of the receipts and disbursements of such person and to file with it a satisfactory bond in a sum sufficient to secure the proper application of the moneys received by such person

Section 308 (a) When compensation is awarded because of disability or death caused by silicosis anthraco-silicosis asbestosis or any other occupational disease which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years the compensation for disability or death due to such disease shall be paid jointly by the employer and the Commonwealth out of moneys to the credit of the Occupational Disease Fund hereinafter created in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund in accordance with the following provisions If disability begins between October 1 1939 and September 30 1941 both dates inclusive the employer shall be liable for and pay fifty per centum of the compensation due and the Occupational Disease Fund fifty per centum thereof Thereafter depending upon the date when disability begins the proportions of compensation for which the employer and the Occupational Disease Fund shall respectively become liable shall be If disability begins between October 1 1941 and September 30 1943 the employer sixty per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund forty per centum if between October 1 1943 and September 30 1945 the employer seventy per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund thirty per centum if between October 1 1945 and September 30 1947 the employer eighty per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund twenty per centum if between October 1 1947 and September 30 1949 the employer ninety per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund ten per centum The employer shall pay the full amount of compensation provided in this act for disability or death in all cases where disability begins on or after October 1 1949

(b) An Occupational Disease Fund is hereby created in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund The sum of One hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) is hereby appropriated to the State Workmen's Insurance Board for payment into the State Workmen's Insurance Fund to the credit of the Occupational Disease Fund and to be used for the purposes specified in sub-section (a) of this section

(c) In all claims for compensation partially payable by the Commonwealth under sub-section (a) of this section the "State Workmen's Insurance Board Custodian of the Occupational Disease Fund" shall be designated as a co-defendant

(d) In all agreements for the payment of compensation and all awards the amount payable by the employer and the amount payable by the Commonwealth shall be separately stated An award against the employer shall be for only the percentage of the total compensation which the employer is obligated to pay under sub-section (a) of this section not to exceed the stated percentage of the maximum payable by the employer under section 301 (a) 2 of this act or if section 301 (a) 2 be inapplicable then under sections 306 and 307 of this act A separate award shall be made against the Commonwealth for the balance of the compensation payable under said sections but such award shall be payable only out of the Occupational Disease Fund

Section 309 Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the average weekly wages of the employe ascertained as follows

(a) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the week the amount so fixed shall be the average weekly wage

(c) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the month the average weekly wage shall be the monthly wage so fixed multiplied by twelve and divided by fifty-two

(c) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the year the average weekly wage shall be the yearly wage so fixed divided by fifty-two

(d) If at the time of the disability the wages are fixed by the day hour or by the output of the employe the average weekly wage shall be whichever is most favorable to the employe as computed under the following four methods

(1) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the fifty-two calendar weeks (or twelve calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the disability divided by fifty-two

(2) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the thirty-nine calendar weeks (or nine calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the disability divided by thirty-nine

(3) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the twenty-six calendar weeks (or six calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the disability divided by twenty-six

(4) Total wages earned in the employ of the employer during the thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months if the employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the disability divided by thirteen

If the employe has been in the employ of employer less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months if th employe receives wages monthly or semi-monthly) immediately preceding the disability his average weekly wage shall be computed under the foregoing paragraph (4) taking "total wages" for such purpose to be the amount he would have earned had he been so employed by employer the full thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months) immediately preceding the disability and had worked when work was available to other employes in a similar occupation unless it be conclusively shown that by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the "total wages" of the employe so employed less than thirteen calendar weeks (or three calendar months)

(e) In occupations which are exclusively seasonal and therefore cannot be carried on throughout the year the average weekly wage shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which the employe has earned from all occupations during the twelve calendar months immediately preceding the disability unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings

The term "average weekly wage" and "total wages" as used in this section, shall include board and lodging received from the employer and when so received the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day but such terms shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall such terms include amounts deducted by the employer under the contract of hiring for labor furnished or paid for by the employer and necessary for the performance of such contract by the employe nor shall such terms include deductions from wages due the employer for rent and supplies necessary for the employe's use in the performance of his labor

Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers and the defendant employer has knowledge of such employment prior to the disability his wages from all such employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

Section 310 Alien widows children widowers parents brothers and sisters not resident of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation

Section 311 Unless the employe or someone in his behalf or some of the dependents or someone in their behalf shall give notice of disability to the employer liable for compensation under this article within fourteen days after the disability begins no compensation shall be due until such notice be given and unless such notice be given within ninety days after the begining of disability no compensation shall be allowed

Section 312 The notice referred to in section three hundred and eleven hereof shall be substantially in the following form

To (name of employer)

You are hereby notified that (name of employe disabled) who was in your employment at (place) while engaged as (kind of employment) became disabled as the result of (name of occupational disease) on or about the (.....) day of (.....) Anno Domini (.....) and that compensation will be claimed therefor

Date ..... Signed (.....)

But no variation from this form shall be material if the notice be sufficient to inform the employer that a certain employe by name became disabled as the result of occupational disease the character of which is described in ordinary language in the course of his employment on or about a time specified

Section 313 The notices referred to in section three hundred and two and section three hundred and eleven hereof may be served personally upon the employer or upon the manager or superintendent in charge of the works or business in which the employe was working or by sending them through the registered mail to the employer at his or its last known residence or place of business or if the employer be a corporation either foreign or domestic then upon the president vice-president secretary or treasurer thereof Notice served upon any of said agents shall be notice to the employer

Section 314 At any time after disability begins the employe if so requested by his employer must submit himself for examination at some reasonable time and place to a physician or physicians legally authorized to practice under the laws of such place who shall be selected and paid by the employer If the employe shall refuse upon the request of the employer to submit to the examination by the physician or physicians selected by the employer the board may upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit to an examination at a time and place set by it and by the physician or physicians selected and paid by the employer or by a physician or physicians designated by it and paid by the employer and if the employe shall without resonable cause or excuse disobey or disregard such order he shall be deprived of his right to compensation under this article The board may at any time after such first examination upon petition of the employer order the employe to submit himself to such further examinations as it shall deem reasonable and necessary at such times and places and by such physicians as it may designate and in such case the employer shall pay the fees and expenses of the examining physician or physicians and the reasonable travelling expenses and loss of wages incurred by the employe in order to submit himself to such examination The refusal or neglect without reasonable cause or excuse of the employe to submit to such examination ordered by the board either before or after an agreement or award shall deprive him of the right to compensation under this article during the continuance of such refusal or neglect and the period of such neglect or refusal shall be deducted from the period during which compensation would otherwise be payable

The employe shall be entitled to have a physician or physicians of his own selection to be paid by him participate in any examination requested by his employer or ordered by the board

Section 315 In cases of disability all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the disability begins the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within one year after the disability begins one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within one year after the death one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in article four hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case said limitations shall not take effect until the expiration of one year from the time of the making of the most recent payment made prior to the date of filing such petition

Section 316 The compensation contemplated by this article may at any time be commuted by the board at its then value when discounted at five per centum interest with annual rests upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe and that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such employe or dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business or assets Provided however That unless the employer agrees to make such commutation the board shall require the employe or the dependents of the deceased employe to furnish proper indemnity safeguarding the employer's rights

Section 317 At any time after the approval of an agreement or after the entry of the award a sum equal to all future instalments of compensation may (where death or the nature of the disability renders the amount of future payments certain) with the approval of the board be paid by the employer to any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this Commonwealth and such sum together with all interest thereon shall thereafter be held in trust for the employe or the dependents of the employe who shall have no further recourse against the employer The payment of such sum by the employer evidenced by the receipt of the trustee noted upon the prothonotary's docket shall operate as a satisfaction of said award as to the employer Payments from said fund shall be made by the trustee in the same amounts and at the same periods as are herein required of the employer until said fund and interest shall be exhausted In the appointment of the trustee preference shall be given in the discretion of the board to the choice of the employe or the dependents of the deased employe Should however there remain any unexpended balance of any fund after the payment of all sums due under this act such balance shall be repaid to the employer who made the original payment or to his legal representatives

Section 318 The right of compensation granted by this article shall have the same preference (without limit of amount) against the assets of an employer liable for such compensation as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law for a claim for unpaid wages for labor Provided however That no claim for compensation shall have priority over any judgment mortgage or conveyance of land recorded prior to the filing of the petition award or agreement as to compensation in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which the land is situated Claims for payments due under this article of this act shall not be assignable and (except as provided in section five hundred and one of article five hereof) shall be exempt from all claims of creditors and from levy execution or attachment which exemption may not be waived

Section 319 Where a third person is liable to the employe or the dependents for the disability or death the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employe or the dependent apainst such third person less reasonable attorney's fees and other proper disbursements but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employe or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future instalments of compensation

Section 320 (a) If the employe at the time of the accident is a minor under the age of eighteen years employed or permitted to work in violation of any provision of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age compensation either in the case of disability or death of such employe shall be one hundred and ten per centum of the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally employed The amount by which such compensation shall exceed that provided for in case of legal employment may be referred to as "additional compensation"

(b) The employer and not the insurance carrier shall be liable for the additional compensation Any provision in an insurance policy undertaking to relieve an employer from such liability shall be void

(c) Where death or the nature of the disability renders the amount of future payments certain the total amount of the additional compensation subject to discount as in the case of commutation shall be immediately due and payable It shall be deposited subject to the approval of the board in any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this Commonwealth

Where the amount of the future payments of compensation is uncertain the board shall upon the approval of the agreement or the entry of any award determine as nearly as may be the total amount of payment to be made and the additional compensation so calculated shall immediately upon such determination become due and payable by the employer The amount may be redetermined by the board and any increase shall then become due and payable and any excess which shall be shown to have been paid shall be returned to the person paying the same Upon determination of the amount due it shall be deposited as above provided Payments of compensation out of deposits shall be made to the employe or dependents as payments of other compensation are made Provided however That the board may in its discretion and upon inquiry as in cases of commutation accelerate such payments

(d) The provisions of the foregoing paragraph (c) shall not apply to employers who are exempted by the department from the necessity of carrying insurance

(e) Possession of an employment certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer in accordance with the provisions of the child labor law and receipt thereof duly acknowledged by him shall be conclusive evidence to such employer of his legal right to employ the minor for whose employment such certificate has been issued

(f) The possession of an age certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer by the school authorities of the school district in which a minor resides shall be conclusive evidence to the employer of the minor's age as certified therein

Section 406 All notices and copies to which any party shall be entitled under the provisions of this article shall be served by mail or in such manner as the board shall direct For the purposes of this article any notice or copy shall be deemed served on the date when mailed properly stamped and addressed and shall be presumed to have reached the party to be served but any party may show by competent evidence that any notice or copy was not received or that there was an unusual or unreasonable delay in its transmission through the mails In any such case proper allowance shall be made for the party's failure within the prescribed time to assert any right given him by this act

The department the secretary of the board and every referee shall keep a careful record of the date of mailing every notice and copy required by this act to be served on the parties in interest

Section 407 On or after the seventh day after disability shall have begun or death shall have occurred the employer and employe or his dependents may agree upon the compensation payable to the employe or his dependents under this act but any agreement made prior to the seventh day after the disability shall have begun or the death shall have occurred or permitting a commutation of payments contrary to the provisions of this act or varying the amount to be paid or the period during which compensation shall be payable as provided in this act shall be wholly null and void It shall be unlawful for any employer to accept a receipt showing the payment of compensation when in fact no such payment has been made

All agreements made in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be in writing and signed by all parties in interest

All agreements for compensation and all supplemental agreements for the modification suspension reinstatement or termination thereof and all receipts executed by any employe of whatever age or by any dependent to whom compensation is payable under section three hundred and seven and who has attained the age of sixteen years shall be valid and binding unless modified or set aside as hereinafter provided

Section 408 All agreements for compensation may be modified suspended reinstated or terminated at any time by a supplemental agreement approved by the department if the disability of an employe has increased decreased recurred or temporarily or finally terminated or if the status of any dependent has changed

Section 409 Whenever an agreement or supplemental agreement shall be executed between an employer and employe or his dependents as provided by this act such agreement shall be executed in triplicate Two copies thereof signed by all parties in interest shall be mailed or delivered to the department within thirty days after execution It shall be the duty of the department to examine the agreement to determine whether it conforms to the provisions of section four hundred and seven to notify the parties thereto of its validity or invalidity under the aforesaid section within thirty days after the copies of the agreement have been mailed or delivered to it and if the agreement be approved to send to the employe or dependents together with such notification of its approval a copy of the agreement Provided however That any payment made in accordance with any agreement prior to the receipt of notice of invalidity shall discharge pro tanto the liability under article three of this act of the employer making such payments

Section 410 If after any disability or death the employer and the employe or his dependents shall fail to agree upon the facts thereof and the compensation due under this act the employe or his dependents may present a claim for compensation to the board

Whenever any claim for compensation is presented to the board and is finally adjudicated in favor of the claimant the amounts of compensation actually due at the time the first payment is made after such adjudication shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the day such claim is presented and such interest shall be payable to the same persons to whom the compensation is payable

In case any claimant shall die before the final adjudication of his claim the amount of compensation due such claimant to the date of death shall be paid to the dependents entitled to compensation or if there be no dependents then to the estate of the decedent

Section 411 Whenever the employer and the employe or his dependent shall on or after the seventh day after any disability begins or death occurs agree on the facts on which a claim for compensation depends but shall fail to agree on the compensation payable thereunder they may petition the board to determine the compensation payable Such petition shall contain the agreed facts and shall be signed by all parties in interest The board shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition and shall notify all parties in interest As soon as may be after such hearing the board shall award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 412 If any party shall desire the commutation of future instalments of compensation he shall present a petition therefore to the board

Section 413 The board or a referee designated by the board may at any time review and modify or set aside an original or supplemental agreement upon petition filed by either party with the board or in the course of the proceedings under any petition pending before such board or referee if it be proved that such agreement was procured by the fraud coercion or other improper conduct of a party or was founded upon a mistake of law or of fact Provided That an agreement can only be reviewed modified or set aside if a petition is filed with the board within one year after the date of the most recent payment of compensation made prior to the date of filing such petition

The board or referee designated by the board may at any time modify reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award upon petition filed by either party with such board upon proof that the disability of an injured employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or that the status of any dependent has changed Such modification reinstatement suspension or termination shall be made as of date upon which it is shown that the disability of the employe has increased decreased recurred or has temporarily or finally ceased or upon which it is shown that the status of any dependent has changed Provided That an agreement or an award can only be reviewed modified or reinstated during the time such agreement or award has to run if for a definite period and no agreement or award shall be reviewed or modified or reinstated unless a petition is filed with the board within one year after the date of the most recent payment of compensation made prior to the date of filing such petition

The board or referee to whom any such petition has been assigned may subpoena witnesses hear evidence submit controverted medical issues to the Medical Board make findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in the same manner and with the same effect and subject to the same right of appeal as if such petition were an original claim petition

The filing of a petition to terminate or modify a compensation agreement or award as provided in this section shall operate as a supersedeas and shall suspend the payment of compensation fixed in the agreement or by the award in whole or to such extent as the facts alleged in the petition would if proved require

Section 414 Whenever a claim petition or other petition is presented to the board the board shall by general rules or special order either direct it to be heard by one or more members of the board or assign it to a referee for hearing Provided however That petitions presented under sections four hundred and eleven and four hundred and twelve shall be heard by one or more members of the board

The department shall serve upon each adverse party a copy of the petition together with a notice that such petition will be heard by the board or the referee to whom it has been assigned (giving his name and address) as the case may be and if the petition shall have been assigned to a referee shall mail the original petition to such referee together with copies of the notices served upon the adverse parties

Section 415 At any time before an award or disallowance of compensation or order has been made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned the board may order such petition heard before it or one or more of its members or may reassign it to any other referee Unless the board shall otherwise order the testimony taken before the original referee shall be considered as though taken before the board or substituted referee

Section 416 Within ten days after a copy of any petition has been served upon any adverse party he may file with the secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or with the referee if the petition has been assigned to a referee an answer in the form prescribed by the board

Evry fact alleged in a petition not specifically denied by an answer so filed by an adverse party shall be deemed to be admitted by him But the failure of any adverse party or of all of them to deny a fact so alleged shall not preclude the board or referee before whom the petition is heard from requiring of its or his own motion proof of such fact

Section 417 (a) As soon as may be after the twelfth day after notice that a petition has been directed to be heard by the board has been served upon the adverse parties thereto the board shall fix a time and place for hearing the petition if there be no controverted medical issues If a petition be assigned to a referee he shall twelve days after notice that such petition has been assigned to him has been served upon the adverse parties fix a time and a place for hearing the petition if there be no controversial medical issues Such hearing shall not be less than seven nor more than fourteen days after the mailing of notice thereof by the referee The secretary of the board if the petition has been directed to be heard by the board or by one of more of its members or the referee to whom the petition has been assigned shall serve upon all parties in interest a notice of the time and place of hearing and shall serve upon the petitioner a copy of any answer of any adverse party

(b) If there be controverted medical issues the board or the referee as the case may be shall forthwith submit such medical issues to the appropriate Medical Board for determination In such case the hearing before the board or referee shall be postponed until after the Medical Board has transmitted to the board or referee its findings as to such medical issues

Section 418 The board if a petition is directed to be heard by it or by one or more of its members or the referee to whom a petition is assigned for hearing may subpoena witnesses order the production of books and other writings and hear evidence and shall make in writing and as soon as may be after the conclusion of the hearing such findings of facts conclusions of law and award or disallowance of compensation or other order as the petition and answers and the evidence produced before it or him and the provisions of this act shall in its or his judgment require The findings of fact made by the board in any petition heard by it or by one or more of its members or upon a hearing de novo shall be final except as hereinafter provided and the findings of fact made by a referee to whom a petition has been assigned or any question of fact has been referred under the provisions of section four hundred and nineteen shall be final unless an appeal is taken as provided in this act or unless the board shall under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-five of this article grant a hearing de novo or a reahearing

Section 419 (a) The board may refer any question of fact arising under any petition including a petition for commutation heard by it to a referee to hear evidence and report to the board the testimony taken before him or such testimony and findings of fact thereon as the board may order The board may refer any question of fact arising out of any petition assigned to a referee to any other referee to hear evidence and report the testimony so taken thereon to the original refere

(b) The board or a referee if it or he deem it necessary may of its or his own motion either before during or after any hearing make investigation of the facts set forth in the petition or answer

(c) In all proceedings involving claims for compensation under this act in which there are controverted medical issues between the parties the board or referee shall refer such issues to the appropriate Medical Board for determination

Section 420 (a) Immediately after referring to the appropriate Medical Board medical issues in any case the board or referee shall order the claimant to subject himself to such clinical pathological and Roentgen examinations as in the opinion of the Medical Board may be necessary to determine whether or not the claimant has contracted or is suffering from the disease for which claim has been filed

(b) Every Medical Board shall have the power to subpoena witnesses to administer oaths and to order the production before it of books records and papers which may be relevant to any issue submitted to it for determination Any person who has been directed by a Medical Board to make an examination of a claimant or an autopsy of a decedent for whose death compensation is claimed shall give his testimony to the Board either orally or in writing and shall submit to cross-examination by counsel for claimant and defendant All examiners and experts who make examinations at the instance of a Medical Board shall receive such compensation as the Medical Board shall fix with the approval of the Secretary of Labor and Industry such compensation to be paid by the department and taxed as costs

(c) After the Medical Board has completed its inquiry into any case submitted to it it shall file with the board or referee its written report setting forth its findings with respect to the following medical questions

1 Whether or not the claimant contracted or is suffering from the occupational disease alleged and in death cases whether or not death was caused by such disease

2 If the claimant has contracted or is suffering from the occupational disease alleged its opinion as to the extent of the disability suffered by the claimant

The board or referee shall mail a copy of such report and findings to the claimant and to the employer or his or their or its insurers within five (5) days from the date of the filing thereof

(d) The Medical Board shall order an autopsy to be made upon the decedent for the purpose of examination and tests to determine the cause of death when it deems such an autopsy to be necessary to determine the cause of death

The findings resulting from such examinations and test shall be filed with the State Department of Health and certified copies thereof shall be filed with the board or referee and shall become public records in the case

(e) The reports and findings of the Medical Board shall be conclusive except that upon appeal to the courts the courts may inquire into the question whether the findings were based on any evidence

(f) All the proceedings for compensation shall be suspended upon the refusal of a claimant or claimants to submit to such clinical pathological and Roentgen examinations as may be ordered by the Medical Board In death cases in the event that a claimant or claimants shall refuse to permit an autopsy to be made upon the body of the decedent for a period of three months after death when ordered by the Medical Board no compensation shall be payable and claim therefor shall be disallowed by the board or referee

Section 421 (a) All hearings before the board or one or more members thereof or before a Medical Board or before a referee shall be public

(b) The board its members the referees and the Medical Boards shall not be bound by the technical rules of evidence in conducting hearings and investigations but all findings of fact shall be based only upon sufficient competent evidence to justify them

(c) If any party or witness resides outside of the Commonwealth or through illness or other cause is unable to testify before the board a referee or a Medical Board his or her testimony or deposition may be taken within or without this Commonwealth in such manner and in such form as the board may by special order or general rule prescribe The records kept by a hospital of the medical or surgical treatment given to an employe in such hospital shall be admissible as evidence of the medical and surgical matters stated therein but shall not be conclusive proof of such matters

Section 422 After the report of the Medical Board has been filed with the board or referee as the case may be the board or referee shall promptly fix a date for hearing and shall conclude the proceeding as in cases in which there are no controverted medical issues except that it or he shall accept as conclusive the findings and conclusions of the Medical Board with respect to the controverted medical issues

Section 423 Any party in interest may within twenty days after notice of a referee's award or disallowance of compensation shall have been served upon him take an appeal to the board on the ground (1) that the award or disallowance of compensation is not in conformity with the terms of this act or that the referee committed any other error of law (2) that the findings of fact and award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by sufficient competent evidence or was procured by fraud coercion or other improper conduct of any party in interest The board may upon cause shown extend the time provided in this article for taking such appeal or for the filing of an answer or other pleading

In any such appeal the board may disregard the findings of fact of the referee and may examine the testimony taken before such referee and if it deem proper may hear other evidence and may substitute for the findings of the referee such findings of fact as the evidence taken before the referee and the board as hereinafter provided may in the judgment of the board require and may make such disallowance or award of compensation or other order as the facts so founded by it may require but the board shall accept as conclusive upon it the findings and conclusions of the Medical Board

Section 424 Whenever an appeal shall be based upon an alleged error of law it shall be the duty of the board to grant a hearing thereon The board shall fix a time and place for such hearing and shall serve notice thereof on all parties in interest

As soon as may be after such hearing the board shall either sustain or reverse the referee's award or disallowance of compensation or make such modification thereof as it shall deem proper

Section 425 Whenever an appeal shall be taken on the ground that the referee's award or disallowance of compensation was unwarranted by the evidence or because of fraud coercion or other improper conduct by any party in interest the board may in its discretion grant a hearing de novo before the board or one or more of its members or assign the petition for rehearing to any referee designated by it or sustain the referee's award or disallowance of compensation If the board shall grant a hearing de novo it shall fix a time and place therefor and notify all parties in interest

As soon as may be after any hearing de novo by the board it shall in writing state its findings of fact and award or disallow compensation in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 426 The board upon petition of any party and upon cause shown at any time before the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth to which an appeal has been taken under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article shall have taken final action thereon may grant a rehearing of any petition upon which the board has made an award or disallowance of compensation or other order or ruling or upon which the board has sustained or reversed any action of a referee but such rehearing shall not be granted more than one year after the board has made such award disallowance or order or ruling or has sustained or reversed any action of the referee If the board shall grant a rehearing of any petition from the board's action on which an appeal has been taken to and is pending in the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth under the provisions of section four hundred and twenty-seven of this article the board shall file in such court a certified copy of its order granting such rehearing and it shall thereupon be the duty of such court to cause the record of the case to be remitted to the board Provided however That nothing contained in this section shall limit or restrict the right of the board or a referee designated by the board to review modify set aside reinstate suspend or terminate an original or supplemental agreement or an award in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred thirteen of this article

Section 427 Any party may appeal from any action of the board on matters of law to the court of common pleas of the county in which the employe was last employed prior to his disability or death or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the court of common pleas of any other county of this Commonwealth Such appeal must be brought within twenty days after notice of the action of the board has been served upon such party unless any court of common pleas to which an appeal lies shall upon cause shown extend the time herein provided for taking the appeal The party taking the appeal shall at the time of taking the appeal serve upon the adverse party a written notice thereof setting forth the date of the appeal and the court in which the same is filed and shall file either with his notice of appeal or within thirty days thereafter such exceptions to the action of the board as he may desire to take and shall specify the findings of fact if any of the board or of he referee sustained by the board which he alleges to be unsupported by sufficient competent evidence The sufficiency of such evidence is hereby declared to be a question of law to be determined by the courts upon review

Upon filing of the notice of an appeal the prothonotary of the court of common pleas to which the appeal has been taken shall issue a writ of certiorari directed to the board commanding it within ten days after service thereof to certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken The writ so issued shall be mailed by the prothonotary to the department at Harrisburg together with a copy of the exceptions The board shall within ten days after such service certify to such court its entire record in the matter in which the appeal has been taken including the notes of testimony

Any court before which an appeal is pending from any action of the board may remit the record to the board for more specific findings of fact if the findings of the board or referee or of the Medical Board are not in its opinion sufficient to enable it to decide the question of law raised by the appeal

If the court of common pleas of any county of this Commonwealth shall affirm an award or order of the board or of a referee sustained by the board fixing the compensation payable under this act the court shall enter judgment for the total amount stated by the award or order to be payable whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments If such court shall sustain the appellant's exceptions to a finding or findings of fact and reverse the action of the board founded thereon the court shall remit the record to the board for further hearing and determination in which the procedure shall be the same as that hereinbefore provided in this article in the case of a petition presented to the board except that the testimony taken in the original proceedings shall be considered as though taken in such further hearing

The prothonotary of any court of common pleas to which an appeal has been taken from the board shall send to the board a certificate of the judgment of the court as soon as rendered with a copy of any opinion which may be filed in the case and within five days shall give notice of such judgment and the date thereof by registered mail to each attorney-at-law appearing in the case at the address given by the attorney in the pleadings and if no attorney-at-law has appeared by registered mail to the party or parties not represented by counsel

At the end of the period hereinafter allowed for an appeal from the judgment of the court the record of the board shall be remitted to it by the prothonotary unless an appeal shall have been taken to the Superior Court as hereinafter provided If such appeal shall be taken the record shall be remitted to the board by the prothonotary on its return from the appellate court

Any party may appeal to the Superior Court from the judgment of the court of common pleas within thirty days after entry of said judgment irrespective of the amount involved Such appeal shall be taken and prosecuted in the same manner and form and with the same effect as is provided in other cases of appeal to the Superior Court and the record so certified shall contain all that was before the court of common pleas Any appeal from the action of the board to a court of common pleas and from it to the Superior Court shall take precedence over all other civil actions The judgment of the Superior Court shall be final unless an appeal therefrom is allowed as in the case of other judgments of that Court

Section 428 At any time after the approval of a compensation agreement or after an award or order has been made by the board or referee the employe or dependents entitled to compensation thereunder may file a certified copy of the agreement and the order of the board approving the same or of the award or order with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county and the prothonotary shall enter the total amount of compensation stated in the agreement award or order to be payable to the employe or his dependents whether then due and accrued or payable in future instalments as a judgment against the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award Such judgment shall be a lien against property of the employer or other party liable under such agreement or award and execution may issue thereon forthwith

Wherever after disability or death any employe or his dependents shall have entered into a compensation agreement with the employer liable for compensation under this act or shall file a claim petition with the board he may file a certified copy thereof with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of any county The prothonotary shall enter the amount stipulated in any such agreement or claimed in any such petition as a judgment against the employer If the agreement be approved by the department or compensation awarded as claimed in the petition the amount of compensation stipulated in the agreement or claimed in the petition shall be a lien as of the date when the agreement or petition was filed with the prothonotary Pending the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation no other lien which may be attached to the employer's property during such time shall gain priority over the lien of such agreement or award but no execution shall issue on any compensation judgment before the approval of the agreement or the award of compensation on the said petition

If the agreement be disapproved or after hearing compensation shall be disallowed the employer may file with the prothonotary of any county in which the petition or agreement is on record as a judgment a certified copy of the disapproval of the agreement or disallowance of compensation and it shall be the duty of such prothonotary to strike off the judgment

If the amount of compensation claim be disallowed but another amount awarded the compensation judgment shall be a lien to the extent of the award as of the date of filing the petition with the prothonotary with the same effect as to other liens and the same disability to issue execution thereon as if the compensation claimed had been allowed In such cases the prothonotary shall make such modification of the record as shall be appropriate

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. At this time the Chair would like to give to the House a message that will be pleasing, a message of good cheer. Last week one of our members was called home suddenly because of the very serious illness of his wife. This morning Representative Krise from Clearfield received from his colleague the following telegram:

"Every thing over; have a new daughter; both are fine. Will be down in the morning."

The House is now comprised of two hundred and eight members and a daughter. The chair forgot a very important point. The father is Eddie Clark of Clearfield county.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mr. JAMES offered a resoluton and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1939.

There came to Seif last Friday night
The cutest little thing
Without a stitch of clothing on
He heard the angels sing
It seemed to Charles a miracle
(He knew he had not bought her)
That there should thusly come to him
A daughter, yes—a daughter!

A new and precious flower of humanity appeared in the McGee Hospital at Pittsburgh, at 11:56 a. m. on Friday April 28th.

She is the daughter of the Honorable Charles Lysle Seif, a member of this House, and his wife, and reports from the hospital advise us that she weighs exactly six pounds, ten and two-tenths ounces.

The young lady will be known to the proud parents and to the world as Dorothy Irene Seif; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Members of the House of Representativs of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that our member from the County of Allegheny is entitled to and hereby receives our heartiest congratulations upon the birth of this new daughter, and for his fortitude in coming safely through the ordeal; and that to his wife we extend our best wishes for her quick recovery and her great happiness in her new possession; and to the new daughter we send our greetings into the new world that so eagerly awaited her arrival; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the Honorable Charles Lysle Seif and his wife and to Miss Dorothy Irene Seif.

Mr. SEIF. May it please the Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I wish to thank from the bottom of my heart Brother James and the other members of the House for their good wishes. Obviously I am rather nervous. I rushed to the hospital and I said to the doctor, "Tell me, am I a mother or a father?" The doctor didn't seem to understand and I repeated and I said, "Is it a boy or a girl, I mean is it a squirrel or a girl; I mean, is it emasculated; I mean is it a male or a female?" He said, "Yes, it is a girl." I was very glad because I knew that that little girl would never have to go through what I was going through at that time.

I wish to say to the members of the House that that condition is even more serious than the condition my good friend, Elmer Holland, is referred to as having water on the brain, and the condition my good friend, Dr. Hindman has so frequently referred to as tuberculosis of the biramous-cephalotherasic-ambulatory -cartaliginous-exoskeleton.

I want to say to the members of this House that there ought to be a contribution to provide every hospital with a maternity ward. I thank you.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Regarding Water Rights heretofore Acquired

Section 2 Any acquisition of water rights heretofore acquired by any public water supply agency which acquisition has not been followed by an actual taking from the source acquired either heretofore or within a period of one year after the effective date of this Act is hereby declared null and void and of no effect to the extent required to make water rights from such source available for acquisition under the terms of this Act

Section 3 No acquisition of water rights from a source of supply by a public water supply agency shall be effective to prevent the acquisition of water rights from such source of supply in the future under the terms of this act unless within one year after the effective date of this act the public water supply agency shall have produced to the board the record upon which such acquisition is founded or a statement of the facts relied upon to show that such acquisition has been lawfully accomplished and shall have filed in the office of the board duly certified and acknowledged transcripts of corporate or other action or proceeding or statement of facts or records relied upon as the basis of a claim of acquisition of water rights and a sworn statement of an estimate of the amount of water reasonably necessary from said source of water supply for present purposes and future needs and also such other or additional information as the board may deem necessary Provided That prior compliance with the provisions of the act of 1937 Pamphlet Laws 258 Number 64 by any public water supply agency shall be deemed to be a full meeting of the requirements of this section of this act

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the Board to consider and to pass upon the validity of the claims of public water supply agencies making claim to prior acquisitions of water rights under the provisions of Section 3 of this Act and to notify the claimant of its findings

It shall also be the duty of the Board to prepare and keep up to date a public record of all confirmed water right acquisitions and of all permits for the acquisition of water rights classified and indexed as the Board may direct and containing such detailed information as may be available to the Board and which it shall determine should be recorded which said public record shall be known as "Water Acquisition Record"

An actual taking of water from any source and the use thereof to serve the public shall be construed as prima facie evidence of the validity of the claim of any public water supply agency claiming an acquisition thereof and the confirmation by the Board of any acquisition claimed by any public water supply agency shall constitute a validation of the right of the public water supply agency to such water rights in the source as shall be reasonably necessary for its present purposes and future needs subject to modification of said rights at a later date or later dates only under the terms of this Act

Regarding Acquisition of Water Rights Hereafter

Section 5 No public water supply agency shall hereafter acquire any water rights except as provided in this Act and any acquisition of water rights hereafter except as provided in this Act shall be deemed to be unlawful null and void

Section 6 Hereafter no acquisition of water rights shall be made or taken by any public water supply agency person partnership or corporation except as follows

Any such public water supply agency desiring to acquire new water rights a new source of water supply or to acquire an additional quantity of water or water rights from an existing source of water supply beyond that confirmed by the Board under the preceding sections of this Act as being reasonably necessary for present purposes and future needs shall make application to the Board for a permit to acquire such designated waters or water rights setting forth such of the following information as may be applicable

1 The river or stream from which the supply is proposed to be taken and the necessity for such new water rights new source or additional quantity

2 The amount of water which it is proposed to acquire for present purposes and future needs

3 The district municipality or political subdivision and the population thereof requiring the supply and the necessity for such acquisition

4 The plan for development or use of the water including the capacities of any proposed impounding reservoirs

5 Such other or additional applicable information as the Board may require

Section 7 It shall be the duty of the Board upon receipt of an application under Section 6 of the Act to make such investigation as may be necessary including a search of the Water Acquisition Record to determine whether the approval of the application will affect water rights theretofore confirmed or approved or water rights at that time the subject of application to the Board or water rights for the acquisition of which a permit shall therefore have been issued In case of apparent conflict of interests the investigation shall include and consider the extent of the conservation development and use to the best advantage of existing sources of water supply In case of established conflict of interests the Board after receipt of an application or at any time or from time to time shall have the power to issue modify or impose conditions in permits or confirmed claims for or to the acquisition of water rights theretofore or thereupon issued when deemed necessary by the Board in the public interest and it shall be the duty of the Board to issue and it shall issue all such permits and modification and conditioning orders as the public interest shall require

However if the Board finds that the proposed new source or additional supply will not conflict with the rights to such water or to water rights held by any other public water supply agency which are reasonably necessary for its present purposes or future needs and that the water or the water rights proposed to be acquired are reasonably necessary for the present purposes and future needs of the public water supply agency making application that the taking of said water or the exercise of said water rights will not interfere with navigation jeopardize public safety or cause substantial injury to the Commonwealth then and in that case the Board shall approve the application and shall issue permit therefor

Section 8 The Board shall have the further power to revoke any permit granted under the terms of this Act in case the water rights are not acquired within one year after the issuance of said permit and said acquisition shall be null and void and of no effect to extent required to make water and water rights from such source available for acquisition under the terms of this act if any actual taking of water be not made within four years after the issuance of said permit

Section 9 All public water supply agencies heretofore or hereafter incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and holding a permit issued by the Board under the provisions of this Act shall have the power and may exercise the rights of eminent domain as respects the appropriation of the water and the water rights authorized by said permit and land covered by said waters Provided however That such right shall not apply to private spring and private water supplies

Section 10 Any party or applicant who may be directly or adversely affected by any decision or finding of the Board under any of the provisions of this act shall be entitled on application to be heard in person or by counsel in a public hearing on reasonable notice before the Board or its duly designated agent All members of the Board and its duly designated agents shall have power to administer oaths to any witness appearing for any party in interest in said hearings All testimony and argument shall be recorded and transcribed and shall be read and considered by the Board before it shall make its decision

Any party aggrieved by any decision of the Board under any of the provisions of this act may within thirty days appeal therefrom to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County and the taking of such appeal shall operate as a supersedeas

Section 11 Fees Every statement record or application for permit filed under the provisions of this Act or heretofore filed under the provisions of the Act of April 8 1937 Pamphlet Laws 258 shall be subject to filing fee of twenty-five dollars for the purpose of reimbursing the Commonwealth in part for the cost of administration of the act All moneys so collected shall be paid into the State Forests and Waters Fund by and through the Department of Revenue

Section 12 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed and the following acts are hereby expressly repealed

Act Number 109 Pamphlet Laws 152 approved April 13 1905 being "An Act providing that the right of eminent domain as respects the appropriation of streams rivers or waters or the land covered thereby shall not be exercised by water companies incorporated under law"

Act Number 307 Pamphlet Laws 455 approved June 7 1907 being "An Act to require all water and water power companies hereafter incorporated or hereafter formed by merger and consolidation or hereafter purchasing the property and franchises of any other such company to designate the exact source of their supply of water or water power and to require all existing water and water power companies merging and consolidating or purchasing the property and franchises of any other such company to accept the provisions of this Act and of the act approved April thirteenth one thousand nine hundred and five entitled 'An act providing that the right of eminent domain as respects the appropriation of streams rivers or waters or the land covered thereby shall not be exercised by water companies incorporated under law' and providing the manner in which water and water power companies subject to the provisions of this Act may secure a new or additional source of supply for their water or water power"

Act Number 64 Pamphlet Laws 258 approved April 8 1937 being "An Act providing for the appropriation of certain waters of the Commonwealth to the Commonwealth for the benefit of the people thereof declaring void certain condemnations and appropriations of water by municipalities corporations copartnerships or persons providing for ascertainment of the validity and the filing of the records of certain condemnations and appropriations of water by municipalities corporations copartnerships or persons and appeals therefrom conferring jurisdiction on the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County in relation thereto providing for future condemnations and appropriations of waters by and allocation of waters to municipalities corporations copartnerships or persons and for compensation for waters hereafter to be taken for public water supply purposes and conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Water and Power Resources Board

Section 13 Separability Clause If any provision of this act or the application of any provision to any person or circumstances is held invalid the remainder of the act and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby

Section 14 Inconsistency With Other Acts In so far as any of the provisions of this act are inconsistent with the provisions of any other law the provisions of this act shall be controlling

Section 15 Ecective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment be recommitted to the Committee on Insurance for further study.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 732.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 732, Printer's No. 324, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and one (P. L. 493), entitled "An act providing for the examination, licensure and registration of persons, firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage, and prescribing certain rules, regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing, house drainage and cesspools, in cities of the second class, and imposing fines, penalties and forfeitures for violation thereof,'" in so far as it relates to boroughs.

was defeated on final passage Wednesday, April 26, 1939, be reconsidered.

Mr. CHERVENAK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Armstrong Mr. Gates, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Chervenak, vote on the final passage of this bill?

Mr. CHERVENAK. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the majority.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

By a rising vote one hundred ten members having voted in the affirmative or more than a majority, the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the feeling prevails among a number of the members that when this bill was before the House last week many if the members voted under a misapprehension. Misapprehensions considering the provisions of this bill are rather natural. There might have been apprehensions that the provisions of this bill would dilute in some measure health provisions which might be desirable and there might have been apprehensions that this bill might have retarded building operations, thereby diminishing to some extent the demand for plumbers, but I am sure that the provisions of this bill would not have any such effect. On the contrary enactment of this bill should, if anything, create and make further demand for building, inasmuch as it would make possible plumbing work at reasonable prices on small properties. This bill, as a matter of fact, is a repeal bill. It merely repeals an act, P. L. 168, which amended the plumbing code. That was done in 1937. This amendment immediately caused a great deal of difficulty in municipal governments and it also imposed great burdens on the small home builders. That act required the use of extra-heavy soil pipe throughout the building, when either standard or medium pipe, at one-third to one-half the cost, will and does outlast the life of the building itself.

It should be understood in the first place that this amendment includes boroughs and first class townships. The repeal of this act does not mean that a borough or a first class township cannot set up a building code just as drastic as it pleases, and it may if it so desires, or the occasion seems to warrant, employ a plumbing inspector. It deprives no borough or township of those rights, but on the other hand it does make it possible for a borough or a township where the expense of the employment of a plumbing inpector would be prohibitive, and where it would most certainly require additional taxes to be levied upon the home owners of that borough or township, it does permit such boroughs and townships to go along with the ordinary provisions that are common place at this time and have been for many years. This act would have, in effect, a result highly desirable in that it would reduce the cost of plumbing operations in small homes to the extent of between one and two hundred dollars. Under the provisions of the code and the provisions of this amendment, it is often necessary on a small property to set up a plumbing system that is even larger in its outside dimensions that the house itself. It requires elaborate plumbing and piping because it is necessary to vent every line. It seems to me, and I think it seems to a great many of the members of this House who have given thought and consideration to the provisions of this act, that it should now be passed, and I ask the members to vote in support of this act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Cooper, Ewing and McVay asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JOHN N. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, when House Bill No. 732 was under consideration for final passage in this House on April 26, I voted "Aye." The record inadvertantly indicates that I voted "No." Inasmuch as House Bill No. 732, insofor as I am concerned, is a companion bill to House Bill No. 519, both of which I am interested in, I desire to give notice that I would like to have the record indicate that on April 266 I voted "Aye" on House Bill No. 732.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 546, as follows:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 598, as follows:

An Act authorizing the compromise of delinquent taxes on real property and the penalties interest and costs due thereon except in counties of the first class before a tax sale of such real property and providing the procedure in such case

Section 1 Whenever taxes levied by any political subdivision upon real property except in counties of the first class are now delinquent and such delinquent taxes and the penalties interest and costs due thereon exceed in the opinion of the tax levying authorities the amount which could be realized on account of such taxes penalties interest and cost at a tax sale of such real property upon which the taxes have been levied it shall be lawful for the tax levying authorities or any of them if the court of common pleas of the county in which such real property is situated shall first have consented thereto to accept in compromise of such delinquent taxes penalties interest and costs any sum less than the whole amount due and to enter satisfaction of all such taxes on the record

Section 2 Upon the presentation of the petition of any tax levying authority to the court of common pleas of the county setting forth a description of the real property on which such taxes are delinquent the amount of delinquent taxes penalties interest and costs due segregated by years showing also the total amount due to each taxing district the amount offered in compromise thereof the division of the compromise settlement between the taxing districts interested and such other information as may be deemed necessary to the court the court shall fix a day not more than twenty days thereafter for a hearing thereon At least fifteen days' notice of such hearing shall be given by mail to each taxing authority having an interest in such delinquent taxes and shall also be given by publication once in a newspaper of general circulation in the city borough town or township in which such real property is situate

Section 3 If after such hearing the court is satisfied that the proposed compromise is proper and to the advantage of the taxing authorities interested or any of them it shall enter a decree approving such compromise settlement with such petitioning tax authority and any other tax authority desiring to join in such settlement or such other settlement as the court may find proper and just The proceeds of such compromise shall be distributed to the respective taxing authorities in proportion to their claims

Section 4 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Counties for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is not by any means a complicated bill. It is a bill that meets with a great deal of favor of certain members from certain parts of the Commonwealth and it is a bill which for certain reasons is opposed by people from other parts of the Commonwealth. I dont think that anyone knows what happens to a lot of bills that are called constitutional or unconstitutional. I don't think any member has the right to say, certainly not the right to say without giving reasons therefor, that a bill is very apparently unconstitutional. This bill, if it were to be recommitted for the purpose of killing the bill, then we might just as well settle it once and for all on the floor of the House and have the matter disposed of one way or the other. If, on the other hand, the bill is to go back to committee because it isn't clear enough, because it is hard to understand, I feel that if the questions involved were asked, it might be possible for any number of people, including myself, to qualify the provisions of the bill in a comparatively few minutes. Sir, I would respectfully ask the members of the House that they do not recommit this bill to any Committee.

The bill is intended to make it possible for certain very distressed school districts and municipalities to clutch at that straw which every man and woman seeks, and to get some ready cash which might make it possible to conduct the business of their municipalities and to pay the teachers who are employed to teach our children. Its advantages are apparent. It is not compulsory. It is protected and re-protected by all our tax-levying bodies and the courts in each county, and I frankly say to you that I see no danger in the bill. It has many definite advantages to those who so sorely need it.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to support Mr. Wagner in opposing the return of this bill to Committee. The bill is clear. It imposes no hardship and possibly will work out very much to the advantage of the different counties, municipalities and taxing authorities throughout the state. There has been no reason given for the return of this bill to Committee, and in the absence of any reason being given for the bill to be returned to the Committee, I will respectfully ask the membership of this House to vote down the motion.

This bill comes under the supervision of the courts and it can only be taken advantage of when the value, in the minds of the taxing authorities, is less than all the accumulated taxes against the property. It can work no harm and will work a lot of good. It will do no good now to return this bill to Committee. It is a good bill, a fair bill, and a bill that will work good throughout the state, and I ask my colleagues on the other side of the House and the membership of this House to oppose the motion.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in voting to recommit this bill, I want to ask the members to vote "no." It is impossible at the present time for certain coal companies to pay their taxes; it is impossible for many others to do the same thing, with the result that school districts find that they do not have the money to carry on. These same coal companies can go into 77-b bankruptcy and reorganize and compromise those tax claims. It seems to me that to turn down this opportunity to allow them to compromise tax claims, will simply force them into the bankruptcy courts under 77-b with the result that the taxing districts will lose. The bondholders who hold the bonds will also lose if we vote to prohibit them from compromising these claims. We then vote to take from the bondholders the money which they have invested and give them questionable stock under 77-b. In my home territory we have a number of school districts in dire need. We have a coal company which owes considerable taxes and which is not in position to pay them. If it is permitted to compromise these taxes on a reasonable basis, with the permission of the courts, our school districts in those townships will not have any tax situation and the result will revert back to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, now so much in need of money, and the Commonwealth will not be able to find money to send out there. It seems to me that if we permit companies which are in dire need to compromise these tax claims, we will put them in a position where they can start up again, where the employment will increase, where the taxes likely will go down as a result of the fact that they can pay taxes in the various taxing districts because of the fact that this will enable the companies to employ men, and because of the fact that it will in all probability result in lower taxes on real estate back home. I therefore ask the membership to vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, in support of the motion of the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese, I would like to give to the members of the House some reasons why this bill should be defeated. Some of the reasons are as follows:

1. Because it is in violation of the equality clause of the federal Constitution.

2. It violates the tax uniformity clause of the state Constitution.

3. It violates the state Constitution by providing a method for exempting taxes of a special group.

4. In violates both federal and state Constitutions by discriminating between taxpayers.

5. It will encourage delinquency in tax payments, as many taxpayers will remain delinquent in anticipation of a compromise.

6. It is decidedly unfair to taxpayers who have paid their taxes promptly.

7. It is unfair to purchasers of municipal and school district bonds, inasmuch as the taxes levied are the security for such indebtedness.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the discussion heretofore has been on whether it would be advisable to recommit this bill to the committee, but the gentleman from Northampton has offered, and I think it probably a good sensible procedure, certain definite reasons why he feels it should be opposed, and inasmuch as he has done that, I would ask the indulgence of the House for a few moments to reply to those objections.

There two things that I would like to point out about this bill before I ask for a vote on the measure. The first is this: There are a good many members of the House who would like a bill of this sort but who have been lead to believe that it is a continuing proposition, but the language of the bill states very clearly that it can only be in effect on taxes that are due n-o-w, and I think that the most learned lawyer will agree that the courts have sustained and interpreted that word as meaning at the time the bill was passed. It does not apply to any taxes coming due tomorrow or next year or five years from now, it applies only to taxes that are delinquent at the time this bill is passed. Furthermore it provides very definitely that the tax levying authorities must be convinced, and not only must they be convinced but they must satisfy the court of the county that it is impossible and will be impossible at a forced sale a year later to collect the amount of the taxes now already due against the real property. Now, there is not any trick in that. There is certainly no going out on the limb. There is certainly no opportunity for abuse.

May I call upon certain authorities to answer the legal objections of the gentlman from Northampton. I would hesitate to rely upon my own judgment or knowledge of the law, so I made it a point to consult a number of people who are looked upon, so far as legistlation is concerned, as legal authorities, constitutional authorities. I should like to read for the benefit of the members of the House the opinion of the Hon. John H. Fertig, whom I think both sides of this House will agree is a reasonably responsible and capable authority on matters of this kind. He writes:

"Dear Mr. Wagner:

"I have your request for my views on the constitutionality of House Bill No. 598.

"Let me say at the outset that while the constitutionality of this bill, as in the case of many other bills which are enacted, may not be entirely free from all doubt, it is my opinion the courts would sustain it.

"The bill is question authorizes the tax levying authorities, except counties of the first class, to compromise delinquent taxes, penalties, interest and costs when it appears to them that such delinquent taxes, penalties, interest and costs exceed the amount which could be realized on account thereof at a tax sale. The compromise is within the discretion of the taxing authority, except that it must be consented to by the court of common pleas after hearing of which due notice is to be given by publication.

"The legislative purpose is clear—to aid political subdivisions in collecting some of the delinquent taxes due on real estate where the tax sale method of collection would be ineffective. The bill contains no mandate but simply vests a discretionary power requiring the exercise of judgment on the part of the taxing authorities and the court. As such it is no different from hundreds of others laws which vest discretion upon equally important subjects.

"Nor is this bill on a new or novel subject. The act of May 25, 1933, P. L. 1018 authorizes County Commissioners to compromise delinquent taxes where land has been sold at a county treasurers sale and the title is held by the county whether or not the period of redemption has expired. No doubt this act has been applied in many cases and no question of constitutionality has been raised. There is one reported case on this act, Susquehanna County Commissioners Petition, 27 D & C 139, in which the court construed the act so as to include within the phrase "former owner," as used in the act, a stockholder of a corporation.

"It is to be noted that this act of 1933 extended only to taxes where the return system as distinguished from taxes liened in the prothonotary's office was in use and where title was held by the county after a treasurer's sale.

"This was followed by the act of November 23, 1938, P. L. 90, which authorized the compromise of delinquent taxes where the land was returned or a lien filed in the prothonotary's office, if, in the opinion of the tax levying authority, approved by the court, the delinquent tax was more than could be realized by enforced collection.

"The present bill goes one step farther and authorizes the compromise of any delinquent tax where the exercise of judgment shows that compromise is the only feasible method of securing any tax within a reasonable time because a sale of the land would not secure a sufficient bid to pay the tax.

"Classification is permitted in tax law; the Constitution directly so provides. While all real estate must be taxed except that exempted by the Constitution or by law, nevertheless, real estate is classified for the purpose of taxation. Thus in cities of the second class different rates are applied to the land and the improvement thereon. In Philadelphia the situation existed for years of taxing urban and farm lands at different rates. Since the Supreme Court has held that the constitutional clause applies not alone to the levy of the tax, but as well the collection of the tax and the use of the revenues therefrom, it follows that classification, if applied in the collection field, will be approved, as it has in the levying field, if the classification is reasonable and makes a distinction which is based on real distinguishing facts.

"The reason for the point I made above, on the restricted application of the act of 1933, was to point out the reasonableness of the classification adopted under this bill, applying as it does to all cases where the collection situation is such that the sale method is ineffective to recover the tax, the delinquent tax being more than could be recovered at a tax sale. The bill applies to all taxes which are in this class. A delinquent tax on such estate is clearly in a class distinct from that on real estate where the sale method affords an adequate remedy. In my opinion the classification is much sounder than those adopted under the acts of 1933 or 1938, yet neither of these acts appears to have been questioned. If the classification is sound then the uniform clause of the Constitution is not violated.

"Furthermore, that the vesting of discretion in a political subdivision to compromise a tax, is sound seems to be established by the historic policy of vesting in taxing authorities the power to exonerate the collection of a tax where circumstances warrant it. Thousands of dollars of taxes are wholly exonerated each year in the settlement of tax duplicates and while these may in the main be personal taxes, there is no distinction in the vesting of discretion in a taxing authority to use its sound judgment in the collection of taxes and in applying principles of equity. If it can be given the power to exonerate it follows it can be given the lesser power to compromise.

"Nor is the idea of compromising tax based alone on the acts which I have referred to above. Section 1410 of the Fiscal Code of 1929 authorizes the Department of Revenue with the approval of the Auditor General and the Attorney General to compromise state taxes in cases, among others, where the property owned by a corporation is insufficient to satisfy the taxes and other debts due the Commonwealth.

"But aside from all this who can raise the constitutionality of this bill if it is passed? The person who seeds the benefits of the act will not do so; the political subdivision which is granted the power is unlikely to do so, for if it has any doubt on the question it will simply refuse to act and its refusal to act leaves the taxpayer helpless. In my opinion a taxpayer has no standing to raise the question. He has standing to question the constitutionality of an act only where he alleges that public property is being illegally used or that public moneys are being illegally expended. Neither of these situations are here involved. There are cases where there may be doubt about the constitutionality of a law, yet there are no parties in a position to successfully raise the issue.

"The procedure under the bill is well safeguarded by the provisions for public hearing and for approval by the court. The taxing authority cannot act arbitrarily or in improper cases. Proof will be required that compromise is the only effective method of realizing any tax on the real estate in question.

"It is my belief that the bill if enacted would be upheld by our courts if the question of constitutionality were successfully raised, and that no federal question could be successfully raised."

"Very truly yours,

"JOHN H. FERTIG."

I would ask that this bill be not recommitted but be decided here upon the floor of the House, because there is a definite need for such an act on the part of so many counties in the state.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. David P. Reese and Mr. Bohn.

Messrs. David P. Reese, Moran and Bohn asked for a verification of the roll.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WAGNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Wagner when you first introduced this bill, you had excluded from it second and third class counties, is that right.

Mr. WAGNER. Not originally. Originally I believe second and third class counties were included.

Mr. BOHN. As the bill presently stands, second and third class cities are included in the bill.

Mr. WAGNER. They are included now.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Wagner, your particular interest in this bill has to do with the situation over in Schuylkill County, has it not.

Mr. WAGNER. My own peculiar personal interest is based upon conditions with which I am concerned in Schuylkill County, which I know to apply in many other counties, and which I have been since told are prevalent as far west as Allegheny who are very eager to have the bill passed.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to submit to you, Mr. Speaker and members of the House a few facts concerning this bill in regard to Luzerne county and Lackawanna county. I am not going to talk on the constitutionality of these bills, although personally, just from ordinary horse-sense, to me the bill is unconstitutional, but I feel there are able lawyers in the House here who can give you their views as to the constitutionality of this bill much better than I can.

I want to submit to you a few figures in Luzerne county. In the township of Hanover where I reside, one taxpayer, the Glen Alden Coal Company, pays to the township of Hanover the sum of one million one hundred thousand dollars in taxes every year. Not only to Hanover township but to the various communities surrounding the city of Wilkes-Barre, the amount of taxes they pay yearly is two million three hundred and two thousand dollars. I might add, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that these taxes are paid up to date, and even in some of these communties, if the school board or the commissioners need an advance in taxes it has been known that the Glen Alden Coal Company has advanced as much as one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for the various governing bodies in these municipalities to carry on their business. We have not had any delinquency so far as this large taxpaper is concerned.

Mr. Wagner says that this bill is not for the future, only for those taxpayers that are delinquent at the present time, but I would point out to the members of the House that this bill sets a bad precedent. I wonder if the Glen Alden Coal Company, just like the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company has come to this Legislature, won't come down to future Legislatures and ask them to pass another bill allowing them to come in and make a compromise on their delinquent taxes. If this Legislature sets that precedent and allows it here, you can see very readily that it will cripple almost every community in the County of Luzerne.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel this is a bad piece of legislation, it sets a bad precedent, and I ask the members of this House to vote "no" on this measure.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Bohn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOHN. I will, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from Luzerne, coming from a district where I assume all the taxes are paid, tell me what occasion he thinks they would have to use this bill in that particular district.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, if the Glen Alden Coal Company knows that by holding up the taxes for three years and then can come to the school board and the commissioner and offer a compromise of fifty cents on the dollar, then I say they are going to be encouraged not to pay the taxes and that is just one thing that we in Luzerne County do not want to happen.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that none of us want that and that this bill does not permit that.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, I understood that the bill did permit that.

Mr. WAGNER. Again, I call to the attention of the members of the House and ask them to get out their dictionaries and see that there is a word in there that spells "N-O-W" now, so far as describing delinquent taxes to which this bill applies.

Mr. Speaker, so far as setting a precedent is concerned, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he thinks it would be bad policy to rescue a drowning man for fear he might encourage other people to put themselves in a similar predicament in days to follow.

Mr. BOHN. Mr. Speaker, my answer to that is, no.

Mr. WAGNER. I would like to ask him whether he thinks, if he had a good dinner for which he paid and a gentleman asked him to have a sandwich and a cup of coffee, would he immediately resolve never to buy his own food again?

Mr. BOHN. That illustration is rather far fetched, Mr. Speaker, and I don't think it pertains to the question.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman refuses to answer.

Mr. WAGNER. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I would just like to make this additional observation. I don't question the gentleman's sincerety, because we are not perfect and do not see a lot of things eye to eye, but I don't believe that is a very good American assumption that nobobdy is going to pay taxes if somebody gets out of a partial payment because they are not getting a square deal. Now, my taxes are paid, thanks to good intent and some good fortune and have been paid promptly year after year since I am a home owner. There is a neighbor of mine across the street who has some delinquent taxes, who never in God's world will be able to pay them when it comes to a forced sale three years from now. For our school district to encourage him and give him a compromise figure which would be approved by the court and result in getting some money which would satisfy his tax bill maintain possession of his home, and pay some teachers who need their salaries, I think is a good American gesture to say the least, and should not be looked upon by such a body in such a selfish manner as has ben intimated.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WAGNER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, in all good faith and seeking information in order to intelligently vote upon this measure, I would like to ask the gentleman a few questions. I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows how many parcels of real estate are delinquent in his county.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, the question as I gathered it was how many parcels of real estate are delinquent in taxes in my county?

Mr. CORDIER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, we stay in session so late and I am home so little, I haven't had the time to count them, but I know there are hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of delinquent taxes, and our county needs hundreds of thousands of dollars to keep our schools open.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman say that there are about eight thousand delinquent tax parcels in his county?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I can not give any figures to the gentleman, because he is a man of intelligence and he doesn't want to be kidded and since I don't know the number of parcels I would rather not have this "Button, button, who has the button" controversy.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, not wanting to be kidded, I have made inquiry and find that there are eight thousand four hundred and forty-two certified by your county commissioners.

Does the gentleman from Schuylkill believe if this bill is enacted, it will afford the owners of these eight thousand four hundred and forty-two parcels the same privilege of compromise as a big corporation?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman ought to know how I feel about it.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know; I am inquiring.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to tell him. Anybody who owes taxes on property which in the judgment of the tax-levying authorities will never be collected, has a right to expect and a right to get consideration of that tax-levying body for a compromise.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, in the event that they would petition the tax-levying authorities for a compromise of their taxes, I would like to ask the gentleman from Schuylkill how many years it would take the courts of Schuylkill county to dispose of these eight thousand four hundred and twenty-two cases.

Mr. WAGNER. Well, Mr. Speaker, that comes under higher mathematics. I believe, and judging from experience of recent years, I cannot conceive of eight thousand people rushing and asking to pay any amount of taxes at any time under present conditions. I would like to give him a specific answer but the gentleman knows, I think, that specific answers are almost impossible, and I don't know whether he is trying to interrogate me or tell me.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I was trying to interrogate him. I have in my hand here a copy of the Scranton

Times of April 24, which I think pertains particularly to the bill before us. It has to do with a test case which may prove to be the first of a series of legal moves to return lands acquired by taxing agencies to the original owners. This case was heard before Judge Hogan in our county, and was drawn up under the provisions of an act of the General Assembly, approved November 23, 1938, which gives taxing agencies an opportunity to compromise delinquent tax payers.

Attorney Butler who was the attorney told the court that the county commissioners and city council approved the request to comprosie the tax claims against the company. The concern owes taxes totaling $11,447.47, under the terms of the compromise which must receive the approval of court, the company will settle the tax obligations for five thousand dollars.

Judge Hoban indicated in his remarks that he questioned the constitutioality of the act. The jurist said that he doubted the uniformity of the act, setting forth that it would work to the advantage of some while others would not receive any benefit.

"Unless taxing laws apply equally to all, they are no good," Judge Hoban stated.

That is the opinion of the Judge of the Common Pleas Court of Lackawanna County, and I submit it to the House for its consideration on this measure.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentleman of the House, I recognize the point made by the gentleman from Lackawanna is well taken, but on the other hand he is familiar as well as all of us are with the various tax abatement bills that have been passed by this House and by the Pennsylvania Legislature in the last four, five or six years, and none of those laws have been declared unconstitutional. They have all been upheld by the courts. As a matter of fact, I don't know of any that have been attacked, and this bill is based upon the same principals.

I might point out to the members of the House that three conditions have to be fulfilled.

First, before this bill is enacted into law and can be taken advantage of, all the accumulated taxes against the property must be less than the fair value of the parcel, all the accumulated taxes against the property must be less in the minds of the taxing authorities than the fair value of the property.

Second, it must meet with the approval of the courts. and,

Third, all three of the taxing authorities or four, whichever the case may be, must agree.

All those conditions must be met before the bill, if it is enacted into law, can be taken advantage of by the taxpayer. I might go on further and say that various bills have been introduced into the House to clear up the tax abatements, the tax collections and the tax sales once and for all. This bill is along that same line, to clear up the tax abatements, tax collections and tax sales and make an end of them once and for all. I therefore ask the membership of the House to vote in favor of the bill.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have been listening with much interest to the discussion on this bill and I simply rise to correct an impression that might be left by my good friend, the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, as to the question of tax abatement bills that have been passed by this Legislature. I think the House ought to be correct, because I think the gentleman has probably misinterpreted the tax abatement bills.

This bill goes right to the heart of taxation, in that it allows a compromise of taxes. Tax abatement bills have been distinguished clearly by the courts from the question we have before us, in that in the abatement act we have abated only the interest and the penalty, and the interest and the penalty have nothing to do with the question of the uniformity of the taxes levied.

I merely rise to correct the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, so that the House will not be misled in trying to harmonize this bill, which has to do with the question of taxation, rather than with the question of interest and penalty. True it is that our tax abatement bills have been declared constitutional but on the condition that the question of interest and penalty have nothing to do with the question of taxation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 979. as follows:

An Act defining the rights powers and duties of collectors of county taxes except in counties of the second class and counties having local or special laws relating thereto and of collectors of city in cities of the third class borough town township school district and institution district taxes providing for the collection of such taxes by suit distraint and lien and sale of the chattels of taxables and of tenants on the real estate effected and from employers of delinquent taxables authorizing the appointment of deputies by the tax collectors defining certain defaults of tax collectors as embezzlements and imposing penalties

Section 1 Powers and Authority of Tax Collectors (a) Every collector of county taxes except in counties of the second class and in other counties having local or special laws and every collector of city in cities of the third class borough town township school district and institution district taxes shall have power in case of the neglect or refusal of any person co-partnership association or corporation to make payment of the amount of any tax due by him her them or it within thirty (30) days from the time of demand for payment to levy the amount of such tax and costs not exceeding costs and charges allowed constables for similar services by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such delinquent wherever situate or found upon giving at least ten (10) days' public notice of such sale by posting ten (10) written or printed notices and by one advertisement in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county

(b) The collector of such taxes shall have power to demand receive and collect from any person firm or corporation occupying any real estate any and all taxes assessed against such real estate during his or its possession or occupancy and the goods and chattels of any such person firm or corporation shall be liable to distress and sale for the non-payment of any such taxes in like manner as if they were the goods and chattels of the owner of such real estate

(c) The collector of such taxes shall have the power to demand receive and collect from all corporations political subdivisions and their various departments associations companies banks trust companies firms or individuals employing persons owing per capita or occupation taxes or having in possession moneys belonging to any person or persons owing taxes upon the presentation of a written notice and demand containing the name or names of the taxable or taxables and the amounts respectively due Upon the presentation of such written notice and demand it shall be the duty of any such corporation political subdivision or its various departments associations company bank trust company firm or individual to deduct from the wages or earnings of such individual employe or employes then owing or that shall within sixty (60) days thereafter become due or from the moneys of any such taxable in its or his possession or that shall thereafter within sixty (60) days thereafter come into its or his possession a sum sufficient to pay the respective amount of taxes and costs shown upon the said written notice or demand and to pay the same to the tax collector of the taxing district in which such delinquent taxable resides within sixty (60) days after such notice shall have been given provided however such corporation political subdivision their various departments associations banks trust companies firms or individuals shall be entitled to deduct from the moneys collected from such employe the costs incurred from the extra book-keeping necessary. to record such transactions not however to exceed two per centum of the amount of money so collected and paid over to the tax collector and upon the failure of any such corporation political subdivision association company bank trust company firm or individual to deduct the amount of such taxes and to pay the same over to the tax collector Less the cost of bookkeeping involved in such transaction as herein provided within the time specified as aforesaid such corporation political subdivision association company bank trust company firm or individual shall forfeit and pay the amount of such tax for each and every such taxable whose taxes are not withheld and paid over together with a penalty of ten per centum (10%) thereto to be recovered by an action of assumpsit in a suit to be instituted by the collector of taxes or by the taxing authorities of the district as debts of like amount are now by law recoverable except that such persons shall not have the benefit of any stay of execution or exemption law

Section 2 Collection by Suit by the Collector of Taxes and by the Taxing Authorities (a) Each such collector of taxes may institute a suit in assumpsit against a delinquent taxable for the collection of any real estate taxes due and unpaid after the fifteenth day of May of the year following the year in which the taxes were levied and assessed if (1) the property against which such taxes were levied has not been returned to the county commissioners and (2) such taxes have not been certified for entry of liens and (3) such taxes are not held in the custody of a court as herein provided Execution may be had upon any such judgment recovered without any stay or benefit of any exemption law

(b) In addition to all other remedies provided by this act each taxing district shall have power to collect unpaid taxes from the persons owing such taxes by suit in assumpsit or other appropriate remedies To each judgment obtained for such taxes there shall be added a penalty of ten per centum (10%) together with costs of suit Upon each such judgment execution may be issued without any stay or benefit of any exemption law The right of each such taxing unit to collect unpaid taxes under the provisions of this subsection shall not be affected by the fact that such taxes have been entered as liens in the office of the prothonotary or the fact that the property against which they were levied has been returned to the county commissioners

Section 3 Deputy Collectors Each such collector of taxes elected or appointed may with approval of the respective taxing districts and surety deputize in writing one or more suitable deputy tax collectors who when so deputized shall be authorized to receive and collect any or all of the taxes in like manner and with like authority as the collector of taxes appointing them Provided That any such collector of taxes appointing any deputy collector shall be responsible for and account to the taxing authorities for all taxes received or collected by said deputy

Section 4 Defaulting Tax Collectors Embezzlement Penalty If any person charged with the collection safekeeping or transfer of any such county township school city borough town or institution district taxes under any law or laws of this Commonwealth shall convert or appropriate the moneys so collected or any part thereof to his own use in any way whatever or shall use by the way of investment in any kind of property or merchandise any portion of the money so collected by him from such tax or taxes and shall prove a defaulter or fail to pay over the same or any part thereof at the time or times and place or places required by law to the person or persons legally authorized to demand and receive the same every such act shall be deemed and adjudged to be an embezzlement of so much of said money as shall be thus taken converted appropriated embezzled invested used or unaccounted for and is hereby declared a misdemeanor and every such collector of taxes and every person or persons whomsoever aiding or abetting or being in any way accessory to such act and being thereof convicted shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment not exceeding five (5) years or to pay a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000) or both at the discretion of the court

Section 5 Scope of Act Nothing contained in this act shall be construed as repealing or changing the existing laws providing for the return of seated real estate to the county commissioners for the collection of delinquent taxes nor the laws relating to the filing and collection of tax claims in and through the office of the prothonotary

Section 6 Repeal So much of all general acts heretofore passed as are inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed but this act shall not apply to any county taxes the collection of which is regulated by a local law or county taxes in counties of the second class

Section 7 Effective date This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Wilkinson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILKINSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Wilkinson, for the information of some of us members, we would like to ask you to explain this bill very briefly.

Mr. WILKINSON. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is three fold. First, to gather all tax collectors authority in one statute, in lieu of the conglomeration of laws which we have today and dating as far back as the late 1700's. Secondly, to create a uniform system of tax collectors authority. Third, to provide a direct statutory authority to collect taxes instead of by reference.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Wilkinson, my understanding of the bill is that the collector of taxes is empowered by this bill to go to any employer and receive occupational and per capita taxes.

Mr. WILKINSON. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Wilkinson, can the tax collector, under the provisions of this bill, go to any other agency such as a bank?

Mr. WILKINSON. Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. TARR. Do you mean then, Mr. Wilkinson, that occupational and per capita taxes can be just taken out of a bank account regardless of the size of the bank account?

Mr. WILKINSON. Mr. Speaker, that is correct. Even school teachers' bank accounts.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, when I spoke with Mr. Wilkinson some time ago regarding this bill, I thought it was a pretty good bill, but there are some things that don't quite measure up to my way of thinking of a good tax bill, and one of them is allowing the tax collector to go to a bank and take out the amount of taxes. Some of us know that we can't always afford to pay our taxes on time, and to allow a tax collector to go to the bank and draw the money from the bank for taxes is a very dangerous thing and it is also going to put a burden on the bank, if they have to go through their books to find out whose wife—I wouldn't say whose wife,—but Henry Jones, who is her husband, and find out what his account is. That is my objection to the bill but since it is part of the bill and we cannot vote for sections of the bill against other sections of the same bill, I am going to vote against the bill and ask those persons who might be thinking my way to go along and vote against it.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection House Bill No. 518, Printer's No. 479 was passed over at the request of Mr. DAVID P. REESE.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1288, entitled:

An Act to amend the second paragraph of section eighteen of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 955), entitled "An act to promote public health, safety, morals, and welfare by declaring the necessity of creating public bodies, corporate and politic, to be known as housing authorities to engage in slum clearance, and to undertake projects, to provide dwelling accommodations for persons of low income; providing for the organization of such housing authorities; defining their powers and duties; providing for the exercise of such powers, including the acquisition of property by purchase, gift or eminent domain, the renting and selling of property, and including borrowing money, issuing bonds, and other obligations, and giving security therefor; prescribing the remedies of obligees of housing authorities; authorizing housing authorities to enter into agreements, including agreements with the United States, the Commonwealth, and political subdivisions and municipalities thereof; defining the application of zoning, sanitary, and building laws and regulations to projects built or maintained by such housing authorities; exempting the property and securities of such housing authorities from taxation; and imposing duties and conferring powers upon the State Board of Housing, and certain other State officers and departments," providing for the payment of fees for certification to the Department of Internal Affairs in connection with the issue of bonds.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am going to vote "No" on this bill, but I don't want to influence any other members of the House.

I think the bill is a step in the wrong direction. If you will recall not so long ago I had a bill on the calendar to exempt housing authorities from the payment of fines on the certification of the Department of Internal Affairs. However, I gave way to this bill, because of the wishes of the majority floor leader and the Speaker of the House, and because I did not want to unduly clutter up the calendar, but I do hope if this bill is passed, we will have enough legislative intent on the record so that the Board of Revenue and Finance will not, in deciding certain matters of appeal that are before the Board now, take any indication from the passage of this bill as to how they should act on those appeals that are now pending. We are calling that to the attention of the majority floor leader so that our legislative intent may be clear in the passing of this act.

I wish the majority floor leader would state for the record whether or not the passage of this act will in any way interfere with certain appeals that are now pending before the Board of Finance and Revenue as to which the Board of Finance and Revenue may thoughtlessly intrude on the proceedings.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is my opinion that this bill will not interfere with any appeals which are now pending before the board of Finance and Revenue relating to refunds in connection with this subject. I believe that was the intent of the majority of the members of this House, and I believe that that intent should be carried out.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 968, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred three to repeal section four hundred seven and to amend section one thousand two hundred and one of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement of other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" to reorganize the Departments of Revenue and of the Auditor General in such manner as to vest in the Department of Revenue the appointment the fixing of the compensation and the approval of the expense accounts of clerks investigators appraisers expert appraisers permanent appraisers and other employees necessary to enable the registers of wills of the several counties to collect transfer inheritance taxes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is passed at a very propitious time and passed on a very propitious occasion, right after the installation of the Secretary of Internal Affairs and the opening of possibly two hundred or three hundred jobs which possibly have not been sufficient to satiate the job desires of the majority. For years the Department of the Auditor General has appointed the inheritance tax collectors and investigators collecting the inheritance taxes in our counties. This will take away from the Auditor General those particular appointments. It is very singular that the bill that we are now about to act upon immediately precedes another bill introduced by the same sponsor, and I feel that the title of the second bill introduced by that sponsorship should be the title of the bill upon which we are acting, because if there ever was an attempt to by statute rape the Auditor General, this bill does it.

This is a real example. You know a layman sometimes has great difficulty in determining just what is meant by statutory rape. That is what this bill is. They are taking from the Auditor General the jobs that the Auditor General has had from time immemorial in the appointment of inheritance tax collectors throughout the sixty-seven counties of the Commonwealth. But I have no fear that the motive of the majority will be realized. I rely upon the fair play of the membership of this House that has been exemplified on many occasions. Every understanding of legislative problems, every desire to see wrongs righted, every desire to see right prevail convinces me that the majority of this House will not succumb to this criminal activity, but if I am wrong and if the appetite of the majority cannot be appeased by sandwiches and onions and they need more jobs, and if they feel that having tapped the well of patronage that they must suck it dry, if they feel and think by such activity that they are going to be able to perpetuate their activity, they are grossly mistaken. You know, issues are not made on the basis of patronage, elections are not won on the basis of patronage. The things that really win are the real legislative issues that are evaluated during a session such as this. We of the minority are quite willing that the position of the minority in future elections shall be the position the minority has taken on legislative problems. We have no fear as to the outcome of any future election based upon the legislative records of the two parties in this House. This bill further indicts the majority. It exposes their attitude not only in this respect but in the bills that are to be voted upon in the near future, it exposes their attitude on employment and compensation bills, their attitude on the Department of Assistance. So I feel that if the majority will deviate from the long record of fair play that is supposed to be characteristic of legislative halls, that they will be jumping smack into the difficulties of patronage.

I was particularly struck by the Legislative Correspondents' display on Wednesday night with the emphasis that was placed on the subject of patronage. These poor deserving Republicans who have been deprived of their birth right now going on five months, these poor deserving Republicans who have labored to elect you men in the House and are not in a job today, but with the passage of this bill there might be a possibility that they will get a job, providing the bill passes the Senate. I wish to publicly announce that there are now available in the Department of Internal Affairs two or three hundred very lucrative jobs, and I would suggest to all the deserving Republicans from all the sixty-seven counties of the Commonwealth that they come up here and say to the Secretary of Revenue, "Why don't you let the Auditor General's Department alone to perform their functions properly? If you start any messing around with the collection of taxes you are going to find that the floating debt which this state now has as a result of previous Republican administrations is going to be increased three fold. If you start in fooling around with the intricate problems of the collection of inheritance taxes, you are going to find that the budgetary estimates of your budget director are going to be far wrong, and in addition to coming back here with the necessity of raising more money in a special session as we now see it, you will have to come back here and raise additional money to make up for the inefficiency that will result by this attempted grab of a few jobs in the Auditor General's Department.

I know that every word that I say will be an indication to the membership on the other side to vote in favor of the bill. I might state that we are very pleased to have the membership on the other side vote for this bill, because it clearly indicates, with big problems waiting solution, the membership of this House of the majority are more concerned with a few paltry jobs than they are with solving the problems of the Commonwealth. Thank you.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, has indeed paid me a compliment. He has suggested that I, a lone Republican, am about to rape the great Democratic party. That was done in the primaries by members of their own party.

Seriously speaking, the Secretary of Revenue under the present bill is required to supervise the work of investigators appraising inheritance taxes. Now, surely if he is required to supervise this work, he should have some power over the employees and he should have the right to hire and fire. What is the good of giving a man the power to supervise without giving him the power to hire and fire. Given a man in a position who does not do his work, what can the Secretary of Revenue do about it? He can't fire him, he might complain, but what good would it do him?

I therefore claim that this collection of taxes rightfully belongs with the Secretary of Revenue and I ask the members of this House to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 283, entitled:

An Act permitting inquiry as to good repute and consent on cross-examination of prosecutrix in cases of statutory rape.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SWEENEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WIESS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sweeney, how does this bill, if enacted, change the present law.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, under the present law, if a girl under the age of sixteen has intercourse, no matter what her reputation is, the defendant is accused of statutory rape. If you can show by legal competent evidence that she has a bad reputation, the crime is reduced from rape to fornication. The crime of rape covers a sentence of from seven and one-half to fifteen years, while the crime of fornication carries a penalty of one hundred dollars fine.

Our Supreme Court has said in a number of decisions that there is only one way to establish a girl's bad reputation, and that is by bringing in people who know her, who will testify that they have known her and have known her for a number of years and that in their opinion the girl bears a bad reputation. That kind of testimony for anyone who has attempted to secure it is impossible. People will not come in and testify to that fact, first because it is liable to start a fight in the neighborhood, and secondly, they are liable to subject themselves to criminal prosecution. The only purpose of this act is, if a defendant and his attorney can determine that a girl under the age of sixteen has had intercourse and bears a bad reputation, you can ask her that when she takes the witness stand.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Sweeney, are you by this bill going to protect any person who has anything to do with a girl under sixteen years of age?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I am not. I am only trying to make it more simple to establish what the law has stated, that if a girl does bear a bad reputation, the jury will be able to ascertain that fact.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, that would apply even to girls who are only nine or ten years old, is that correct?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, that is possible but not probable.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Sweeney, in the title to the act you have the word "prosecutrix." Suppose the county detective or the chief of police is the prosecutor, how would you then, in accordance with the title of this act, be able to examine the prosecutor or the prosecutrix.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I don't understand how any county detective could be a prosecutrix in a rape case.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, it is very seldom that a girl nine or ten years of age signs the information in a rape case, is that not right, Mr. Sweeney?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I don't know of any case off hand.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Sweeney, in the title you have the word "prosecutrix"; now if the prosecutor in a case is the chief of police or the county detective or the mother of the girl, how are you going to examine her according to your title.

Mr. SWEENEY. Well, Mr. Speaker, the mother or the county detective would not be the prosecutrix. They would represent the prosecutrix. The person raped would still be the prosecutrix, no matter who she was.

Mr. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am opposed to this particular bill because I believe we are trying to give protection to people who deserve no protection under the law, and furthermore I believe it is very repulsive and unsocial to have girls ten or eleven years of age take the witness stand and be asked questions as to whether they consented or not and as to their reputation. I don't believe that we should throw any cloak of protection around any individual who has anything to do with young girls, and this certainly is helping a person out who least deserves help. As far as Westmoreland County and that particular part of the State is concerned, practically in all cases I have noticed it is either the county detective or the chief of police or the mother of the particular young girl that usually brings the prosecution. I really can't see any advantage at all in voting for this particular bill. It isn't a partisan measure, it is really a social measure, and I am very much opposed to it.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is no one more anxious than I am to protect young innocent girls. This bill is not designed for anything like that. Anyone who gives it any thought realizes that a girl who is only nine or ten years of age is not going to bear a bad reputation. This bill is only to take care of a situation where a girl who is more mature than others, probably around the age of fourteen or fifteen who has a bad reputation, goes out and is later arrested and then the man no matter whether the girl consented or even solicited him is charged with rape which is a very serious crime and carries a penalty of imprisonment of from seven and a half to fifteen years. Now, if you can by showing her bad reputation, reduce that to fornication, it carries a fine of one hundred dollars. This law only gives the defendant the right to show, by asking the prosecutrix, whether or not she has a bad reputation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in order to conserve the time of the House and since there are three bills closely related that follow each other, would it be permissible to discuss this bill and the other two bills that immediately follow, all dealing with the same subject.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is to be regretted that these bills, so vital to the welfare of certain people of the Commonwealth, come before us at this late hour in our legislative day. I have never taken the position on this floor to rise to simply take the time of the House. I have always tried to be considerate of the feelings of the members insofar as almost complete exhaustion might be concerned, yet at the same time I feel that these three bills, House Bills 718, 721, and 720 ought to be given the utmost consideration by this House, and I do hope that the House will give that consideration notwithstanding the hour of the day, and notwithstanding the fact that we are all, as I said before, about physically exhausted. I think that in just a few brief moments all that can be said for or against the bill can be said.

I was a member of the Legislature during the special session of 1938. I think it is well known that I opposed a great many of the measures that came before this Legislature during the special session. However, this measure that we have before us, which was enacted during that special session, received my whole hearted approval. It was a matter which the state of Pennsylvania had for a long time failed to consider. It was a matter concerning which the state of Pennsylvania stood far down on the list insofar as the other states of the union were concerned in the care of certain people as enumerated in the bill. This Legislature wisely and considering all those people passed these three bills, and in substance the three bills go together. They may be summed up as providing for the mental patients by contributions from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the taking over of institutions by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That was the step forward and brought Pennsylvania within the line of many other states in the union. These bills provide, with the exception I believe of the one institution in Philadelphia county, that the Governor, upon the request of the Department of Welfare, shall make provision to take over these institutions on or before the 31st day of May, 1939. I remember when these bills were passed. I remember in January of this year that the city of Pittsburgh had its hearings before council, insofar as the taxes of the city were concerned, and believing that the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the special session of 1938 passed these laws with due regard of the people who were to become of beneficiaries under the act, did not and should not have included in its budget the care of these mental cases beyond the period specified by the law. Now, we come to the point of throwing back upon the city of Pittsburgh, the county of Allegheny and the other counties of the state of Pennsylvania, the care of these mental cases when there is absolutely no money in the budget to take care of them. We won't suffer, that is one thing, but we ought to have regard for the people who will suffer. I am advised by the authorities of the city of Pittsburgh that it will cost the city approximately five hundred thousand dollars to take care of the mental cases from May 31, 1939 to January 1, 1940, and there isn't one penny in the budget of the city of Pittsburgh to take care of these patients. The only way the city of Pittsburgh can take care of these patients is to go out and borrow money in the sum of five hundred thousand dollars. I ask you is that fair to the poor real estate tax payers of the city of Pittsburgh? As I understand it, the city of Pittsburgh can raise no revenue to pay off these obligations which they may borrow except by levying taxes on real estate for the next year, and here we are passing on to the real estate owners another burden which was taken off of them, and which they had the right to believe would be taken off of them, and all of a sudden we place it back on them again. I am advised by the authorities of the county of Allegheny that this year's county budget is closed and that there is no legal authority whereby the county of Allegheny can borrow one red cent beyond the amount set up in the budget. What are these municipalities going to do? You may say that the state has no money, but I say to you that the state with its many resources behind it and the Legislature now in session, with the opportunity to levy taxes on many varied and different kinds of property can far better carry this load than the municipalities who must depend entirely upon real estate with the exception of the counties which do get some return from personal property, but the counties can't do anything because there is no legal authority whereby they can borrow money.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is my understanding that the total population of Mayview at the present time is four thousand two hundred and thirty-five patients, of which three thousand and thirty-five are mental cases. It does seem to me, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that while many more arguments could be made, the fair, right and the humane thing for us to do would be for us to reconsider these bills and let the state of Pennsylvania take this burden, which is rightfully the burden of the state, instead of throwing it back upon the local municipalities which have no money in their budgets to take care of these people, and those who can raise additional taxes must pass it on to those who are now overburdened real estate tax payers. I strongly request the members of the House to vote "no" on all of these bills.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as requested by Mr. Brown, I would like to confine my remarks to the three bills before us, as I realize the hour is getting very late.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, House Bills 721, 720, and 718 all pertain to the placing on the backs of the now overly-taxed home owners the cost of maintaining the mental cases now in our hospitals. First, I want you to understand that in 1938 I opposed the taking over by the State of our institutions who care for our insane and feeble minded persons. At that time, I felt that the local communities were given properties of considerable value to the state, however, as was pointed out to me in numerous forums as well as in public meetings that my constituents objected to my stand as they stated, investments of buildings were still the property of the tax-payers no matter where the taxpayers were located. They vigorously objected to real estate bearing the burden of the cost to care for these poor unfortunates.

I believe that the Governor stated that the state would not levy any additional taxes and, therefore, the cost of maintaining these institutions would be placed on local government agencies. But, of course, in his mad scramble for national publicity in trying to misrepresent to the entire United States that we have a budget balancing Governor, it is no doubt the Governor's intention to continue to criticize the federal government for their spending, while at the same time, get all their moneys to relieve his financial problems and to place on the backs of local authorities great tax burdens because this Governor was financed in his campaign by special interests.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his point of order.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not confining his remarks to the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the bills before the House.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will just be patient, I will confine my remarks to the bill before the House.

The state has wide taxing powers. Local taxing units have only the power to tax real estates. If ever an Administration had no concern for the little man who owns a home, this Administration certainly thoroughly demonstrates it is in first place in crushing every real estate taxpayer in Pennsylvania.

This Legislature seems to be only concerned in protecting the large special interests of Pennsylvania and worries very little regarding the home owners. I would like to just point out to you what is happening in Allegheny County and if it happened in Allegheny it also happened in your county. Home owners in Allegheny county pay $3.182,192.00 in taxes that should be paid by the Utilities of Allegheny County.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster will state his point of order.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman should confine his remarks to the bill under discussion.

The SPEAKER. That is correct, the gentleman should confine his remarks to the discussion of the bill. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, however, this House does nothing to correct this evil. House Bill No. 78 has laid in committee since the first day of this session with no action being taken, however, I realize if action were taken, the Governor would break his promise to protect the utilities at all cost. Out of the real estate taxes of Allegheny $1,158,072.00 is spent for the handling of the motor vehicle traffic, a legitimate expense that should be paid from the motor fund. Real estate should be relieved of this expense and again I want to call your attention to the fact that House Bill No. 91 introduced on the first day of session is in the Committee on Appropriations and true to the policy of this administration not to give assistance to the taxpayer nothing is done about it.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his point of order.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the gentleman from Allegheny ought to be allowed the greatest latitude in debating the bill, but I think he has gone far afield in doing so, and I rise to a point of order. I ask that the gentleman from Allegheny be requested to confine his remarks to the bill under discussion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the discussion of the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. I just want to point out to this House by placing this burden back on the taxpayers how much the taxpayers of Allegheny county have to pay. It should be taken care of by the state right in this Legislature.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed and confine himself to a discussion of the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, now, we come to these three bills, and we find that another million and a half is going to be again placed on Allegheny county owners of real estate.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his point of order.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not debating the bill and I ask that he be confined to debating on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed and confine his remarks to the bill under discussion.

Mr. HOLLAND. This statement that I am making is leading up to the bill. If ever an administration was trying to fool the public and follow the policy of P. T. Barnum, this administration certainly is.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny is not confining himself to the bill. May I state, Mr. Speaker, that our little block right here is prepared to stay until the wee hours of the morning or until high noon tomorrow. We are prepared to listen to whatever the gentleman has to say in the argument that he is setting forth, but we would ask that he confine his remarks to the bill under discussion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair realizes that there is always a question as to the approach to an idea, or the approach to a particular bill. The gentleman from Allegheny may be approaching it from a long distance. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, on Monday we passed a bill giving one million dollars to help pay the salaries of teachers who are teaching school and are on relief rolls. Wednesday of the same week, we take back not only the million dollars we gave, but also five and a half million more by repealing a bill that would give assistance to those school districts of approximately $6,500,000. We certainly are putting to shame the Indian givers of old.

This session of 1939 will be indelibly impressed on the minds of the taxpayers in this state as one who mortgaged the real estate owners of Pennsylvania for generations to come. The Republican majority by their refusal to take action when action should be taken, and by taking action when they should not have taken action are compelling the real estate owners of Allegheny County to pay $5,740,264.00 more in taxes that they should be paying.

Mr. Speaker, I realize it is painful to the Republican party to have to listen to this debate. There is nothing more painful in this world than the truth. Now, try and blame this on the New Deal, and if you do, every home owner in Allegheny County when he is being evicted, when the mortgage on his home is being foreclosed due to your failure to assist him, will be in a fine mood again to listen to your political false promises that you made in the last campaign. For as has been wisely said, "You can fool some of the people some of the time, but can't fool all of the people all of the time." However, I realize that all I say today will not change your mind, you have received your orders from Colonel Estes, and like good soldiers in his brigade, you will have to carry on

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster will state his point of order.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not debating any of these three bills.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from Lancaster is correct, but he feels that the shorter course would be to let the gentleman go on.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I say to my dear friends on the other side of the House that following out the orders given to them by Mr. Grundy and Mr. Weir, they are going to place on the home owners of Allegheny County the cost of paying for the feeble minded people—

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I might say that the scant attention given to me here this afternoon is certainly a demonstration to me that the members of this House are not interested in the real estate tax payers of Pennsylvania, they only seem to be interested in—

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the remarks of the gentleman are not in order, that the remarks are not germane to the bill and the Chair feels that there has probably been provocation. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker, I shall confine my remarks to the bill. Regardless of what I say, the members are going to vote in favor of this bill.

I believe that there are times when people should be really sincere in legislation, make an effort to present proper bills, especially when Allegheny County and the district that I represent are vitally interested in these bills. I say to you that the home owners in the district which I represent cannot afford to pay any more taxes on real estate. The men and women in my district are working just a few days a week on W.P.A. and they cannot afford to pay any more real estate taxes, but since people have decided to take off taxes from the big man, go ahead, and the next election will decide who is right.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the deficit for this biennium will total approximately fifty-two million dollars. The bills which we are now extending for a period of two years were signed by Governor Earle in September and October of 1938. At that time he should have known, and I think did know that he had a deficit of approximately fifty million dollars. Besides that he knew that there were approximately thirteen million dollars in new functions which were established during the past two years which did not have to be spent in the last biennium but will have to be spent in the next biennium. In spite of those facts he signed these bills, creating an additional obligation of the Commonwealth in the amount of eleven and a half million dollars. Now the facts are that during the four years of the Earle administration, they did not see fit to take over these state hospitals which would have meant a tremendous increase in taxation, which they did not care to levy, but today they try to saddle that burden upon this administration by bills passed as that administration was going out of office. I say that that was not right.

I say to the members of this House although there will be some hardship in some counties, nevertheless in the majority of cases it will be possible to absorb this increase in the present millage rate of taxes. There is no additional amount that the counties will pay over that which they have been paying through all of the years of the past. The only thing that these bills do is postpone the effective date for a period of two years, and the Governor in his budget said that these bills among others may be good measures, but at the present time with the present deficit that has to be paid during this biennium, and with the very critical condition in which the finances of the state now are, it is impossible to take over the burden at this time.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, has there been any legislation introduced in the General Assembly which will permit the counties to borrow?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I know of no new law or bill that has been introduced relating to the borrowing capacities of counties. I am not acquainted with all the bills in the House and Senate. I may be wrong on that.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if the gentleman from Dauphin is familiar with the bills introduced in the Senate by Senator Gelder.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, relative to the borrowing of counties?

Mr. O'KEEFE. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I am not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. O'KEEFE. Mr. Speaker, is there any assurance that the bill that is now in the Senate will be passed in order to permit counties to borrow?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I feel, Mr. Speaker, that every effort will be made to work out the problems for all the counties, and any problem which any of the counties have, which cannot be met by legislation, that will be of benefit to the state as a whole, I feel every consideration will be given it by the Senate and by this House.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we in Blair county have a county hospital for the insane. We also have in conjunction our almshouse, and when this bill was passed last year it took away from us our county hospital, without any compensation whatever. We in Blair county want our Blair county hospital for Blair county people. It is meant for Blair county people. I can tell you this much right now it will cost Blair county more to maintain people in the Blair county hospital when the state takes it over, and I pledged myself in my campaign that I would try to keep our hospital there. I will therefore ask the members of the House to vote for all these three bills.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I think I understood the gentleman from Dauphin to say that the last administration did not enact these laws during their administration but passed them on to the present administration. Does the gentleman from Dauphin feel that at that time the Democratic party, or the present administration, felt that the people of the state of Pennsylvania would be kidded by the propaganda that the Republican party put out in order to fool the people, and that the present administration now would be in office instead of the one that was there before?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, you can fool some of the people all the time, and all the people some of the time but you cannot fool all the people all the time. I think the Democrats were not fooling all the people all the time. I believe they wised up on November the 8th.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the gentleman did not answer the question which I asked him.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin will answer the question.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside feel that the Democratic administration at that time knew that the Republican party would now be in power in the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I think, Mr. Speaker, they began to see the handwriting on the wall about that time.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman from Dauphin.

Mr. WOODSIDE. It has just been called to my attention that the bill to which the gentleman on the other side referred has been reported from Committee in the Senate. I might also refer him to Senate Bill No. 138, introduced by Senator Homsher, passed in the Senate, now in the House, which may also assist in the meeting of that problem.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I understood the gentleman to indicate that there would be a so-called deficit of fifty-two million dollars at the end of this biennium, is that correct?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that is right, possibly fifty-two million dollars.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin explain the cause of that deficit, to what particular subjects will the deficit be allocated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the deficit was a result of the Earle administration having spent more money during the biennium than the tax program took in.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin indicate how much additional money has been appropriated for relief?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there has been appropriated for relief by the present session of the Legislature a total of forty-three million dollars, and there was a bill introduced by me yesterday to appropriate two million dollars additional for the balance of the biennium.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in order to save the time of the House, would the gentleman from Dauphin say that there has been two and a half million dollars deficiency appropriated including one million dollars appropriated for teachers' salaries, would that figure cover the deficiency that has been appropriated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, what is that figure?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, two and a half million dollars.

Mr. WOODSIDE. No, Mr. Speaker, I think the sum is larger than that.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman indicate what that sum is?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I shall go down the list; two thousand dollars for the Lieutenant Governor, seventy-five thousand dollars for the Department of Justice; forty-five million dollars for relief; sixty thousand dollars for the Department of Forests and Waters; one million five hundred thousand dollars for the Department of Public Instruction; one hundred forty thousand dollars for transportation for the Department of Public Instruction; one million dollars for distressed school districts, and then there was an item of two hundred seventy-five thousand dollars for the new buildings for the Department of Health, and two hundred seventy-five thousand dollars for the new buildings for the Department of Public Instruction; five hundred fifty thousand dollars for the new buildings and equipment for the Department of Welfare, which will eventually have to be met, but appropriations for which were not made in the last biennium, nevertheless they are obligations.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin indicate the total of those amounts.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there would be one million forty-five thousand dollars for the Department of Welfare for the mental hospital in Philadelphia, and an item of three hundred eighty thousand dollars for legislative printing; seventy-nine thousand dollars for the salaries of judges in the municipal court of Philadelphia. Those items will total between forty-nine and fifty million dollars.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman explain where he gets the other two million dollars? Would the gentleman say that the estimated income for the second year of the biennium will not meet the anticipated collections to the extent of three and one-half million dollars?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I did not get the gentleman's last question.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Dauphin say that the additional three and one-half million dollars to be added to that figure represents the deficiency of collections under the estimate.

Mr. WOODSIDE. That is true partially, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, so that added to the figures, instead of having fifty-two million dollars, there would be fifty-three and one-half million dollars. Does the gentleman have any other item that would enter into the deficit?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, not that occurs to me at the present time. The point that I made on this is the fact that there was a large deficit and that the Earle administration, going out of office knew that there would be a large deficit. Whether it would be fifty or fifty-one or fifty-two or forty-eight or fifty-three is not very important in consideration of the fact that they tacked about eleven and one-half million dollars expenses on the incoming administration.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman explain the total amount of appropriations that have been lapsed which will act as a credit to the fifty-three million dollars deficit? May I make this suggestion, does not the total amount of lapsed appropriations amount to fourteen million dollars?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Approximately that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, would that fourteen million dollars be a reduction from the fifty-three million dollars?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that was a saving which was made in this administration by economy.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman is incorrect in his own figures and a little refreshing of his own memory and recollection will indicate a deficit of fifty-three million dollars less fourteen million dollars of lapsed appropriations, or what possibly could be a terminate deficit of thirty-nine million dollars, but I think the membership of this House will understand that that in reality is not a deficit. When the Democrats took over the government from the previous Republican administration there was at that time thirty-seven million dollars of floating debt. At that time too there were twenty-five million dollars of newly bonded indebtedness that had been reduced seven and one-half million dollars under the Earle administration. As a result and actual expenditure, in comparison with the moneys that were collected, represented an excess of income over expenditures in the sum of approximately seven million dollars during the Earle administration. The only position that the Commonwealth is in today is the position whereby the floating debt created by the previous Republican administration is still here to plague the people and the taxpayers of the Commonwealth. I am not saying that taxation is not a very difficult problem at this time. I realize the difficulty that attends the formation of a taxation program. I realize particularly that the necessity to raise taxes is sometimes overlooked in favor of expediency not to raise taxes, but irrespective of any situation that I might bring before your presence I cannot see how the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can be derelict in its obligation to the insane, particularly when the financial situation is improved in comparison with the situation as it was in January 1935.

The gentleman has indicated that not to pass these bills will impose upon the Commonwealth the necessity of raising eleven and one-half million dollars. I do not know whether these figures are correct but I do know this, that it is decidedly easier for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to raise the necessary eleven and one-half million dollars than it is for the various counties who have not included the maintenance of these hospitals in their budgets to finance the care of the insane from June, 1939 to June, 1941. We have at our disposal the wealth of the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and rather than transpose this obligation upon the counties that are not going to be able to bear that burden, I say that we in the Commonwealth should find ways and means whereby these additional moneys might be raised so that the local counties will not be in the position of not being able to take care of the thousands and thousands of indigent insane, who are going to be confronted with that very serious problem, if these bills are passed.

I say to the membership of the House that these bills should not pass, and that we should get our heads together and find the money to have the Commonwealth assume the obligation that justifiably belongs to it.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not want to prolong the debate but Allegheny County is very definitely concerned in this matter. In behalf of the other Republican members from Allegheny County, who are going to vote for these measures, I assure the members of the House that we have the well-being of the citizens of Allegheny County as much at heart as any Democratic members from Allegheny County have. I am thoroughly in accord with Mr. Brown's statement that this is a function of the state, but we are faced with the problem of raising the money to do it. We do not have the money, and I say to you that it is far more just to the people of Allegheny County that we do not place any more taxes on industry in Allegheny County because if we do we won't have any industry left in Allegheny County, and our citizens will have no place to work. For that reason, after careful consideration, the rest of the delegation of the Republican members from Allegheny County, along with myself, have decided to support these measures.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, whether he understands that the County of Allegheny is unable to borrow money under the present law.

Mr. FLEMING. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would further ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not the tax millage has already been set by the County Commissioners of Allegheny County.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, with your indulgence, I will explain to the membership of the House that I do understand that, and further I do understand that the County Commissioners of Allegheny County knew full well that Governor James was going to postpone this date for two years, when they were setting the tax millage, they set it in a hurry only to try to embarrass the Republican administration.

Mr. HAWKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not this action was taken a few weeks ago by the County Commissioners of Allegheny County.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Allegheny mean the setting of the tax millage?

Mr. HARKINS. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FLEMING. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like the members of the House to consider, and I would particularly like the Republican members from Allegheny County to consider the fact that the County Commissioners of Allegheny County could not forsee, nor fortell what the policy of this administration would be. These bills placing the burden for the care of the mentally ill upon the Commonwealth were passed in 1938, and I was one of the members who voted against the passage of these bills. However, it seems to me now that the County Commissioners of Allegheny County will be without legal authority to raise money to care for these mentally ill either by taxation or by borrowing. The only thing that can happen, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, will be that these mentally ill will not be properly taken care of and the reason for that is that the burden and the blame will not be upon the County Commissioners of Allegheny County who set the millage because it is through no fault of theirs that another governmental agency superior to them, has decided to give back to them the burden assumed by that superior governmental agency. There is no doubt that the passage of these bills will increase the burden on the local home owners and the tax payers in Allegheny County but, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that burden could be absorbed if there were a legal way of doing it at the present time. The danger in these bills is that the people who deserve aid and help and who are unable to properly care for themselves simply have to exist on no funds at all, there will be nothing to provide any food, clothing or medical care for these mentally ill. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, it is not fair to them to pass such bills as these at this time, because we know full well that when we are doing this we are shirking our responsibilities to the people who are unable to care for themselves

Therefore, I rise to oppose the passage of these bills.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Harkins.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny if the County Commissioners of Allegheny County did not have knowledge of the Governor's budget before setting their tax millage?

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have no knowledge whether the County Commissioners of Allegheny County had knowledge of the Governor's budget or not, but, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, is it not the duty of the Governor of the State to properly care for these people, is it not the duty of the Legislature to provide ample funds to take care of the responsibility of the Legislature?

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny as to whether or not the Governor's budget included any provision for taking over respective institutions.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I do not think it did, because I definitely recall that the Governor in his message proposed a postponement of the taking over of these obligations. But, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, these obligations were imposed upon the Commonwealth by acts previosly enacted, of which the Governor and the Republican administration had knowledge.

I say, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that it is unfair at this time, when there is no source or avenue of remedy open to the County Commissioners of Allegheny County to impose on them the responsibility of a situation which is not of their creation.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman, and I would respectfully request that the gentleman from Allegheny endeavor to make his answers more specific, if it is not a fact that the Governor's budget did not provide for the taking over of the respective institutions.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I think I have previously answered that question by stating that I have no definite knowledge of the budget, but I suppose that the budget was consistent with the Governor's messages, and that it did not so provide. I say, Mr. Speaker, that it was the law that this obligation should be taken care of by the Commonwealth and that that should have been provided for in the Governor's budget, if it was not.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Allegheny if the County Commissioners did not fix their tax millage with knowledge that the Governor's budget did not so provide for the taking over of the respective institutions.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I previously stated that I do not know what knowledge the County Commissioners had of the Governor's budget, but even if they didn't know that the Governor's budget did not provide for these funds, that matters not as I see the problem.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, may I further inquire of the gentleman whether or not he knows the reduction in millage that the County Commissioners of Allegheny County fixed.

Mr. HARKINS. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the question of the gentleman.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman whether he knows what the reduction in millage is as presently effected by the County Commissioners of Allegheny County.

Mr. HARKINS. I am not aware of that fact at the present time. I know there was a reduction in millage, but I am not certain as to the exact amount.

Mr. McVAY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House I thank the gentleman from Allegheny.

For the benefit of the gentleman from Allegheny, and for the benefit of the Democratic members from Allegheny County, and for the benefit of the membership of this House, the County Commissioners of Allegheny County with full knowledge that the Governor's budget made no provision for the taking over of the respective institutions, just very recently fixed the millage with a reduction of one fifth of one mill. That will be the political propaganda that will be used in Allegheny County in the fall compaign, but they will forget to remind the tax payers of Allegheny County that the increase in valuations by far exceed the reduction in taxes which the individual tax payers are going to have to pay by reason of this one-fifth of one mill reduction.

The gentleman from Dauphin very properly pointed out that House Bills 720, 721 and 718 were passed by the 1938 session of the Legislature. I venture to make this statement that this was the first time in the history of Pennsylvania that any call for a special session was sufficiently broad to provide for the taking over of mental institutions. I would like to inquire as to what might have developed between the adjournment of the 1937 regular session and the 1938 session that required the immediate taking over by the state of the various institutions. I further would like to call the attention of the members to the fact that when House Bill 721 was approved on the eleventh day of October, 1938, that House Bill No. 720 was likewise approved on the eleventh day of October, 1938, and that House Bill 718 was approved the twenty-ninth day of September, 1938, for the care of the indigent, insane and feeble minded and paralytics that great humanitarian administration of 1938 had in mind the payrolls of the various institutions throughout the state.

The gentleman from Blair, Mr. Jones, stated that as far as his own county was concerned that they were unalterably opposed to the state's taking over their institutions at any time. As far as I am personally concerned, although I am voting for the bills now before us, I would vote more graciously for the bills, more pleasantly for the bills, if they forever postponed the taking over of the respective institutions in Allegheny county. For the further benefit of the members of the House, neither Woodville or Mayview are institutions primarily for the care of the indigent insane, feeble minded or paralytic persons. The institutions are so filled, the personnel of the institutions is such, the growing numbers are so intermingled that it is practically impossible to separate the various classes of inmates. I feel that there should be no doubt as to the present postponement of the taking over of the institutions, and if I ever have the privilege of again voting on it, I hope it will be of a permanent nature.

Mr. HOMER S. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise for one moment to correct a wrong impression. Mr. McVay as a lawyer, and a good lawyer at that, and a good friend of mine, knows very well that under the law of the state of Pennsylvania, when Council fixed its budget in January this year, under the law they could not fix their budget regardless of what may have been in the Governor's message or what might be stated in the Governor's message. Council could not fix a budget for an expenditure which they could not make under the law as it stood then, they could not make this expenditure beyond May 31, 1939. Therefore, legally they could not make that budget even in contemplation of the expenditure which legally they did not have the right to make. I simply say that to show the condition we are in, because under the law they could not make a budget for the expenditure which they did not have the right to make.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Tronzo, Harkins and Walsh requested a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, for the sake of getting a ruling I make the following point of order, that in checking on the roll the gentleman cannot go on a fishing expedition, and he has challenged certain definite names.

The SPEAKER. The Chair believes that the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews is correct, but that having used the same method himself, the Chair hesitates somewhat to make a ruling.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the Chair, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria is correct.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 720, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act, approved the eleventh day of October, one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (Pamphlet Laws, sixty-three), entitled "An act to amend the act, approved the eleventh day of July, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws, nine hundred ninety-eight), entitled 'An act for the prevention and treatment of mental diseases, mental defect, epilepsy, and inebriety; regulating the admission and commitment of mental patients to hospitals for mental diseases and institutions for mental defectives and epileptics; governing the transfer, discharge, interstate rendition, and deportation of mental patients; providing for the payment by individuals, counties, or the Commonwealth of the cost of the admission, care, and discharge of mental patients; and imposing penalties,' as amended, by further defining and limiting the institutions in which persons mentally ill may receive care and treatment; relieving counties and poor districts of the payment of the cost of the admission, care, and discharge of mental patients, with certain exceptions; imposing such costs on the Commonwealth; and repealing inconsistent laws," by deferring the operation of the act for a further period of time, and permitting the care of mental patients in certain county, city, or institution district institutions during such time.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Section 20 Reciprocity The board shall have power to accept and endorse as valid in this Commonwealth licenses to practice photography issued by other states upon the payment of the fee prescribed for examination by this act if the standards of such other state are in the opinion of the board equal to the standards of this Commonwealth and if such other state shall recognize and endorse as valid license certificates issued by this Commonwealth

Section 21 Exemption From Act Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to prohibit a portrait or commercial photographer or studio whose principal place of business is located in another state from coming into this state and engaging in the practice of photography on the express order or request of a client or customer provided said employment is not solicited and said practice of photography is not done in the course of repeated and successive transactions of a similar nature or for the purpose of avoiding the provisions of this act

Section 22 Effective Date This act shall take effect on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I ask that this bill go over in its order.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I have had my daily demeanor destroyed by seeing this bill on the calendar and I object to having the bill held any longer. I ask that the bill be called up so that we can dispose of it either one way or the other.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I have had my daily demeanor somewhat destroyed also by finding that Mr. Cohen was a sponsor of a similar bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria will state his point of order.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the Chair cannot recognize the gentleman from York except in his place, and therefore the objection of the gentleman from York was not properly before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to advise the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, that he can recognize the gentleman from York any place.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I refer the Chair to the rule which says that the member must speak from his place.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, is parliamentarily correct, but the rule has not been strictly enforced in the House during the time the Chair has been here.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in view of the fact that a parliamentary inquiry has been raised that the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, was not in place when he objected, also in view of the fact that the Chair has recognized the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, entirely too much for the last twenty-four hours, I ask that the question raised by the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews be ruled on. I do not believe that Mr. Cohen has any right to be recognized when out of his place and particularly in the place he is.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to make a motion?

Mr. KANE. No, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from McKean for his patience.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I ask that this bill be passed over in order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from McKean asks that the bill go over in order. Is there objection?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, having at one time been deluded into introducing a bill of a similar nature and equally obnoxious, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection, and the bill cannot be passed over.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on account of the lateness of the hour, eight minutes after three, I will save the members of the House any extended speech on the bill now before us.

This is a bill for the photographic profession for the purpose, as they stated, of preventing "fly by night" people coming into the state and posing as professional photographers for the purpose of getting money out of inhabitants and delivering nothing for it. I do not see how, after the many times this bill has been recommitted, amended and otherwise tried to accomplish the wishes of the people who had any specific objection, anyone can raise any real objection to the bill as it now stands. I therefore urge the membership of the House, who believe in allowing the profession to set up a standard for itself, to vote for this bill.

Let me in passing say to the members of the House that a legitimate photographer in your district is a much better man to protect with a law, and tie to politically, than "fly by night gyp" artists that this bill seeks to eliminate. On account of the fact that this bill must go to a test vote, against the wishes of the sponsor of the bill, because of the objection of one man at this hour of the morning, I deeply urge all my clleagues on this side of the House to vote for this bill.

Mr. SEIF. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think Mr. Kane's point is well taken. When he as sponsor asked that the bill go over at this late hour, and one man in the House can prevent it, it seems to me that is the best reason in the world why you should vote for this bill because the minority floor leader is against it.

I invite your attention to the amendment to this bill which I hold before me. I might say that this bill has come out in white several times. There were various objections to the bill as introduced in a previous session, but all those objections have been eliminated.

Many members of the House have spoken to me about the objections of amateurs. The reason for those objections was that in the original bill there was no provision to take care of amateurs. However, I invite your attention to page three, where amateurs are specifically exempted from the applicability of the bill. This bill, as the sponsor suggests, is necessary as a police measure. Some people will say that the police officers under the present law have sufficient power to take care of so called gyp artists, but it seems to me that the proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof. The fact remains that the present law enforcement officers do not take care of these gyps who come into towns. The Federal Trade Commission has had trouble with these people. In many instances the Federal Trade Commission in its work is looked upon with suspicion, but in the field of photography, portrait photography particularly, that field has reason to call down many blessings because the Federal Trade Commission has done much toward cleaning up some of these evils. I have before me a syllabus which shows that the Federal Trade Commission has had to step in and issue "cease and desist" orders to fly-by-night photographers. The fact that this has had to be done indicates the necessity for this legislation. The reason I have this material before me, is because I happen to be a member of the sub-committee of the Committee on Professional Licensure which considered this bill. I might say that this bill is non-partisan. I am neither an amateur photographer nor a professional one, so I am more or less an outsider in this case. I think this bill should get fair consideration by the minority floor leader, notwithstanding, the fact that the hour has grown very late.

I have in my hand various affidavits from people who have been gypped. I have one here, it is a short one, as follows:

> "During November, 1938 I had my little girl photographed by a representative of 'S' studio of Pittsburgh, Pa., and paid them the sum of one dollar fifteen cents for which they promised to deliver to me one finished photograph. Since then to date, April 1939, I have heard nothing from them and I have received no picture or satisfaction of any kind. I do think that something should be done to protect the public from being victimized by misrepresentation of this kind."

If there is any doubt about this I shall be glad to exhibit this affidavit.

One objection that has been raised to this bill is that the newspapers do not want it. I hold in my hand a letter from the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association, dated April 4, 1939, which states among other things as follows:

"As far as I am able to determine, they (the amendments) cover all the objections which were raised by the newspapers and therefor are satisfactory to us."

I mention these amendments because so many people have come to me and said that this group, that group, and the other group are against this bill, and that is because they have not read the amendments.

The amendment in which the newspapers are interested is as follows:

"The 'Practice of Photography' shall not be construed to include

"Photography by individuals regularly employed by agency of the Federal or State government or any political subdivision thereof if photographic reproductions are not sold or otherwise disposed of except in publications issued by such agencies or in news papers or periodicals."

Then in Section 3 is this separate paragraph B.

"Photography as defined by this act shall not include the sale of reproductions thereof or the sale or furnishing by any persons to and the purchase acceptance and publishing by newspapers periodicals", etc.

I know that the hour is getting late and I am sorry that the minority floor leader has forced this debate upon us at this time, but a lot of people are interested in this bill, and I am here to defend it, as I think it is my duty to do so. Certain people who are engaged in business in this Commonwealth, very fine ethical business men, will say they object to this act because they are required and compelled under the terms of the act to invite and send a letter to outside photographers to come here and do their work, but I say to them that a phone call or a three cent stamp, it seems to me, would be no great harsh penalty to require them to comply with the terms of the act, in order to invite outside photographers to come in here and do their work. Certainly if they require photographers from New York, Cleveland or somewhere else, we have no objection under this act to outside photographers being allowed to come into this Commonwealth if they are invited. I say to you that the passage of this act will stop gyp artists from coming into this state. I say the reliable business men, professional men, photographers want this act. I think the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania wants it, and I think that because we were forced to a vote by the minority floor leader, we should vote against his wishes and vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is nothing short of brutal to take up a bill of this kind at this hour of the morning and discuss it. It stands to reason that the proponents of this bill will not do the bill justice in debate. It stands equally to reason that I who am opposed to it can hardly do justice to those who might also be opposed to it. The gentleman who last spoke has touched off the keynote of this bill, as it is set up in the first section. He put it in a little different language and says the bill is designed to keep the gyps out of Pennsylvania who come in here and practice photography. He has read a letter from the mother of a girl who has been mistreated by some itinerant photographer.

The purpose set forth in this act, in Section 1, Clause 1, requires the police power of the Commonwealth to see that these itinerant photographers are not permitted to practice their nefarious trade in the state of Pennsylvania, and then the bill rushes with momentous haste into its main purpose, which is to lift the business of photography to the standards of a learned profession.

Photography is not a profession; photography is a branch of the graphic arts. It divides itself naturally into two major sections. One of them, amateur photography, and the other industrial photography. There is no such thing as a line between the two because men who are engaged in many businesses and professions are camera experts. There are so called amateurs who go away on long expeditions, into the wilds, into foreign ports of the world, and they bring back a collection of photographs which are rare, and which are much sought after, and they sell those photographs to travel magazines, to nature magazines and to scientific magazines, all sorts of publications, and in many cases the sale of the work that they have done with the camera pays the expenses of their trip.

Amateur photography, it is true, is exempted in this bill, on the condition that an amateur photographer may sell occasionally a picture to his friends but he cannot sell it regularly in the course of business. It may surprise you to know, and I can state it to you absolutely, that the amateur side of the practice of photography is overwhelmingly the largest side of the practice of photography. Industrial photography is the smaller side. If this bill were to be passed, and were to restrict so-called amateur photography to the sale of an occasional picture or to the sale of an occasional few feet of movie film, then the dealers and the merchants in phtographic equipment, photographic paraphenalia, all the concerns in the State of Pennsylvania, would immediately feel the effect of this bill in a very big way. That is one of the provisions that has not been taken care of by the amendments to which the gentleman who last spoke referred.

I saw this bill and was interested in its original form and condition. With the exception of the fact that there have been a few minor changes made in the construction of the provisions, or some of the provisions of the bill, it has suffered no serious change at the hands of the committee. As far as industrial photography is concerned, there is no doubt in my mind that raising the practice of photography to the sandard of a learned profession would not have the effect of chasing out those who might practice some sort of a little racket in this field as they do in all fields. We license lawyers, and we find schyster lawyers, we find doctors who still are guilty of malpractice. We license many other type of professions, but here and there a crook will get into the profession, so that if we license photographers, we may still expect those who have the wish and the will to be crooked to go out and be crooked.

There is another feature, and I do not want to prolong this debate. This bill takes apart the license purposes of the various branches of photography. It is extremely unfair in that particular because it takes apart photography into operators, retouchers and printers. The printer and the retouchers has no contact whatever with the public. It would be extremely unfair for a man who has no contact whatever with the public to secure a license to have a job. By the way a printer in many photographic galleries is trained to do expert work in the period of two weeks.

One of the most vicious provisions of this bill is the provisions whereby out-of-state photographers could not come into the state of Pennsylvania and regularly solicit business as a regular business. Therefore it works on certain types of publishers and advertisers in the state of Pennsylvania a very great hardship. With the development of modern photography there have come about certain types of work that is not done in all centers and it would be foolish and against the best interests of business and industry in this state, if a photographer doing a certain line of commercial work, like in the city of New York, for example, could not come into the state of Pennsylvania and solicit business regularly in that line of business.

Gentlemen, I do not want to prolong this any further. I think it is a very disastrous thing that this bill should have been called into debate at this time, but it has been called, and I want to read just one opinion from one concern qualified to talk on this subject. I will read it very briefly and quickly, as follows:

> "It is unnecessary legislation in that it seeks to regulate an enterprise which is prejudicial to neither public health, morals or safety.
> "It is intended to benefit only a small group at the expense of the general public.
> "It will be extremely harmful to business because it will restrict and discourage the activities of thousands of individuals who spend great sums of money in this state on photographic supplies.
> "It will tend to stifle creative artistic expression.
> "It is entirely one-sided in that the largest photographic group in the state, the amateurs, are not sufficiently considered or protected in the act as drawn and were given no opportunity for a hearing."

This is signed by the Beck Photographic Society which is a well-known society of photographers.

I am going to cut off my discussion at this time bluntly and ask the members of this House to vote down this bill.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I favor this bill because it is backed by my old friend, James B. Schriever of Scranton, whom I regard as the greatest photographer in the world. Mr. Schriever came into my town fifty years ago as a young lad. It was not long before through hard work and fair dealing, especially in the line of developing his talents, he took the gold medal in photography in a contest in this state. He has taken the national medal at different times, he also took medals for a number of years in a number of foreign countries. Mr. Schriever came up from the ranks, he is a hard worker and an expert and superior artist. He is a gentleman who can be relied upon. He has printed the only encyclopedia on photography in the world, consisting of about ten or fifteen volumes. Mr. Schriever assures me that there is nothing in this bill that will hurt anybody but it does keep track of the commercial gyps, and we know, and I think everybody in this House has had some experience with the commercial gypster who goes around from house to house selling pictures. I do not see from the argument that has been brought forward any bjection to this bill and I am willing to trust the good judgment of my friend Mr. Schriever on this matter. I think the bill is worthy of your support.

Mr. SEIF. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not mean to rub it in at this late hour. I merely make the suggestion, however, that the reason there may be some opposition to this bill is because when it was introduced originally two or three sessions ago and in this session, it had some bad features. But my good frend, Mr. James, to the contrary notwithstanding, this bill has been mutilated, emasculated and emaciated, no doubt to such an extend that its own mother would not recognize it.

I ask the members of the House to glance at House bill Number 475, Printer's Number 448 before they vote, and they will realize that this bill in its present form is absolutely innocuous, and if it will do any good, the least bit of good in this Commonwealth, to keep out the gyps, I do not see how we can turn it down.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KANE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from McKean why he thrusts upon the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania another board?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what the gentleman means by his question, but I will answer it in this way.

This bill was brought to me by an association of professional photographers, with the request that I introduce it, and I introduced it and marked it "by request." This is not a bill of my own choosing. However, the gentlemen very kindly agreed to my suggestion to take out the provision that is very common in bills of this kind and which is common in bills in other states, where the examining board is appointed by the Governor just the same as any other board. Furthermore, when you have a license, you must have a board that knows its business to do the licensing. That is the only answer I can give to the gentleman.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, would it be possible to keep away from the state of Pennsylvania these fly-by-night photographers without a state board of photographic examiners?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to that question I would say it is undoubtedly possible, but as a matter of fact it is not done. We are dealing with a practical situation and not a possibililty. I have no doubt that if the criminal laws were enforced perhaps the evil could be run to earth. As a matter of fact there is nothing in the statute books now to prevent people from coming in, taking orders for photographs and then not delivering them, because he is out side the state when the time comes to enforce the law.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any idea how much it would cost to put into effect this law, if it were passed by this House, the Senate, and signed by the Governor?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not know the exact cost, but I know the license fees are exactly the same as they are in many other states, and the license fees were designed merely to make the bill self-sustaining so it will not cost the people anything.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have any record of any communication to substantiate his statement that the other states have this kind of a law?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not have them on my person at the present time. There are several states, West Virginia I believe is one, North Carolina is another, and I think there are something like ten or eleven states who have this law at the present time.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, on page 12, lines 4 to 19 inclusive—

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I believe this interrogation has proceeded about as far as the House should be interested in it. If the gentleman wants to debate the bill, I will be glad to debate it.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, my understanding is that I was interrogating the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane, to find out certain things which are on my mind before I vote for or against the bill

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I will agree to further interrogation as far as the gentleman wishes.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, on page 12, lines 4 to 19 inclusive, disregarding the things that have been eliminated by the House committee, I will agree you have one of the best things that has ever been introduced in the House as far as the practice of illegal protography is concerned. Why wouldn't it be possible for the gentleman to have this bill, eliminating all of the other provisions which are so inclusive, and only include those which are on page 12, lines 4 to 19 inclusive, including those things which have been eliminated by the House committee.

MOTION TO ADJOURN

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Wednesday, May 3, 1939, at one o'clock p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I have already interrogated the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane, and the question is on the floor.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's interrogation, I would say I have no way of knowing that the committee was going to put in it. I am not on the Professional Licensure Committee. However, if it had been possible for me to have designed a better bill than the bill now before us for discussion, I would have been glad to do so.

I do want to say, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, that I earnestly solicited any amendments from people who had objections to the bill. The bill has been on the calendar so long, and has been in Committe so many times, that everyone who had a legitimate objection had ample opportunity to offer amendments designed to correct it. I have no way, Mr. Speaker, of entering an anticipatorial defense to any possible objections that people may make. However, in the case of the objection raised by Mr. James of Delaware, I will say this, that the people raised those objections to me and I offered them an opportunity to get amendments in shape and I myself would present them. I did not get any such amendments and I think it is a rather late day for people to raise objections when they had the opportunity to present them before.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman advise the Chair whether or not he is answering the interrogation or speaking on the bill.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I am reluctantly answering interrogations when I would like to have had the bill put on the calendar tomorrow instead of tonight. If the Chair insists I will answer the gentleman's questions as long as he cares to ask them.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that the bill has enough merit to pass, regardless of the number of demerits that there are in the bill?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, I would say in my opinion it most certainly does have sufficient merit to warrant a passing vote in this House and also in the Senate. Furthermore, if the bill passes the House, there will be an opportunity for amendments to be offered in the Senate, and I am certain that the bill can be made into a very good measure.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker if the bill does pass the House, which I hope it does not, how are we to be sure that the Senate committee will amend the bill or that the bill will be amended on the floor of the Senate?

On page 12, lines 9 to 14, I believe we have one of the best provisions in this bill that could have been introduced. Speaking from a personal viewpoint and from what certain people have told me, who have been fleeced by some of these people, I think it is one of the best provisions in the bill, but the inclusion of the other parts of the bill make it prohibitive for me to vote for it. I know that there are certain towns in my county, of three hundred inhabitants, within the last four weeks that have been fleeced in the amount of sixty dollars by these people, who go around and take pictures, and do not have films in their cameras. I know of another town of eight hundred population where they took one hundred ten dollars out of that town. I am for this provision in the bill, but the inclusion in the bill of the other parts makes it prohibitive for me to vote for it.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have been an amateur photographer for fifty years. I have bought every kind of camera that is made including a motion picture camera. As far as I understand this bill I cannot see where it would do any harm to amateur photographers. I am a member of the Honesdale Camera Club. The president of this club contacted me and said that he would be very willing to have me go on record as favoring this bill if I thought it was O. K. I am sure that it will raise the level of photography; it will drive the so called gyps out of the photographic profession, and it will not injure in any way the business houses that carry photographic goods. I have in my hand a telegram that I would like to read in connection with this subject. The telegram is as follows:

"The Professional Photographers Association of Pennsylvania in annual convention assembled at Penn-Alto Hotel, Altoona, Pennsylvania, representing more than three thousand professional photographers in the State of Pennsylvania. By unanimous vote endorse the professional photographers license bill known as House Bill No. 475 and urge its adoption.

"The passage of this bill will make it possible to uphold the dignity of our profession for which we are earnestly striving and deserve; as well as a protection to the public against fly-by-night unscrupulous, would-be itinerant photographers who have become a menace to society and a disgrace to our profession.

"The members of the Photographers Association of Pennsylvania implore every representative of the Legislature to support this most worthy bill by casting your vote in its favor."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, so long as we are licensing barbers and practically every other profession, I can see no reason why we should not license the professional photographer of Pennsylvania and raise the standard of photography here.

Mr. REYNOLDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have heard lots of the members of the House say during this session that the Committees have not given them an opportunity to come before them and tell how they felt about certain bills. The Committee on Professional Licensure had this bill out twice. They had a public hearing on it, at which time the opponents of this bill were represented by able attorneys. They had their representatives here from Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and all over the country, and after hearing all of them, the Committee decided they hadn't made out a case. If you have any confidence in your Committees you should pay some attention to their decisions. I believe we should adhere to the people who have studied photography and list them because they know what it means to the profession. In my particular district over one thousand dollars was reported to the police station of that district last year as having been fleeced from the people of that district. I believe it might be well to license these people in order that we might keep a record of them and help the police in running them down, and to pass laws to keep the photographers from other states out of the State of Pennsylvania. I believe it would be a good home rule to so license photographers in order that we might give our own photographers in the state of Pennsylvania a better opportunity to make a decent living. I am very sorry that Mr. Kane in his discussion only asked that members on his side of the House vote for it because I do not think it is a partisan measure. It is a good bill, and I think we should all vote for it because it is a good bill. Therefore, I ask the members of the House who want to give a profession that has come to us, willing to put themselves under the provisions of the state of Pennsylvania to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
